Storm Hits; Power Lines, Trees Felled

70 Mile Per Hour Wind Atop Mount Tamalpais

By DAVID DIETZ

The first major storm of 1971 hit Marin and Southern Sonoma today, raking the region with wind gusts up to 70 miles per hour, cutting power to scattered areas and slowing traffic.

By 11 a.m., a total of 1.45 inches of rain had fallen in San Rafael.

It was the first big storm since Dec. 21, when more than two inches of rain fell on parts of Marin.

The Air Force station atop Mount Tamalpais reported wind gusts up to 70 miles per hour this morning. Tree limbs fell on power lines in scattered parts of Marin, knocking out power to more than 200 customers for periods up to three hours.

Commuter traffic on Highway 101 was slowed by the storm and San Rafael police were kept busy as traffic lights were snuffed out.

In Ignacio, a buried gas tank at Jack and Greg's Mobil station on Ignacio Boulevard popped through the station driveway when water seeped beneath it.

Greg McConnell, one of the operators of the station, said the tank was forced to the surface because it was not holding much fuel and there was a crack in the concrete bed above it.

In San Rafael, a large window at Carpet King on Francisco Boulevard was smashed by the storm. Also in that city, the wind toppled bricks forming the building face of Grand Auto, 850 Fourth Street.

A rotted pole snapped near 19 La Cuesta Drive, Greenbrae, cutting power temporarily to neighborhood homes. Mrs. Charles Cain of 19 La Cuesta complained Pacific Gas and Electric Co. first had been notified of the hazard two years ago, but failed to install a new pole.

She said PG&E told her ivy covering the pole first would have to be removed by the adjoining property owner on whose land the pole rested.

Leonard O. Robertson, district superintendent for PG&E, said he was unaware of the complaints but that it was company policy to repair or replace damaged poles.

Power went off in the Black Point area at 11:05 a.m.

Teleview cable TV service was interrupted this morning from Mill Valley to Terra Linda.

The county public works department reported roads clear this morning, except for a tree partially blocking Circle Road in Los Ranchitos.

The weatherman said the winds would diminish tonight, with an 80 per cent chance of rain. A 60 per cent chance of rain was forecast for tomorrow.

PG&E reported these power outages today: Coleman-Chula Vista area of San Rafael, 75 customers affected, power out from 12:54 a.m. to 1:43 a.m., tree limb broke a line; Scott Street, Woodacre, 20 customers affected, power out in early morning, limb on a line; Dominican area of San Rafael, 30 customers affected, 2:06 a.m. to 2:44 a.m., tree bark on a line; Miraflores- Miramar area of San Rafael, 60 customers affected, 5:23 a.m. to 6:58 a.m., tree on a line; Charlotte Circle, Strawberry, 15 customers affected, 3:12 a.m. to 6 a.m., tree on a line.

Rainfall reported in Marin for a 24-hour period to 8 a.m. today was: Woodacre, 1.51 inches; Point Reyes Station, 1.23; Tamalpais Valley, .50 of an inch; Bolinas, .43; Novato, .42; Mill Valley, .36; Belvedere, .23, and Tiburon, .13.

Inmate Murdered In Quentin Unrest

By MARY LEYDECKER

One San Quentin inmate was killed and four other stabbed yesterday as a bloody outbreak of violence, apparently due to black-white tensions, escalated at the prison.

There have been 10 stabbings at the prison beginning Monday night with one which was "essentially a personal matter," according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

He blamed the additional attacks on "self-anointed committees of two or three persons" who have tried to take justice into their own hands.

Found dead yesterday in the east cell block, center of the trouble, was inmate William P. Hanson, 28, a white man whom Park described as a "biker," or motorcycle gang type.

Hanson's throat had been slit and he had two wounds in his chest, one through his heart. There were also wounds on his arm and hand.

The butchered body was found about 1 p.m. on the fourth tier of the east block, where there has been a general lockup. Hanson, a kitchen worker, was returning to his cell.

Park said that there were only 18 other inmates out of their cells at the time, and five of them, all blacks, are being questioned in connection with the murder.

A bloody prisonmade weapon was found near the body.

Funeral arrangements for Hanson, who was sent to San Quentin from Alameda County for a robbery conviction, were pending today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Three other inmates were stabbed during an interracial fight on the fifth tier of the 960-inmate east block about 6:30 p.m.

George Douglas McFadden, 26, a black, was stabbed four times in the back and once in the buttocks. Melvin Jones, 25, also black, was stabbed once in the hand, and a white man, T. D. Bigham, 25, was hit once in the leg.

McFadden was reported in good condition at the prison hospital today and the others were treated and sent back to their cells.

Park said the men began fighting as they returned to their cells after dinner.

Officials stopped the fight and recovered two handmade knives and a blackjack filled with porcelain.

Earlier yesterday, Jack Dougherty, 43, whom Park called an "oldtimer," was attacked with parts from a typewriter. Dougherty, a white man, has been at the prison since 1950, and two black inmates are suspected of assaulting him.

The stabbings continued despite lockups in the east and south cell blocks and a prison-wide search for weapons. More than 40 "shanks," crudely fashioned knives and pieces of metal, have been found since the violence started.

Park said that the first stab bing in which Wayne D. Early, a black inmate, was injured Monday night seemed to have been a personal fight between him and a Chicano youth who is being held in connection with the attack.

Park said that the Chicano, a newcomer to San Quentin, is reportedly a member of a small clique of Chicano Nazis. "We haven't had them here before, they've been reported in other prisons, Park explained.

After the Early stabbing, Park said that small groups of both blacks and whites decided to take matters into their own hands and a revenge-retaliation pattern set in.

He said that this "guerilla warfare we're seeing" is different from the old-fashioned racial warfare in prisons, where black and white men would line up against each other while in the prison yard and a fight would break out.

"An inmate told me this

Silver Star For Heroic Viet Action

The 27-year-old son of a Marin City women has been awarded a Silver Star for heroism while on duty in Vietnam. The award is the third highest decoration the United States bestows for heroic action.

S/Sgt. August Brooks, son of Mrs. Mary Brooks of 131 Drake Avenue, was presented with the medal for gallantry while an assistant team leader on a rescue mission in enemy controlled territory.

The certificate states that during a helicopter rescue Sergeant Brooks braved enemy fire to rescue three wounded survivors of an enemy ambush and also assisted in repelling the Viet Cong attackers.

Brooks carried wounded personnel aboard the air ambulance throughout the night while under constant hostile fire, the certificate added.

The sergeant, a member of the Army special forces, received a shrapnel wound in an arm during the action Aug. 14-15, 1970.

He is now serving his third tour of duty in Vietnam and is scheduled to return to the United States in June.

Reagan's Pollution War: Oil Industry Has Doubts

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov Ronald Reagan has moved to require smog control devices on older cars and regulation of lead in gasoline in an effort to cleanse California's air.

"California has become a model to the federal government and for other states but much more needs to be done," the governor said Thursday in a special message to the legislature, his second in two weeks.

"Air pollution controls must become an accepted part of modern life if we are to assure clean air and clear skies in California."

An oil industry spokesman meanwhile told an Assembly committee that noxious gas-catching devices should be used on cars rather than outlawing lead in gasoline, one of the proposals made by Reagan.

Reagan proposed legislation to:

—Require 1966-70 model automobiles to be equipped with devices to control oxides of nitrogen, the brownish orange element that dirties the sky. Now, devices on these cars filter only hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide.

—Clamp "realistic" emission standards and pollution control devices on 1955-65 cars, "the last major unregulated source of vehicle air pollution."

—Require automobile manufacturers to guarantee that their pollution control systems will meet California's standards for at least 50,000 miles.

—Regulate the lead content in gasoline.

—Require local air pollution control districts to determine smog sources and regulate them. The districts could prohibit construction of projects that threatened to produce smog.

—Speed up the work of basinwide coordinating councils to meet a Jan. 25, 1972, deadline for submission of a statewide plan to meet federal antismog standards.

Reagan said his new program was intended to "plan for the next decade while struggling to meet today's air pollution problems."

In his written message, Reagan said the proposals are needed to continue "the fight against the two major causes of smog—the internal combustion engine and industrial pollutants."

Reagan noted present law requires 1971 and future model vehicles to control oxides of nitrogen. But half California's automobiles are 1966-70 models.

Ironically, the governor said, devices designed to reduce carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons in these late model cars have increased nitrogen oxide discharges.

Reagan said a device is available for "about $15 or less" which would reduce nitrogen oxides by 25 to 30 per cent. His legislation would require such a device on 1966-70 cars upon change of registration or—after the act had been in effect for a year—at any earlier date specified by the Air Resources Board.

"We still feel that you should legislate what comes out of the tailpipe and not what goes into the gas tank," H. O. Stevenson, vice president for manufacturing at the Beacon Oil Co., told the Assembly Transportation Committee.

Oil firm officials testified against a bill by Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina. The measure drastically reduces the amount of lead permitted in gasoline. By 1977 it would limit the amount to one-half gram per gallon.

Schabarum told the committee that vehicles emit 50 million tons of lead into the atmosphere every year.

John Maga, executive officer of the state Air Resources Board, said proposed "thermal reactors" with lead traps stop large particles of lead from entering the air but do not curb the small bits considered the most dangerous to health. The large particles, he added, generally fall to the ground anyway.

A "thermal reactor" is a device attached to an engine to trap gases.

Stevenson said, "Leave lead in gasoline and require that a proven thermal reactor system, complete with gas recirculation and lead traps be installed on new cars.

"We recommend this rather than taking lead out—an irreversible step—and hoping that someday catalytic mufflers will be available."

Rivers Tried To Stop Inquiry On PX Corruption: Ribicoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said today the late L. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina tried to stop the Senate investigation into corruption in military service clubs and post exchanges involving former Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole.

Ribicoff's statement came during testimony to the Senate investigating subcommittee when Cole said he once called Rivers to ask him to arrange a telephone conversation with Ribicoff about the investigation.

When Cole said Ribicoff's staff did not comply, Ribicoff said sharply:

"Mendel Rivers did intervene with the acting chairman of this committee on your behalf to try to stop this investigation. And Mendel Rivers did not succeed."

Ribicoff later told reporters Rivers called him twice in the fall of 1969 to intercede on behalf of Cole.

"He said what a good guy Cole was and that he saw nothing wrong that Cole had done ... I felt he and Cole were good friends," Ribicoff said.

Ribicoff said he was "rather surprised" when Rivers called the first time, and said he told Rivers the subcommittee would go ahead with the investigation.

"He (Rivers) indicated Cole was an old friend of his, that he had known him for many years," Ribicoff said. "He said as far as he was concerned he would vouch for him."

Cole was in Germany at the time he called Rivers.

Cole was called to testify today concerning a list of 43 separate charges of alleged corruption on his part connected with service clubs and PX's in Germany and Southeast Asia.

More than two dozen civilian and military witnesses have testified that Cole was involved in corrupt practices at the clubs.

After reading off a list of 26 men who have testified or attested to Cole's actions, Ribicoff demanded: "Do you contend all 26 of these men lied?"

"I do not, sir," Cole said. "They stated what they recollected."

"Are you saying all 26 were in conspiracy to destroy you?" demanded Ribicoff.

"I don't think so," Cole responded.

"I am puzzled how each one of these 26 men could involve you and all of them be wrong," Ribicoff said. "This committee is willing to give you whatever opportunity you want to clear up any statement made against you."

As the hearing resumed, Ribicoff questioned Cole closely about a cigarette box which he said Cole arranged to be presented to Gen. William Westmoreland as a going away present when he left Vietnam as military commander.

Turkish Premier Bows To Military

ANKARA (UPI) —Turkish Premier Suleyman Demirel resigned today in the face of an ultimatum to quit or face a military takeover. Military leaders had demanded the move to save Turkey from what they said was the threat of civil strife.

News of the resignation came in a government announcement shortly after the army had sent in troops in a show of strength.

Turkey has been rocked in recent months by the terrorist tactics of left-wing radicals pressing for the withdrawal of U.S. forces from the country and attacking government policies. Similar student disorders brought an army coup in 1960.

The ultimatum to Demirel came in a joint memorandum signed by Gen. Memduh Tagmac, chief of the General Staff, and the commanders of the army, navy and air force. It was sent to President Cevdet Sunay and the chairmen of both houses of the Turkish parliament.

President Cevdet Sunay accepted the resignations of Demirel and his cabinet, but commissioned them to remain in office until a new government can be formed, a presidential palace announcement said.

U.S. embassy officials said no extraordinary security measures had been taken for American military personnel in Turkey. No Americans had been involved in the day's events, they said.

Troops took up positions in front of the state radio and television buildings. Witnesses said they first surrounded the parliament building and then were withdrawn. Parliament began its regularly scheduled session with a reading of the ultimatum as the deputies sat silent and stony-faced.

Demirel called an emergency meeting of his cabinet at his office. Witnesses said all appeared nervous as they arrived.

Excavator Dies

CAIRO (UPI)—Prof. Walter B. Emery, one of the world's foremost Egyptologists, died Thursday night in the Anglo-American Hospital. He was 67.

Emery had been searching for eight years for the long-lost tomb of Imhotep, a designer of the ancient step pyramids 5,000 years ago. He suffered a stroke Sunday at the excavation site of Sakkara, near Cairo, that paralyzed his left side.

He was taken to the hospital, where another stroke Wednesday night put him in a coma. Doctors said he died without regaining consciousness.

Emery, an Edwards professor of Egyptology at the University of London since 1951 and field director of the Egypt Exploration Society since 1952, began the project at Sakkara in 1963.

LBJ On Report

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—President Johnson ignored the warnings and recommendations of the Kerner commission on civil disorders because, its chairman said, he feared Congress would turn its back on civil rights measures.

Judge Otto Kerner, a former governor of Illinois, headed the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders which investigated the events and causes of the racial upheavals that tortured the country in 1967. Its major conclusion was that white racism was tearing the nation into opposing black and white factions.

Speaking at a Brown University symposium on advisory commissions, Kerner said Thursday he did not feel offended because Johnson gave little backing to his report.

Kerner said Johnson told him, "I favor the report and I favor the recommendations but the atmosphere in Congress is such that if I press I won't be able to get what I already asked for."

Kerner said he believed Johnson. "You can't press too hard," he added.

Rare Unity

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—About 7,000 Protestant and Roman Catholic shipyard workers marched together in rare unity today to demand tough government action against extremist gunmen.

In London, Britain alerted 3,000 troops for movement to Northern Ireland if called in to quell continuing street clashes.

The demonstrators staged an orderly march through the center of Belfast carrying a petition denouncing the execution by terrorists of three British soldiers.

Canal Impasse

By United Press International

The semioffocial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today Egypt will face one of the toughest battles in the history of warfare if it ever tries to cross the Suez Canal to attack the Israel-held Sinai peninsula.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, editor of the newspaper, said what made such an invasion formidable was the water barrier and the natural terrain on the canal's eastern bank, added to what he said was the mammoth arsenal of weapons Israel has amassed in the Sinai.

"The Egyptian armed forces are facing one of history's most difficult battles...in its advance, the Egyptian army would face what no army has ever confronted before." Heikal said.

Trade Plan Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's rejection of a Japanese offer to restrict textile imports may have touched off an all-out free trade battle in Congress and — perhaps more significantly — dropped a new roadblock in front of Nixon's domestic legislative program.

Nixon Thursday turned down a Japanese offer to restrict the growth of that country's noncotton textile exports to the United States during the next three years. The President said the offer was unacceptable because it would have used current export levels as a base, and those exports were at a record level in January.

One factor in Nixon's decision was an admitted irritation that the Japanese had by-passed the long-stalled negotiations between the two governments and reached their decision with the help of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nixon said he now would submit legislation to roll back the Japanese import of noncotton textiles to their 1965 level. His move drew praise from the American textile industry which claims it is losing business and jobs in a flood of cheaper Japanese imports.

Court In Recess

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The Calley murder court-martial jury began a three-day recess today under a schedule that indicated they would start deliberation on the third anniversary of My Lai.

Testimony ended Thursday, the 46th court day since the start of the jury-picking that resulted in the seating of a colonel who is a veteran of World War II and Korea, and four majors and a captain who have had combat experience in Vietnam.

The judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, delivers his charge—it is called "instructions" in military court—to the jury after the summations. If the oratory is not too prolonged, the officers who will decide the fate of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. should get the case sometime Tuesday.

That is the third anniversary of the March 16, 1968 search and destroy mission of American infantry into the Vietnamese hamlet that Army intelligence said harbored the 48th Viet Cong battalion.

State Sues Firm On Land Sales Of 'Arid Desert'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Attorney General Evelle J. Younger Thursday halted sales in a land investment scheme which he said has cost California property buyers an estimated $1 million in the past eight to nine months.

The attorney general obtained a temporary restraining order from Contra Costa County Superior Court Judge Thomas F. McBride against O. P. M. Incorporated, a land company operated out of Walnut Creek.

Hearing on the injunction was scheduled for March 24. The complaint, prepared by Deputy Attorney General David E. Bunim, charged the corporation with misrepresentation in selling lots in purported subdivisions in Kern and San Bernardino counties. The complaint said the land was dry, arid desert.

The complaint asked civil damages for each false and leading misrepresentation, fines for each violation of the Subdivided Lands Law and exemplary damages of $200,000.

Mining Revival In North Alaska

NOME, Alaska (UPI)—Gold mining that was the backbone of the economy in this far northern town at the turn of the century is being revived.

The SS Nenana on its last voyage of 1970 brought a large drilling rig which will be used in a joint program of two Houston, Tex. firms to seek gold beneath the sands of the shallow Bering Sea.

HIT BY DEADLY SNIPER FIRE

An ROTC cadet and two policemen, including the head of the San Juan riot squad, were killed by sniper fire and 62 persons were injured, most by bullets, yesterday during a riot at the University of Puerto Rico between pro- and anti-American elements. In this picture a policeman has just been shot and his comrades crouch low amid sniper fire while a student looks on. Fifty students were arrested on charges of assault with intent to kill, malicious damage and illegal possession of explosives. Riots are common on the campus but this was the first incidence of sniper fire.

Search For Missimg Man's Body Turns Him Up In Jail, Alive

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—A Vietnam War veteran who spent 10 days in jail on a traffic ticket while firemen emptied a lake looking for his body says he feels like a character in a Kafka novel.

Stephen Kappel, 22, was "found" Thursday when his jailers read that a lake in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park had been drained in a search for his body.

"I feel lousy," Kappel said after a newspaper paid $39 bail for his charge of driving with a broken tail light. "I'm astonished that, over something so trivial, I was in jail so long.

"I've read Franz Kafka's 'The Trial," he added. "It certainly has some analagous points—man's inability to cope with that vast system out there."

In Kappel's case, it was the police bureaucracy which got snarled in its own red tape.

The veteran, an outpatient from an Army hospital who had been working in an insurance office, was arrested in the Golden Gate Park Feb. 28 when police cited him for parking on the grass and found, during a routine check, that he had outstanding traffic warrants in the city and in suburban San Mateo County.

He appeared in San Francisco Municipal Court March 1, was fined $55 and given two weeks to pay the fine. Then he was turned over to deputies from San Mateo County, where he had failed to appear for a hearing on the taillight charge.

Kappel was jailed at Redwood City in lieu of $39 bail—although his wallet with $45 in it was in the property clerk's office at the San Francisco city prison. He was unable to get anyone to get it for him.

His employer, meanwhile, notified a former Army friend tha Kappel had disappeared. The friend, retired Col. Fred C. Reisz of San Antonio, Tex., informed San Francisco's missing persons bureau.

By this time, his San Francisco arrest record had been lost, so police didn't know they had arrested and jailed him.

Officers eventually found his car—which had been left in the park when he was arrested so Kappel wouldn't have to pay towing fees—and sent 100 officers on a hunt in the western reaches of Golden Gate Park. Firemen spent a full day —and $2,500—draining a five-foot deep lake about half the size of a city block.

2,000 Reds Said Killed In Laos

SAIGON (UPI) — Military spokesmen said today elements of six North Vietnamese regiments have moved in around the Laotian Ho Chi Minh Trail junction of Sepone but have made no major moves against the South Vietnamese forces who control it.

Military sources at the same time reported American air strikes have killed more than 2,200 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong since the South Vietnamese drive into Laos began Feb. 8.

South Vietnamese official said the North Vietnamese were as close as 12 miles to Sepone, situated 27 miles inside Laos on Highway 9. A North Vietnamese regiment totals 2,900 men but the spokesmen did not say the Communist units were at full-strength.

South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division units early today halted a Communist attack on a government outpost 13 miles southeast of Sepone and killed 12 of the attackers at a cost of one dead and three wounded.

The U.S. Command today reported the loss of six more American helicopters in support of the Laotian operation and to the south, North Vietnamese forces increased attacks against Laotian troops in the strategic Bolovens Plateau.

CLEANING FOR ECOLOGY PROJECT

Eight-year-old Clare Burroni (foreground), third grade pupil at Isabel Cook school in San Anselmo, carefully picks up twigs and grass stems while fellow pupils succeed in filling a container with debris. The cleanup is part of an ecology project of the students at the school. Principal Keith McPherson said that the grounds will be judged each Tuesday and if found clean, the school can fly a white ecology flag with a big green E on it as evidence of the success of the drive that week.

A.F. Jet Will Bring Young Back

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—Civil rights leader Whitney M. Young Jr., dead of an apparent heart attack at 49, will be returned to the United States in an Air Force plane dispatched by President Nixon.

The plane was leaving from Andrews AFB near Washington today and was to be commanded by Brig. Gen. Daniel James Jr., the highest-ranking Negro in the Air Force. James is deputy assistant secretary of Defense for public affairs.

Young was stricken Thursday while swimming with former Attorney General Ramsey Clark at Lighthouse Beach near Lagos. He was pronounced dead by a physician who was immediately summoned. He and Clark were in Nigeria for a meeting with African leaders sponsored by the African-American Association.

Young, a native of Lincoln Ridge, Ky., sought in nearly 10 years as director of the National Urban League to improve the lot of the Negro through job training and self-help.

Though he scorned militant rhetoric, he objected to being categorized as a moderate. "In the civil rights movement, everyone is radical," he said.

"As poor as our system is, until they (black militants) provide me with an alternative, I'm convinced that we can follow no other without committing suicide."

Educational Goals Will Be Presented

The Novato Unified School District's educational goals committee is scheduled to present an interim report containing 13 educational goals at a meeting of district trustees at 8 p.m. Monday at Novato High School lecture hall.

The committee which has been working for six months is scheduled to present its final report including objectives and recommended programs by May 17.

In its interim report the committee stated its philosophy as follows: "We believe that our schools exist to bring about the optimum development of the individual thereby enabling him to attain his full potential to function effectively within his environment and society."

The listed educational goals were that all students shall have the opportunity to:

Develop self-worth and emotional stability.

Develop a sense of becoming an effective and humane person, with an appreciation and respect for the worth and dignity of all individuals.

Develop an ability to remain physically fit and mentally alert.

Acquire the learning skills which will enable him to develop his own unique capabilities.

Develop an appreciation for the arts and our cultural heritage.

Develop intellectual curiosity and eagerness for life-long learning.

Develop an ability to participate in the economic system, on an intelligent and productive basis which is meaningful to the individual.

Develop an understanding and appreciation of man's cultural diversity.

Develop a comprehensive knowledge of family relationships, economics and personal responsibilities.

Develop an understanding of the influence and responsibility of science and technology on human life and environment.

Develop an understanding of our democratic values and institutions and the rights and responsibilities of a citizen in our democratic society.

Develop skills in reading, writing, arithmetic and communication to his optimum ability.

Develop an understanding of the need for discipline, especially self-discipline.

Youth Booked In Bolinas Case

A 17-year-old youth has been booked into March Juvenile Hall on suspecion of burglarizing Bolinas School Feb. 18.

William Sachse, of no known address, also was booked Sunday on suspicion of possessing stolen property, the Marin County Sheriff's Office reported yesterday.

Deputies said Sachse was arrested when he went to the sheriff's substation at Point Reyes Station to claim a tape recorder stolen from the school which deputies had found on Mann Road in Bolinas.

Parent Training Classes Scheduled

A series of eight "Parent Effectiveness Training" classes, will be offered Mondays beginning March 29 at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.

The classes will run from 7:30 to 10 p.m. with registration to be held March 24 in Room 58 at the portable building near the school's rear parking lot.

Two Groups Unite Over Communes

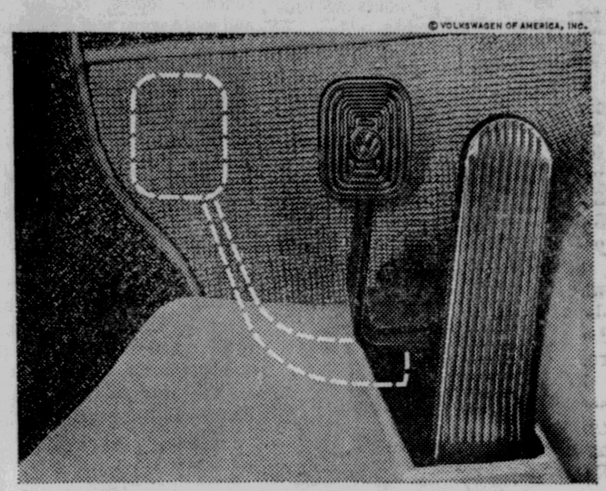
The Mill Valley Human Rights board will join the city youth commission in circulating petitions to force a referendum on a recently adopted anticommune ordinance.

Board member Roger J. Fleischmann said the board narrowly approved the action, 3-2, at a meeting Wednesday.

Fleischmann said he volunteered as a private citizen to help the youth commission draw up the petition and hoped to have it printed by today. Youth commissioners Miriam H. Swett and Sally Mays will circulate the document.

The petition may only be circulated by registered voters in Mill Valley and completed forms with at least 592 valid signatures must be filed with the county elections office.

The city council adopted the ordinance on a 4-1 vote on March 1, over the objections of both the youth and planning commissions. Councilman Robert H. Andresen, who introduced the measure, said it was to reduce density in single-family zones.



Volkswagen removes another one of life's little obstacles.

For a little extra money, we won't give you a clutch pedal.

So you can go without one of life's small annoyances: working a clutch pedal.

With the Super Beetle and the Karmann Ghia, you can get VW's optional automatic stick shift.

With the Type 3 and the Squareback, you can get VW's optional, 3-speed, fully automatic transmission.

Either way, you won't have to bother with your left foot anymore.

morning that only about 2 per cent of the prisoners are involved," Park said.

He said the reason that most of the trouble was in the east and south blocks was that men in the other two blocks have been assigned there "because they've shown some degree of responsibility."

Inmates in the north and west blocks were back on regular schedule today, but the east and south were still locked up.

Park predicted that the violence would lessen as the two groups "at least reached a truce."

The outburst at the prison was the worst since a similar racial violence in the spring of 1969, when two men were killed and several others stabbed.

"Racial tensions are the same in prison as anywhere — just more intense," Park said. "We have the only fully integrated community in the state," he said, "plus a lot of men who have been involved in violence on the outside. Then they have to live together 24 hour a day."

Girl's Home Is Burgled; She's Held

Four Petaluma teen-agers were arrested yesterday on suspicion of burgling one of their own homes.

Muriel V. Cranor told police a rear window had been kicked in at her home at 16 Sixth Street and $291 in silver and small appliances taken.

Police said her daughter, Tracey, 13, and three other friends had broken into the home and had planned to drive to Los Angeles. Also arrested were James Madison Cobb, 18, of 405 Coronado Drive; Dennis Waterman, 19, of 36 Greylawn Avenue; and Margaret J. Hill, 19, of 1 Oak Hill Park.

Officers said the stolen items were found stuffed in a pillow case in a car at the backyard of 404 Coronado Drive.

Miss Cranor, who had escaped from Sonoma County Juvenile Hall, was returned there, while Cobb and Waterman were booked into the city jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court. Miss Hill was released on her own recognizance to appear in court Monday.

Park-Rec Fee Eyed By Panel

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night completed consideration of a proposed ordinance to charge new dwellings a fee for parks and recreation use.

The proposal, to be sent to the city council after review by the city attorney, would charge each new dwelling $30 for each bedroom.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

HORSES — Decided to post signs at Sun Valley Park pointing out that horses are not allowed in the park.

JOINT USE — Decided to meet again with representatives of Wilkins Post 37 of the American Legion to develop a plan for building a joint-use recreation center to be financed by the legion on city land.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Voted to ask the county to provide half the $30,780 budget of the Senior Citizen program.

GOLDENAIRES — Decided to invite the executive board of the Goldenaires Senior Citizen's Club to the April 8 meeting to discuss revision of the group's by-laws.

Bound Over On Robbery

Shirley McDonald, 21, of Marin City, was bound over yesterday to Marin Superior Court on a charge of armed robbery.

A charge of grand theft and an additional robbery charge were dismissed by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court because the alleged victim refused to testify against Mrs. McDonald.

She is to be arrainged in superior court Wednesday.

She is accused, along with Barbara Rita Hall, of robbing a man near Marin City.

Mrs. Hall has pleaded innocent to the charge and a superior court trial is set April 26 for her.

Firm, Auto Hit By Burglars

A Corte Madera engineering firm and a car parked nearby were burglarized last night or early today, police reported.

Officers said the firm of Maggiora and Ghilotti at 1912 Redwood Highway was entered sometime between 10:45 p.m. yesterday and 12:58 a.m. today.

Desks and cabinets were rifled by the burglar who entered by breaking a side door window. No loss has been established police said.

At about the same time, an auto owned by John Stephen Reed of 37 Dorset Lane, Mill Valley, was entered and its glove compartment ransacked. The vehicle was parked at the Maggiora and Ghilotti office. No loss has been determined.

FBI Arrests Marin Draft Fugitive

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Rafael man has been charged with evading the draft in Florida and his friend with harboring a fugitive.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested Wayne Edward Gardner, of 239 D Street, San Rafael, and Rodney Alan Woods, both 21, at the latter's home at 18 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, Wednesday.

Gardner was arrested on an indictment filed in March 1970 in Jacksonville, Fla. Woods was accused of harboring a known fugitive.

Both men appeared before U.S. Magistrate Richard S. Goldsmith in San Francisco yesterday. Woods was released after posting a nominal bail, Goldsmith said. He is to appear in U.S. District Court March 26.

Gardner was held to appear in court again Monday.

Planners Veto Neighbors' Gripe

The Cotati Planning Commission last night approved the relocation of two homes despite objections from prospective neighbors.

The commission approved plans of Bernard and Evelyn Santero to move two single family homes to 415 and 419 School Street.

Neighbors complained that the homes would not be the same quality as other homes in the area and would lower property values.

The commission also approved the request of Joseph Dorfman to rezone property on the northeast corner of Clifford and School streets to permit a duplex.

Broken Ribs In One-Car Crash

A 60-year-old Mill Valley woman was listed in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital for injuries sustained yesterday in a Corte Madera auto accident.

The hospital said Florence Glessner of 432 Live Oak Drive sustained broken ribs and left wrist in the 6 p.m. accident.

Corte Madera police said the woman was traveling west on San Clemente Drive when her vehicle struck a guard rail.

2 San Rafael Cars Hit By Vandals

Brick-throwing vandals smashed windows in two cars early today, San Rafael police reported.

Police found broken windows in the cars of Loretta T. Wade of San Francisco and Glenn Bow-Eng of 907 B Street, San Rafael. The autos parked on Ross Street were vandalized between 12:10 a.m. and 12:20 a.m., police said.

'Ban Polluters To Outer Space'

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A University professor has a solution for environment problems—load the world's "destroyers and polluters" onto rockets and fire them into space.

Dr. Ian L. McHarg, a landscape architecture professor at the University of Pennsylvania, presented his plan Thursday at the 36th annual North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference.

He said the polluters, including chemical corporation executives and merchants of war, should be collected, loaded onto Saturn rockets and, with thousands of school children waving American flags, blasted into space.

Round Two On Novato Plan

The Novato City Council will have its second hearing on the proposed downtown plan at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

The plan in general was discussed at the first hearing and it's expected that the council will review proposals for various sub-areas within the plan at Tuesday's meeting.

Councilmen also will take up more than 20 items left undone at their marathon session Tuesday which ended at 2:15 a.m.

Among these are the proposal by Councilman George C. Quesada for an invocation before council meetings, and adoption of an ordinance giving City Mgr. Charles A. Brown broader hiring and firing powers.

Novatan Fined As Crash Result

William Talmage Johnson, 56, of Novato, was ordered to pay a $240 fine or serve four days in jail by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Johnson pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of drunken driving stemming from a head-on collision on Highway 101 near Ignacio Monday.

He was booked following the accident on suspicion of felony drunken driving, but only the misdemeanor charge was filed by the district attorney's office.

Hashish Case Is Dismissed

A charge of possessing hashish against Charles Abner Fox, 20, of San Francisco, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith dismissed the case when the district attorney's office reported that the suspected drug had not been analyzed.

Fox was arrested Nov. 22 when Sausalito police stopped him to question him because he was hitchhiking from a roadway and found suspected hashish and a pipe in his possession.

Bound Over In Drug Case

Charles Bobby Beyes, 24, of Gretena, La., was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possesing marijuana and dangerous drugs.

He is to appear in Superior Court March 22.

A bench warrant is still out for Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address, who failed to appear for a preliminary hearing in municipal court last month.

Innocent Plea To Pot Charge

Scot H. Armour, 21, of 41 Lincoln Avenue, Stinson Beach, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana. Preliminary hearing was set for March 30.

Armour was arrested Monday by Larkspur police for outstanding traffic warrants. A search of his pockets produced two cigarettes of suspected pot, officers said.

New Isolationism Attacked By Nixon

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — President Nixon told a class of Navy ensigns, including his son-in-law, David Eisenhower, today there are "new isolationists" in the United States who "have refused to learn the hard lessons in the history of tyranny."

He said in his speech to the graduating class that the same refusal has been responsible for Americans having to fight in four wars in this century.

"And they would tell us—as predecessors in other times have told us—that the appetite for aggression can be satisfied if only we are patient and the ambitions of the aggressor are justified if only we understand them properly," Nixon declared.

"I am never surprised to see these positions held but I am always astonished to hear them held in the name of morality."

"We seek to do the work of righteousness," he said in remarks prepared for delivery to the Navy Officer Candidate class in which Eisenhower and 224 other young men have participated for the last 18 weeks.

"You serve the forces of peace in the world," Nixon said. "There are those in America who question this. But the record is clear. Our power has always been used for building the peace, never for breaking it — for defending freedom, and never for destroying it."

Mrs. Nixon and the Nixon's daughter, Tricia, accompanied the President to Newport where he began his own World War II naval service 29 years ago.

David's wife, Julie, arrived Thursday to be with her husband prior to his graduation.

The Eisenhowers were scheduled to accompany Nixon to the Florida White House at Key Biscayne for the weekend.

They will be in Washington Tuesday for the announcement of Tricia's engagement to Edward Finch Cox.

The President said he was familiar with the arguments of the "new isolationists."

"Though we cut defense spending, we cannot cut it enough. Though we greatly increase domestic spending in proportion to defense spending, we can never increase it enough. I understand these arguments. I understand the sentiments behind them. But I understand the cost of weakness, too," he said.

He said that the United States was respected among the nations of the free world not because of its wealth or power, but "because we can be trusted."

The cost of peace comes high, he said. "There can be no advantage with concealing hard facts in soft words. We know when force is rewarded, the cost of peace and the only alternative to war will be tyranny."

The President paid special tribute to a group of Vietnamese Navy men participating in the school. "We are not the only nation who desires an end to war," he said.

Nixon remarked that his son-in-law's grandfather, the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, "first tried to go to Annapolis before finally ending up at West Point."

Nurse Injured In Collision

A 23-year-old Ross General Hospital nurse received minor injuries yesterday in a three-car accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard just east of Toussin Avenue in Kentfield.

Judith A. Hering, of 140 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere, complained of pain in her left arm and back and was to see her own doctor.

The California Highway Patrol said she was injured when her car, stopped in heavy traffic on eastbound Sir Francis Drake at 3:15 p.m. and was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by Lawrence H. Platek, 27, of 1512 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

The Hering car in turn was pushed into a vehicle operated by James R. Keenan, 23, of 20 Ross Street, San Rafael, officers said.

Pot Charge Is Dismissed

A charge of possessing marijuana against James Michael Hush, 20, of Santa Cruz County, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge David Menary Jr. dismissed the case when the district attorney's office reported it was not prepared to proceed with prosecution.

Hush was arrested Jan. 15 by Mill Valley police who said they found suspected pot in his car when he was stopped for driving erratically near Tamalpais High School.

LSD Suspect Is Arrested

A 16-year-old San Anselmo youth was arrested yesterday at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo on suspicion of possessing LSD, police said today.

Officers said David Fredrick Johnston of 329 Greenfield Avenue, was first taken into custody at noon at the school's parking lot for loitering.

A search by officers turned up two tablets of suspected LSD in Johnston's wallet.

He was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall.

$35 Fine On Pot Charge

James Hugh Haughton, 19, of Palos Verdes, was fined $35 yesterday in Marin Municipal Court after pleading guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana.

Judge Peter Allan Smith also placed Haughton on probation for one year for his conviction on the charge, which was reduced from a felony count.

Mark William Daigle, 18, also of Palos Verdes, who was arrested with Haughton Sunday on Highway 101, is to plead to the marijuana charge March 22.

Guard Unit To Do Park Work

Men of a San Rafael National Guard unit will combine their training with public service starting tomorrow and continuing for weekends in April and May.

Personnel of Co. D, 579th Engineer Battalion, will do restoration work in the Palomarin area of Point Reyes National Seashore, said Lt. Richard A. Johnston, commander of the battalion.

L. Sansing, superintendent of the seashore, the battalion will use its equipment to remove concrete slabs and foundations, old fencing and many old cars from the area. Besides cleanup work, the unit also will do soil erosion work and planting, according to Johnston.

OBITUARIES

Edward F. Davis Dies At 63

Mass of the Resurrection for Edward F. Davis of San Rafael will be celebrated in St. Raphael's Catholic Church at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Davis died Wednesday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 63. A native of California, he had lived in San Rafael more than 30 years, last making his home at 337 Bayview Street. He was retired.

He is survived only by seven cousins, living in Marin County and in San Jose.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

MRS. DeCONTER

Josephine DeConter, 83, of Petaluma, died yesterday in Yuba City, where she had been visiting a daughter, Marie Coy.

Mrs. DeConter had spent most of her life in Petaluma and Penngrove and was the wife of the late Nicholas DeConter. She had been visiting in Yuba City for a month.

She is also survived by six sons, Joseph of Penngrove, Paul of San Francisco, William of Sebastopol, Nicholas of Las Vegas, Nev., John of Anchorage, Alaska and Peter of Glenside, Pa.; another daughter, Marguerite Grossman of San Francisco; a brother, John Watgen of Chicago; 12 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Monday at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Petaluma, followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. Sunday at Sorensen Funeral Home.

SAMUEL JANKO

Private funeral for Samuel N. Janko, owner of Janko Upholstery in San Anselmo, has been held in San Francisco. Janko, 74, died Tuesday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was born in New York City and had been a California resident 10 years. He had owned the upholstery firm four years.

Janko, who lived with his wife, Rose, at 175 Upper Via Casitas, Greenbrae, was a director of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Kiwanis Club in Bell Gardens, Los Angeles County, where he also served as a business commissioner.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Ted, of Mill Valley, and Mort, of San Francisco.

The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

LEE THORNTON

Private funeral for Lee Lorraine Thornton, 47, of 401 First Street, San Rafael, will be held in Chicago.

She collapsed at her home Wednesday and was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital. Death apparently was due to natural causes, according to deputy coroner Bill J. Thomas.

Mrs. Thornton was born in Chicago and had lived in Marin four years. She was a registered nurse with the Air Force.

She is survived by a son, Thaddius, and a brother, James Fanlon of Chicagol.

Burial will be in Chicago.

Jail Time In Pot Case

James Edward Bartee, 24, a former Rancho Olompali resident, was sentenced to 30 days in Marin County Jail yesterday for possession of marijuana.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court gave Bartee credit for 11 days already spent in jail.

Bartee was found guilty by a jury in January of having pot when he was arrested Jan. 14, 1969, at the former hippie colony.

Ross Follows Hub's Police Service Plan

Ross became the second Marin community last night to halt at least partial police service to the unincorporated area of the county.

The town council, in a unanimous vote, said its policemen would no longer respond to nonemergency calls for assistance from the sheriff's office.

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones, who sparked the action, noted the town's small force assisted the sheriff's office in areas as far away as Santa Venetia 24 times last year, each time leaving the town unprotected because only one officer is on patrol each shift.

He insisted town residents should get the service they pay for and that officers should not be loaned "on a gratis basis to other jurisdictions."

The action followed by two nights a decision by the San Anselmo City Council to halt "first call" service to Sleepy Hollow, its adjoining unincorporated neighbor. Under that system, San Anselmo officers responded to Sleepy Hollow calls as a matter of courtesy if a sheriff's unit wasn't available.

The Fairfax City Council also weighed similar action, but reneged on the advice of public safety officials.

The Ross and San Anselmo moves come in the wake of rejection by the Marin County Board of Supervisors of a proposed police services district for the unincorporated area that would enable areas to obtain beefed-up protection at an added levy.

Cities have complained they pay twice for police protection — once to maintain their own forces and again to the county for sheriff's patrol service. However, they object, the sheriff's office provides them with meager or no service.

When a sheriff's unit passes through Ross, Jones complained last night, the officer "doesn't even wave."

"The only time they stop," he said, "is when they need directions so they can serve a warrant on a parking ticket or if there's a deadbeat who hasn't paid his bill."

The council emphasized its action, endorsed by Police Chief John Harris, does not rule out responding to emergency calls nor does it eliminate police service to San Anselmo, if called for.

The Ross Town Council Also:

GARBAGE — Ratified an increase in garbage pickup rates asked by Marin Sanitary Service. Basic per-can charges for a level lot each month will go from $2 to $2.25 on May 1, to $2.35 in February 1972 and to $2.45 in February 1973. For hilly lots, the rate will go to $2.95, then to $3.05 and $3.15. In return, the town won free pickup four times a month from town debris boxes. The company said the increases, first in three years, were needed to meet newly won employee wage boosts.

HITCHHIKING — Endorsed AB 203, by Assemblyman W. Don MacGillivray, R-Santa Barbara, that would reinforce town-imposed controls on hitchhiking.

DISASTER — Introduced an ordinance updating the town's disaster control measures to encompass earthquakes.

POLICE — Adopted an ordinance substituting the position of police sergeant for assistant chief of police.

EXPLOSIVES — Introduced an ordinance requiring the police and fire chiefs to give permission for the use of explosives in town.

Missing GI's Wives, Children To Get Benefits

Education and home loan benefits are now available to wives and children of servicemen missing in action, held prisoner of war or interned by a foreign government.

James V. Burdick, director of Marin County Veterans Services, urged that dependents who fall in these categories telephone his office in Room 424 of the Civic Center Administration Building in San Rafael.

Under a new federal law, the Veterans Administration will extend the education and home loan benefits to POWs, internees and those missing in action who previously were not eligible.

Marin's Chess Club Changes Location

The new meeting time and place of the Marin Chess Club is 8 p.m. each Tuesday at the Tamalpais Valley Methodist Church at Ash Street and Marin Avenue, said secretary L. A. Post.

The club has been meeting at 8 p.m. Thursdays at the London Arms at 85 Red Hill Road, San Anselmo.

Citizens' Patrol Urged For Beach

Muir Beach residents may organize a small group of volunteer fire wardens to control open fires at private Bello Beach, just north of Muir Beach State Park.

Ernest E. Emig, a resident of Bello Beach, complained to the county fire chief last week about illegal fires built on the beach.

Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom recommended yesterday that Muir Beach residents form a volunteer organization, whose main job would be to caution people about the danger of fires and advising them of the county ban against open fires. Chief Bloom said he would issue identification cards to the volunteer fire wardens.

If the volunteers' warnings are not heeded, regular firemen or sheriff's deputies could be called in to arrest the violators, said Chief Bloom.

PROPOSED LARK CREEK INN — After remodeling, the historic Hil Probert home in Larkspur, acquired last November by Sommer-Ryan Enterprises, will be turned into a restaurant and should look something like this. Situated in a grove of Redwoods, it is planned to retain its Victorian architecture.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Austrian Couple Scoring A Hit At The Old Vienna Restaurant

Generally the Viennese seem to have a lighter touch to their cooking than the Germans, even though the same dishes may be involved.

A splendid example of this can be found at the Old Vienna Restaurant which was opened last December at 508 Third Street, San Rafael by Karl and Edith Klauda.

Because of its comparative newness, this little restaurant is still in the "sleeper" stage. And while it is picking up customers rapidly (particularly at lunchtime) dinner customers are not yet standing in line waiting for a table.

To my mind it is only a question of time before this happens, because the food is definitely of superior quality and preparation. In fact, it's genuinely mouth-watering. I have talked to others who have eaten here and they, too, have been impressed.

Karl and Edith, both from Vienna, work together — he in the kitchen and she at the tables. He was well trained in his profession as a chef in Austria, and before opening in San Rafael he was at the Coq d'Or in San Francisco. Looking at him you're inclined mentally to remove his chef's hat and white apron and substitute the cap and uniform of a dashing young officer in a Viennese light opera.

Complete dinners are $3.50 and there are a number of a la carte selections. There is a wine and beer license and Karl appears to be as proficient in selecting wines as he is in preparing food. If you feel festive, try his premium bottle — a dry Austrian muscat wine.

SINGER-GUITARIST Lynne Askdown is the new featured Friday and Saturday night entertainer at the Dock in Tiburon. She plays from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Al Tognoli is the new manager here. He was formerly assistant manager in the Windjammer.

NOW THAT the former Hil Probert property on Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur has been rezoned, Sommer-Ryan Enterprises should be expected to start work soon on remodeling the historic Probert home into the Lark Creek Inn and the former Toyota buildings into a shopping complex.

According to Ralph (Skip) Sommer, the old home will be enlarged but its Victorian character will be retained. It will be turned into a 140-seat luncheon and dinner house with decor of turn-of-the-century Marin. Among the memorabilia Sommer has been collecting are a carved mahogany back bar that came around Cape Horn in a Clipper ship and many old pictures of the county.

Cuisine, he says, will feature a limited menu of prime rib, steaks and specialty casseroles with prices in the moderate range — and the inn will be "a blend of Sacramento's Nut Tree Inn and Occidental's Union Hotel, all within a setting of magnificent redwoods."

Other plans include leasing the remodeled showrooms to boutique and antique shops similar in style to Los Gatos' Old Town Center. Offstreet parking for the inn and shops will be hidden from the street.

Not for a while will all this happen, but perhaps later this year.

WORD FROM THE ATTERBURYS in Tiburon is that for the first time in 14 years the Caprice will open regularly in the daytime.

Lunches will now be served Tuesdays through Fridays from noon to 3 p.m. and the downstairs cocktail lounge will be open from noon until closing at night. Hors d'oeuvres will be served between 4 and 6:30 p.m. and cocktails and highballs will go at 90 cents until 6:30 p.m.

Luncheon menu will be changed weekly and run to salads and louies, some seafood dishes, omelets, steak and possible open faced sandwiches and daily "dividend choices." Reservations for lunch are not necessary but will be accepted if a particular table is at stake or a special dish not on the menu that day is wanted.

HOUNDSTOOTH INN at 10 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael was scheduled to reopen today, according to Don Banks, who closed it a few months ago when he took over the operation of the Gold Street in San Francisco.

Hours are from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week, serving lunches and dinners and a Sunday brunch.

A la carte lunch menu will feature such dishes as a hamburger combination with French fries and salad at $1.75, Reuben sandwich at $1.75, New York steak at $2.50 and deep fried prawns at $2.95. Also at least three salads. At this writing the dinner menu had not been completely worked out by chef Carl Lindstrom, but he is what is known as a saute chef (formerly with the San Francisco Hilton) so you can expect him to promote a few dishes in that category.

There will be wine and beer served until 10 p.m. and piano entertainment will be offered Friday and Saturday nights and on Sunday afternoons.

A NEW RESTAURANT opening about the middle of April will be Der Hauf Brau Haus at 276 Northgate Shopping Center (Unit One).

The location has been leased by Bruce and Jo Ann Rosen of San Anselmo, who previously had a place in San Francisco. Bruce has been in the restaurant business about 18 years.

This will be a self-service restaurant, take out and delicatessen operation. It will be large enough to seat about 48 people. Food will be Germanic style cooking. Present schedule calls for it to open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., which should cover the lunch and early dinner periods.

Application has been made for an on sale wine and beer license.

A GOOD SPECIAL these days at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael (not on the menu — you'll have to ask for it) is the crepe Bombay, filled with curried shrimp and lobster. It takes 15 or 20 minutes to prepare.

Popular on the regular menu is the lobster thermidor, $4.95 a la carte.

These dishes and anything else on the menu can be prepared to take out, though the biggest selling take-home items are the cannelloni and lasagne. Two cannelloni orders make a nice appetizer for four persons.

IN CHANGING THE HOLIDAYS, someone forgot to arrange to have St. Patrick's Day fall on the second or third Thursday of the month in order to coincide with the traditional Thursday dish of corned beef and cabbage.

So as usual it will be on the 17th, which is next Wednesday and restaurateurs will have to change their menus or double up on their servings. One of these is McKee's in San Rafael which is having its annual St. Patrick's Day party Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Corned beef — all you can eat — is $1.75.

And there'll be music on the Baldwin organ by Gary Schneider, who may not have an Irish name, but his repertoire is as happy as the green shamrocks o' Erin and so is his repertoire for this occasion.

Illiterates Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau says 1.4 million Americans —about one out of every 100 —over the age of 14 is illiterate, compared with 2.6 million 10 years ago.

Reagan Calls For Quake Fund Hike

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has urged immediate consideration of a bill to pump $1 million into the Cal-Vet disaster fund depleted because of the Southern California earthquake.

Reagan said Thursday that the Feb. 9 temblor damaged 517 Cal-Vet properties and nearly $1 million has been taken from the fund to cover uninsured damages.

Only $247,000, he said in a statement, was left in the fund. The replenishment bill was authored by Assemblyman Robert C. Cline, R-Canoga Park.

NEW BUS SIGN

Walter Mick, maintenance superintendent for San Rafael, installs the first new bus stop sign marking the route of Marin County Transit System buses. James B. Robertson, acting general manager of the Marin County Transit District, said about 100 of the blue and white signs eventually will be posted to mark stops between San Marin Drive in Novato and Marin General Hospital in Kentfield.

Surprised Banks Study Chase's Cut

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Some California bankers were still undecided this morning on whether to follow Chase Manhattan National Bank of New York in dropping their prime lending rate from 5.75 per cent to 5.25 per cent.

Chase Manhattan took other banks across the country by surprise yesterday by announcing a drop of one-half of 1per cent. Recent drops have been one-quarter of 1 per cent, and following this pattern a few eastern banks have come down to 5.5 per cent since the Chase Manhattan announcement.

Bank of California was the first western bank to make any change, but the drop here was also to 5.5 per cent.

This was followed by a Wells Fargo Bank announcement this morning that its prime rate would be reduced to 5.5 per cent on Monday Ward C. Krebs, chairman of the bank's credit policy committee, said other loan rates are also being reviewed to keep them in line with this decrease

Krebs also announced a reduction in the savings passbook rate to 4 per cent effective April 1 to "bring the savings rate more in line with other interest rates'

Bank of America senior vice president E.E. Iversen said the matter was under study this morning but that the bank was not likely to be hasty in reducing its present rate of 5.75 per cent

Carl K. Schieck, executive vice president and administrator of Security Pacific National Bank's Northern California headquarters, reported still holding to the 5.75 per cent rate, but said discussions have been going on and if the pressure becomes too great security Pacific would be obliged to make a reduction.

Earl E. Boutelier, vice president and manager of the San Rafael office of United California Bank, said no instructions had been received from Los Angeles headquarters and the bank's prime rate still stood at 5.75 per cent.

Locally owned banks are not expected to make any immediate changes, as their rates are not as closely scheduled as those of the large banks.

Opposition Voiced To Apartments

The Rohnert Park Homeowners Association last night voted to join residents on Adrian Drive in opposing a requested setback variance for apartments on Bridgit Drive.

Adrian Drive residents told association members that developers of an apartment complex at the rear of their homes would be seeking a variance to reduce rearyard setbacks at the city council meeting Monday at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Norval Latrielle, publicity chairman, said the residents feared the multistory apartments would invade backyard privacy at their homes and present a safety hazard because fire trucks could not get to the rear of the buildings.

Mrs. Latrielle said a letter stating objections would be sent to the council.

The association also agreed to financially sponsor a bowling program for a student in the mentally retarded class at Waldo Rohnert School.

$1.8 Million Draft Budget For Schools

A preliminary 1971-72 budget of $1,812,521 was presented the Larkspur School District board last night, according to Business Mgr. Gilbert L. Slusher.

The budget represents a $56,000 increase over this fiscal year's budget and does not include cost-of-living pay raises for teachers, he said.

The working document, rather, represents this year's program with projected cost increases for next year.

Slusher said that if the preliminary budget figure of $1.8 million — about half of which represents salaries — were to be accepted by the board, this year's district tax rate of $3.62 per $100 assessed valuation would drop a few cents. The drop would result from a state mandated increase in assessed valuation from 23 to 25 per cent of market value.

The Larkspur School District board also:

SUMMER SCHOOL Set the 1971 summer school program for June 16 to July 16 with a budget of $14,262. About 15 teachers will be hired for about 20 classes in both special and basic courses.

APPOINTMENT Appointed Trustee Curtis P. Kamai to represent the board on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

CLOSED SESSION Entered closed session and emerged with the announcement that one teacher will not be rehired next year. The teacher's name and reason for dismissal were not given pending notification.

LETTER Received a letter from the Congress of the United States informing the district that federal funds for special programs will be cut 20 to 30 per cent next fiscal year. Cohen said the cutback will mean a loss of about $3,000 to the district for special reading and math programs and other special projects.

SECURITY SYSTEMS Delayed until its next meeting, April 8, consideration of security systems for district schools.

APPRECIATION — Was feted at a cake and coffee hour by the Neil Cummins School Parent-Teacher Association for "appreciation for a tremendous job" as district trustees.

Plea Set On Drug Charges

Hart Keith Bell, 26, of 1214 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, and Charles Virgil Leffingwell, 25, of San Francisco, have been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana.

They are to plead to the charges Tuesday.

The two were arrested Monday when narcotics agents raided a residence at 195 Buchanan Drive, Sausalito. Bell was there when agents arrived and found suspected marijuana and hashish.

Leffingwell arrived at the residence while the agents were still there. In his possession, agents said they found suspected hashish and a marijuana cigarette.

Drive Cuts Head In 101 Accident

Larry Calvert, 23, of San Francisco, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head cuts suffered in an accident at 11:20 p.m. yesterday on Highway 101, south of Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said his car skidded on wet pavement and struck an abutment of the bridge over San Antonio Creek at the Marin County Line.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Pacific Lighting's Promising Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I was advised to buy Pacific Lighting for income and gradual appreciation. Because of the Los Angeles earthquake and its effect on the company's property I did not. Can you clarify this for me? J. S.

A. According to corporate president Paul A. Miller, the earthquake had "remarkably little effect" on Pacific's property. Customer service suspended because of the disaster will cost the company less than $1.5 million to repair. He estimated that 1971 earnings will increase about 25 per cent over 1970's $2.03 a share.

The gain would reflect normal weather conditions for its utility operations and an expected doubling of net for its real estate divisions. Requests for rate increases will be filed in the second quarter, which if granted would also benefit earnings.

The dividend, which returns a generous 5.7 per cent has been liberalized regularly, a policy that should continue. Trading at 14x, the estimate of 1971 earnings shares are reasonably priced relative to growth prospects.

Q. What is your opinion on Kroehler Corp. for growth? No dividend has been paid for a year. Should I continue holding? D. U.

A. Earnings could stage a strong comeback this year, based on the rate of orders received to date. Year-to-year, orders are running 17 per cent ahead and backlog is up 20 per cent. Consumer reluctance to purchase large ticket items in the face of a recessive economy was reflected in the 4.2 per cent drop in 1970 sales.

Earnings were 78 cents a share before charges for discontinued operations, which were equal to 74 cents a share. On the plus side, new family formations in the next decade should show a sharp spurt, thereby aiding furniture sales.

The recent rise in housing starts coupled with the high level of savings deposits could benefit Kroehler on a nearer-term basis. According to company officials, the dividend will be reinstated "as soon as possible." Retain Kroehler for long-term appreciation prospects.

Slight Drop, Moderate Turnover

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was slightly lower on moderate turnover late Friday.

With about an hour of trading to go, steels, motors and chemicals generally showed narrow price changes. So did rails, airlines and aircrafts.

Oils traded narrowly in both directions, while point-sized swingers in the electronics lacked a definite pattern.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was about unchanged. Declines topped advances 726 to 591.

Among the day's most heavily traded issues were Sony Corp., Occidental Petroleum, University Computing, Flying Tiger, International Telephone, and Federal National Mortgage.

Prices were weak in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

IT&T Has Record $6.4 Billion Year

Sales and earnings in 1970 for International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. are reported to have surpassed all previous records.

Worldwide sales and revenues totaled $6.4 billion — an increase of 12 per cent over 1969 sales and revenues of $5.7 billion. Consolidated net income amounted to $353 million, 21 per cent more than the $293 million reported in 1969.

Per share earnings were equal to $3.17, up 20 per cent from the $2.65 per share earned in 1969.

PACIFIC COAST HOLDINGS, INC. has reported net earnings of $202,945 for 1970 or 20 per cents per share, compared with $448,919 or 45 cents per share for 1969. Total revenues increased to $6.6 million from $6.5 million. Total assets at yearend were $97 million, up from $96 million. Decline in earnings is attributed to the consolidation of Bell Savings and Loan Association and effects of the tight money situation.

SECURITY PACIFIC NATIONAL BANK stockholders have voted approval of a 20 per cent stock dividend. Earnings to date in 1971 register slightly ahead of last year's record level. Income for last year before losses on securities hit $57.5 million. The dividend will be paid to stockholders of record April 23.

AMPEX CORP., Redwood City has adopted a change in accounting policy that will result in a charge-off of about $10 million of previously deferred engineering expense. It is expected to reduce earnings for the fiscal year ending May 1 by approximately 50 cents per share. Ampex reported sales of $221.9 million and net earnings of $2.7 million or 25 cents per share for the three quarters ended Jan. 30.

PHILCO-FORD CORP. is recalling about 1,000 workers at its two area plants in Philadelphia and suburban Lansdale, Pa. between now and June. So far this year, Philco-Ford's sales to retailers of color TV receivers have increased 23 per cent, black and white TV sales are up 20 per cent, console phonographs have gone up 52 per cent and component stereos have advanced a full 100 per cent.

KAISER INDUSTRIES CORP., Oakland has reported net earnings of $23.2 million in 1970 or 84 cents per share of common stock. This compares with 1969 net earnings of $16 million or 57 cents per share.

VANGUARD INTERNATIONAL, INC., Oakland directors have voted to discontinue the company's land development operations and dispose of its real estate — primarily 1,500 acres of industrial and residential property in the Bay Area. It intends to utilize the cash in servicing its existing debts and in an acquisition program in the financial services area.

PUREX CORP. has selected Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, Inc. as advertising agency for Brillo, Instant Fels, Gentle Fels and its Sweetheart products. John H. Hoefer and several other agency members are Marin residents.

ALLIS-CHALMERS directors have declared a dividend of five cents per share payable on April 30 to stockholders of record April 1.

FLYING TIGER CORP. directors have declared a stock dividend of 5 per cent payable May 7 to stockholder of record March 26. The company previously paid a 5 per cent stock dividend last August.

Sao Paulo's Share

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)— In 1968, the latest figures compiled, Sao Paulo State had 42,893 manufacturing industries employing 1,129,200 workers. This comprised slightly more than 50 per cent of the total manufacturing employment in Brazil. They earned 59.1 per cent of the country's wages.

Livingstons Open Shop On The Mall

The new Livingston Bros. store has opened on the Northgate Mall in the space vacated by H. Liebes last November.

Occupying 15,000 square feet, Livingston will carry similar inventories of women's wear to those in its other stores, but will go somewhat heavier on stocks of junior sizes and sportswear, according to Carl Livingston Jr., who operates the store chain with his brother Barry.

There will also be a beauty parlor in the store and the Northgate shop of the Yarn Barn will give up its present location to operate a concession in Livingston's.

The store will be managed by Mrs. Inger Rosenthal of San Rafael, who was formerly assistant manager in the Northgate City of Paris.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Business, Charity, Medical Travels Can Earn Deductions

Do your use your car for business purposes or for charitable purposes or for medical purposes?

If you do, you can claim your expenses for the use of your car on a flat mileage basis, rather than having to compute depreciation, gas, oil, tires, etc., and then divide this between business and personal.

This is the way it works: For business use, you are allowed 12 cents per mile for the first 15,000 business miles and 9 cents per mile for every business mile thereafter.

You only keep a record of the business miles traveled for your car but like every other record you keep, you must be able to substantiate the fact that the car was used for business and the number of miles traveled.

You cannot use this system and also claim depreciation on your car.

You cannot use this system if you have previously taken extra first year depreciation allowance on your car or if you have previously depreciated by one of the accelerated methods.

If you are reimbursed for the business use of your car by your employer and this reimbursement is less than 12 cents per mile, you may include the reimbursement in income and deduct the 12 cents per mile up to the first 15,000 miles and 9 cents per mile thereafter.

If your reimbursement is in excess of 12 cents a mile, but not more than 15 cents a mile, you wouldn't want to use this system as you do not have to account for your automobile expense because you are considered to have accounted to your employer for the expenses. If your reimbursement is in excess of 15 cents a mile, you will have to include the reimbursement in income and itemize your automobile expenses.

You can use this system and in addition deduct parking fees and bridge tolls. You may also deduct parking fees and bridge tolls. You may also deduct interest paid on the purchase of the car.

If you use your car for charitable work such as soliciting funds for the United Fund, carrying children back and forth to Sunday School, doing work for the hospital or traveling from home to the place where you render personal services to a charity for which you are not reimbursed, you can deduct 6 cents per mile for the charitable use of your car.

If you use your car for medical transportation, you can increase your medical expense deduction by 6 cents per mile for such use of your car.

In both these cases you can also deduct bridge tolls, parking fees, etc.

LIGHTSHIP'S END NEAR — Now that automated buoys can provide fog horn, radio beacon and light warnings to ships at sea, the Coast Guard has decided to phase-out its San Francisco lightship, a fixture since 1898, and another one off the coast at Eureka, marking the end of the era of "never sails," the ships that never go anywhere, causing massive boredom among sailors assigned to lightship duty. (UPI Telephoto)

SAN FRANCISCO LIGHTSHIP

A Wave Of The Future Marks End Of An Ocean Tradition

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Landlubbers aren't the only people being replaced by machines ... automation even reaches into the sea.

The San Francisco lightship, a fixture 12 miles off the Golden Gate since 1898, is soon to be replaced by an automated buoy, ending one of the most isolated outposts in the Coast Guard.

A lightship off Eureka is due to be replaced in the same fashion about the same time and then the day of such vessels in California will be over. The Coast Guard has set a tentative date of late April for both changes.

It's doubtful CPO O.W. Austin, executive officer of the 133 foot San Francisco lightship, will shed any tears even though some of his men insist life on the vessel is "good duty."

Austin, an 18 year veteran of the Coast Guard from Kitty Hawk, N.C., thinks the buoys are the wave of the future and can do everything the light ships can do without the dull routine of living at sea on a "never sail."

The mission of the present lightship is to maintain a fog horn and radio beacon as well as a light.

"The new large navigational buoys are more economical, can do the job just as well and will allow us to release personnel for other functions," Austin said.

Whatever those "functions" are they're probably better than duty on a lightship, at least from a young sailor's viewpoint.

Fireman Bill Rush, 19, of San Jose, Calif., thinks the magnetism of San Francisco's beauty, which can be seen on most days from the vessel, added to the feeling of isolation.

"At night we can see the lights twinkle and, man, do we want to get ashore," he said.

"Party boats that come out here can really get to you, too. All those guys drinking beer with their girls."

Rush said there's some advantage in lightship duty, however.

The 18 crewmen spend three weeks on the ship and then two on leave ashore.

"It's only about an hour drive to San Jose and I'm home. I really look forward to that."

Fellow Fireman Laine Gager, 17m Danville, Calif., and PO 3.C Bob Essard, 24, Sunnyvalle, Calif., agreed that being close to home was a distinct advantage over service on, say, an icebreaker.

But they also talked a lot about "channel fever," which Rush explained was the growing anxiety that accompanies the coming of the supply ship every two weeks that takes the men ashore for leave.

Boredom, Austin said, was the number one problem.

"We got television, a color set. And the fishing is pretty good," he said. "We had a lot of luck during the last salmon run."

"But swimmings out. The water is much too cold.

Rush and Essard gave the impression that life on a lightship was a constant search for ways to combat boredom.

"Model building is big out here," Essard said. "We even started turning out model cannons in the machine ship for a while."

Some of the men don't mind the isolation and the time on their hands.

Darrell Cox, 20, a PO 3.C from Albuquerque, N.M., said duty on the vessel was "outstanding."

"I used to be on a cutter and we hardly ever saw land," he said. "I get a chance here to watch TV and play a lot of cards and read westerns. "I'm a real Max Brand nut."

There's one drawback with spending weeks with just sailors and then going ashore, Cox said.

"You certainly have to watch your language."

Judge In Surprise Visit To Jail, Finds It 'Cruel'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Conditions are so bad at an Alameda County jail that they make San Quentin or Alcatraz look like "paradise," a federal court judge declared Thursday while ordering improvements.

Judge Alphonso J. Zirpoli, in U.S. District Court, declared confinement in one barracks at Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center constitutes "cruel and unusual punishment for man or beast."

Confinement in the Greystone barracks, he added, "offends elemental concepts of decency" and is of "shocking and debase character."

The judge recommended that Greystone be "razed to the ground" and set April 14 for a hearing on plans for improvements.

If he is not satisfied then, he declared he would order the prison to quit holding pre-trial arrestees.

It is especially shocking, he said, that "those confined in Greystone subject to such cruel and inhuman punishment are persons who are waiting trial, have yet to be found guilty and are presumed under law to be innocent of wrongdoings."

Robert E. Hanna, county board of supervisors chairman, objected to the ruling, holding it was inappropriate for "federal courts to interfere in an issue that is strictly a county responsibility."

The board appropriated $692,000 last year to improve the prison and the county is now issuing contract for the work, he continued.

Judge Zirpoli, who made an unannounced 3 1-2-hour visit to the jail, said he did not hold Sheriff Frank Madigan responsible for the "shameful and deplorable conditions" which must be corrected "by the people of Alameda County."

He reported that Madigan, with "commendable candor, conceded that many of the conditions ... are bad." But, the judge added, the sheriff is unable to change them. Madigan was away at a convention.

Judge Zirpoli acted on a suit filed by the Legal Aid Society on behalf of Greystone prisoners.

The Greystone barracks were constructed as part of a military prison and acquired by the county in 1947.

Weapons Display On Tap In Petaluma

The Petaluma Lions Club will sponsor a weapons show featuring swords, cartridges, Indian artifacts and military items this weekend at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

The show will be open Saturday at 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

European Visitor Tours The Caves

STANTON, Mo. (UPI)—Most people go to Europe to visit famous cities, museums and other widely known points of interest, and to shop.

Not Bob Hudson, who on returning from his first European trip said all he wanted to see was all the caves he could crowd in on his schedule. Hudson is manager of Meramec Caverns on U.S. 66 here.

Two ridiculous gimmicks of the 1940's.

Everyone laughed when they came out with the television.

A box that could show pictures from 3,000 miles away? Absurd.

But everyone really cracked up when we came out with the Volkswagen.

A car with its engine in the back? Its trunk in the front? And its radiator in neither the front nor the back?

It even looked like a joke.

But time marched on.

The television clicked.

The Volkswagen accelerated.

People liked the idea of a car that didn't drink gas like water. Or oil like water.

Or, for that matter, didn't even drink water.

Some strange people even liked the idea that it was strange looking.

In fact, Detroit car makers now like the idea of a VW so much that they decided to make their own.

But even with all those new small cars around, the fate of the bug is still secure.

This is the first year for all of the others.

We've had 23 years of re-runs.

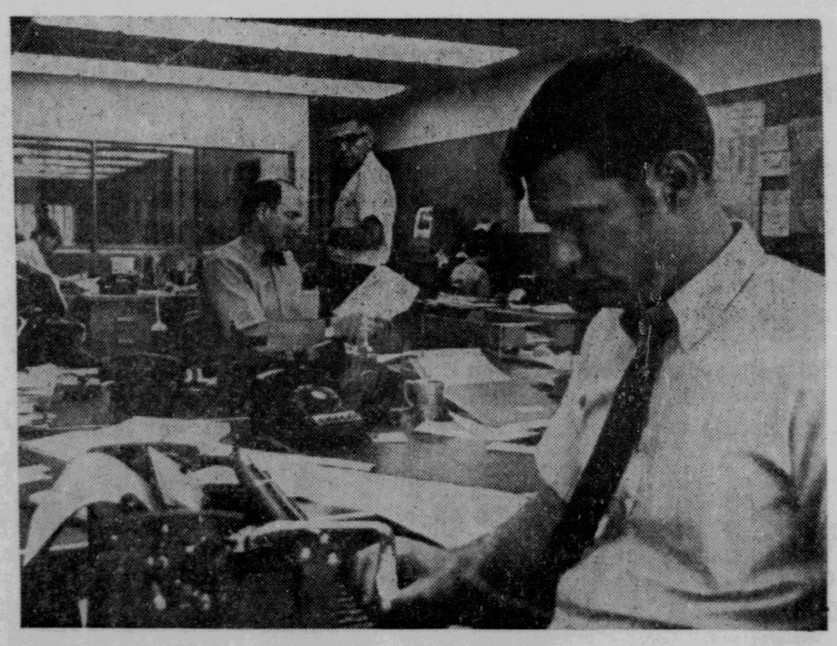
PACIFIC OCEAN

You're on the map in the I-J — all the news of your community.



A staff of 30 I-J reporters and editors covers the local scene. This is why we're able to report it so comprehensively.

You're on the map.

Few newspapers in the U.S. provide such complete coverage of local communities as you will find in the I-J. May we tell you why and also how we do it?

At first glance the I-J appears pretty much like other sizeable suburban daily newspapers. World and national news, wire services, major features — all there.

But as you turn the pages a "different" newspaper takes form. You quickly discover the world of your community and of every area in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties. A hundred stories and more each day on matters of intense local interest. A council decision, an educational problem, a new park, a fund-raising event, a club meeting — the whole spectrum of community living.

Why do we report all this and in detail? Because this news has a direct and often personal bearing upon you as a citizen . . . upon your family, your pocketbook, even your hopes. For this is not news of a vague "somewhere" but news that is close to home and close to your interests. We think it is a newspaper's responsibility to report it thoroughly — as well as the international scene.

How do we do it? First, we have the committment. Second, the largest news staff in Marin and So. Sonoma counties. And third, the facilities — local news bureaus in Mill Valley, Novato, the Civic Center, Petaluma, plus the resources of I-J headquarters in San Rafael. Also, it doesn't hurt that we have one of the most advanced newspaper production facilities in the country.

We may not report everything (no newspaper can). But day after day you will see the complete "news map" of all local communities forming before your eyes. Which means you're on the map . . . because you are kept thoroughly informed.

Repairs At Beach May Be Delayed

Major repairs at McNears Beach near Peacock Gap should be held up until this fall so that construction will not interfere with the use of the county beach this summer, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission has decided.

The commission will ask the county board of supervisors to award a contract for the first segment of the work but postpone the start of work.

The first part of construction includes the repair of utilities, improvement of the parking area, turfing and tree planting. Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, estimated cost of the work at $50,000 to $75,000.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

EARLY MEETING — Set next month's meeting one week ahead, for April 7 instead of on April 14, because it wants to meet again before a workshop discussion with the board of supervisors The workshop with the supervisors is set for 11 a.m. April 13.

FIELD TRIP — Set a field trip to tour the Black Canyon area of San Rafael on March 20. Commissioners will meet at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center parking lot.

TIBURON TRAILS — Named Merritt A. Robinson, Polly Smith and Dorothy Olson to study a Tiburon hiking trail proposed by Tiburon to see it is acceptable to the county.

Reason Behind Delay On Alaskan Pipeline

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said Thursday a decision on a proposed $1 billion trans-Alaska oil pipeline was being delayed by lack of information from the oil companies.

"It depends entirely on how fast the applicants can furnish us the technical information that they must furnish us to do this," Morton told the House Interior Committee. He hopes they can do this in three months.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Cougar Country" — A true wildlife adventure story of the events in the life of a curious young cougar. The response of the children in the audience to the playful antics of the animals was a delight.

"Cromwell" — Exquisitely photographed historical spectacular about the Puritan reformation and civil war in 17th Century England.

"My Fair Lady" — Based on Shaw's comedy about a witty speech authority who transforms a flower girl with a cockney accent into an aristocratic lady. Extraordinary entertainment for all.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" — Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Burn" — An adventurer helps to set off a revolution of blacks against whites in the West Indies in 1830. Ten years later the takeover backfires and he must again fight but this time against the very men he trained. Beautifully filmed but dubbing is spotty, much violence — some nudity.

"Great White Hope" — Quasi-fictionalized story of first black heavy weight champion, Jack Johnson. It exposes ugliness of racial hate and the blood lust of fight ring. Strong drama will appeal to fight fans.

"Sterile Cuckoo" — A kooky college freshman and her first love sesrience is told with insight that is a tribute to the director.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alex In Wonderland" — A sad comedy about a "hippie" type movie director who fantasized "Fellini" fashion about plot material for his next film. Film excesses offset by brilliant script and acting.

"Investigation of a Citizen Above Suspicion" — The head of intelligence in Rome commits a bloody murder leaving ample clues to his guilt to prove the police will disregard them due to his stature. A fascinating topic but overly long to maintain tension. Some sex and nudity. English subtitles.

"Last Grenade" — A very violent film about revenge sought by an officer against one of his men who sold out to the "Reds" and killed his own men on patrol. Excessive use of blood and gore is repulsive, melodrama seems contrived.

"Zig Zag" — An intriguing mystery about an insurance salesman (doomed to death by a brain tumor) who frames himself of an unsolved murder to get the reward money for his family. After conviction he tries to prove his innocence. Ethics are confused.

ADULTS ONLY

"Midnight Cowboy" — Offbeat story about a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute and his relationship with a crippled bum. Many sordid depressing scenes but thought provoking. Well acted.

"Women in Love" — D. H. Lawrence's novel about total physical and spiritual love between the same and the opposite sex are explored extensively by very explicit, sensual sex scenes. Direction, acting and photography very good.

"Where's Poppa" — A vulgar black comedy presents an outrageous picture of a monstrous mother and her guilt-ridden harassed son. Wild scenes of rape and nudity are unrestrained, brutally frank and may prove offensive to some.

ART REVIEW

Sparkling Essay In Photography

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The three-man show of photographs by Michael Bry, Frank McFarland and Mike Samuels this month at the Unitarian Center, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael, is most simply that of a people watcher, a reporter and a poet.

Such a short summation, however, is in no way meant as an estimate of these artists' talents, for all three reach levels which are deep and complexly interesting.

As a people watcher, Bry is everywhere that there are people in the process of filling their days and staying alive. His subjects can be as unselfconscious as an elderly couple indulging in an ice cream cone. Or they can be as theatrical as ballet dancers posing on the mountain and the beach.

Where there is action, Bry's photographs reflect it. Frisbee players are in blurring motion. A young couple expresses a moment of abandoned joy by leaping high against a background of sky with the city reduced to a far gray ribbon below their feet. And there is a marvelous shot of straining horses and a girl rider, her mouth open and hair flying.

Bry treats death by superimposing dry, brittle grass and branches over grave markers. And then he grasps the humor of a situation in which preschoolers seem to be sternly supervised by a hand-on-hips giant of a sculptured man at the San Francisco Art Institute.

McFarland's photographic essay on the funeral of a member of the Gypsy Joker motorcycle tribe is as fascinating for its reporting as for its art. And McFarland uses the incident to convey an entire lifestyle.

He shows it through individual portraits such as the battered, swollen face that still stares back unbowed and through another where the rider's ripped out jacket elbow seems a badge of his burly nonchalance.

The group image is enormous in the gruff, bearded knot which waits, slouching in a tangle of machinery, in the row of powerful bikes parked outside the funeral home, in the out-of-their-element awkwardness of the hulking figures that darkly ring the grave and in the final litter of beercans, tools, gloves, scarves and mementos piled upon the coffin before it is covered with earth.

Later, McFarland's cocky, "wanted poster" portrait of men in low-slung chain belts and sleeveless jeans jackets and girls in shiny velour, gives way to montages of the hair and flesh and leather hard faces of booted seminudes mixed in with motorcycles.

Samuels' poetic suggestions are about as far removed from such brutal reality as you can get. His is the sort of eye which finds unusual beauty in the most ordinary things — in distorting them beyond recognition or in how they relate to each other.

Bed springs seen at different levels of focus, a knee and fingertips are some of his subjects. He often relates images by superimposition, as in veiling lines of tide swept foam over the flowing mass of a female nude. And he takes other things out of context and enlarges them so that you can never be sure what they are, other than poetic counterpoint to the harder views of life.

Buckley Coming To California

WASHINGTON (UPI) —New York's freshman Sen. James L. Buckley will visit California when he hits the Republican fund-raising trail next month.

Press Secretary Leonard Saffir said Thursday the conservative senator will make a three-state tour during April that will take him to Texas, California and Nebraska.

On April 15 Buckley is scheduled to appear at a gala Los Angeles money-raising affair for Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr.

Sonoma, San Rafael Bands To Perform

The Sonoma State College Concert Jazz Ensemble will join the San Rafael High School Stage Band for a performance Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Ives Hall of Music at the college.

Walter Oster will lead the jazz ensemble while Terry Summa will conduct the stage band. Reservations may be made by calling the college's extension division.

Police Relations Seminar Slated

The third in a series of community discussions on police-community relations will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Community Center in Bolinas.

Sgt. Robert Bertrand and Deputy Joseph Dentoni of the Marin County Sheriff's Department will speak. Gary Pearlman, coordinator of the program, will be the moderator.

The Marin County Police-Community Relations Department is sponsoring the series.

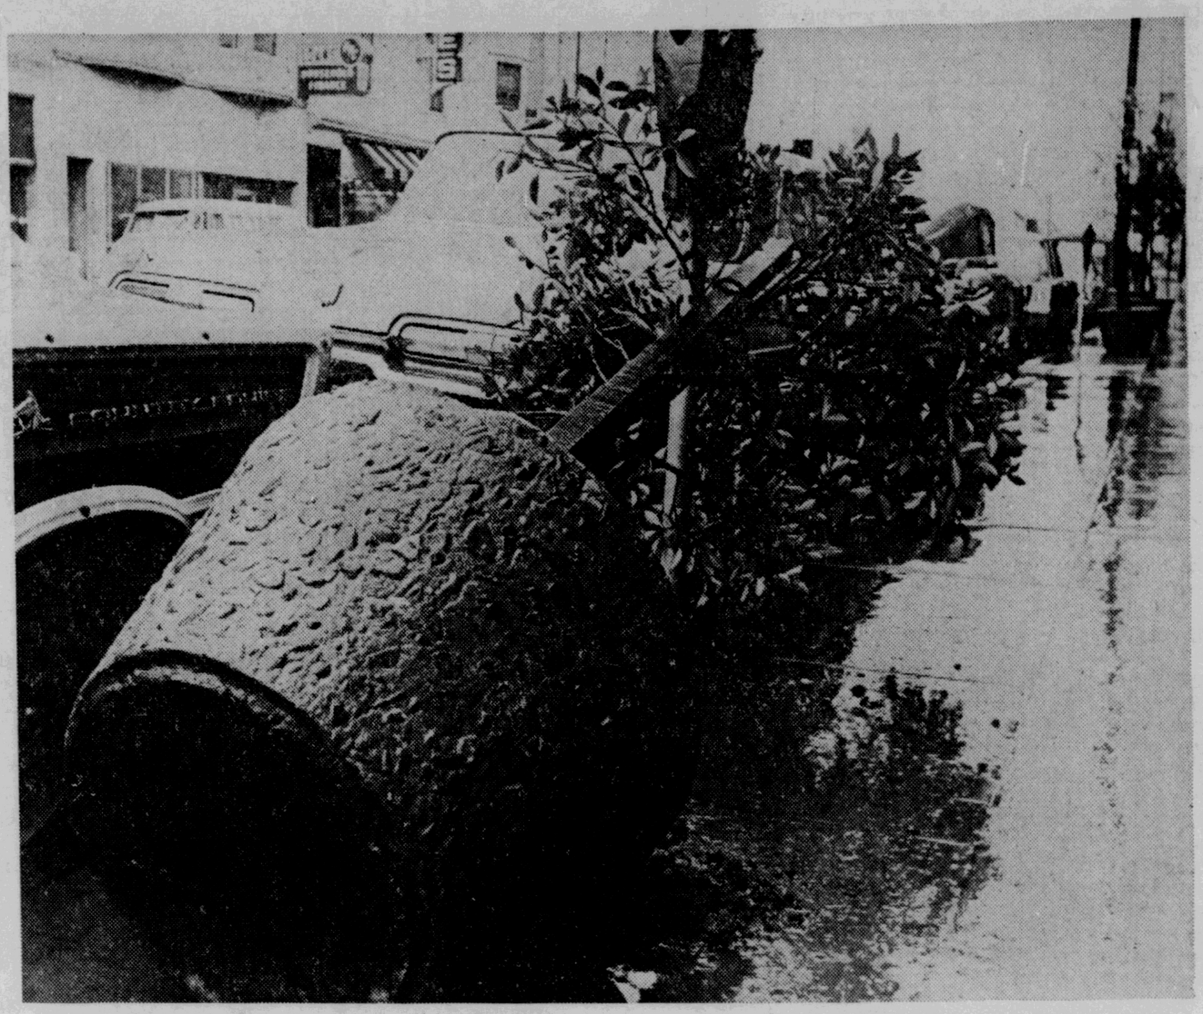
A POWERFUL GUST BREAKS WINDOW

The high winds which accompanied today's storm — first major one of 1971 — smashed this window at Carpet King on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael. Trees also were felled in scattered areas of the county. Another photo, story page 1.



DOWN IN WIND — A potted tree lies toppled on Fourth Street in San Rafael, victim of today's wind-buffeted storm. A total of 1.45 inches of rain had been dumped on San Rafael by 11 a.m. today.

STORM CLEANUP — An employee of Grand Auto, 850 Fourth Street, San Rafael, removes bricks blown from the front of the store in today's storm. Wind gusts reached 70 miles per hour atop Mount Tamalpais.

IN GREENBRAE — This utility pole, which neighbors said was rotted, snapped in the high winds today near 19 LaCuesta Drive, Greenbrae. Residents said Pacific Gas and Electric Co. had failed to replace the pole despite repeated complaints about its condition.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Draw Your Own Conclusions To A Lumberjack's Big Meals

I was intrigued by the title of an article in Nutrition Today — "Paul Bunyan's Cook." It was written by Dr. Alfaretta Clara Johnson Cooley who told about the meals consumed by lumberjacks in northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. As a young girl, she worked in the lumber camp and kept a diary that listed their typical bills of fare. Dr. Cooley, a dietitian, calculated that these men consumed at least 9,000 calories a day. According to her figures, the loggers and drovers used up 12 calories a minute while skinning the bark from a tree and from 10 to 19 calories when chopping one down. By comparison, a nurse standing quietly uses 1.3 calories per minute and 2.1 calories when working in the operating room. Surgeons use up 2.4 calories per minute.

AT ANY RATE the men (seated 12 at a table) started the day with oatmeal and top milk. The next course was cheese (1 pound per man) and molasses cookies, followed by pancakes, maple syrup, and large slabs of cow butter. (Some stuffed a few pancakes in their pockets for snacks.) The men then dug into several helpings of bacon and eggs, plus bread spread with butter and apple butter. The meal was topped off with a soup bowl of baked apples, stewed prunes, and lemons and raisins.

THE NOON meal at the camp consisted of stewed venison, baked beans and pork, boiled potatoes and cream gravy, rutabagas, squash, bread and honey, hickory nuts, molasses cake and coffee with cream and sugar.

SUPPER INCLUDED salmon loaf and creamed peas, fried potatoes, hard boiled eggs, (six for each man) bread with butter and jelly, pickles, cranberry strudle, blueberries and cream, and tea laced with maple sugar.

DESPITE THE amount of food put "down the hatch," the lumberjacks never got fat. Dr. Cooley remarked that if everyone ate as much as her maternal grandfather, the food supply of the world would be reduced by two-thirds. And, if everyone worked this hard — well, draw your own conclusions!

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

LARYNGITIS

Miss G. P. writes: Every time I catch cold I lose my voice. Since I'm a quiet person, too much talking is not to blame. What can be done about this condition?

REPLY

Try to avoid the initial cold. If this is not possible, treat the cold immediately so that the germs will not extend down to the voice box. There is no way, to my knowledge, to make the larynx less susceptible to viral or bacterial invasion once the infection takes hold.

EPILEPSY FROM SCARE

Mrs. G. M. writes: Could a normal 6-year-old child develop epilepsy after a bad fright?

REPLY

The cause of epilepsy is not known but I doubt if fright plays a role. After all, consider the number of children that have been frightened who never developed epilepsy and vice versa.

CONE-SHAPED CORNEA

P. A. writes: Is conical cornea passed on to one's offspring?

REPLY

We do not know, but contact lenses are most effective should the child develop the condition. In this ocular disorder, the cornea is cone shaped and ordinary glasses are of no value.

Today's Health Hint — Select toys for the small child that are durable and will not injure him.

Thurber's Son To Face Jury Quizzing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A soldier whose father is serving a life sentence for killing an Independent-Journal employee, today was to appear before a special federal grand jury investigating the 14-months-old strike against the I-J.

The witness was identified as Michael Thurber, 20, stationed at Fort Lee, Va., by Philip Michaels, an attorney in the Justice Department's special "strike force."

The strike force is a separate group of investigators and attorneys working directly under the U.S. Attorney General's office from Washington, D.C., on investigation of possible lawbreakings involving unions, government officials on all levels, organized crime and other problems.

Frank J. Thurber, 45, of San Bruno, was one of three persons convicted of killing Allan W. Daly, a computer specialist for the I-J, last July 4.

Michaels said yesterday was spent in questioning three union men concerning the strike against the I-J by San Francisco International Typographical Union Local 21.

On the stand were John J. DeMartini, 47, of Mill Valley, who is a former I-J employee and Local 21 vice president; Dennis J. Crowley, 41, of San Jose, and Warren Jones, a Mailers' Union member from Seattle.

Michaels said he could not reveal the testimony of the three union men. Cecil Poole, counsel for DeMartini and Crowley, said his clients had been ordered to reappear before the grand jury on March 25.

Crowley, meanwhile, was to appear today in Solano County Superior Court in Fairfield, for sentencing on another matter involving the strike against the Independent-Journal. Crowley James R. Brocato, 31, of Santa Rosa and Grant W. Anders, 30, of Oakland, pleaded guilty Jan. 25, to conspiring to break windows in stores of I-J advertisers.

The three, all Local 21 members, were arrested near the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center on June 3, 1970, while cruising in a car containing slingshots, chunks of printers' metal and a list of I-J advertisers.

The case had been transferred to Solano County after attorneys for the three men argued their clients could not receive a fair trial in Marin County. Judge Ellis R. Randall was to pronounce sentence on the felony charge today.

DeMartini was placed on a year's probation and fined $125 on Feb. 12, for failing to disperse from the scene of the Feb. 14, 1970 riot against the Independent-Journal.

Wine Boom

ROME (UPI) — Italy's wine and vermouth exports in the first nine months of 1970 jumped 72.8 per cent to 100,412,954 gallons, netting nearly 60 billion lire ($96 million), reports the Central Institute of Statistics.

I-J Errs In Citing Regulation

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in citing a prison regulation which Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court ordered clarified.

The judge's action came in a decision on a request by Pacific Sun reporter Alice Yarish to have San Quentin authorities ordered to allow her to interview inmate Ruchell Magee.

Judge Gardiner refused to make that order, but did direct Warden Louis S. Nelson to clarify a regulation which reads:

"Scheduling of interviews will take into account space limitations, availability of escort, crowding of the visiting room and other physical factors that may require advance scheduling for interviews. Interviews will not exceed one hour in length. When conflicts arise as to space available when attorneys, newsmen and family visits are pending, the decision of the warden or his delegated staff will be final. Interviews will take place only during normal visiting hours, Monday through Friday."

The judge termed that paragraph "incomprehensible."

The paragraph ordered clarified was not, as reported in yesterday's I-J, one dealing with interviews in cases where inmates are not represented by counsel or where a judge has restricted publicity.

The headline on the story, "Gardiner Refuses To Allow Reporter's Magee Interview," also may ave been misleading. The judge's decision did not ban such an interview, but merely refused to order that it take place.

22 Staffers Face Ax In Sausalito

Twenty-two certificated employees of the Sausalito School District, including 10 black employees and district special assistant James T. Toliver Jr., have been notified they may not be rehired next year.

The announcement, from Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg, came yesterday at a staff meeting of all credentialed employees. Although the superintendent said his recommended staff reductions were not final since the district board has not acted on them, the budget he is proposing for 1971-72 calls for a 32 per cent cut in the district's instructional program.

Lindberg has suggested a total instructional budget of $518,317 and an expenditure of $366,000 for teachers' salaries. This year the district spent $764,211 on instruction and $502,192 for teachers' salaries.

If the district board lets Lindberg's proposal stand, the cuts will eliminate approximately 40 per cent of the district's certificated staff, leaving Sausalito with 28 credentialed employees. Fifteen teachers are included in the reductions, which would put the district's student teacher ratio at 25 to 1.

Others who may not be rehired include: two counselors, the district psychologist, speech therapist, one librarian and the school nurse.

All teachers hired after October, 1965, and most of the district's younger teachers have received notice. Ten employees who have tenure or would have it by July 1 were among those informed they could lose their jobs.

Staff members notifed their services may not be needed next year are: Alice C. Goss, Harvey S. Pearlman, Jane C. Pokorny, Toliver, Julianna B. Whitten, Gene Willis, Helena Richardson, Cynthia E. Butler, Virginia Edwards, Judith E. Feinglass, Emmy G. Miller, Susan Besserman, Juanita W. Gaskins, Barbara J. Hendrickson, Marguerita C. Johnson, Nora J. LaCorte, Mary Lynn Levinson, Sandra M. Locasto, Robin G. Tyler, Miriam Kelly, Earline Murray and David W. Olson.

James Pockrus, president of the Sausalito District Teachers Association, which represents most of the district's certificated personnel, said he was "dazed, but not surprised" by the superintendent's announcement.

"I have seen this coming for quite a while and I am afraid it will seriously hurt our educational program," Pockrus said. "True we have a declining school population, but the youngsters remaining in our schools are the very ones who need the special services and extra help which may be eliminated."

"This is no whittling away at the educational program. The administration has used a broad axe," Pockrus added.

The teachers' association has called a special meeting Monday at 3:15 p.m. at Martin Luther King School to discuss the situation.

Lindberg admitted the district's education program will reflect "a loss of ancillary services," but he said at the present time he could "see no other way for the district to reduce its expenditures in keeping with its reduction in enrollment."

The administration is predicting a total enrollment of 518 students for 1971-72. The superintendent has proposed the district spend $101,231 for administration for the coming year including the salaries of two principals recently offered contracts by the district board.

Toliver said he felt the district "will exhaust all possible means to provide the children and parents of our community with the best staff and services possible."

"I believe the board and administration are well aware of the uniqueness of our district in school populaion and realize that an extremely sensitive, aware and highly-qualified staff is essential for our district," the black educator added.

Teachers receiving the notices have seven days in which to ask for a hearing to fight the dismissal notices.

Assembly Balks On Brown Act For Legislature

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Rules Committee balked yesterday at bringing the legislature under the same act which requires local governmental agencies to meet in public.

The committee said it wanted to study further a bill by Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, to extend the Brown Act to the legislature.

The legislature and its committees now can meet in public or private at their own discretion. Local bodies such as boards of supervisors and city councils—under the Brown Act passed several years ago by the legislature—must meet in public except when discussing personnel, litigation or security matters.

Ketchum argued legislators have an obligation to operate in the open.

Security Increase Is Voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted unanimously Friday to increase social security benefits for 26 million Americans by 10 per cent retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Carrying out a pre-arranged scenario worked out with House leaders, the Senate voted to tack the $5 billion increase in benefits to a House-passed bill raising by $35 billion the ceiling on the national debt.

The entire bill goes back to the House, where a conference committee will shape a compromise version carrying both the increase in the debt limit and the social security provision.

In addition to the across-the-board increase in benefits, the Senate voted to boost the minimum benefits, now $64 for an individual and $96 for a couple, to $100 and $150 respectively.

But the increase in the minimum benefit is not expected to survive the House. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is dead set against it.

Auction Set On Paintings

The Terra Linda Art Association will stage its annual Irish Coffee auction of paintings March 20 at 1 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

Beginning tomorrow, the paintings to be auctioned will be exhibited at the association's gallery at 4175 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

The auction will begin at 8 p.m. Written offers will be accepted for an hour. After 9 p.m., the remaining paintings will be auctioned verbally.

Proceeds from the auction will support the association's nonprofit gallery-workshop.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, March 12, the 71st day of 1971.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.

On this day in history:

In 1912 Mrs. Juliette Gordon Law organized the first girls Scouts of America troop in Savannah, Ga.

In 1933 President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in office eight days, made the first of many radio "fireside chats."

In 1938 Germany invaded Austria.

In 1963 the house voted to grant Sir Winston Churchill honorary citizenship in the United States.

A thought for today: American writer John Marquand said, "His father watched him across the gulf of years and pathos which always must divide a father from his son."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In Tournament Play, The Star Knows When To Pull In Horns

Several thousand players will descend on Atlanta today to begin play in the national bridge tournament, and you will be able to tell the optimists from the pessimists by the way they play certain hands. In general, the tournament star is an overbidder and an optimist, but he pulls his horns in when it is obvious that one opponent is much more dangerous than the other.

MISSES BOAT

The optimist looks at the dummy and remarks: "We may have missed the boat!" If West has the king of diamonds and East has the ace of clubs, declarer can take two diamond finesses to get rid of a club and will then lose only one club trick.

If declarer plays the hand in that optimistic fashion, he will go down at game. East will get in with the king of diamonds and will shift to the queen of clubs. The defenders promptly take three club tricks.

The pessimist sees that he can make his contract even if both the king of diamonds and the ace of clubs are in unfavorable position. He puts up the ace of diamonds, cashes the top spades, leads a trump to the nine, and returns the jack of spades, discarding a diamond asWest wins with the queen.

ONE GOOD BREAK

South gets one good break since West doesn't have four spades and therefore cannot lead a spade to allow his partner to kill dummy's ten of spades by ruffing. West actually leads a trump, and dummy wins with the ten.

Now declarer tries a ruffing finesse in diamonds. He leads the queen of diamonds from dummy and discards a club when East plays a low diamond. (If East puts up the king of diamonds, South ruffs and gets to dummy with a trump to discard on the jack of diamonds.)

CONTRACT ASSURED

South can draw the last trump with dummy's queen and can discard another club on the ten of spades. South cheerfully gives up his last club. The contract is assured even though all finesses lose.

Burton Hit On 'Holiday'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Chairman John L. Burton of the Assembly Rules Committee has been criticized for going "beyond his authority" for allowing Assembly employes two hours off to observe Black American Day.

Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, issued the attack Wednesday and said that the San Francisco Democrat did not submit the action to the committee for a vote.

Food Warehouse Is Padlocked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The city's health director padlocked a warehouse containing surplus federal foods Wednesday until an audit can be made and records checked.

Dr. Francis J. Curry, the director, told the Board of Supervisors' finance committee that a "Mendocino County welfare fraud inspector reported ... that he had spotted two truckloads of surplus food from our warehouse in Ukiah last Friday."

RESEARCH — Dr. Gordon L. Chan, marine biologist at the College of Marin, inspects a large, oil-covered clam, dead as a result of the San Francisco Bay oil spill in January. Chan, with funds supplied by Standard Oil Co. and the college, will head a research team of students and instructors to determine the extent of damage the spill caused to marine life. OIL SPILL STUDY

Perspicacious Biologist Saw Disaster Coming

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Six years ago, long before thick, heavy oil darkened the beaches of Santa Barbara and San Francisco Bay, Dr. Gordon L. Chan foresaw such a disaster in Marin.

What first alerted the College of Marin biology instructor to the danger was oil exploration by Standard Oil on the continental shelf six miles from the Point Reyes lighthouse.

Chan braced for the worst and began saving what he could — statistics on the variety, number and habitat of Marin marine life in an unspoiled environment.

Today, "the worst" is almost two months old, and Chan's statistics — most collected since 1965 but some dating back to 1957 — will serve as a basis to determine the extent of damage.

However, possible havoc caused by the Jan. 18 oil spill — triggered by two Standard Oil tankers which collided near the Golden Gate Bridge — will not be known for another 18 months. That's when a $33,800 research project conducted by Chan and another biology instructor, Alfonzo Molina, will be complete.

Preliminary studies show "there are dead organisms out there," Chan said the other day.

Chan's statistics on such marine life as mussels, crabs and plant species represent possibly the most complete pre-spill data on organisms found in oil-affected areas.

The research project is being financed with $25,000 from Standard Oil and the remainder from college coffers, but Chan was quick to point out the research team will act on its own.

"Unlike some studies under way," he continued, "our findings will be made public."

The study will concentrate primarily on Duxbury Reef and Bolinas Lagoon, Chan said, but other areas will be looked at, including Sausalito, Seal Rock intertidal area, Stinson Beach, Bolinas Point, Double Point and the Bolinas sand flats.

Chan said the main thrust of the research project will be a comparison of plant and animal life densities and species before and after the spill.

A second more time-consuming study will be an analysis of the effect of oil pollution on the organisms. This analysis will include observations of organisms affected by oil compared to those not affected, and a comparison of the effects in the Bolinas area with those from oil spills in other locations, such as Santa Barbara.

The investigation, Chan said, will enable him and Molina to study two generations of marine life, with regenerations occurring this spring and next, Chan said. It's the spring recycling period when the greatest changes in the marine world are most noticeable, he explained.

Of special concern to Chan are the large mussel beds off Marin's shoreline which may have been hard hit by the oil.

"Previous studies of mine on mussel beds hard hit have shown it takes about 10 years for the area to repopulate," he said.

Chan also said he has made casual inspections which indicate a decrease in the crab populations. But he was uncertain whether the decrease was a seasonal one.

The research project will be closely coordinated with another study headed by Dr. Cadet Hand, head of the University of California Marine Laboratory at Bodega.

That study, Chan said, will concentrate on the biochemical effects of oil in organisms.

Chan, who has been prowling the beaches for years and feels for them the same as a farmer for his land, now foresees another danger — the sewage outfall line proposed by the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, under order from regional water quality officials to stop dumping raw sewage into Bolinas Lagoon.

Chan warned that if only primary treatment of sewage is provided then marine life would be doomed. He said he has recommended more thorough treatment of wastes.

Plot Prosecutors Are 3 Catholics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three more Roman Catholic trial lawyers have been named to complete the government team that will prosecute the Rev. Philip Berrigan and five others on charges they conspired to bomb government facilities and kidnap a presidential aide.

Named to the prosecuting team Thursday were Kevin T. Maroney, 47, deputy assistant attorney general in the Justice Department's Internal Security Division; William M. Connelly, 31, an assistant U.S. attorney at Toledo, Ohio; and Daniel J. McAuliffe, 25, a special assistant in the Internal Security Division.

They joined William S. Lynch, an assistant attorney general, who was appointed chief prosecutor Wednesday.

$10,500 In Park, Bike Trail Work Approved

The Larkspur Parks and Recreation Commission has recommended that $10,500 in capital outlay projects be included in the city's fiscal 1971-72 budget.

The projects, all slated for city parks and bicycle trails, will be forwarded to the city council for consideration during budget hearings.

Projects approved Wednesday include $3,000 for a sketch master plan of Piper Park, $1,500 for equipment at Dolliver Park, $3,000 for completion of Hillview Park and $3,000 for construction of a bike trail along Magnolia Avenue from Bon Air Road to Doherty Drive.

According to Harlan Barry, recreation director, other budget items such as salaries, recreation funds, utilities and maintenance will be forwarded to the council at a later date.

Larkspur Park and Rec Commission Also:

SUMMER PROGRAM — Directed city staff to investigate feasibility of a preschool program at Dolliver Park and the setting of a $2 registration fee for children.

ORDINANCE — Approved and forwarded to the planning commission an ordinance requiring land developers to donate a portion of land at new developments for park and recreation use.

BUNDY FIELD — Approved a use schedule for Bundy Field, authorizing Baby Ruth League use March 20 to July 17 except Thursdays and Sundays and use by volunteer firemen on Thursday evenings.

SURVEY — Heard a report from Barry that 150 questionnaires on development of Piper Park have been turned in, with the remaining 850 expected by April 1.

TENNIS COURTS — Established rules for use of the tennis courts at Larkspur-Corte Madera School. The two courts, to be resurfaced in April, will be open to the public after school, on weekends and during vacation periods. When tennis players are waiting to use the courts, those playing are restricted to one set if playing singles and two sets if playing doubles.

Possible Leak Halts Explorer

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The launch of an $8-million Explorer satellite called IMP was postponed today because of a possible leak in a crucial control jet system in the second stage of a new model Delta rocket.

A spokesman at the launch control center said a new launch attempt will be made at 11:15 a.m. EST Saturday if the problem can be resolved in time.

The trouble was detected in the final minutes of the countdown.

Opening Of Student Art Show Set

An exhibit of work by students at the Terra Linda Art Association Gallery, 4172 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, will be held March 22 through 29.

Gallery hours are noon to 3 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Theft of Car Reported To Police

A 1969 white Ford Fairlane, license 375 BDI, belonging to Paul R. Clark of 338 Bayview Street, Apt. 2, was reported stolen today, according to San Rafael police.

Clark told police his car was taken from in front of his apartment between 10 p.m. yesterday and 8:45 a.m. today.

A Judicial Clearing House Is Suggested

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) —Chief Justice Warren E. Burger today suggested creation of a central agency to undertake a "comprehensive examination" of ways to overhaul state courts.

Burger said such a "desperately needed" central agency could help state courts dispense justice more fairly and quickly through recommendations on such matters as methods of selecting judges, removal of minor cases from courts, equialization of judicial salaries and preventing parties from using the court as a pressure tactic in cases they intend to settle out of court.

He said more than 500 specific problems were outlined by a recent conference.

Burger spoke to a National conference of the Judiciary one day after President Nixon called for a major streamlining of the nation's court system before the same meeting.

Nixon told the some 600 judges, lawyers and law enforcement officials from around the country that he knew of Burger's plan for a national center for state courts, and endorsed it.

Burger urged the conference to get started on such a project before they conclude their four days of meetings in Colonial Williamsburg.

He said a facility is needed "that will accumulate and make available all information necessary for comprehensive examination of the problems of the judiciary in the 50 states."

He suggested that "five or 10 representative leaders" be chosen to convene a larger group which would "perfect an organization." He said they should lean on the American Bar Association (ABA) and its 50 state associations.

"It (the ABA) is a force that cannot be directed or controlled by any particular group or any selfish interest," he said, because of its large membership—150,000—and 1,700 state, local and affiliated groups.

The federal court system already has a judicial center, created by Congress in 1968.

Burger suggested several "problem areas" in the law, including the need to reexamine "the whole method of the selection of judges." Statistics given to the conference showed that in 25 states judges are elected for limited terms and run for office like any other office holders, 15 on partisan ballots.

"It may be that the fine quality of judicial work of state judges is in spite of, not because of, the method of selection," he said.

Burger noted that in states like New York, California and Illinois judges are paid three times as much as in some other states.

He did not mention figures, but the statistics showed that New York pays a justice on its Court of Appeals (the highest court) $47,838, while a justice in Maine, Utah or the Dakotas gets $20,000.

Specialized Posts May Be Sliced

Four of five teaching positions in special fields may be cut next year because of lack of funds, Supt. Joseph Amato told the Lagunitas School District board last night.

To cut the four positions it was necessary to give notice to seven teachers, Amato said. Three of the auxiliary teachers whose jobs are threatened have seniority over three regular classroom teachers and can replace them if the special teaching posts are eliminated.

Therefore, three of the 20 regular teachers were given notice that they may be replaced, Amato said.

Unless the board decides otherwise before May 15, his recommendations will stand, Amato said.

In closed session, the board discussed hiring and firing of personnel on the basis of competence, but took no action, Amato said.

Lindsay Poll: Most For Switch

NEW YORK (UPI)—If it was up to the 24,000 persons responding to a Daily News poll regarding Mayor John V. Lindsay's political future, the mayor should become a Democrat but not try to seek the presidency.

Today's edition of the newspaper gave the final results of its "Should Lindsay Switch" survey in which readers were polled about the Republican mayor's political affiliations and aspirations.

Of those who filled out the printed ballots about 54 per cent were all for Lindsay becoming a Democrat. Only 32 per cent believed the mayor should run for president.

45-Day Sentence In Burglary Case

James Kenneth, 52, of New Mexico, has been sentenced to 45 days in Marin County Jail for the Feb. 14 burglary of the Sausalito Salvage Shop.

Kenneth had pleaded guilty to the crime, which Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court declared a misdemeanor.

Rights Panel Wants To Inspect Quentin

Marin County human rights commissioners declared last night they want to visit San Quentin prison to get a first-hand view of inmate conditions.

Chairman James Quiett asked Secretary Anne Smith and Grievance Counselor Ursula Gealey to see if a prison tour can be arranged.

San Rafael attorney Salle Soladay told commissioners that conditions inside the prison are deplorable and asked them not to ignore any letters of grievance that might come from the prison inmates.

Human rights commissioners also approved a suggestion by Frederick S. Mayer that the commission have at least one youth member. The 11-man commission now has two vacancies because of the resignations of Bella H. Aaron and H. D. (Tim) Williams.

The commissioners decided they will meet with County Administrator Alan Bruce next Wednesday to fight for the commission's proposed budget of $86,974 for the coming fiscal year. Normally, a department head meets with the administrator on the budget, but the human rights department has been operating without a department head since Director Donald Curt Moody resigned on Jan. 31.

Horse Care Class Slated

Horse experts will teach a free course in horse care beginning at 10 a.m. April 17 in the Marin Humane Education Center, 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Novato.

The series of five Saturday lectures and demonstrations will last two hours each. They will cover anatomy; horse feeding, grooming and maintenance; selection of a horse; riding safety and other fields.

Registrations for the center's eighth annual horse care class may be made at 9:30 a.m. April 17 at the center.

Woman Hurt In Pile-Up On Rain-Slick 101

A Santa Rosa woman was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion and bruises suffered in an automobile accident on Highway 101 near Terra Linda Wednesday night.

The California Highway Patrol blamed rain slick pavements for the chain of accidents in which Annece Hassen, 42, was injured as well as Robert P. Wager, 28, of 439 Donner Avenue, Petaluma, who was treated for a cut forehead.

Officers said Wager's car skidded into the freeway's center divider about 9:05 p.m. after a station wagon passed him and cut in front of him, forcing him to brake on the wet roadway.

Minutes later, two autos, driven by Rodney J. Dodd, 23, of Santa Rosa and Joseph T. Kelleher, 75, of Napa, struck the Wager vehicle.

When Mrs. Hassen attempted to avoid the pile-up, her car overturned, the highway patrol reported.

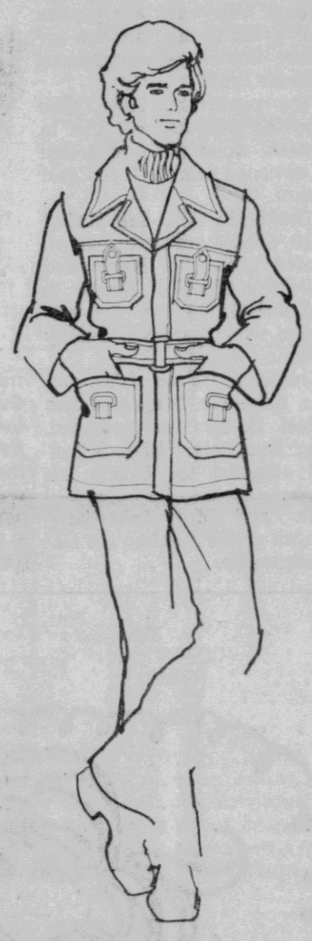
DENIM IS a big fabric for men's spring wear according to the Men's Fashion Association of America. This short leg style swim suit has detailing copied after ever-popular jeans.

CANVAS HITS the beach this summer in the form of a man's jacket with oversized pockets, above, and rope closures at the waist. Canvas has made it all the way up to suit status in men's spring fashions. Other fabrics used in men's wear Manufactures are making men's wear in velvet, tapestry, patterned and checked knits for spring.



A KNIT suit, below, with the look of denim is hot news in men's wear this spring according to the Men's Fashion Association. The suit in faded blue is detailed with Western stitching and worn with an open collar for a casual look. Flared pants continue to be popular in wide and moderate widths but straight and "stove pipe" versions are catching up.

Velvet, Canvas And Knits In Patterns Make It Big

Fabric is the big news in men's fashions. According to the Men's Fashion Association of America, knits are being used for "unstructured suits" which eliminate much of the jacket's inner construction and gain supple stretchability and a permanent press.

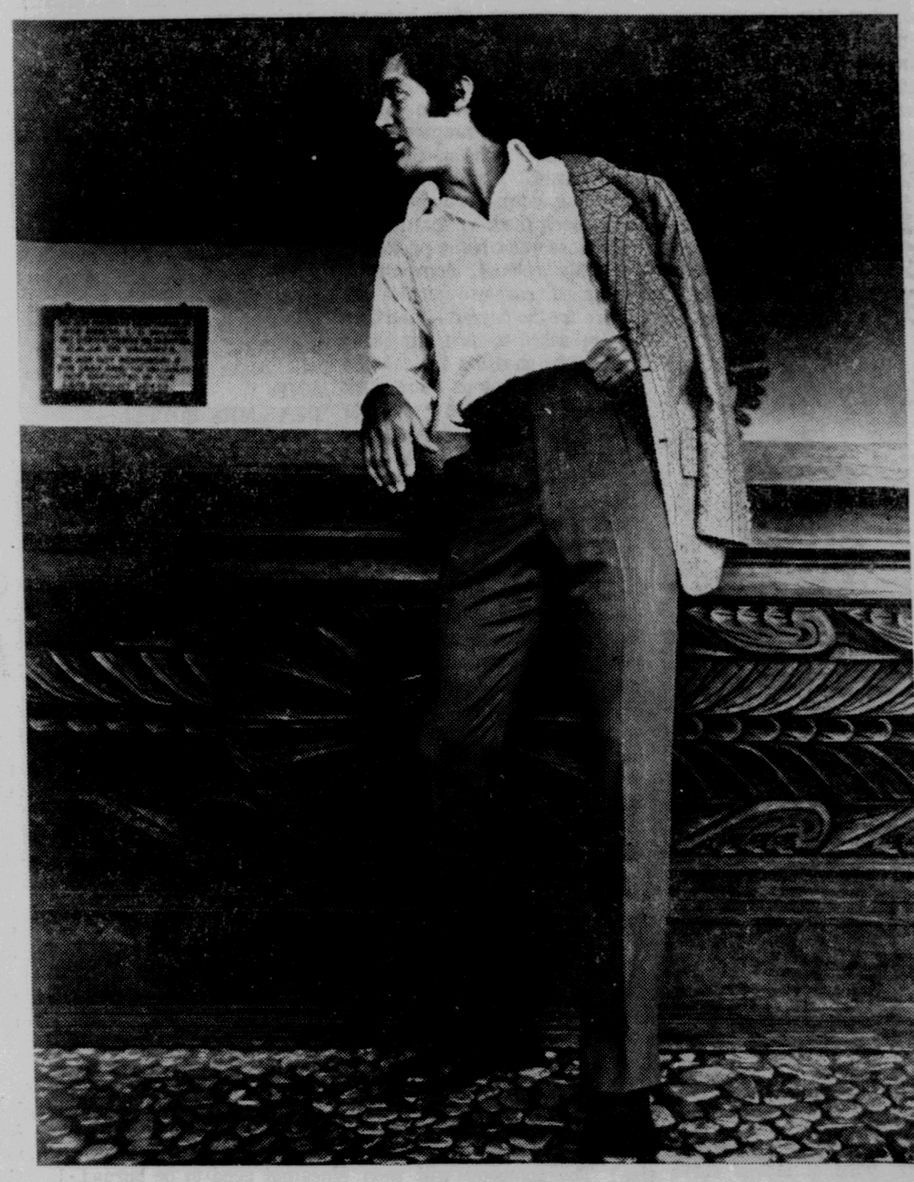
Knits in stripes, herringbones, plaids and checks will be used as well as free-form patterns and tapestry effects.

Velvets, corduroys and canvas make news as pants fabrics. The high waist band is about the newest pants detail to make the scene and some pants feature a return of the pleat. Low slung hip huggers are still popular according to the association. Flared pants bottoms continue as favorites although straight legged and "stove pipe" pants are on the rise.

White pants and white suits may make a comeback in canvas and dressy fabrics of the easy care variety.

Patterned slacks, which used to draw stares, are now common. Knickers and short shorts make it in the spring with young men.

Denim has made it big all the way to suit status as well as being used for swim wear and more casual bush jackets, golf-type jackets and car coats.



STRAIGHT LEGGED pants are on the rise, and body shirts are still popular in men's fashions. This crisp, white, ribbed shirt contrasts with a tapestry print jacket and corduroy pants. The jacket, of course, has wide lapels.

STARRING IN some scene at the beach, this model wears a navy nylon one-piece tank suit with low cut sides and back. The Men's Fashion Association says "this is sure to attract attention at any beach or pool."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Is Ecology-Pollution Kick Like The Backyard Bomb Shelter Fad?

DEAR HELEN:

Is this ecology-pollution kick we're on just a fad like bomb shelters and air raid watches — and probably population control too? I wonder if we'll still be scurrying around to "ecology centers" and madly collecting bottles, etc. five years from now — or will something else have taken front-center in our reform drive? — DOUBTFUL

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

Five years from now — I hope — pollution-ecology education will be so widespread that we will no longer need to scurry around campaigning. Presently, waking people up to the dangers is everybody's job. And my correspondents do their share. Read on:

DEAR HELEN:

I have never before been motivated to write to a columnist, but one of your letters really hit home.

To "Mrs. H.S. from Texas" (who says manufacturers should take some of the pollution-burden) I say, "Hurrah." She put down on paper what I've been thinking for months. All those wonderfully packaged, brightly colored, conveniently designed, easy-use goodies are there for the buying — and then we're asked to turn our backs on them, choosing instead the items that cause us more work and less beauty, like returnable bottles, and white shelf paper.

Now here's another point to add to her list: In buying a certain, naturally low phosphate, washing soap for the past six months, I discovered the price had suddenly jumped in one week from $1.12 to $1.52 for five pounds (with a big advertising splash about its great low-phosphate virtue). How despicable that manufacturers are cashing in on housewives' cooperation in the battle against pollution. I no longer feel the guilt I once did for, as Mrs. H.S. said, "Changes must be made at the source." — MRS. A.D.

DEAR HELEN:

"Mrs. H.S., Texas," said, "Let the government do it." the reason we find our government in such a bureaucratic mess is we've said this too often and too long. The individual citizen doesn't want to take responsibility. Why should we expect the government to tell industry it can or can't make a product when a buyers' boycott of a harmful item is far more effective? The company will soon change. The best way to enforce a "No no" is not to remove it from reach but to offer a better replacement — after teaching the danger of the first.

Taken away freedom of choice and responsibility from the individual and he becomes an automaton. Is this what Mrs. H.S. would like to see? — MRS. B. G.

DEAR HELEN:

Salvage centers are multiplying. The health of the Earth is in our hands. Maybe it's a "nuisance" having three garbage cans (for aluminum, bottles and "garbage") and carting recyclables to centers, but this little start may grow into great awareness. Manufacturers constantly feel the public pulse and when they know we won't stand for pollution (and that means the bigger dirts in our air and waterways) they'll come around. Our job is to educate. And that includes flooding our Congressmen and lawmakers with millions of letters. Have at it, people. — CINDY: MRS. V. C.

DEAR HELEN:

The industries are already spending billions to find solutions for pollution. Is it too much to ask that we expend a little effort, instead of expecting Big Brother (the government) to do it all? We the people are the cause of pollution, not the factory, not the automobile, not the government. When enough of us admit this and stop buying pollutants and using them carelessly we will begin to see results. — JOHN T.

DEAR MRS. BOTTEL:

A while back one of your pollution-conscious readers complained bitterly about the packaging of a box of crackers: About the "heavy plastic bag and then the four individually wrapped packages."

While she mentioned no brand name, we believe she referred to our product.

We would like to point out that the plastic bag and inner separate air tight packages do keep the product fresher for considerably longer periods. The new packaging was developed to meet the desires and needs of our customers, many of whom live in damp areas where crispness disappears overnight. Sales have zoomed, providing the need.

We've had letters from pleased customers who report that a flooded kitchen left almost all packaged food a soggy mess except our thoughtfully wrapped crackers. We even received a report on the cargo of a sunken boat — we'll let you guess what came up "krispy."

Also, the polyethylene bag does not need to be burned. It has a long life and many uses in the kitchen. — SUNSHINGLY YOURS, H.S., PUBLIC RELATIONS DIRECTOR, SUNSHINE BISCUITS, INC.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES TRINGALI

Charles Tringali And Karen Ziemer Are Wed

Saturday nuptials at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael united in marriage Karen Ziemer and Charles Tringali.

Karen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ziemer of San Quentin, was attended by her sister, Donna Ziemer, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Linda Loux of Ross and Jane Leal of Fairfax.

Robert Raabe of San Rafael served as best man, and the ushers were Mark Dlugokenski and Don Trigali, both of San Rafael. Afterward a reception was given at the Hamilton Air Force Base Non-Commissioned Officers Club.

The couple took a Lake Tahoe wedding trip and will live in Hawaii, where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Cgast Guard.

The bride is a San Rafael High School graduate and attended College of Marin and Marinello School of Beauty in San Rafael. She has been employed with Boardwalk Beauty Salon in Tiburon.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Tringali of San Rafael. He also was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended the College of Marin.

Mr. and Mrs. Sebastiano Tringali of San Anselmo are his grandparents.

Night Safety

NEW YORK (UPI)—Safety authorities suggest putting sewon reflective tape on clothing children wear outdoors after dark. Create decorative designs or racing stripes on jackets, sweaters, sweatshirts and caps so that car headlights pick up the reflection. More than half of all fatal car-pedestrian accidents since 1961 have occurred after dark.

POSH HEALTH SPA

First Day At The Golden Door Is A Survival Contest

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A White House appointee, who runs a posh California health spa, is trying to get the whole nation "hooked" on physical fitness.

And if anyone can help sell the program it is Deborah Szekely (pronounced Zay-kay) who runs the "Golden Door" at Escondido and the Rancho La Puerto at Tecate, Mexico. Both get heavy play from Hollywood stars and Washington celebrities.

Mrs. Szekely is the only non-sports member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

President Nixon recently summoned the council and 100-member commission on physical fitness to give them a big pep talk on promoting good health and exercise habits among school children and adults.

"THE GOALS are simple," says Mrs. Szekely, "to find ways of making physical fitness an integral part of our lives."

"We want people digging physical fitness," she added, "because it truly changes one's whole outlook. . . and makes you feel enormously well."

Personal attention is the key to the Golden Door. There are only 18 guests at a time with a staff of 40 on hand to take care of their needs. The price is $700 a week.

The first day is a survival contest. The guest starts out on a two mile walk at 7 a.m.

Most of the women who enroll want to shape up and slim down. "The main thing is to burn up energy and to have good nutrition," she says.

STARS LIKE Kim Novak and Eva Gabor are among her regular clientele. Most of the Hollywood actresses come for two or three weeks. "They're not 18 but they want to look it," she says. "When they finish the course, they look marvelous."

Mrs. Szekely says First Lady Pat Nixon has a regular exercise routine, slim as she is.

Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, wife of the Vice President, who has trimmed down from a size 14 to a 12, fights weight by cutting down on the portions she eats, Mrs. Szekely says.

At her California health resort, Mrs. Szekely has concocted some delicacies—at least the starving guests think so—such as baked potato shells.

THERE'S ALWAYS a "happy hour" at the end of the day, but no liquor is served. "We always nag the cigarette smokers like crazy" she says.

Her Mexican spa is vegetarian, with the accent on raw grains and the like.

She has written the "Golden Door Book of Beauty and Health" which is always being updated. It includes numerous diet recipes.

Mrs. Szekely was born in New York. During the depression her parents decided the big city was no place to rear children. They moved to Tahiti where she lived for many years.

An attractive brunette, Mrs. Szekely drinks grapefruit juice with honey to give herself energy.

"I'd like to weigh five pounds less," she confesses.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

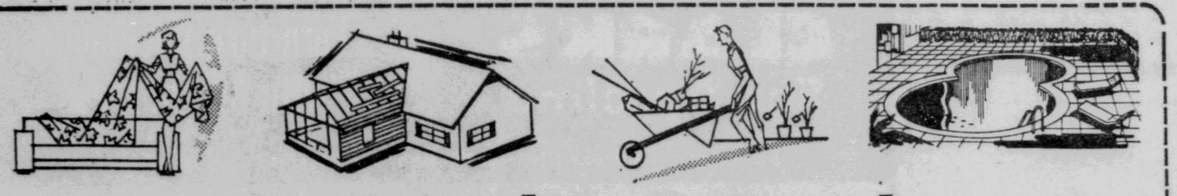
The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Special Facial

NEW YORK (UPI)—You can make your own facial mask that's safe in babying your skin but refreshingly tingly. Crush fresh mint leaves and blend them into a jar of pure baby cream. Beat until fluffy and apply to face and throat, letting it set for at least five minutes. Rinse thoroughly.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"Say, that scrub bucket looks familiar...you didn't accidentally happen to find the one I had hidden away for your birthday?"



Coming this Saturday in Marin Magazine

Special features you'll enjoy:

Dominican College, Marin's only four-year college and graduate school, has roots that go all the way back to 1850. But in recent decades it has taken some of its most impressive strides, always a step or two, it seems, ahead of current educational and sociological trends. Dorothy Gardiner has written a history of Dominican College, with special emphasis upon relatively recent advancements, for tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

Figure skating is one of the world's fastest growing sports in popularity. And Marin has not been immune to that enthusiasm. Promoting and encouraging the recreation in the county is the Marin Figure Skating Club. And its junior program encompasses some of the county's most dedicated and hardest-working youngsters. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown writes about the club and its programs in tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement.

Suicide Prevention Center To Benefit From Bake Sale Tomorrow

A bake sale to benefit the Marin Suicide Prevention Center will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Mayfair Market at Third and Union Streets in San Rafael.

According to bake sale chairman Mrs. Benjamin Gartman of San Rafael, this is the first in a series of fund raising events to provide money so that the center can begin its county-wide emergency telephone service.

The business office of the Suicide Prevention Center has recently been opened with an all-volunteer staff. When sufficient financial backing has been acquired, the center will add a professional staff to coordinate the work which will provide a 24-hour telephone crisis service manned by specially trained volunteers.

MARIN MONTESSORI School, Inc., in Corte Madera, will present a free, public program on the philosophy of the Montessori method and the Montessori learning materials on Monday at 8 p.m.

A SOCIAL hour is planned for about 4 p.m. Sunday at the Paradise Harbor Yacht Club in Tiburon, following its second race of the spring season.

A ST. Patrick's Day dinner tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. will honor pledges of Omicron Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and their husbands. The buffet will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Radovich in Mill Valley.

Assisting the hosts will be Mmes. Kenneth McKay and Pete Belden.

TEMPLE RODEF Sholom's annual Purim carnival and bazaar will be held Sunday from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the temple in San Rafael.

Members of the Rodef Sholom Sisterhood serving on the committee are Mmes. Philip Carr, Nelson Harris Jr., Irv Staller, Michael Broady, Joseph Dienstag, Roy Calder, Abraham Jacobs and Richard Firestone.

THE TOUR group of Marin Welcome Wagon will visit shops on Union Street in San Francisco Monday.

Car pools will form at the Corte Madera Shopping Center at 9:30 a.m. Reservations chairman is Mrs. Mark Klunk of Terra Linda.

Lenses First

NEW YORK (UPI)—Contact lenses have saved many a girl from glasses and the fear of lack of passes. But lenses should be applied before makeup, warns a company that makes lens cleaner. This insures against contaminating the lenses with cosmetics. It has the added advantage of helping you see what you are doing in the way of beautification.

Poor Paint Job

NEW YORK (UPI)—Poor results on a paint job are not always the fault of the paint. Inadequate preparation of the surface to be painted, moisture, or the wrong paint for the job can all give equally disappointing results.

AMBER ARBO

Amber Arbo Is Engaged To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Arbo of Kentfield have announced the betrothal of their daughter Amber to Steven Conkling of San Rafael.

Amber is the sister of Pandora and Autumn Arbo of Kentfield. She was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended Marinello Beauty College. She is employed with Jay's of Marin in San Rafael.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Conkling of San Rafael and the brother of Mrs. John Darby and Brian Conkling, both of San Rafael.

He was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is attending John O'Connell Trade School in San Francisco, where he is also employed with Rodoni-Becker Co.

Food Up; Income Up More

Last year consumers spent $511 per person for all food, a 34 per cent increase over the 1957-59 average. Personal income, however, for the same period rose 68 per cent, from $1,846 to $3,098. Thus, people who spent 20.6 per cent of disposable income on foods during '57-'59 period spent only 16.5 per cent in 1969, a decrease of over 4% for food.

ON BEING BLACK

'Service With A Smile Bit'

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Now, all you girls have to do," Miss Ginger said with her tight-lipped, rubber band smile, "is keep the trays filled with hors d'oeuvres and mingle among the guests. And, yes, be sure to smile.

"You boys," she addressed herself to the young black males dressed in shiny black trousers and ill-fitting waiters' jackets, "will work the bar. Simply see that everyone's glass is filled. Smile, and if you have any questions, ask Remus, he's worked for me before.

"Trudy, put on another apron; that one looks a little soiled. Remember now, smile. But not too much conversation. You simply can't do your job and talk at the same time."

OUR EMPLOYER left the kitchen and our group of black college students in white uniforms, each out to make $5 for 8 hours work, surveyed one another. Remus clicked his heels, threw a towel over his extended arm and bowed low from the waist and said, "Yes-um, Miss Ginger.!"

"Aw, man, knock it off . . . " began another student.

Remus shrugged his shoulders.

"That's what she's paying us for, isn't it? To play the role of the servant," he said clicking his heels again, showing a toothy smile and heading for the bar.

WIELDING MY hors d'oeuvre tray through the crowd of guests, I came upon a white classmate. He appeared to be relieved to see someone he knew and said, "Hey, how'd you make out on that physiology exam on Friday? I think I blew that one on pain threshold . . . "

We stood talking about the exam. Presently, Remus came and graciously indicated that Miss Ginger wished to see me momentarily.

Returning to the kitchen, I found Miss Ginger smiling sweetly.

"You mustn't forget, my dear. Keep your conversation at a minimum. You simply can't do your job and talk at the same time. Mingle, my dear," she said making a circular motion with her hand.

For the duration of the evening, each time she caught my eye, Miss Ginger gracefully twirled her hand.

"Mingle, my dear . . . "

MY CONTEMPORARIES in the kitchen whooped and I knew things would not end there. The next day on campus, every black student I saw gave me the "mingle, my dear" business.

That was my first serve-a-party experience but not my last. I soon learned the psychology coupled with the job. Remus was right. The important thing to many of our employers — those "haves" who could afford domestic help or servants — was that we "play the role." Many of these people needed the overt show having servants that they controlled, more than they actually needed the help. So it was not so much a matter of what one did, but how one did it.

I came to admire Remus. Initially, I had felt as most of the other black students, that he was just a shuffling Uncle Tom. But upon inspection, I saw that Remus had perfected his barboy role to such a degree that he was like a mime artist on stage.

It turned out that he was a very astute businessman too. He recognized what people were willing to pay for. Consequently, he made good money. Not because he was well paid, but because he was always in demand as a bar-boy. And he compensated himself in other ways. If he served a party on Friday night, on Saturday night at his apartment he hosted his very classy party. The booze and hors d'oeuvres were every bit as good as Miss Ginger's.

Like most of my classmates, I did not like serving parties, I felt it was an ethnic occupation — a job reserved for blacks, but I needed the money, and it was a job.

IT'S INTERESTING to note though, how, over the years, things have changed. For obvious psychological and economical reasons, many blacks have moved away from service occupations. And while we have been busily making our exodus, whites have been moving into these occupations.

The reason for this are fairly simple.

1 — Our country has experienced high unemployment for some time and the competition for jobs — any job — is great.

2 — Our society, at this point, is saturated with material goods, so the super-saturation level of marketing has turned to the commodity of service.

Hence, those services that were formerly earmarked for blacks (on a little-or-no pay basis) — domestic work, barbering and hair styling, cooking, waiting tables, bartending and the like — have been repackaged in bright colors, given catchy names, performed with pomp, flair and a smile and sold for a pretty penny to whites.

Blacks have moved into many new professions, but service-with-a-smile still sells. Today, Remus owns a chain of catering services.

Engineered Foods

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The U.S. Department of Agriculture is interested in "engineered foods" for school lunches. These were described as foods that improve nutritional value, reduce cost, are convenient and improve acceptability or stability. "Fortifying or enriching widely used foods would be considered the preferable type of engineering," said Food and Nutrition Service Administrator Edward J. Hekman. In addition, any engineering which improves acceptability of a nutritious food and makes it more convenient to use, is a step toward better nutrition."

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Democrats Charge Gamesmanship

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrats accused Gov. Ronald Reagan of political gamesmanship today for postponing until summer a special election to fill a state Senate seat.

Faced with a court order, Reagan Thursday called a special primary election for June 22 in the East Los Angeles District previously represented by Democrat George E. Danielson, who last November was elected to Congress.

If no candidate receives a majority vote on June 22, a runoff election will be held July 20 between the top vote-getters of each party.

"Obviously, the governor plans to disenfranchise the citizens of that part of East Los Angeles for the rest of the 1971 legislative year," declared Senate Democratic caucus chairman Mervyn M. Dymally.

The Legislature already has set a tentative adjournment date of July 30, although most lawmakers expect the session to last longer.

The Senate seat has been vacant since Jan. 12 when Danielson officially resigned. Reagan has known since Nov. 3 he would have to call a special election and was under constant pressure to do so from Democrats who predominate in the district.

On Feb. 24, Los Angeles Superior Judge Parks Stilwell ordered Reagan either to call the special election or appear in court March 15 and explain why he hadn't.

Reagan's official reason for waiting so long—and the one given Thursday by his press office—was that he was continuing to "talk to people in the district who are vitally concerned" about the election.

Which people?

"Just people in the district," said Press Secretary Paul Beck.

Democrats charged, for one thing, that Reagan wanted to delay filling the seat to postpone the day when Democrats gained their 21st senate vote.

Democrats now hold a thin 20-19 majority, one vote short of the number required to pass legislation. The 27th Senate district is heavily Democratic, 61.1 to 33.1 per cent.

HORSE DRUGS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill outlawing use of drugs on horses in a sale, show or performance competition has been proposed in the Legislature.

Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, said Thursday that his measure would keep buyers from being bilked by paying a higher price based on the performance of a horse under the influence of narcotics. Violation, he added, would be a misdemeanor.

The bill would not affect the horse-racing industry already covered by drug laws.

AID PITCH

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Board of Education has urged the Legislature to adopt a statewide property tax and raise state aid to schools by $397 million.

The board Thursday voted 9-1 to adopt a school finance "reform" program drawn up by a finance planning council set up by the board last July.

The dissenting vote was cast by Clay N. Mitchell, South Laguna, who said the proposal could result in a loss of local control.

The property tax rate would be $3.75 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board tentatively approved the plan last month and it was drawn up into proposed bills soon to be presented to the legislature, an aide to Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson C. Riles said.

JUVENILE PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A six-bill package has been introduced in the Legislature "to improve procedures in administering justice for juveniles."

Brown Jr., author of the measures, said Thursday that California's juvenile court laws "effectively make young people second-class citizens."

The San Francisco Democrat said there has been much improvement in juvenile proceedings in the past years but "much remains to be done to bring procedures up to the standard we demand for adults" in granting constitutional protections."

Brown's bills would:

—Require that a misdemeanor be committed in the presence of a policeman if he wishes to arrest without a warrant.

—Require arresting officers to warn the suspect he might be temporarily or permanently removed from his home when advising a child on what he might say to policemen.

—Provide for release on bail or own recognizance when a hearing before a judge or referee is continued.

—Require the court to have special probation officers to handle presentation of the case against the suspect. This would free regular probation officers from being both prosecutor and defender.

—Allow the juvenile to start proceedings to have his records sealed immediately after he has completed serving his sentence.

—Require county boards of supervisors to appoint members of the juvenile justice commissions instead of the judge.

TENURE PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Legislature has been urged by the state Board of Education to overhaul California's tenure laws to make it easier to fire incompetent teachers.

Board members voted Thursday to approve recommendations of a 15-member committee set up last December to study ways in which teacher tenure laws might need change.

Endorsed in spite of protests from teachers and school boards, the report said the laws should be amended to:

—Evaluate the performance of teachers every year according to state guidelines.

—Grant new teachers tenure after one year on the job, rather than the present three, but make it possible to fire a new teacher without a hearing.

—Remove dismissal fights from "time consuming" court hearings and turn them over to a hearing officer from the state Office of Administrative Procedure.

—Call teachers with tenure "regular" rather than "permanent" as under current law. This is an attempt to "change an erroneous impression that the work 'permanent' has created" that teachers have a "'job guarantee.'"

School Burglary

Office equipment and business machines valued at a total of $2,000 were taken in a burglary at Sleepy Hollow School on Terry Road sometime last weekend, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Sentences Are Suspended For War Protesters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A U.S. magistrate has handed down five-day suspended sentences to 12 Stanford University students who blocked the entrance to a draft board office in San Francisco.

Magistrate Richard Goldsmith Thursday also put the anti-war demonstrators on probation until June 1 and said the convictions could be expunged if probations were not violated.

All charges against a 13th demonstrator were dismissed since she is undergoing medical treatment.

The 12 pleaded no contest to charges of failing to disburse and the federal government dropped felony charges of interfering with the Selective Service Act.

Drug Charges Are Dropped

Charges of possessing marijuana and attempting to bring hashish into Marin County Jail against Stephen Darryl Coleman, 20, of Corte Madera, have been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Coleman was originally accused of the charges last July, but the case was dismissed in November when the district attorney's office said the alleged drugs had not been analyzed.

It was dismissed again Tuesday by Judge David Menary Jr. when the district attorney's office said it was still not prepared to proceed with prosecution.

OPERATION AMIGOS

15 Marin Teens Involved

By MARY LEYDECKER

Last summer blonde, blue-eyed Anne Kimball of Kentfield, who is "almost 18," was the only Marin teen-ager to travel to Central America with the Amigos, a group of young volunteer paramedics.

Her enthusiasm, however, has led to the enlistment this year of 15 Marin teen-agers who will go to Central or South America this summer to conduct Amigos innoculation clinics.

"At first I didn't think I could do it, but after we practiced on oranges and then on each other, it was easy," Anne said in referring to the giving of shots for tetanus, and typhoid and small pox vaccinations.

Before her three-week stint in the tiny town of La Venta in Honduras, Anne participated in extensive training not only in innoculations, first aid, nutrition and public health but also Latin American culture and the Spanish language.

She traveled to San Mateo County last year for the training but this year a Marin committee of Amigos de Las Americas has been formed and training is now under way at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Volunteers will attend weekly sessions for four months on Wednesday nights in addition to Saturday innoculation clinics in April and May. Latin American geography, politics and community development as well as the medical aspects of the program are being taught by a staff including Richard S. Hahn, medical director, and George B. Duncan, director of Spanish and Latin American culture training.

Anne's adventure last summer, which she terms "the most worthwhile thing I ever did," began with a plane trip from Houston to Guatemala. From there, she went by bus and truck to La Venta, where she and a partner, a Santa Barbara girl, were assigned for three weeks.

"The whole village was waiting for us — there were even candles in our room," Anne said. Not only did the Hondurans not resent the young Americans who have been visiting their town for several years, but they await their arrival eagerly, Anne said.

She and her partner lived next door to the little clinic in the town — in a tiny one-room building where they were visited continuously by the village's youngsters.

They ate three meals a day with a local family — where the diet was plentiful with mangoes, pineapples, bananas, tortillas and rice — but not much meat, Anne said.

"I told them that Americans had delicate stomachs and they gave us 'cokes' instead of water," Anne explained, although she said that she and the other girl both got the usual tropical complaint despite eating precautions.

"Because we were the third team to visit La Venta last summer, many of the innoculations had already been given," Anne said. In between giving shots, she and her partner found time to give talks on nutrition, plant a garden along with the villagers, build tire swings for the children and even make a gravel walk to the local church.

Constantly surrounded by children, Anne said they played "Frisbee" and other games with them.

Anne's fluent Spanish was instrumental in helping her make many good friends during the short three weeks, she said. "The other girl spoke no Spanish so she couldn't talk to any one," Anne explained.

Although Anne like other Amigos had received training in Latin American customs, she credited "just common sense" with her lack of problems.

Realizing that Latin Americans, especially those in villages, are a conservative people, particularly as to their views on women's behavior, Anne took her longer dresses on the trip and refrained from wearing pants.

"I was safer there than here," she said; "The older people in the village looked after me all the time."

When she left La Venta last August, Anne brought with her pictures she had taken as well as little presents given her by the villagers. "I wanted to bring at least 20 kids back with me, too," she said.

Although she would "love to visit La Venta again," she hopes to be assigned to Colombia this year.

Her interest lies "more with people than medicine," Anne said, and she hopes to learn "about six languages" and study Latin American culture in college.

She called herself the "seed," who planted the Amigos program in Marin, and through her efforts which have been backed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Kimball Jr., the local Amigos group was formed.

Parents of Amigos volunteers must pay the $225 air fare but other costs of the program (about $400 for each volunteer) are raised by group activities as well as the families.

Both boys and girls may volunteer as Amigos — the nonprofit foundation only requires a "balanced" number of each. Volunteers must be at least 16 years old but there is no upper age limit, Anne said.

Among the group going from Marin this year will be four of Anne's fellow students from Katharine Branson School as well as students from Marin Catholic and Redwood high schools and the University of San Francisco.

They will be among more than 500 from all over the country who will participate in a program designed to get "youth involved" as well as help improve health standards in Latin America's neediest areas.

Those students volunteering this year from Marin are Wendy Boyd, Krisa Van Meurs and Mary Hendrickson of Ross; Chris Buchen of Belvedere; Jodie Cala, Diana Dakin, Rick Bennett, Louise Dwyer, Scott Neely, John Vidano and Anne Kimball, all of Kentfield; Valerie Kehrlein, and Jim and Steve Nelson of San Rafael; Vicki Piatti of Greenbrae, and Hope Kingsley of San Francisco, who attends Katharine Branson School.

AMIGAS — Anne Kimball, (left), first Marin teen-ager to volunteer for the Amigos de Las Americas program, shows pictures taken during her stay in Honduras last summer to her friend, Wendy Boyd, who plans also to become a paramedic volunteer this summer.

FBI Arrest In Alleged Art Fraud

Roger Anthony Gheno, 33, of 35 Thomas Drive, Alto, was arrested yesterday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and charged with attempting to defraud a New York art gallery.

Gheno, owner of International Art Associates in San Francisco, is charged in a federal complaint with attempting to sell forged lithographs through the Parke-Bernet Galleries in New York City.

Robert E. Gebhardt, special agent in charge of the FBI's San Francisco office, said the federal complaint arises from a telephone call Gheno made to the gallery on Feb. 25, asking whether the lithographs had been sold. Use of interstate telephone lines to defraud is a federal crime.

Gheno was released on $5,000 bail and ordered to appear March 31 before U.S. Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith in San Francisco.

If convicted, Gheno could receive a $1,000 fine and five years in federal prison, the agent said.

Pair In Court On High Speed Chase Charges

Albert William Ferguson, 24, and Phillip McFarren, 20, both of Novato, have been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges stemming from a high speed chase on Lucas Valley Road last Friday.

Ferguson is charged with drunken driving, reckless driving and resisting arrest. McFarren is accused of being drunk in public and resisting arrest.

No charge was filed against Michael Robert Rundle, 20, of Novato, who was arrested along with Ferguson and McFarren after Ferguson attempted to elude California Highway Patrol officers who attempted to stop him for erratic driving.

Ferguson and McFarren are to plead to the charges Monday.

Majority Endorses Modular Scheduling

Despite complaints of absenteeism and littering, San Rafael High School's modular scheduling program won endorsement from a mjority of parents last night in a mass meeting summoned by the school's parent-teacher association.

The vote, in the form of a show of hands, came at the conclusion of a two-hour "town hall" meeting held at the high school. About 135 persons — parents, teachers, administrators and students — attended.

The modular program, featuring an open campus and more free time for students, was begun last fall, but parents have complained about cutting of classes and neighboring property owners have protested student trespassing and littering.

The objections were raised again last night, with administrators and students defending the program. Proponents said they felt the impression was given that because students had free time under the system, classes were being cut. This is not the case, they said.

And, backers of the program said, the problems of class-cutting and littering would exist even if there were no modular program. They also asserted that students responsible for the shortcomings were in the minority.

One father, however, was not satisfied. Although saying he favored the new system, the man explained that his son had cut class 18 times in four weeks before he was notified by the school.

Principal Alan W. Ellsberg said students with a record of cutting are "red-flagged," and parents normally are notified if a student is absent for a period. iod.

Jack Hadley, moderator of the discussion, said however, that at one time, P-TA volunteers had taken on the task of notifying parents when students cut.

When parents wondered about overall attendance under the new system, Vice Principal Florence Abraham said there wasn't enough clerical help available to make a period-by-period comparison with last year's attendance.

Ellsberg said attendance at each class next year will be shown on a student's report card.

One mother said "grades have dropped at my house" since the new system started and she asked if the school had comparisons of grades between the last school year and this year.

Ellsberg said no figures were available now but that an analysis was planned.

Another parent asked if the staff were "totally committed" to the program, and Margaret Tierney, chairman of the faculty steering committee, said it wasn't "total," but felt the majority of teachers wanted the program to continue.

A woman urged, in view of the litter problem, that students be made aware of their responsibilities and the rights of the residents of the community.

David Plotkin, student representative on the San Rafael Board of Education, said students felt that the modular schedule system was an improvement.

One man commented that part of the problem was that more parents weren't concerned, and that many of those attending last night were the "same group that always attends such meetings.

Another man replied that perhaps some parents have attended "and get tired of listening to a mutual admiration society all night."

One father said his son liked the new system, but he didn't think that should be the criterion for retaining it. He said he didn't think "a good many students have the experience or education to make good choices yet."

In other business, Roumiguiere was re-elected president of the association, Dr. Robert Oslar was re-elected first vice president, John Donovan was elected second vice president; Virginia Taylor was re-elected secretary, and Jack Hadley was elected treasurer.

Victims Of Freak Crash 'Miserable'

Three women employees of the Bank of Marin's Novato branch injured yesterday when a car roared through a plate glass window into the bank were reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital.

Seven other employees hurt when the car smashed into a bank conference room were treated and sent home from the hospital yesterday.

Hospital officials said the three women were "miserable" but in satisfactory condition today. Betty McAskill, a teller, was still kept in the intensive care unit for observation because of chest pain, a spokesman said.

(Mrs. McAskill was incorrectly identified as Ione Lee in a front page photograph in yesterday's paper. Mrs. McAskill was the woman on the right in the picture with a compress over her eye.)

She suffered bruises and abrasions as did Shirley Swihart.

Another employee, Deanna Vela, was also reported in satisfactory condition with a broken and cut arm.

Novato police said today that the accident apparently occurred when the driver of a late model station wagon, Lucille McAlister, 46, swerved to avoid another car as she came out of a parking lot. She then accidentally hit the accelerator instead of the brake and her car went out of control. Police said the accelerator may have stuck.

Her car crashed through the window of a small room where employees were being shown a training film.

Marijuana, LSD Case Dismissed

Charges of possessing marijuana and LSD against Paul Christopher MacGowan, 21, of Tiburon, have been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith dismissed the case after the district attorney's office reported there was some doubt about the legality of a search at a Sausalito home Dec. 14 at which MacGowan was arrested.

New Group Takes Close Look At Tam Reorganization Plan

Implications of the controversial reorganization plan for the Tamalpais High School District will come under the scrutiny of a newly formed group during three meetings in the next 10 days.

The group, calling itself the Ad Hoc Congress on Tamalpais High School District Reorganization, was formed earlier this week at the urging of student leaders.

Besides students, it is made up of district and school administrators, two district trustees and three members of the community appointed by high school parent-teacher associations. Elementary districts also have been asked to send representatives.

The reorganization plan drafted by Supt Wilber D. Hawkins has drawn criticism from teachers who claimed they were not given a role in preparing the plan.

Dr. Surjit Singh of San Anselmo, a professor of Christian philosophy at the San Francisco Theological Seminary and chairman of the new group, said the group will study the many implications of the plan during meetings set for Tuesday, Thursday and March 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Redwood High School library.

The Ad Hoc congress includes Dr. Hawkins, district trustee David D. Ring and Bette Wallace, three high school adminsitrators, four student representatives and three community members.

Ad Hoc congress officers reported that Teachers' organizations were asked to participate but declined fearing "participation would damage their position on the negotiating council and that there would be charges of the faculty 'influencing' students." The teachers, however, agreed to send "silent observers."

Check Case To Superior Court

Bruce Alan Tucker, 22, of Novato, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of burglary, forgery, passing forged checks and receiving stolen property.

He is to be arrainged in superior court March 22.

Tucker was arrested Feb. 4 after nine bad checks totaling $315 were passed in Novato and Petaluma, Novato police said.

Cause Of Girl's Death Is Reported

The death of a 14-year-old Novato girl last January was due to an accidental overdose of Darvon, a pain-killing drug, the Marin County Coroner's Office reported today.

The determination was made following an investigation of the death of Denise Henderson of 1941 Marion Avenue, who collapsed Jan. 19 while walking near 11 Grande Vista, Novato.

DRUGS IN THE CLASSROOM: The Memory Pills

By ARNOLD ARNOLD
(Fifth of six articles)

Scientists have established that several kinds of memory exist: short-term, long-term and intermediate. The first is the kind you use when you look up an infrequently called number in the phone book. You'll remember it from the time you put the phone book down until you have dialed the number. Then you can forget it. The second involves the memory required to recall essential bits of information — like your own phone number — that you need to remember for a long time. And the third consists of memories you may need only for a short period — like the names of historic figures required for a school exam — but that are not essential to survival.

Memory plays an important role in learning. Without it, information would go in one ear and out the other. Some people posess innate strengths in only one kind of memory. Those with poor short-term memory find it difficult to follow verbal directions or instructions, while others who lack long-term memory can't recall their own birth dates.

As the location, physiology and biochemical constitution of the memory and learning centers in the human brain become known and are identified, different chemical agents are likely to be found that aid one or another of these faculties. But the human brain's functions do not exist in a vacuum. The brain's components react to, influence and are influenced by each other in ways that are not yet clear. It is not known how boosting the performance of one part affects all others. This will take a long time to unravel. Until then, chemical interference with more or less normally functioning portions of the brain is likely to produce unpredictable and sometimes unfortunate long-range effects.

DR. DAVID KRECH, at the University of California, has conducted experiments with rats that demonstrate an increase in activity and even weight in some portions of the brain, as a result of environmental stimulation in infancy. This would seem to show that chemical and physiological changes are responsible for and take place as a result of learning. But Dr. Krech warns against jumping to the unwarranted conclusion that what works for rats is good for people, or, for that matter, for any other species. He suggests that his findings indicate that the main requirement for the education of children of any species is that what is learned be "species specific." In other words, what is learned and remembered msut be related to what is useful for growth and survival in adulthood of members of that particular species. The ethologist Konrad Lorenz has reached similar conclusions. Until we have discovered what human, species-specific learning aids survival, there's not much point in boosting the learning abilities of children chemically and at random.

The questions to which answers must be found before chemically assisted teaching and learning are attempted, include the following: Which skills do children need at different ages and stages of development? What human learning is species specific and which is a waste of time? What is the ideal learning environment for children? How do emotions, inherited traits, social conditions and skills interact to produce a "state of mind" most conducive to learning? Such judgments are delicate at the best of times. Considering the present environmental pollution and social disorganization, who is to say which kind of learning supports the survival of the species and what is self-destructive?

Giving children drugs merely because research suggests that they might then develop more efficient short-intermediary or long-term memories, without consideration of the effect on the system as a whole could harm many children.

THE FACT THAT rats learn to run mazes faster as a result of injections of low doses of strychnine sulphate has been known since 1917. But the National Institute of Mental Health did not fund research into the relationship between brain functions, behavior and learning until 1947. One of the reservations of responsible physicians, largely ignored by contemporary researchers, is that when drugs — any drugs — are given to human or animal patients, their behavior tends to change after the end of treatment. This, especially when drugs are given for any except critical reasons, can be more destructive to the individual than what the chemicals were supposed to cure or correct.

The NIMH presently supports 26 major research programs to study the effect of chemical and drug intervention to enhance learning and memory. Unless the findings are related to social, environmental and species specific learning, they may lead to the same kind of irresponsible application as some of the present-day Ritalin and amphetamine programs that supposedly modify the behavior of difficult children.

Your concern as a parent or teacher should be how the results of the research will be applied. Will the individual needs of your child be swamped by massive drug use to make him identical to the next and to ease the job of education? Or will this new knowledge be used discreetly to enhance individual talents of particular children?

These are less scientific and more social and administrative questions, about which parents have the right and a duty to make themselves heard. To this extent it is in your hands to shape the world into which your baby will grow and in which he will get his education.

If We Are Threatened, We're Entitled To Know

Somehow or other, the threat of attack from abroad and the danger of the United States being unprepared to meet it always increase when the time rolls around for considering the Defense Department's budget.

We would not suggest that Defense Secy. Melvin R. Laird was just making things up when he told Congress this week that Red China may have fired its first intercontinental ballistic missile, and that Soviet Russia's pause in missile development last year really was only a pause to convert to a newer, more terrible system. But we don't think it is mere coincidence that he coupled these with announcement that he wants money for more missile sites of our own.

This is to be expected. Just as J. Edgar Hoover trots out statistics showing an increase in crime to bolster his request for a bigger FBI appropriation, so Secretary Laird must draw ominous pictures of threats from abroad so the Pentagon will get the money to continue in the style to which it is accustomed.

MORE TROUBLING, however, is that the defense secretary held back some of his ominous information from the public and gave it to certain congressmen only in "the secret classified version" of his report (to quote United Press International).

Who, other than the secretary himself, arrogated to this cabinet member the right to withhold from the people of the United States genuine information about any threat to their security?

If we are threatened by Russia, or Red China, or any other country, we — all of us — are entitled to know the exact extent of that threat, as far as it can be determined.

If there is such a threat, it is a threat to all of us — not just to Congress, not just to Mr. Laird, not just to the Pentagon.

Obviously, the public is not being told the whole truth. And if it is not being told the whole truth, suspicion must arise as to whether it is being told the truth at all.

YOU DON'T GET a householder to spend his money for a burglar alarm by withholding from him the knowledge that there have been a dozen recent burglaries in his neighborhood. Quite the opposite.

What the Defense Department seems to be doing, however, is trying to get the U.S. public, through Congress, to spend its money for a new burglar alarm system by merely hinting that there might be a burglary.

Secretary Laird, and the man in the White House who is his boss, owe the public the whole truth — not just what suits the secretary or his boss.

Memorial Preserve Story Well Told

I would like to make this an open letter to your paper and to everyone who had to do with the publicity on the Hope Wheelwright Memorial Preserve.

Your sensitive and appreciative writing, and the lovely pictures of the Feb. 26 issue, were remarked on by all my friends, and touched me very deeply. I guess one cannot spend 25 years with someone building a love for the land, without wanting it to remain essentially the same. It was always our intent to see that it was kept open and used, when the one of us who was left could no longer run cattle on it. Unfortunately for me this has occurred, with the encroachment of city, and more particularly taxes, but this final solution seems to me an excellent one, and you have certainly covered it from all angles.

Selective Service And Korean Way

I beg your pardon but — your statement following Mr. James K. Hennington's letter published March 4 is incorrect. The draft, stopped at the end of World War II, was reinstituted several years prior to the beginning of the Korean War in early 1950. No relationship existed.

(Reader Kaufman is in part correct. The draft was allowed to expire March 31, 1947, but the following year was reinstituted for a three-year period, to expire June 30, 1950. Then came the Korean War, and the draft was extended, first to 1955, later indefinitely. — Editor.)

Perhaps because I have not had time recently to read every word in every issue of our local paper, I have missed any comment on Sandra Haggerty's column, "On Being Black". But if it has not already been the subject of numerous accolades - it should.

Black, white, polka dot, or in between - Mrs. Haggerty's column has never failed to cast the light of a warm, sensible, human being. Many thanks for running it - it serves as a welcome antidote to the too-often hackle-raising news stories.

Some Quotations Regarding Health

In my letter of justification of the health department's proposed budget for 1970-71 submitted to the county administrator's office almost exactly a year ago, I included a number of quotations under the heading, "Worth Considering." These did not come to public attention, and because I believe they are extremely relevant at this time, I would like to publicize them now, in slightly abbreviated form. . .

". . . Nowhere is it possible, practicable, or financially feasible to do everything in public health simultaneously. Choice of action, hence, is related to evaluation of probable health returns."—Abel Wolman.

"Paradoxically, the readily recognized advantages of primary prevention (the avoidance of disease itself) over arrest or cure of disease have not been fully exploited. Generations have passed since mankind's observations and experiences led to the aphorism that 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure' . . . It is deplorable that so much human waste has been tolerated when alternatives have been available. We cannot countenance the continuance of such dereliction in the face of evolving knowledge in primary prevention . . .

''What, then, are the approaches to primary prevention? . . . (a) personal health services, (b) environmental control, and (c) health education of the population."—Leonard M. Schuman, M.D.

"There is this difference between . . . health and money; money is the most envied, but the least enjoyed; health is the most enjoyed, but the least envied; . . . the poorest man would not part with health for money, but . . . the richest would gladly part with all his money for health."—Colton.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nixon Likely To Initiate Summit Meetings With Russia

WASHINGTON — It would not be surprising to see President Nixon initiating a summit conference with Soviet Premier Kosygin in the not too distant future.

It is in the logic of events and it is clearly within the pattern of what Nixon has already foreseen as something he would need to do — and want to do.

A move toward a Nixon-Kosygin summit is expectable:

Because it is becoming evident that the United States-Soviet Union nuclear arms talks are not going well.

Because the President believes a big-power agreement to halt the arms race is so crucial for everybody that he would want to go the extra mile to bring it about.

Because the point may soon be reached when the SALT talks can be rescued only at the highest diplomatic level.

Because Nixon has long felt that the summit is the only effective form in which super powers can reach super agreements.

THERE ARE TWO persuasive reasons why it looks as though the SALT talks have reached an impasse, or at least a point where there are major areas of disagreement, difficult if not impossible to resolve at the ambassadorial level.

One reason is that while both sides agreed in advance that the negotiations would be absolutely secret, so that shifts of position would be easier to make, now each side is permitting leaks to the press. This reveals a grave deterioration of the negotiating climate.

Second, each is beginning to charge the other with trying to get unilateral advantage in offensive weapons. While there can be honest differences of opinion on these matters, bringing such disputes to public controversy instead of negotiating them at the conference table is an ill omen.

IT IS NOTEWORTHY that President Nixon takes a quite different attitude toward summit diplomacy than Sec. of State John Foster Dulles did.

Dulles believed that summit conferences, especially with the Russians, were largely window dressing. He believed that they tended to cover up rather than solve problems and that when they failed they left everything worse than before. His idea was that summitry was desirable only after agreement had been reached at a lower level and was at best only a form for formal ratification.

Dulles never wanted the Big Four Geneva summit meeting in 1955 when the Russian delegation was led by Bulganin and Khrushchev, and his forecast was accurate: the summit accomplished nothing. it was not until after Dulles' passing in 1958 that Eisenhower invited Premier Khrushchev to visit the United States and himself planned to go to Moscow.

Very possibly Nixon shared these views at the time but later he reached a quite opposite conclusion. He now believes that in the end it is almost certainly necessary to negotiate directly with the collective leadership of the Soviet Union on major matters.

This is true in part because in the United States the Constitution vests treaty-making powers in the hands of one person, the President. With the death of Stalin and the overthrow of Khrushchev, the decision-making authority in the Soviet Union is no longer centered in one man but is collective.

THESE ARE REASONS why the President is disposed to favor a meeting with Kosygin at the right moment.

There's another. He has stated several times since the nuclear arms talks began that he is confident "an agreement will be reached and it will be an important one."

If a meaningful agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to bring the ever-mounting, riskful, costly nuclear arms race to a halt is to be reached, the SALT talks will have to be rescued from their present climate of bickering and stalemate.

The President would not hesitate to initiate a summit conference to do so.

Whites, Blacks Play Together At Last in Mississippi Delta

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

JACKSON, Miss. — By now it is no surprise any longer to see a schoolyard full of black and white children playing basketball together beside a highway in the South. That has been a familiar sight in the upper South and the borderland of Florida and Texas for nearly a decade.

Still, there is something impressive about it all over again when you see it now at school after school down the length of the Mississippi Delta, so long the geographical symbol of southern resistance to desegregation.

Now, at long last, things have changed. Not willingly, on the part of most of the white majority. But whatever the reason, there the children are playing.

The explanations for the relative quiet about desegretation are less obvious than the clear reasons for court-ordered, administration-enforced desegregation itself.

ALTHOUGH THERE is concern among those of good will that the present respite from outright antagonism will be temporary, there is a new openness about their hope that it is real and permanent.

There is some irony in the fact that the private white "academies" founded in many localities to avoid what is regionally called race-mixing have acted as safety valves for ill-feeling about desegregation.

Usually the children of well-to-do white parents are able to attend these academies, along with less wealthy children who are in them for this first year or two, but unlikely to be able to finance their way through graduation. But during this emotional time of transition, the academies are making the change more gradual and thus tolerable.

There are frequent fights between white and black students in the public schools, as there are in the long-desegregated schools in the North.

BUT THE ONLY politician who could be heard this week trying to make capital of those fistfights was an obscure arch-conservative named Elmore Greaves, who is the only announced candidate for lieutenant governor in this fall's election.

Even Gov. John Bell Williams, who in two decades in Congress made racial extremism his specialty, has realized the futility of further rear guard action against desegregation. He still goes through the motions of opposition to "federal interference," but these days the racial connotations are merely implied.

Who Pays When Profit System Becomes Loss?

(John S. Knight in Detroit Free Press)

Do you remember when free enterprise or, as I call it, "the profit and loss" system, was widely and deservedly hailed as the working process through which the United States was able to attain the world's highest living standards?

Do you recall when a successful business enterprise was also thought to be socially acceptable, in that it provided the jobs and earnings and taxes to support government and its many services to the people?

Can you recollect when employes took pride in the growth of the company for which they worked, even as they sought a larger share of the earnings pie?

YES, YOU probably do. But today, business has become the whipping boy for all of our ills. Some college students find something immoral in capitalism — American style. Professional reformers attack business in organized campaigns of harassment.

Labor unions make unreasonable demands which are way out of balance with the lack of increased productivity. Workers who once thought the boss was "a pretty good guy" have now worked themselves up into a hate campaign against his company.

ONCE THE HATERS and the reformers have brought down the "profit and loss system," one thought occurs. Where, other than from the taxes paid by corporations and their employes, will the money be available for Social Security, health insurance, education and hundreds of other services, considered indispensable to the people?

The only alternative appears to be socialism, a thoroughly discredited system where egalitarianism brings everyone down to the lowest common standard.

So who pays then, or does the government start printing money of no real value?

Fewer Pupils, Fewer Teachers But Plenty Of Administration

For years a major complaint with children in the Sausalito school district has been the quality of the district's educational program, particularly the school's inability to teach youngsters to read.

This year a new administration and a new board promised these chronic academic problems would begin to be solved. They agreed the district should make every effort to provide an effective educational program.

An intensive reading program was introduced — with fanfare and flourishes — as a bright hope for the district's problem readers, many of which are reading at four or five levels below their grade.

But a look at the budget the administration is proposing for 1971-72 raises doubts about the sincerity of the adminstration's promises.

IF A SCHOOL district genuinely wants a better educational program, would it not concentrate its resources on teachers and instructional materials and try to make budget cuts somewhere else?

This year's budget proposal by Supt. Lawrence Lindberg includes $66,909 for administration. This includes Lindberg's $23,000 salary, the salaries for district office employees, and the costs for office materials.

Recently the district board, which is considering locating all the 518 students it is expecting in September in one school, offered contracts to two principals. To date, the reason for this action has not been explained, although some parents asked why at school board meetings.

If we count each principal's $17,166 annual salary in the cost of administration (and what does a principal do but administer, whatever that means?). The total figure for administration for next year rises to $101,241.

Central office administrative costs have decreased by only $339 since 1968-69, when the district has 820 pupils. That year Sausalito spent $67,248 to administer a school district with 58 per cent more pupils than it will have next year.

WHILE MOST of the district's other expenditures have been reduced slightly in the proposed budget, the only really significant reduction proposed by Lindberg is in instruction.

Cost for instruction for 1971-72 will be $518,317 if the board goes along with the superintendent's recommendation. This is a 32 per cent decrease from the $764,211 for instruction this year.

Teacher salaries total $366,000, down 27 per cent from this year's $502,192. The board and administration has not yet made clear how many teachers will get the ax.

Another large chop has been made in other certificated personnel who deal directly with the children. The administration is asking the board to eliminate the following positions: district psychologist, two counselors, one librarian, the school nurse and the special assistant (who handles discipline problems).

LINDBERG'S PROPOSED budget seems to subscribe to a rather strange philosophy: to make real strides in the quality of education, keep the administrators and fire the teachers.

One of the board members' favorite phrases is "fiscal responsibility." One hears it bandied about freely at every board meeting. Is the superintendent's proposed budget what the trustees mean by this phrase?

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Inviting In The Animals While Cutting VD Fight Funds

Fusselman

"Marin's Invitation To The Animals." So went the heading of the front page story in the I-J. Does this wonder you?

Did they walk with the animals? Did they talk with the animals? Did they ask of the animals, "Do you really want to come?" Did they explain to the animals that some folks are very much against having new humans move into the county and that quite likely considerable of that attitude has rubbed off on the local animal population?

Did they tell the animals that we have rabies clinics and that they would have to come clean or else?

"ARRIGONI AND MICHAEL Wornum declared that whether there is one unwanted raccoon or a thousand in San Francisco, they are still welcome in Marin."

Of course this was a copout, as 'most every one likes to watch raccoons during a pleasant evening. Or maybe it was a skunkout, as the final motion by Arrigoni was to "... authorize a letter to San Francisco offering a haven for raccoons or other wild animals, but not for gophers or rats." The cute little fellow with the pretty stripes was not mentioned.

Yea, Gods of Brasilia, sitting high under the dome way atop the hills, thou art expansive; yes one might even say expensive, for this and the other front-page story about the spread of venereal disease were the only two which seemed newsworthy either Tuesday or Wednesday.

I IMAGINE that everyone taking the paper has read that article. I wish to comment on it. This and what will follow are excerpts: "Venereal disease has risen so sharply in Marin that the county is 'totally understaffed, underspaced, and turning people away,' the county health officer announced today." The statement was made before the Marin County Board of Supervisors in support of Fredrick S.Mayer, who made an impassioned plea for more funds and more space to treat the diseases. Mayer asked for direct action immediately. He said volunteer union carpenters are ready to offer free service to remodel the county health department clinic space in the Civic Center for treating patients.

"County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended against immediate remodeling. He said space problems need careful study before the clinic space is expanded," (His office dragged its feet the same way on beefing up security last summer.)

Now here's a pip: The board asked him (of all people) to bring in statistics on the venereal disase epidemic and recommend on how the treatment can be expanded. Doctor Bruce? What next?

I DIDN'T FOLLOW the budget preparation this year, but I can tell you this: The letters of justification prepared by the department heads during the past five years have rarely if ever been seen by the board. Mr. You-Know-Who kept them in his tight little fist.

It would be well if either the board or the grand jury got to the bottom of this high-handed procedure. This is well known by practically everyone out there. If the supervisors know about it, they certainly are due a censure.

This all started in 1965 when the then board gave Bruce a $5,000 raise and turned him loose to impose his will on everyone concerned.

This business of letting him be a barrier between the departments and the board of supervisors is nothing less than a scandal in toto. The board members are paid $12,000 a year each to know what is going on in the departments and not just what he tells them. It's odds-on that the health department's budget was slashed this year in this area as well as others.

Cycle Stolen

A 1967 red Honda motorcycle, valued at about $500, was stolen Tuesday from Motorcycles Unlimited, 5768 Paraidse Drive, Corte Madera, police said yesterday.

Widening Begun To Cut Marion Hazard

Work started yesterday on widening Marion Avenue between Eighth Street and Benton Lane to provide a larger pedestrian area for pupils walking to Marion School, City Mgr. Charles A. Brown reported.

The work is an alternative to a request by 235 residents that a barrier be placed across Marion Avenue, which would eliminate through traffic.

Tuesday night the Novato City Council called for a study on the cost of providing a pathway. Instead, Brown said, he and Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps agreed that work should start immediately.

The narrow street is heavily traveled, presenting a traffic hazard for the 150 pupils who walk along it.

The Novato Fire District board voted Wednesday night against any move to close the street. Commissioners felt it should be left open for fire safety and the passage of fire vehicles, reported Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

Reception Slated For New President

A reception for Sonoma State College's new president, Thomas H. McGrath, and his wife will be held March 21 from 3 to 6 p.m. at the college gymnasium.

Campus tours also will be held at the event, sponsored by the Friends of Sonoma State College.

Petaluman To Fill Fair Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan Thursday named Stanley W. McDonald, a Petaluma banker and rancher, to the Sonoma-Marin District Fair Board.

McDonald was appointed to fill the unexpired term of William F. Nave Sr., San Rafael, who resigned. The term ends Jan. 15, 1972.

Reagan also reappointed to the board Henry E. Tomasini, Nicasio, and Robert W. Mackey, also of Petaluma. All three are Republicans.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by, and in the performance of the covenants contained in, that certain Deed of Trust dated March 7, 1968 made, executed and delivered by LESTER R. JOHNSON and SHIRLEY G. JOHNSON, his wife and BERTHA S. GOLDBERG, a married woman, as her separate property as Trustor to CONTINENTAL AUXILIARY COMPANY, a California corporation, as Trustee for BANK OF AMERICA NATIONAL TRUST AND SAVINGS ASSOCIATION, a national banking association, Beneficiary, which Deed of Trust was recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Marin County, State of California, on May 17, 1968 in Volume 2212 of Official Records at Page 177 et seq., Marin County Records; and

WHEREAS, the lawful owner and holder of said Deed of Trust and the debt thereby secured has applied to and directed the Trustee under said Deed of Trust in writing to execute the trust by said Deed of Trust created, and to make sale pursuant thereto; and

WHEREAS, Notice of Default in the performance of the obligations of the Trustor has been recorded as is provided for by law and said Trustee deems it best to sell said premises and estate as a whole now remaining subject to said Deed of Trust in order to fulfill the purposes thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT ON Thursday, the 8th day of April, 1971, at the hour of 9:30 o'clock A.M. thereof, at the Civic Center Main entrance, Lobby #1, Hall of Justice, situated in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, the CONTINENTAL AUXILIARY COMPANY, a California corporation, as Trustee, will, under and pursuant to the aforesaid Deed of Trust, sell at public auction without warranty express or implied to the highest bidder for cash in lawful money of the United States, the following described real property, mentioned in said Deed of Trust, situated in the City of Sausalito, County of Marin, State of California, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

CHANNEL CHUCKLES

"The following program is for the ladies..."

Two Entry Race For Dairy Princess Crown

Two entries have been accepted in the District 3 dairy princess contest to be held May 8 at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

The two girls are Terri Brazil, 19, a sophomore at Chico State College, who was voted Miss Vitality in last year's contest, and Sharon Vondrak, 17, a senior at St. Vincent's High School, Petaluma.

Miss Brazil is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Brazil of Petaluma and a 1969 graduate of Petaluma Senior High School. She is majoring in home economics at Chico State.

Miss Vondrak is a senior at St. Vincent's High and plans to attend Santa Rosa Junior College, majoring in agriculture.

Miss Vondrak has been a 4-H Club member for eight years and at school belongs to the Spanish, Library and Glee clubs. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vondrak of Cotati.

The contest is open to girls between 17 and 25 who live in Marin, Sonoma, Lake, Mendocino, Napa or Solano counties. Contestants must at least be high school seniors and have a dairy-related background. The current princess is Beverly Smith of Tomales.

Applications may be obtained from the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce or from the Milk Advisory Board, 1700 McHenry Avenue, Modesto 95350. A total of 12 girls will compete for the title.

Peirano Paintings Displayed By Bank

Paintings by Barbara Peirano of Corte Madera are on display through the month of March in Crocker-Citizens National Bank in Corte Madera.

April's featured artist will be Jack Feldman, also of Corte Madera.

Reagan Aide To Appeals Bench

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Judge William P. Clark Jr., former chief of Gov. Ronald Reagan's "palace guard," has been elevated by the governor to a $40,000-a-year post on the appellate court bench.

The nomination of Clark, 39, as an associate justice of the 2nd District Court of Appeal at Los Angeles is subject to expected routine confirmation by the state Judicial Qualifications Commission.

Clark currently is a Superior Court judge in San Luis Obispo County. He was appointed to the post by Reagan in November 1968. He will replace retired Justice Roy Gustafson of Oxnard.

Clark was one of the charter members of Reagan's personal staff, serving first as his cabinet secretary and later for 15 months as his executive secretary.

Reagan Fills Spot On Appeal Beach

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has nominated San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Robert F. Kane to the First District Court of Appeal bench at San Francisco.

The 44-year-old Kane, a Republican, was named Thursday to succeed retired Justice James R. Agee of Berkeley. Kane's nomination was submitted to the Commission on Judicial Appointments for confirmation.

Another BART Station Backed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A Bay Area Rapid Transit District committee agreed Tuesday to building another downtown station in San Francisco rather than spend the money on a Municipal Railway subway in the city.

The recommendation from the engineering committee is to the district's full board and has the approval of the city's Board of Supervisors.

A total of $22.5 million earmarked for construction of a Muni subway in the West Portal District would be spent instead on an Embarcadero station which would serve the Golden Gate Redevelopment Project near the waterfront.

Accident Victim

Paul Fry, 20, of 711 Keokuk Street, Petaluma, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for face cuts suffered in an accident at 7:40 a.m. today in front of 28 West Street. Police lacked details of the accident.

Chief Defends Protection Job

Corte Madera Police Chief David L. McIntosh has told worried Mariner Cove residents his department is doing all it can to provide adequate protection to the eastern section of town.

Herber C. Leney, president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Association, said McIntosh told the group Wednesday there are usually two roving patrols working town streets and a walking patrol each night to check doors at the Paradise Shopping Center.

According to Leney, the police chief said, however, the department is short patrolmen, causing others to work overtime.

The department has been criticized because of East Corte Madera business burglaries and traffic violators.

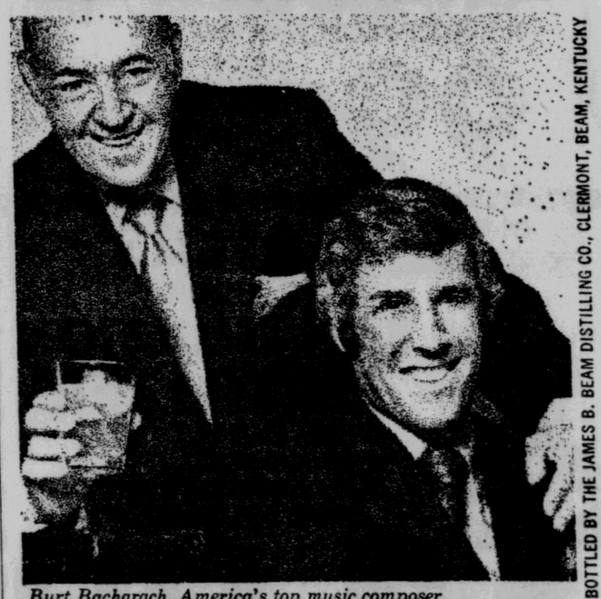
WATCH THE BURT BACHARACH TV SPECIAL
Sunday Evening, March 14th
Generation gap? Jim Beam never heard of it.



Burt Bacharach, America's top music composer. And his father, Bert, famed newspaper columnist.

The Bacharachs. Famous son, famous father. They're of different generations. But in one way they're alike, exactly alike—each is a craftsman. With a respect for his craft. And a desire to excel at it.

The Beams, too, are craftsmen. Their craft is distilling Bourbon. And for 176 (176!) years now, son has followed father at that craft.

Each with a respect for it. Each with a desire to excel at it.

It's a proud record.

It's a proud Bourbon—smooth and light and mellow. With a rich aroma full of promise.

Jim Beam. For six generations; one family, one formula, one purpose. The world's finest Bourbon.

Terra Linda Prep Swim Surprises

I was fairly well shocked out of my sneakers and hotpants (alias Sizzling Skivvies) the other day to read that Terra Linda High School had defeated Redwood High in a swimming meet.

Football, yes, but SWIMMING?? Egads!

It's not that Terra Linda shouldn't have fine mermen, but that school draws its enrollment from an upper middle class community that simply doesn't have as many swimming tanks as the district from which Redwood gets its students. I refer to such elegant ghettos as Kent Woodlands, Ross, Kentfield, Del Mesa, Belvedere etc.

That ain't exactly a poverty pocket, Bunkie. In fact, that sector is a major reason why Marvelous Marin is called the Bounty County. It's the caviar, Chivas Regal, Mums belt.

Thus, the Redwood swimmers have had a head start on most of their rivals. They not only were born with silver spoons in their mouths, but with their own personal swimming pools. And personal tutors.

"Oh, Godfrey, fetch me my monogrammed trunks and summon my tutor."

That's why Redwood usually excels in such sports as swimming, tennis, golf and basketball. Why, those kids have had their very own pools, golf courses, tennis courts and gymnasiums since infancy.

Maybe the Redwood swimmers have been spending too much time tooling around the Bounty County in their Rolls-Royces while the Terra Linda mermen have been waiting in ambush for them.

AS I SIT here in my third floor suite at the I-J, looking out at the heavy rains driven horizontally by fierce winds, I am reminded of a telephone conversation I had the other day with Allan B. Murray, the Marin man-about-town, who is in Phoenix directing operations for the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club over which he presides.

"The weather is gorgeous, beautiful," enthused the young business executive. Thanks a lot, Allan.

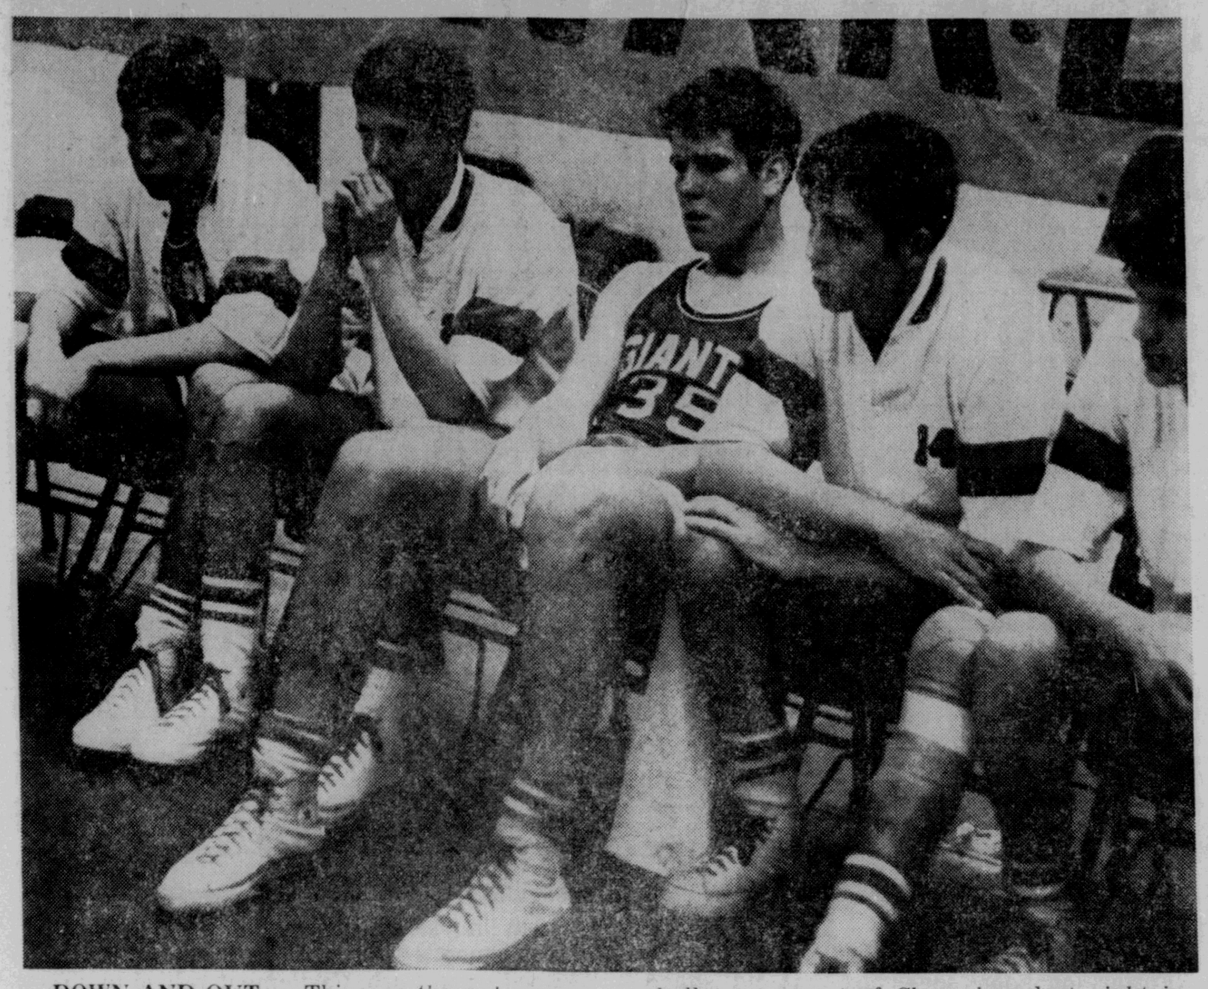
Anyway, Murray currently has 43 Boosters under tow for the early phases of training, but that number will swell to more than 140 next Monday when the second tour of the Boosters is taken to Arizona by Paul Hartman, boss of GTS Travel, San Rafael.

Among Marinites who accompanied Murray to the Giants' spring training camp for the early phases were Maio and Bob Lashly of Greenbrae, Peggy and Noble Hamilton of Ross and Margi and John Taddeucci of San Rafael. Taddeucci is an executive with the Giants. And, the Marin fans had their pictures taken with S.F. pitcher Frank Reberger of Novato, the only Marin resident of the Giant squad.

Murray said the highlight of the early training was a hairy experience by Giant third baseman Allan Gallagher. When he checked into camp a little shaggy around the ears, Gallagher was politely asked by Manager Charlie Fox to "get a little trim." Gallagher obliged the night before the Giants were to meet the Chicago Cubs by shaving his head completely bald, looking more like Yul Brynner than a major league hot corner guardian.

Well, the next day, after drawing a walk, Gallagher trotted to first base where the Cubs' ultra-mod and long-haired Joe Pepitone stood guard. With a sweeping bow, Gallagher doffed his batting helmet, exposing his shiny skull to the hep Pepitone, and in stentorian tone, bellowed: "How do you do, Mr. Pepitone, I am Allan Gallagher of the San Francisco Giants."

Liked to have cracked up the whole stadium, especially Mr. Pepitone.



DOWN AND OUT — This was the sad scene on Redwood High School's bench as the Giants of the Marin County Athletic League watched Castlemont's Clarence Lewis sink two free throws with one second remaining to win a 60-59 thriller in high school basketball tournament of Champions last night in Oakland. Steve McGee (35) had just fouled out of the game and Lewis came through for the come-from-behind victory that relegated Redwood to the consolation bracket in the three-day classic. Last Second Free Throws Beat Marin Team, 60-59

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Justice is not a word one normally associates with basketball, but last night, in the third of four opening round games at the 25th annual Tournament of Champions, justice, or more precisely, lack of it, rang down on the Redwood High School Giants.

Turning in perhaps the greatest performance ever in the T of C by a Marin County Athletic League entry, the Larkspur team lifted majestically the emtoions of 7,500 fans at the Oakland Coliseum Arena, and appeared until the end destined to win a first round contest for the first time in three years.

But justice abandoned Steve McGee, Scott Trobbe, Mike Connor, Sam Farb, Dave Tikker, Rich Hagler, Tim Hennessey and John Hunter — the players who brought the MCAL champions to the brink of victory — when Clarence Lewis sank two free throws with one second left to make the final score Castlemont 60, Redwood 59.

The Giants blew a nine-point lead in the final quarter, but they deserved to win anyway. They outshot, outhustled and outslugged the Knights of the Oakland Athletic League in a game that at the same time was fiercely brutal and awesomely beautiful.

Trobbe, the only senior in the starting lineup, pumped in 22 points, and junior center Steve McGee added 14, including nine in the first quarter when Redwood zoomed to a 20-11 lead. But figures themselves are irrelevant; the poise and confidence which the Giants kept, even in defeat, the intense desire the players took into battle, were far more important than anything that would show up in a box score.

The game was more physical than any Redwood has played this year. Time and again McGee, Connor and Farb were caught by flying blocks and fouls that sent them sprawling to the court. In the final minutes the contract became incredible; Farb was run over on an offensive foul by the Knights' Elihu Williams, and McGee was flattened as he drove for a layup by Castlemont center Tyree Foster.

The Knights erased all but one point of Redwood's early lead by halftime, as Foster got hot with eight in the second quarter, most of them on layups made possible by offensive rebounds. But the Giants started the second half with the same fast breaking eagerness that marked their first quarter effort, and ran off 12 unanswered points to lead, 48-35. The surge was led by Trobbe, who popped in five points, and McGee, the fast break leader whose love of competition seems almost unnatural.

Castlemont began to catch up midway through the third period, and at 3:17 of the final quarter, Foster, the game's high scorer with 24 points, hit a pair of free throws to close the score to 56-54. Hagler, filling in Who's An Idiot? Ball Four!

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—There's a difference between calling a man an idiot and telling him to quit acting like an idiot, according to Oakland A's owner Charles Finley.

At least that's what Finley said Thursday after a heated telephone discussion with California Angels general manager Dick Walsh over the question of whether the A's-cherubs baseball game would be played under Finley's experimental rule of three balls instead of four to a walk.

Walsh and Angels manager Lefty Phillips threatened not to take the field and said they had understood that the experiment would only go on if both sides agreed.

The Angels officials said they didn't agree and that's when Walsh called Finley and was called an idiot or told not to act like one or something, depending on whose version of the call was reported later.

The umpires told both sides to play ball and the game went on.

In any case, the Angels must have known something for they dropped a 6-1 verdict as Rollie Fingers, Bob Locker and Jim Roland combined on a 3-hitter and Reggie Jackson and Dave Duncan banged two-run A's homers. The A's pitchers gave up only five 3-ball walks and the Angels allowed 11.

The A's call on the Giants at Phoenix today and it will take four balls to get first base. The three-ball rule is only against American League foes.

Russ-U.S. Track In Berkeley

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The Amateur Athletic Union announced Wednesday the 1971 United States-Russia World All-Star track and field meet will be staged July 2-3 at the University of California at Berkeley.

"In awarding this spectacular meet to the University of California, we do so on the basis of the tremendous interest in the sport ... in the greater Bay Area ... " said John B. Kelly Jr., president of the AAU.

This will be the 10th meeting between U.S. and Soviet track and field stars. The United States men carry a 7-2 edge over the Russian men. The American women have won only once, in 1969.

The Soviets base their scoring on the combined total of mens' and womens' scoring, and on this basis have won eight of nine previous contests. This year's affair will be scored both as a triangular meet and as a double-dual meet.

4-Ball Rule In Giants, A's Games

PHOENIX (UPI)—San Francisco goes into today's Cactus tussle with cross-bay rival Oakland with a healthy 5-3 record despite its latest loss.

Milwaukee took a 7-5 verdict from the Giants at Phoenix Thursday when Danny Walton came off the bench and slammed a three-run pinch homer in the ninth.

It was not too disastrous a loss for the Giants, who saw some of their youngsters deliver in the clutch in their drive to stick with the varsity.

For instance, George Foster slammed a two-run homer off veteran Larry Bernearth and the feeling around camp is that the Giants have got a solid reserve outfielder in the 22-year-old native of Hawthorne, Calif.

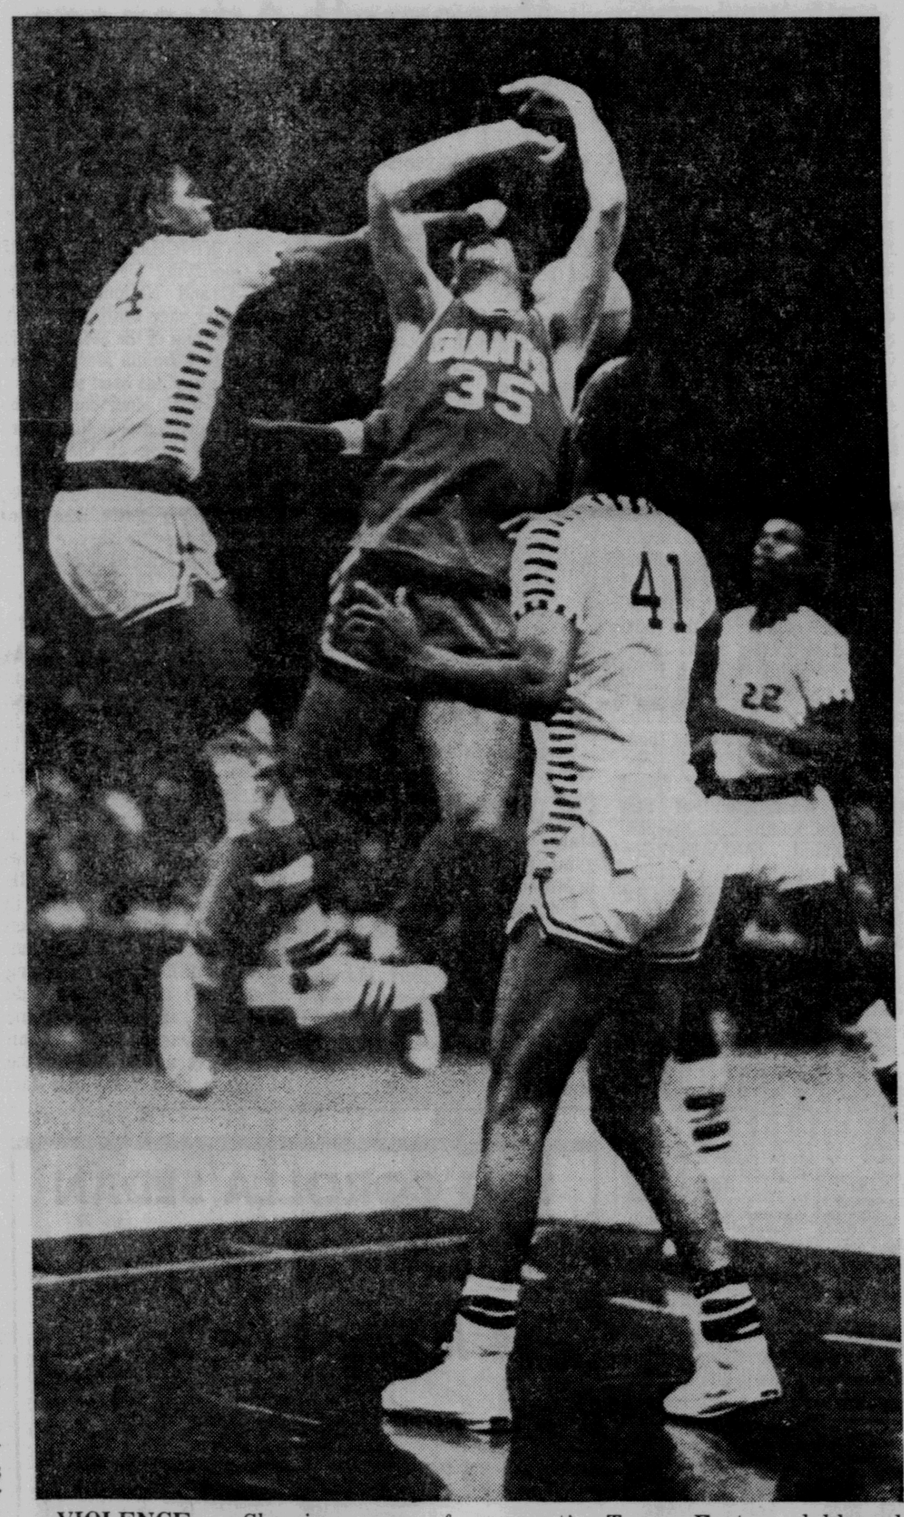
Starter Ron Bryant never "got loose," according to Larry Jansen but still impressed Jansen by hanging tough for four innings in which he gave up two runs.

He tossed 72 pitches during the four innings he worked.

Jerry Johnson and Jim Willoughby relieved in pretty good shape, but Mike Davison got shelled and absorbed the loss.

Golfing Victory

Terra Linda defeated Drake 210-235 yesterday in a non-league high school golf match on the Marin Country Club course in Novato. Medalists, all with 41s, were Terra Davis, Gary LaRocca and Kevin Harrington of Terra Linda and Drake's Paul Arms.



VIOLENCE — Showing some of the rugged play that marked last night's Redwood-Castlemont game in the high school basketball Tournament of Champions in Oakland Coliseum Arena, Castlemont's Tyree Foster clobbered Redwood's Steve McGee (35) with a right hook to the nose. Looking on are Elihu Williams (41) and Vernon May (22) of the Oakland school.

Bruin Star Esposito Sets Scoring Mark

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Boston center Phil Esposito knew that barring a complete collapse he would shatter the national hockey league record for goals scored but his only regret was that his 59th goal came in Los Angeles instead of before the hometown fans in Boston.

"I'm glad it's all over," Esposito said following Thursday's game with the Los Angeles Kings which the Bruins won 7-2. "I've been fortunate against Los Angeles and I like to play in their arena.

"The reason I've done so well against the Kings is that their goalie, Denis Dejordy, and I both played for Chicago and I know his moves."

Esposito recorded two goals in the match to raise his total to 60. The first goal, however, broke Bobby Hill's single season record of 58 set two years ago. Esposito also picked up an assist in the match.

"Two years ago when I was the first to score more than 100 points, I felt the pressure more then because no one else had ever done it and I wanted to be the first. How many more goals can I score? I'll be happy with 65, maybe 70."

Esposito scored the record-breaking goal at 7:03 of the first period when he tipped in a shot from the point by teammate Ted Green.

"I knew Green shoots low and I mapped my strategy accordingly, got my stick out and deflected it in."

Esposito said he wanted to get the 59th goal in the first 70 games and it came in the 67th, so there would be no asterisk after the mark."

The three points Esposito scored gave him 128 for the season, breaking his own milestone of 126 set in 76 games two years ago.

Esposito's records were not the only ones set in the game. Bobby Orr assisted three times to give him 88 assists, one more than his record of 87 set last year. Orr now has 123 points, three more than the record he established last year for a defenseman. And he contributed a second period goal to increase his total to 35.

Boston in recording its 50th win increased its point total to 107, 12 more than the New York Rangers who are second in the East.

Banging On Irons Helps

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Banging on one's golf clubs with a hammer is not prescribed therapy for the super cool pros, but you can't tell Bert Greene that.

He got mad after missing the cut at last week's Doral and decided something needed to be done about his golfing tools.

"I put them in a vise and started hammering on them—very scientific," said the six-foot Georgia native.

That may not have helped his irons, but today Greene finds himself just one stroke behind the leaders in the $150,000 Florida Citrus Invitational.

That lead is shared by Jerry Heard, a cocky young Californian who doesn't mind gambling, and Arnold Palmer, the venerable veteran who says he's "striking the ball better than ever."

Heard, a 23-year-old college dropout who has never before held the lead in a PGA tournament, dropped a 35-foot birdie putt on the final hole in Thursday's opening round to match Palmer's 66, posted earlier in the day. Palmer had birdied five consecutive holes in a spectacular charge.

"I was just lagging it and it went into the hole," said Heard.

Earlier he had told his caddy he wanted to catch Palmer.

"I was lucky to do it," he said.

Turning in 67s, along with Greene were Dick Lotz, Dan Sikes, John Lister, Julius Boros and Jerry McGee.

A crowded field just two strokes off the pace included Kermit Zarley, Hugh Royer, Dale Douglass, Vic Loustalot, Bob Murphy, Orville Moody, Gary Groh, Bobby Nichols, Lee Trevino, Bobby Mitchell, Jerry Abbott, Charles Sifford and Dick Crawford.

All Eyes On Marichal Versus A's Tomorrow

Phoenix Juan Marichal will make his second appearance of the spring tomorrow when he pitches against the Oakland A's at Mesa. Every time Marichal goes to the mound this spring everyone in the camp of the Giants will be watching closely.

THERE WAS a time when everyone merely watched Marichal momentarily in his initial spring tuneups. Only momentary glimpses were needed a few years ago to satisfy everyone that Marichal was on his way to another 20-victory year.

Perhaps Chris Pelekoudas, veteran National League umpire, summed it up best the year Marichal stayed in the Dominican Republic, refusing to sign his contract until Easter. That was the spring Marichal reached the $100,000 bracket for the first time. He had missed virtually all of spring training Pelekoudas said.

"WHAT'S THE difference when he reports? Just give him the ball and he'll start throwing strikes."

Pelekoudas was behind the plate last Monday when Marichal made his 1971 spring debut against the Lotte Orions from Japan. But Marichal didn't start throwing strikes against the Japanese batters. In fact, his first three pitches to the leadoff Japanese hitter were extremely high.

DURING HIS warmup all of Marichal's pitches were low knee-high strikes. Maybe it was the mound in Phoenix Municipal Stadium that caused the sudden switch from low strikes in the bullpen to high balls in the exhibition game. Or maybe it was, as Marichal put it. "I don't pitch my best against Japanese teams they go with the pitch real well and it's hard to fool them"

Marichal did have trouble with the Orions in Japan last spring before he picked up a mysterious virus that led to a lingering illness because of a complicating penicillin reaction.

AND NOW, once again, he was having trouble with them in a new spring. After the opening three high pitches to the Orions' leadoff man, Marichal finally walked him on a 3-1 pitch. Then, with two away Marichal was tagged for a solid single and 400-foot triple Another Orion run in the second inning was the faul of a rookie shortstop, Chris Speier

During his initial three-inning tuneup Marichal threw 51 pitches Only 15 of them were strikes.

SO EVERYONE will be watching Marichal closely tomorrow when he goes against the A's.

Marichal looks in superb condition once again following the prolonged illness that caused his 1970 record to dip to 3-9 with a 5.30 ERA before the All-Star break.

DURING THE second half of the 1970 season he recaptured his pitching magic, winning nine of his last 10 decisions to windup 12-10 with a 4.11 ERA, almost double his earned run average of 2.10, lowest in the National League the previous season.

Warriors Host Sonics In 'Biggie'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Now the Seattle Sonics and San Diego Rockets have climbed within two games of the San Francisco Warriors, who have six games left in NBA play.

The Warriors host Seattle tonight in a game which could decide who gets a $40,500 chunk of loot.

Of that, $12,500 comes for the second place finish and $28,000 comes for losing the first-round playoff to Milwaukee.

Should the Warriors, Sonics or Rockets somehow pull off the miracle and beat the Bucks in the playoff, the remuneration zooms up accordingly.

The Sonics and Warriors are 2-2 this season but Seattle won by 45 points in their last clash, perhaps the Warriors most inept show of the season.

Controversial Spencer Haywood, who has replaced Rick Barry as sports litigant of the year, is back with the Sonics and he and the team have been adjusting to each other of late.

The Warriors will give shoes to the first 3,500 youngsters who show up at the Cow Palace tonight. They host Detroit in the Palace Sunday in their last home appearance and will hold a fan appreciation night, with many gifts for those who attend.

The Warriors have their last four games on the road. Should they lose tonight's crucial, Seattle, at least, will have a real shot at usurping the playoff spot from the Warriors.

NON-CONTACT SPORT? Redwood High's Steve McGee (35) and Castlemont's Tyree Foster (on floor) squelched that old adage that basketball is a non-contact sport in this second half action in Tournament of Champions in Oakland last night. Looking on are Castlemont's Vernon May (22) and Redwood's San Farb. Castlemont rallied to a 60-59 first round triumph.

for Connor after the latter picked up his fourth foul, provided a brief reprieve with a 15-foot jumper, but Foster claimed a tip in and then with a minute left, Vernon May found the range on a 10-foot bank shot that closed the margin to one.

The Giants scored only six points in the last quarter, and missed six free throws. Yet they didn't seem to be "choking" as much as just running out of steam. The end came in a life or death fight under the Castlemont basket, when McGee committed his fifth foul and sent Lewis to the line for what would be the winning free throws.

So the Giants lost, and tonight, drained emotionally and physically, they must meet Amador at 6 p.m. in the second round. One could not blame them if they fail to rally and win both tonight and tomorrow, and thus capture their third consolation trophy in as many years. But even if there is no justice, there is pride and dignity, both of which Redwood has in abundance. Don't count them out.

In other opening round games, Washington of San Francisco defeated St. Joseph's of Oakland, 49-40, Berkeley romped past Lincoln of Stockton, 87-66, and Hayward breezed to a 73-63 win over Amador.

St. Joseph's meets Lincoln today at 4:30, Berkeley and Washington clash at 7:30, and Hayward faces Castlemont at 9.

Rosewall Advances In Australia Tennis

SYDNEY (UPI) — Ken Rosewall, the 36-year-old Veteran, swept into the finals of the Australian Open Tennis Championships Friday night on a 6-2, 7-6, 6-4 victory over Tom Okker of the Netherlands.

Rosewall, the U.S. Open champion last year, whipped his 27-year-old opponent in 85 minutes and now will meet the winner of Saturday's other semifinal between Americans Arthur Ashe and Bob Lutz.

In women's play, grand slam champion Margaret Court thrashed another Australian, Leslie Hunt, 6-0, 6-3 to gain the final where she will be defending her 1970 title. She will meet the winner of Saturday's other semi between Scotland's Winnie Shaw and the part aborigine Evonne Goolgong.

Gymnasts Defeated In Their Opener

Terra Linda High School came out last in a triangular meet with Mills and Berkeley high schools yesterday in the Marin school's first varisty gymnastics meet ever, at Mills in Millbrae.

Final scores were: Mills 87.10, Berkeley 86.55 and Terra Linda 72.40.

Outstanding for Terra Linda were Kris Van Oeveren with a second place in floor exercise and third in the side horse and Carl Clement third in the long horse vault.

A dramatic duel can be expected between pole-sitter Fred Lorenzen, king of the superspeedways before he began a two-year retirement in 1968, and Richard Petty, the winningest driver in Nascar history, who will start alongside.

Bowling

NEW YORK (UPI) —Mike Limongello slipped somewhat in Thursday evening's fourth round, but had enough pins in store to hold onto his lead in the $85,000 Cougar Open Bowling Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

The five-time champion in Professional Bowlers Association, competition —he won the Don Carter Classic last year in the Garden and the U.S. Open last January in St. Paul, Minn. —had a 1375 in the opening block, then averaged a shade over 210 in the six-game evening session to show an overall average of 220 for the 24 games he's rolled thus far.

Terra Linda Prep Baseballers Win

Marin County Athletic League baseball teams 'batted" 500 per cent in preseason games yesterday as Terra Linda High School eked out a 3-2 decision over Sacred Heart of San Francisco in eight innings and Sir Francis Drake High lost a 6-0 decision to Riordan also of San Francisco

Terra Linda, scoring its first victory of the season after three setbacks, broke up its extra inning battle at Funston Field in San Francisco with a run in the top of the eighth inning. After the first two batters struck out, Larry Kerr opened the winning rally with a sharp single to right field and was driven around to score on consecutive singles by Tom Hughes and Brian Wall.

The victorious Trojans first two tallies came in the second inning when Bill Sherbert singled, Kerr walked, Hughes was hit by a pitch to load the bases and a double error on a grounder by Mike Allen forced home Sherbert and Kerr.

Mike Sabel, who pitched the first seven innings, was the winner. He was relieved in the eighth by Sherbert

In San Anselmo, meanwhile, host Drake had several scoring opportunities but was unable to come through in the clutch. The Pirates left nine runners stranded on base and had runners on first and second with no outs on three occasions.

It was Drake's second loss against one victory

Hubbard's 2nd Arrest

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (UPI)—Oakland Raiders running back Marv Hubbard was arrested Thursday night on a charge of harrassment by police in this western New York community. It was his second brush with the law in two weeks.

Hubbard, 24, who lives nearby, was arrested on a warrant issued on the complaint of Donald W Draine, a counselor at a youth opportunity camp near here, for allegedly harrassing Draine verbally at a restaurant Wednesday.

He was free on his own recognisance after he was arrested about two weeks ago for disorderly conduct in a bowling alley in the Cattaraugus County village of Randolph.

The former Colgate University football player was released Thursday night after posting $50 bond. He will appear March 30.

FISH AND GAME

No Stripers? Turn To Salmon Fishing

By AL GIDDINGS

In the last three weeks I've tried for those striped bass and sturgeon at the Shellbank, at Corrigador, out by the Pumphouse, in the deep channel near the S. P. Buoy, below the Richmond Bridge and off Paradise Cay using 4/0 hooks, the best of baits (fresh ghost shrimp) and fishing the best tides. I can't really connect! On, an occasional fish but never have I had such tough going in March.

I'd advise you to try for flounders over the weekend or perch, or just take your wife to a movie! Or maybe go salmon fishing if you're really desperate! In my desperation, I called Big Red DiVito of Fairfax and suggested we give it a go for salmon. I needed to get a fish on the hook; I was getting jumpy! Fred, being a big jovial fellow, naturally said okay, and we set the thing up a few days ago.

I MET FRED at 6 a.m. at Loch Lomond and away we went in a 28-footer, fast as the dickens; but the seas were fairly calm, so it wasn't too bad. Fred ran the boat, probably hitting 30 m.p.h. all the way out to the fishing grounds. He told me to go below to set up the rods, and to bait up a number of "easy baiters", either with herring or anchovies. He ran the boat from the flying bridge topside. But when we hit the gate, I ended up just hanging on! Bait the hooks? The net hit me in the head, rods flew in all directions; it was impossible.

Upon our arrival, I said, "Thank God," and Fred asked "Are things ready?" I said, "I'll take the wheel, I need some fresh air; you bait the hooks!" This Fred proceeded to do, finally ending up with four rods in the rod holders all baited, clicks on, and the drags properly set. I wanted to bet so Fred said the two port rods were mine, and he would handle the starboard rods. Would you believe it, all the strikes were on those port rods.

I EVEN LET Fred play the fish for awhile; it was a kick to just watch the action. The bets? He wouldn't pay off; he said he put the rods out, baited them, and even played the fish — just how could I win all the bets? Oh, he finally got a couple of fish, but he ended up using all the rods before the day was over.

Every once in awhile another boat would come by and give us the "how many?" signal. I'd yell, "I'm limited, but this Fred DiVito can't catch a cold!" Fred would just fume! Most of the fish were about 23 inches long. I filleted two of them, and five of us nearly ate every morsel at one sitting. They are good! One of the fish we caught must have missed the bait and was snagged through the head. The hook must have hit the fish's brain, because though we immediately brought the fish in after the strike, that fish at no time ever gave a wiggle. I've never seen this happen before!

THINKING about last Sunday, it was estimated that there were 200 boats out fishing near the lightship. With an average of eight people to the boat, there may have been 1600 anglers out there. Most anglers took from two to three fish or probably close to 4,000 salmon total! The Fish and Game department is proposing a license increase this year; I hope you all see fit to write your legislators that you are in favor of this dollar raise. It takes money to keep up a fishery such as this salmon fishery, but what would we do without it.

WALDO GIACOMINI of Pt. Reyes station called to say that most of the mud hens on his ranch have left, so no further shoots will be held this year.

Oakland To Host Recreational Vehicle Exhibit

Northern California's only major all-exclusive show of recreational vehicles has been set for the Oakland Coliseum-Arena April 21-25, it was announced yesterday by show producer H. Werner Buck.

The event is the second annual Northern California Recreational Vehicle Show, and the show will include virtually every form of recreational vehicles including van conversions, motor homes, travel trailers, campers, off-track vehicles, houseboats, and others.

"Last year's inaugural show in the Oakland Coliseum-Arena was excellently received by both the visitor to the show and by the manufacturers," said Buck. "We expect this year's show to surpass last year's effort. It is being sponsored by an outstanding organization, the Recreational Vehicle Association, formerly the Recreational Coach and Equipment Association."

S.F. State, Cal Poly Defeated

By United Press International

Two Pacific Northwest schools will tangle Saturday afternoon for the NCAA College Western Division basketball crown after turning back a pair of California challengers.

Seattle Pacific took San Francisco State 75-68 and Puget Sound took Cal Poly San Luis Obispo 81-69 Thursday night to qualify for the finals. No one is betting against the tough Puget Sound quintet.

Jim Ballard hit 24 to lead Seattle Pacific with Ron Beall scoring 17 and Gary Bradford 16 for the losers.

Mike Jordan and brilliant backcourter Charles Lowery led Puget Sound with 28 and 23 points respectively. Lew Jackson had 25 for Cal Poly.

The winner of Saturday's game heads for Evansville, Ind., and a berth in the nationals which open March 17.

Meanwhile, the NCAA university division gets going in the West Saturday at Logan, Utah, when Weber State (21-5) and Long Beach State (22-4) tangle and Utah State (20-6) meets Brigham Young (18-9).

The winners will move on to challenge University of Pacific (21-5) and the Pacific Eight champion.

Both USC and UCLA have 24-1 records going into Saturday afternoon's test between the two cage powers. If the Trojans win that one, they'll play off again Monday.

Meanwhile, final West Coast Athletic Conference records showed Bob Thomason of UOP setting a league free throw mark with 63 of 69 free throw attempts for 90.3 per cent.

Romie Thomas of Nevada Reno (26.0) beat Booker Washington of Nevada Las Vegas (24.4) and Jim Haderlein of Loyola (20.6), John Gianelli of UOP (20.6) and Sam Hill of St. Mary's (20.3) in the scoring race.

Gianelli edged Haderlein for rebound honors while Santa Clara's Mike Stewart was the most accurate shooter at 52.8 per cent.

In team figures champion Pacific topped offense (87.1 points per game), free throw shooting (71 per cent) and rebounding while Loyola nipped the Tigers by a point in defense (69.8) and UN Las Vegas was the most accurate from the floor at about 48 per cent.

Sailing Classes For Marin Gals Start March 18

Registration in a series of sailboat lectures for women will take place on Thursday, March 18 at 10 a.m. in the parking lot adjacent to the Sausalito Yacht Sales and Ship Candlery on the boardwalk in Sausalito.

These talks are one hour long and are presented one morning a week for six weeks on the waterfront in Sausalito. They are especially designed to acquaint the beginning sailor with all the factors that must be taken into consideration for sailing on the Bay.

Fee is $15.

NCAA Cage Regionals To Start

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Weber State will attempt to scuttle Long Beach State's 15-game winning streak and Brigham Young battles Utah State for a rare third time in a season Saturday night in the opening round of the NCAA's Western Regionals.

Weber, Big Sky Conference champions four years running, will be shooting for revenge against Long Beach State, winner of the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference, in the opening game of the doubleheader in the new 10,000-seat capacity Spectrum.

The 49ers, an experienced club boastful of its physical prowess, walloped Weber, 92-73, last year in first round action in the NCAA tournament at Provo, Utah.

Brigham Young, whose strong road finish clinched the Western Athletic Conference championship for the Cougars, is matched in the nightcap against independent Utah State, which has made a near habit of eliminating the WAC champions from NCAA tournament play. In the past nine years, the USU Aggies have met the WAC king five times in the NCAA meet and won four of them.

Three of the teams in this tournament, led by BYU in 13th, are nationally ranked in the top 20 poll of United Press International. USU and Weber are lodged in a five-way tie for 18th.

The winners advance to the second round of the regionals next week in Salt Lake City with the Long Beach-Weber winner taking on Univeristy of Pacific and the BYU-USU winner meeting the eventual champion of the Pacific Eight, either UCLA or USC.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Sadecki Flunks His Interview

By United Press International

The Los Angeles Dodgers are reportedly interested in obtaining Ray Sadecki from the New York Mets, but the veteran southpaw may have flunked his job interview.

The Dodgers, who are supposedly ready to deal either catcher Jeff Torborg or catcher Tom Haller to the Mets for Sadecki, got a look at the 30-year-old lefty in an exhibition game Thursday and tagged him with a 5-4 loss.

Sadecki, who worked three innings in relief, was tagged for four hits, walked two and struck out two but failed to retire a batter in the ninth inning when the Dodgers rallied for two runs to win.

Bobby Darwin started the rally with a double and Maury Wills singled. After Manny Mota walked, Jim Lefebvre was sent up to bat for Von Joshua and delivered a double to left-center to chase home the winning run.

Jerry Grote of the Mets had the game's only home run.

In other camps: Lou Brock's three-run homer in the eighth inning carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. It was the Cardinals' fifth straight victory...The Kansas City Royals held the New York Yankees hitless for 6 2-3 innings but had to rally for four runs in the 10th inning to score their first spring victory, 7-3. Joe Keough's run-scoring triple was the big hit for Kansas City in the 10th. Amos Otis had a 450-foot homer for the Royals early in the game.

Johnny Bench had two hits and drove in three runs and Bill Plummer had a two-run homer and a run-scoring single as the Cincinnati Reds edged the Minnesota Twins, 9-8, for their first victory this spring. The Reds had lost five in a row. Cesar Tovar finally agreed to terms with the Twins for $50,000...Carlos May paced a 16-hit attack with four hits as the Chicago White Sox bombed the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-2.

Rafael Robles collected three singles, scored four runs and drove home a pair to lead the San Diego Padres to an 11-7 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Jerry Davanon's two-run single in the eighth inning carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-4 victory over the Tokyo Giants ... Ken Harrelson collected two doubles and rookie Mark Ballinger worked five scoreless innings as the Cleveland Indians blanked the Lotte Orions of Japan, 2-0.

TANK EMERGES — Novato firemen inspect the scene at a Mobil service station on Ignacio Boulevard, Ignacio, after an underground gasoline tank popped through the driveway. One of the station operators said pressure caused by water seeping through a crack in the pavement forced the nearly empty tank to the surface. (More photos, page 12)

Storm Hits; Power Lines, Trees Felled

70 Mile Per Hour Wind Atop Mount Tamalpais

By DAVID DIETZ

The first major storm of 1971 hit Marin and Southern Sonoma today, raking the region with wind gusts up to 70 miles per hour, cutting power to scattered areas and slowing traffic.

By 11 a.m., a total of 1.45 inches of rain had fallen in San Rafael.

It was the first big storm since Dec. 21, when more than two inches of rain fell on parts of Marin.

The Air Force station atop Mount Tamalpais reported wind gusts up to 70 miles per hour this morning. Tree limbs fell on power lines in scattered parts of Marin, knocking out power to more than 200 customers for periods up to three hours.

Commuter traffic on Highway 101 was slowed by the storm and San Rafael police were kept busy as traffic lights were snuffed out.

In Ignacio, a buried gas tank at Jack and Greg's Mobil station on Ignacio Boulevard popped through the station driveway when water seeped beneath it.

Greg McConnell, one of the operators of the station, said the tank was forced to the surface because it was not holding much fuel and there was a crack in the concrete bed above it.

In San Rafael, a large window at Carpet King on Francisco Boulevard was smashed by the storm. Also in that city, the wind toppled bricks forming the building face of Grand Auto, 850 Fourth Street.

A rotted pole snapped near 19 La Cuesta Drive, Greenbrae, cutting power temporarily to neighborhood homes. Mrs. Charles Cain of 19 La Cuesta complained Pacific Gas and Electric Co. first had been notified of the hazard two years ago, but failed to install a new pole.

She said PG&E told her ivy covering the pole first would have to be removed by the adjoining property owner on whose land the pole rested.

Leonard O. Robertson, district superintendent for PG&E, said he was unaware of the complaints but that it was company policy to repair or replace damaged poles.

Power went off in the Black Point area at 11:05 a.m.

Teleview cable TV service was interrupted this morning from Mill Valley to Terra Linda.

The county public works department reported roads clear this morning, except for a tree partially blocking Circle Road in Los Ranchitos.

The weatherman said the winds would diminish tonight, with an 80 per cent chance of rain. A 60 per cent chance of rain was forecast for tomorrow.

PG&E reported these power outages today: Coleman-Chula Vista area of San Rafael, 75 customers affected, power out from 12:54 a.m. to 1:43 a.m., tree limb broke a line; Scott Street, Woodacre, 20 customers affected, power out in early morning, limb on a line; Dominican area of San Rafael, 30 customers affected, 2:06 a.m. to 2:44 a.m., tree bark on a line; Miraflores- Miramar area of San Rafael, 60 customers affected, 5:23 a.m. to 6:58 a.m., tree on a line; Charlotte Circle, Strawberry, 15 customers affected, 3:12 a.m. to 6 a.m., tree on a line.

Rainfall reported in Marin for a 24-hour period to 8 a.m. today was: Woodacre, 1.51 inches; Point Reyes Station, 1.23; Tamalpais Valley, .50 of an inch; Bolinas, .43; Novato, .42; Mill Valley, .36; Belvedere, .23, and Tiburon, .13.

Inmate Murdered In Quentin Unrest

By MARY LEYDECKER

One San Quentin inmate was killed and four other stabbed yesterday as a bloody outbreak of violence, apparently due to black-white tensions, escalated at the prison.

There have been 10 stabbings at the prison beginning Monday night with one which was "essentially a personal matter," according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

He blamed the additional attacks on "self-anointed committees of two or three persons" who have tried to take justice into their own hands.

Found dead yesterday in the east cell block, center of the trouble, was inmate William P. Hanson, 28, a white man whom Park described as a "biker," or motorcycle gang type.

Hanson's throat had been slit and he had two wounds in his chest, one through his heart. There were also wounds on his arm and hand.

The butchered body was found about 1 p.m. on the fourth tier of the east block, where there has been a general lockup. Hanson, a kitchen worker, was returning to his cell.

Park said that there were only 18 other inmates out of their cells at the time, and five of them, all blacks, are being questioned in connection with the murder.

A bloody prisonmade weapon was found near the body.

Funeral arrangements for Hanson, who was sent to San Quentin from Alameda County for a robbery conviction, were pending today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Three other inmates were stabbed during an interracial fight on the fifth tier of the 960-inmate east block about 6:30 p.m.

George Douglas McFadden, 26, a black, was stabbed four times in the back and once in the buttocks. Melvin Jones, 25, also black, was stabbed once in the hand, and a white man, T. D. Bigham, 25, was hit once in the leg.

McFadden was reported in good condition at the prison hospital today and the others were treated and sent back to their cells.

Park said the men began fighting as they returned to their cells after dinner.

Officials stopped the fight and recovered two handmade knives and a blackjack filled with porcelain.

Earlier yesterday, Jack Dougherty, 43, whom Park called an "oldtimer," was attacked with parts from a typewriter. Dougherty, a white man, has been at the prison since 1950, and two black inmates are suspected of assaulting him.

The stabbings continued despite lockups in the east and south cell blocks and a prisonwide search for weapons. More than 40 "shanks," crudely fashioned knives and pieces of metal, have been found since the violence started.

Park said that the first stab bing in which Wayne D. Early, a black inmate, was injured Monday night seemed to have been a personal fight between him and a Chicano youth who is being held in connection with the attack.

Park said that the Chicano, a newcomer to San Quentin, is reportedly a member of a small clique of Chicano Nazis. "We haven't had them here before, they've been reported in other prisons, Park explained.

After the Early stabbing, Park said that small groups of both blacks and whites decided to take matters into their own hands and a revenge-retaliation pattern set in.

He said that this "guerilla warfare we're seeing" is different from the old-fashioned racial warfare in prisons, where black and white men would line up against each other while in the prison yard and a fight would break out.

"An inmate told me this

Silver Star For Heroic Viet Action

The 27-year-old son of a Marin City women has been awarded a Silver Star for heroism while on duty in Vietnam. The award is the third highest decoration the United States bestows for heroic action.

S/Sgt. August Brooks, son of Mrs. Mary Brooks of 131 Drake Avenue, was presented with the medal for gallantry while an assistant team leader on a rescue mission in enemy controlled territory.

The certificate states that during a helicopter rescue Sergeant Brooks braved enemy fire to rescue three wounded survivors of an enemy ambush and also assisted in repelling the Viet Cong attackers.

Brooks carried wounded personnel aboard the air ambulance throughout the night while under constant hostile fire, the certificate added.

The sergeant, a member of the Army special forces, received a shrapnel wound in an arm during the action Aug. 14-15, 1970.

He is now serving his third tour of duty in Vietnam and is scheduled to return to the United States in June.

Reagan's Pollution War: Oil Industry Has Doubts

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov Ronald Reagan has moved to require smog control devices on older cars and regulation of lead in gasoline in an effort to cleanse California's air.

"California has become a model to the federal government and for other states but much more needs to be done," the governor said Thursday in a special message to the legislature, his second in two weeks.

"Air pollution controls must become an accepted part of modern life if we are to assure clean air and clear skies in California."

An oil industry spokesman meanwhile told an Assembly committee that noxious gas-catching devices should be used on cars rather than outlawing lead in gasoline, one of the proposals made by Reagan.

Reagan proposed legislation to:

—Require 1966-70 model automobiles to be equipped with devices to control oxides of nitrogen, the brownish orange element that dirties the sky. Now, devices on these cars filter only hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide.

—Clamp "realistic" emission standards and pollution control devices on 1955-65 cars, "the last major unregulated source of vehicle air pollution."

—Require automobile manufacturers to guarantee that their pollution control systems will meet California's standards for at least 50,000 miles.

—Regulate the lead content in gasoline.

—Require local air pollution control districts to determine smog sources and regulate them. The districts could prohibit construction of projects that threatened to produce smog.

—Speed up the work of basinwide coordinating councils to meet a Jan. 25, 1972, deadline for submission of a statewide plan to meet federal antismog standards.

Reagan said his new program was intended to "plan for the next decade while struggling to meet today's air pollution problems."

In his written message, Reagan said the proposals are needed to continue "the fight against the two major causes of smog—the internal combustion engine and industrial pollutants."

Reagan noted present law requires 1971 and future model vehicles to control oxides of nitrogen. But half California's automobiles are 1966-70 models.

Ironically, the governor said, devices designed to reduce carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons in these late model cars have increased nitrogen oxide discharges.

Reagan said a device is available for "about $15 or less" which would reduce nitrogen oxides by 25 to 30 per cent. His legislation would require such a device on 1966-70 cars upon change of registration or—after the act had been in effect for a year—at any earlier date specified by the Air Resources Board.

"We still feel that you should legislate what comes out of the tailpipe and not what goes into the gas tank," H. O. Stevenson, vice president for manufacturing at the Beacon Oil Co., told the Assembly Transportation Committee.

Oil firm officials testified against a bill by Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina. The measure drastically reduces the amount of lead permitted in gasoline. By 1977 it would limit the amount to one-half gram per gallon.

Schabarum told the committee that vehicles emit 50 million tons of lead into the atmosphere every year.

John Maga, executive officer of the state Air Resources Board, said proposed "thermal reactors" with lead traps stop large particles of lead from entering the air but do not curb the small bits considered the most dangerous to health. The large particles, he added, generally fall to the ground anyway.

A "thermal reactor" is a device attached to an engine to trap gases.

Stevenson said, "Leave lead in gasoline and require that a proven thermal reactor system, complete with gas recirculation and lead traps be installed on new cars.

"We recommend this rather than taking lead out—an irreversible step—and hoping that someday catalytic mufflers will be available."

Turkish Premier Bows To Military

ANKARA (UPI) —Turkish Premier Suleyman Demirel resigned today in the face of an ultimatum to quit or face a military takeover. Military leaders had demanded the move to save Turkey from what they said was the threat of civil strife.

News of the resignation came in a government announcement shortly after the army had sent in troops in a show of strength.

Turkey has been rocked in recent months by the terrorist tactics of left-wing radicals pressing for the withdrawal of U.S. forces from the country and attacking government policies. Similar student disorders brought an army coup in 1960.

The ultimatum to Demirel came in a joint memorandum signed by Gen. Memduh Tagmac, chief of the General Staff, and the commanders of the army, navy and air force. It was sent to President Cevdet Sunay and the chairmen of both houses of the Turkish parliament.

President Cevdet Sunay accepted the resignations of Demirel and his cabinet, but commissioned them to remain in office until a new government can be formed, a presidential palace announcement said.

U.S. embassy officials said no extraordinary security measures had been taken for American military personnel in Turkey. No Americans had been involved in the day's events, they said.

Troops took up positions in front of the state radio and television buildings. Witnesses said they first surrounded the parliament building and then were withdrawn. Parliament began its regularly scheduled session with a reading of the ultimatum as the deputies sat silent and stony-faced.

Demirel called an emergency meeting of his cabinet at his office. Witnesses said all appeared nervous as they arrived.

Rivers Tried To Stop Inquiry On PX Corruption: Ribicoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said today the late L. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina tried to stop the Senate investigation into corruption in military service clubs and post exchanges involving former Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole.

Ribicoff's statement came during testimony to the Senate investigating subcommittee when Cole said he once called Rivers to ask him to arrange a telephone conversation with Ribicoff about the investigation.

When Cole said Ribicoff's staff did not comply, Ribicoff said sharply:

"Mendel Rivers did intervene with the acting chairman of this committee on your behalf to try to stop this investigation. And Mendel Rivers did not succeed."

Ribicoff later told reporters Rivers called him twice in the fall of 1969 to intercede on behalf of Cole.

"He said what a good guy Cole was and that he saw nothing wrong that Cole had done ... I felt he and Cole were good friends," Ribicoff said.

Ribicoff said he was "rather surprised" when Rivers called the first time, and said he told Rivers the subcommittee would go ahead with the investigation.

"He (Rivers) indicated Cole was an old friend of his, that he had known him for many years," Ribicoff said. "He said as far as he was concerned he would vouch for him."

Cole was in Germany at the time he called Rivers.

Cole was called to testify today concerning a list of 43 separate charges of alleged corruption on his part connected with service clubs and PX's in Germany and Southeast Asia.

More than two dozen civilian and military witnesses have testified that Cole was involved in corrupt practices at the clubs.

After reading off a list of 26 men who have testified or attested to Cole's actions, Ribicoff demanded: "Do you contend all 26 of these men lied?"

"I do not, sir," Cole said. "They stated what they recollected."

"Are you saying all 26 were in conspiracy to destroy you?" demanded Ribicoff.

"I don't think so," Cole responded.

"I am puzzled how each one of these 26 men could involve you and all of them be wrong," Ribicoff said. "This committee is willing to give you whatever opportunity you want to clear up any statement made against you."

As the hearing resumed, Ribicoff questioned Cole closely about a cigarette box which he said Cole arranged to be presented to Gen. William Westmoreland as a going away present when he left Vietnam as military commander.

Excavator Dies

CAIRO (UPI)—Prof. Walter B. Emery, one of the world's foremost Egyptologists, died Thursday night in the Anglo-American Hospital. He was 67.

Emery had been searching for eight years for the long-lost tomb of Imhotep, a designer of the ancient step pyramids 5,000 years ago. He suffered a stroke Sunday at the excavation site of Sakkara, near Cairo, that paralyzed his left side.

He was taken to the hospital, where another stroke Wednesday night put him in a coma. Doctors said he died without regaining consciousness.

Emery, an Edwards professor of Egyptology at the University of London since 1951 and field director of the Egypt Exploration Society since 1952, began the project at Sakkara in 1963.

LBJ On Report

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—President Johnson ignored the warnings and recommendations of the Kerner commission on civil disorders because, its chairman said, he feared Congress would turn its back on civil rights measures.

Judge Otto Kerner, a former governor of Illinois, headed the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders which investigated the events and causes of the racial upheavals that tortured the country in 1967. Its major conclusion was that white racism was tearing the nation into opposing black and white factions.

Speaking at a Brown University symposium on advisory commissions, Kerner said Thursday he did not feel offended because Johnson gave little backing to his report.

Kerner said Johnson told him, "I favor the report and I favor the recommendations but the atmosphere in Congress is such that if I press I won't be able to get what I already asked for."

Kerner said he believed Johnson. "You can't press too hard," he added.

Rare Unity

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—About 7,000 Protestant and Roman Catholic shipyard workers marched together in rare unity today to demand tough government action against extremist gunmen.

In London, Britain alerted 3,000 troops for movement to Northern Ireland if called in to quell continuing street clashes.

The demonstrators staged an orderly march through the center of Belfast carrying a petition denouncing the execution by terrorists of three British soldiers.

Canal Impasse

By United Press International

The semioffocial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today Egypt will face one of the toughest battles in the history of warfare if it ever tries to cross the Suez Canal to attack the Israel-held Sinai peninsula.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, editor of the newspaper, said what made such an invasion formidable was the water barrier and the natural terrain on the canal's eastern bank, added to what he said was the mammoth arsenal of weapons Israel has amassed in the Sinai.

"The Egyptian armed forces are facing one of history's most difficult battles...in its advance, the Egyptian army would face what no army has ever confronted before," Heikal said.

Trade Plan Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's rejection of a Japanese offer to restrict textile imports may have touched off an all-out free trade battle in Congress and — perhaps more significantly — dropped a new roadblock in front of Nixon's domestic legislative program.

Nixon Thursday turned down a Japanese offer to restrict the growth of that country's noncotton textile exports to the United States during the next three years. The President said the offer was unacceptable because it would have used current export levels as a base, and those exports were at a record level in January.

One factor in Nixon's decision was an admitted irritation that the Japanese had by-passed the long-stalled negotiations between the two governments and reached their decision with the help of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nixon said he now would submit legislation to roll back the Japanese import of noncotton textiles to their 1965 level. His move drew praise from the American textile industry which claims it is losing business and jobs in a flood of cheaper Japanese imports.

Court In Recess

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The Calley murder court-martial jury began a three-day recess today under a schedule that indicated they would start deliberation on the third anniversary of My Lai.

Testimony ended Thursday, the 46th court day since the start of the jury-picking that resulted in the seating of a colonel who is a veteran of World War II and Korea, and four majors and a captain who have had combat experience in Vietnam.

The judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, delivers his charge—it is called "instructions" in military court—to the jury after the summations. If the oratory is not too prolonged, the officers who will decide the fate of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. should get the case sometime Tuesday.

That is the third anniversary of the March 16, 1968 search and destroy mission of American infantry into the Vietnamese hamlet that Army intelligence said harbored the 48th Viet Cong battalion.

State Sues Firm On Land Sales Of 'Arid Desert'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Attorney General Evelle J. Younger Thursday halted sales in a land investment scheme which he said has cost California property buyers an estimated $1 million in the past eight to nine months.

The attorney general obtained a temporary restraining order from Contra Costa County Superior Court Judge Thomas F. McBride against O. P. M. Incorporated, a land company operated out of Walnut Creek.

Hearing on the injunction was scheduled for March 24. The complaint, prepared by Deputy Attorney General David E. Bunim, charged the corporation with misrepresentation in selling lots in purported subdivisions in Kern and San Bernardino counties. The complaint said the land was dry, arid desert.

The complaint asked civil damages for each false and leading misrepresentation, fines for each violation of the Subdivided Lands Law and exemplary damages of $200,000.

Mining Revival In North Alaska

NOME, Alaska (UPI)—Gold mining that was the backbone of the economy in this far northern town at the turn of the century is being revived.

The SS Nenana on its last voyage of 1970 brought a large drilling rig which will be used in a joint program of two Houston, Tex. firms to seek gold beneath the sands of the shallow Bering Sea.

HIT BY DEADLY SNIPER FIRE

An ROTC cadet and two policemen, including the head of the San Juan riot squad, were killed by sniper fire and 62 persons were injured, most by bullets, yesterday during a riot at the University of Puerto Rico between pro- and anti-American elements. In this picture a policeman has just been shot and his comrades crouch low amid sniper fire while a student looks on. Fifty students were arrested on charges of assault with intent to kill, malicious damage and illegal possession of explosives. Riots are common on the campus but this was the first incidence of sniper fire.

Search For Missimg Man's Body Turns Him Up In Jail, Alive

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—A Vietnam War veteran who spent 10 days in jail on a traffic ticket while firemen emptied a lake looking for his body says he feels like a character in a Kafka novel.

Stephen Kappel, 22, was "found" Thursday when his jailers read that a lake in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park had been drained in a search for his body.

"I feel lousy," Kappel said after a newspaper paid $39 bail for his charge of driving with a broken tail light. "I'm astonished that, over something so trivial, I was in jail so long.

"I've read Franz Kafka's 'The Trial,' he added. "It certainly has some analagous points—man's inability to cope with that vast system out there."

In Kappel's case, it was the police bureaucracy which got snarled in its own red tape.

The veteran, an outpatient from an Army hospital who had been working in an insurance office, was arrested in the Golden Gate Park Feb. 28 when police cited him for parking on the grass and found, during a routine check, that he had outstanding traffic warrants in the city and in suburban San Mateo County.

He appeared in San Francisco Municipal Court March 1, was fined $55 and given two weeks to pay the fine. Then he was turned over to deputies from San Mateo County, where he had failed to appear for a hearing on the taillight charge.

Kappel was jailed at Redwood City in lieu of $39 bail—although his wallet with $45 in it was in the property clerk's office at the San Francisco city prison. He was unable to get anyone to get it for him.

His employer, meanwhile, notified a former Army friend tha Kappel had disappeared. The friend, retired Col. Fred C. Reisz of San Antonio, Tex., informed San Francisco's missing persons bureau.

By this time, his San Francisco arrest record had been lost, so police didn't know they had arrested and jailed him.

Officers eventually found his car—which had been left in the park when he was arrested so Kappel wouldn't have to pay towing fees—and sent 100 officers on a hunt in the western reaches of Golden Gate Park. Firemen spent a full day—and $2,500—draining a five-foot deep lake about half the size of a city block.

2,000 Reds Said Killed In Laos

SAIGON (UPI) — Military spokesmen said today elements of six North Vietnamese regiments have moved in around the Laotian Ho Chi Minh Trail junction of Sepone but have made no major moves against the South Vietnamese forces who control it.

Military sources at the same time reported American air strikes have killed more than 2,200 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong since the South Vietnamese drive into Laos began Feb. 8.

South Vietnamese official said the North Vietnamese were as close as 12 miles to Sepone, situated 27 miles inside Laos on Highway 9. A North Vietnamese regiment totals 2,900 men but the spokesmen did not say the Communist units were at full-strength.

South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division units early today halted a Communist attack on a government outpost 13 miles southeast of Sepone and killed 12 of the attackers at a cost of one dead and three wounded.

The U.S. Command today reported the loss of six more American helicopters in support of the Laotian operation and to the south, North Vietnamese forces increased attacks against Laotian troops in the strategic Bolovens Plateau.

A.F. Jet Will Bring Young Back

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—Civil rights leader Whitney M. Young Jr., dead of an apparent heart attack at 49, will be returned to the United States in an Air Force plane dispatched by President Nixon.

The plane was leaving from Andrews AFB near Washington today and was to be commanded by Brig. Gen. Daniel James Jr., the highest-ranking Negro in the Air Force. James is deputy assistant secretary of Defense for public affairs.

Young was stricken Thursday while swimming with former Attorney General Ramsey Clark at Lighthouse Beach near Lagos. He was pronounced dead by a physician who was immediately summoned. He and Clark were in Nigeria for a meeting with African leaders sponsored by the African-American Association.

Young, a native of Lincoln Ridge, Ky., sought in nearly 10 years as director of the National Urban League to improve the lot of the Negro through job training and self-help.

Though he scorned militant rhetoric, he objected to being categorized as a moderate. "In the civil rights movement, everyone is radical," he said.

"As poor as our system is, until they (black militants) provide me with an alternative, I'm convinced that we can follow no other without committing suicide."

Educational Goals Will Be Presented

The Novato Unified School District's educational goals committee is scheduled to present an interim report containing 13 educational goals at a meeting of district trustees at 8 p.m. Monday at Novato High School lecture hall.

The committee which has been working for six months is scheduled to present its final report including objectives and recommended programs by May 17.

In its interim report the committee stated its philosophy as follows: "We believe that our schools exist to bring about the optimum development of the individual thereby enabling him to attain his full potential to function effectively within his environment and society."

The listed educational goals were that all students shall have the opportunity to:

Develop self-worth and emotional stability.

Develop a sense of becoming an effective and humane person, with an appreciation and respect for the worth and dignity of all individuals.

Develop an ability to remain physically fit and mentally alert.

Acquire the learning skills which will enable him to develop his own unique capabilities.

Develop an appreciation for the arts and our cultural heritage.

Develop intellectual curiosity and eagerness for life-long learning.

Develop an ability to participate in the economic system, on an intelligent and productive basis which is meaningful to the individual.

Develop an understanding and appreciation of man's cultural diversity.

Develop a comprehensive knowledge of family relationships, economics and personal responsibilities.

Develop an understanding of the influence and responsibility of science and technology on human life and environment.

Develop an understanding of our democratic values and institutions and the rights and responsibilities of a citizen in our democratic society.

Develop skills in reading, writing, arithmetic and communication to his optimum ability.

Develop an understanding of the need for discipline, especially self-discipline.

Youth Booked In Bolinas Case

A 17-year-old youth has been booked into March Juvenile Hall on suspecion of burglarizing Bolinas School Feb. 18.

William Sachse, of no known address, also was booked Sunday on suspicion of possessing stolen property, the Marin County Sheriff's Office reported yesterday.

Deputies said Sachse was arrested when he went to the sheriff's substation at Point Reyes Station to claim a tape recorder stolen from the school which deputies had found on Mann Road in Bolinas.

Two Groups Unite Over Communes

The Mill Valley Human Rights board will join the city youth commission in circulating petitions to force a referendum on a recently adopted anticommune ordinance.

Board member Roger J. Fleischmann said the board narrowly approved the action, 3-2, at a meeting Wednesday.

Fleischmann said he volunteered as a private citizen to help the youth commission draw up the petition and hoped to have it printed by today. Youth commissioners Miriam H. Swett and Sally Mays will circulate the document.

The petition may only be circulated by registered voters in Mill Valley and completed forms with at least 592 valid signatures must be filed with the county elections office.

The city council adopted the ordinance on a 4-1 vote on March 1, over the objections of both the youth and planning commissions. Councilman Robert H. Andresen, who introduced the measure, said it was to reduce density in single-family zones.

morning that only about 2 per cent of the prisoners are involved," Park said.

He said the reason that most of the trouble was in the east and south blocks was that men in the other two blocks have been assigned there "because they've shown some degree of responsibility."

Inmates in the north and west blocks were back on regular schedule today, but the east and south were still locked up.

Park predicted that the violence would lessen as the two groups "at least reached a truce."

The outburst at the prison was the worst since a similar racial violence in the spring of 1969, when two men were killed and several others stabbed.

"Racial tensions are the same in prison as anywhere — just more intense," Park said. "We have the only fully integrated community in the state," he said, "plus a lot of men who have been involved in violence on the outside. Then they have to live together 24 hour a day."

Girl's Home Is Burgled; She's Held

Four Petaluma teen-agers were arrested yesterday on suspicion of burgling one of their own homes.

Muriel V. Cranor told police a rear window had been kicked in at her home at 16 Sixth Street and $291 in silver and small appliances taken.

Police said her daughter, Tracey, 13, and three other friends had broken into the home and had planned to drive to Los Angeles. Also arrested were James Madison Cobb, 18, of 405 Coronado Drive; Dennis Waterman, 19, of 36 Greylawn Avenue; and Margaret J. Hill, 19, of 1 Oak Hill Park.

Officers said the stolen items were found stuffed in a pillow case in a car at the backyard of 404 Coronado Drive.

Miss Cranor, who had escaped from Sonoma County Juvenile Hall, was returned there, while Cobb and Waterman were booked into the city jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court. Miss Hill was released on her own recognizance to appear in court Monday.

Park-Rec Fee Eyed By Panel

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night completed consideration of a proposed ordinance to charge new dwellings a fee for parks and recreation use.

The proposal, to be sent to the city council after review by the city attorney, would charge each new dwelling $30 for each bedroom.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

HORSES — Decided to post signs at Sun Valley Park pointing out that horses are not allowed in the park.

JOINT USE — Decided to meet again with representatives of Wilkins Post 37 of the American Legion to develop a plan for building a joint-use recreation center to be financed by the legion on city land.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Voted to ask the county to provide half the $30,780 budget of the Senior Citizen program.

GOLDENAIRES — Decided to invite the executive board of the Goldenaires Senior Citizen's Club to the April 8 meeting to discuss revision of the group's by-laws.

Bound Over On Robbery

Shirley McDonald, 21, of Marin City, was bound over yesterday to Marin Superior Court on a charge of armed robbery.

A charge of grand theft and an additional robbery charge were dismissed by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court because the alleged victim refused to testify against Mrs. McDonald.

She is to be arrainged in superior court Wednesday.

She is accused, along with Barbara Rita Hall, of robbing a man near Marin City.

Mrs. Hall has pleaded innocent to the charge and a superior court trial is set April 26 for her.

Firm, Auto Hit By Burglars

A Corte Madera engineering firm and a car parked nearby were burglarized last night or early today, police reported.

Officers said the firm of Maggiora and Ghilotti at 1912 Redwood Highway was entered sometime between 10:45 p.m. yesterday and 12:58 a.m. today.

Desks and cabinets were rifled by the burglar who entered by breaking a side door window. No loss has been established police said.

At about the same time, an auto owned by John Stephen Reed of 37 Dorset Lane, Mill Valley, was entered and its glove compartment ransacked. The vehicle was parked at the Maggiora and Ghilotti office. No loss has been determined.

FBI Arrests Marin Draft Fugitive

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Rafael man has been charged with evading the draft in Florida and his friend with harboring a fugitive.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested Wayne Edward Gardner, of 239 D Street, San Rafael, and Rodney Alan Woods, both 21, at the latter's home at 18 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, Wednesday.

Gardner was arrested on an indictment filed in March 1970 in Jacksonville, Fla. Woods was accused of harboring a known fugitive.

Both men appeared before U.S. Magistrate Richard S. Goldsmith in San Francisco yesterday. Woods was released after posting a nominal bail, Goldsmith said. He is to appear in U.S. District Court March 26.

Gardner was held to appear in court again Monday.

Planners Veto Neighbors' Gripe

The Cotati Planning Commission last night approved the relocation of two homes despite objections from prospective neighbors.

The commission approved plans of Bernard and Evelyn Santero to move two single family homes to 415 and 419 School Street.

Neighbors complained that the homes would not be the same quality as other homes in the area and would lower property values.

The commission also approved the request of Joseph Dorfman to rezone property on the northeast corner of Clifford and School streets to permit a duplex.

Broken Ribs In One-Car Crash

A 60-year-old Mill Valley woman was listed in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital for injuries sustained yesterday in a Corte Madera auto accident.

The hospital said Florence Glessner of 432 Live Oak Drive sustained broken ribs and left wrist in the 6 p.m. accident.

Corte Madera police said the woman was traveling west on San Clemente Drive when her vehicle struck a guard rail.

2 San Rafael Cars Hit By Vandals

Brick-throwing vandals smashed windows in two cars early today, San Rafael police reported.

Police found broken windows in the cars of Loretta T. Wade of San Francisco and Glenn Bow-Eng of 907 B Street, San Rafael. The autos parked on Ross Street were vandalized between 12:10 a.m. and 12:20 a.m., police said.

'Ban Polluters To Outer Space'

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A University professor has a solution for environment problems—load the world's "destroyers and polluters" onto rockets and fire them into space.

Dr. Ian L. McHarg, a landscape architecture professor at the University of Pennsylvania, presented his plan Thursday at the 36th annual North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference.

He said the polluters, including chemical corporation executives and merchants of war, should be collected, loaded onto Saturn rockets and, with thousands of school children waving American flags, blasted into space.

Round Two On Novato Plan

The Novato City Council will have its second hearing on the proposed downtown plan at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

The plan in general was discussed at the first hearing and it's expected that the council will review proposals for various sub-areas within the plan at Tuesday's meeting.

Councilmen also will take up more than 20 items left undone at their marathon session Tuesday which ended at 2:15 a.m.

Among these are the proposal by Councilman George C. Quesada for an invocation before council meetings, and adoption of an ordinance giving City Mgr. Charles A. Brown broader hiring and firing powers.

Novatan Fined As Crash Result

William Talmage Johnson, 56, of Novato, was ordered to pay a $240 fine or serve four days in jail by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Johnson pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of drunken driving stemming from a head-on collision on Highway 101 near Ignacio Monday.

He was booked following the accident on suspicion of felony drunken driving, but only the misdemeanor charge was filed by the district attorney's office.

Hashish Case Is Dismissed

A charge of possessing hashish against Charles Abner Fox, 20, of San Francisco, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith dismissed the case when the district attorney's office reported that the suspected drug had not been analyzed.

Fox was arrested Nov. 22 when Sausalito police stopped him to question him because he was hitchhiking from a roadway and found suspected hashish and a pipe in his possession.

Bound Over In Drug Case

Charles Bobby Beyes, 24, of Gretena, La., was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possesing marijuana and dangerous drugs.

He is to appear in Superior Court March 22.

A bench warrant is still out for Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address, who failed to appear for a preliminary hearing in municipal court last month.

Innocent Plea To Pot Charge

Scot H. Armour, 21, of 41 Lincoln Avenue, Stinson Beach, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana. Preliminary hearing was set for March 30.

Armour was arrested Monday by Larkspur police for outstanding traffic warrants. A search of his pockets produced two cigarettes of suspected pot, officers said.

New Isolationism Attacked By Nixon

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — President Nixon told a class of Navy ensigns, including his son-in-law, David Eisenhower, today there are "new isolationists" in the United States who "have refused to learn the hard lessons in the history of tyranny."

He said in his speech to the graduating class that the same refusal has been responsible for Americans having to fight in four wars in this century.

"And they would tell us—as predecessors in other times have told us—that the appetite for aggression can be satisfied if only we are patient and the ambitions of the aggressor are justified if only we understand them properly," Nixon declared.

"I am never surprised to see these positions held but I am always astonished to hear them held in the name of morality."

"We seek to do the work of righteousness," he said in remarks prepared for delivery to the Navy Officer Candidate class in which Eisenhower and 224 other young men have participated for the last 18 weeks.

"You serve the forces of peace in the world," Nixon said. "There are those in America who question this. But the record is clear. Our power has always been used for building the peace, never for breaking it — for defending freedom, and never for destroying it."

Mrs. Nixon and the Nixon's daughter, Tricia, accompanied the President to Newport where he began his own World War II naval service 29 years ago.

David's wife, Julie, arrived Thursday to be with her husband prior to his graduation.

The Eisenhowers were scheduled to accompany Nixon to the Florida White House at Key Biscayne for the weekend.

They will be in Washington Tuesday for the announcement of Tricia's engagement to Edward Finch Cox.

The President said he was familiar with the arguments of the "new isolationists."

"Though we cut defense spending, we cannot cut it enough. Though we greatly increase domestic spending in proportion to defense spending, we can never increase it enough. I understand these arguments. I understand the sentiments behind them. But I understand the cost of weakness, too," he said.

He said that the United States was respected among the nations of the free world not because of its wealth or power, but "because we can be trusted."

The cost of peace comes high, he said. "There can be no advantage with concealing hard facts in soft words. We know when force is rewarded, the cost of peace and the only alternative to war will be tyranny."

The President paid special tribute to a group of Vietnamese Navy men participating in the school. "We are not the only nation who desires an end to war," he said.

Nixon remarked that his son-in-law's grandfather, the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, "first tried to go to Annapolis before finally ending up at West Point."

Nurse Injured In Collision

A 23-year-old Ross General Hospital nurse received minor injuries yesterday in a three-car accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard just east of Toussin Avenue in Kentfield.

Judith A. Hering, of 140 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere, complained of pain in her left arm and back and was to see her own doctor.

The California Highway Patrol said she was injured when her car, stopped in heavy traffic on eastbound Sir Francis Drake at 3:15 p.m. and was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by Lawrence H. Platek, 27, of 1512 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

The Hering car in turn was pushed into a vehicle operated by James R. Keenan, 23, of 20 Ross Street, San Rafael, officers said.

Pot Charge Is Dismissed

A charge of possessing marijuana against James Michael Hush, 20, of Santa Cruz County, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge David Menary Jr. dismissed the case when the district attorney's office reported it was not prepared to proceed with prosecution.

Hush was arrested Jan. 15 by Mill Valley police who said they found suspected pot in his car when he was stopped for driving erratically near Tamalpais High School.

LSD Suspect Is Arrested

A 16-year-old San Anselmo youth was arrested yesterday at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo on suspicion of possessing LSD, police said today.

Officers said David Fredrick Johnston of 329 Greenfield Avenue, was first taken into custody at noon at the school's parking lot for loitering.

A search by officers turned up two tablets of suspected LSD in Johnston's wallet.

He was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall.

$35 Fine On Pot Charge

James Hugh Haughton, 19, of Palos Verdes, was fined $35 yesterday in Marin Municipal Court after pleading guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana.

Judge Peter Allan Smith also placed Haughton on probation for one year for his conviction on the charge, which was reduced from a felony count.

Mark William Daigle, 18, also of Palos Verdes, who was arrested with Haughton Sunday on Highway 101, is to plead to the marijuana charge March 22.

Guard Unit To Do Park Work

Men of a San Rafael National Guard unit will combine their training with public service starting tomorrow and continuing for weekends in April and May.

Personnel of Co. D, 579th Engineer Battalion, will do restoration work in the Palomarin area of Point Reyes National Seashore, said Lt. Richard A. Johnston, commander of the battalion.

L. Sansing, superintendent of the seashore, the battalion will use its equipment to remove concrete slabs and foundations, old fencing and many old cars from the area. Besides cleanup work, the unit also will do soil erosion work and planting, according to Johnston.

OBITUARIES

Edward F. Davis Dies At 63

Mass of the Resurrection for Edward F. Davis of San Rafael will be celebrated in St. Raphael's Catholic Church at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Davis died Wednesday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 63. A native of California, he had lived in San Rafael more than 30 years, last making his home at 337 Bayview Street. He was retired.

He is survived only by seven cousins, living in Marin County and in San Jose.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

MRS. DeCONTER

Josephine DeConter, 83, of Petaluma, died yesterday in Yuba City, where she had been visiting a daughter, Marie Coy.

Mrs. DeConter had spent most of her life in Petaluma and Penngrove and was the wife of the late Nicholas DeConter. She had been visiting in Yuba City for a month.

She is also survived by six sons, Joseph of Penngrove, Paul of San Francisco, William of Sebastopol, Nicholas of Las Vegas, Nev., John of Anchorage, Alaska and Peter of Glenside, Pa.; another daughter, Marguerite Grossman of San Francisco; a brother, John Watgen of Chicago; 12 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Monday at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Petaluma, followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. Sunday at Sorensen Funeral Home.

SAMUEL JANKO

Private funeral for Samuel N. Janko, owner of Janko Upholstery in San Anselmo, has been held in San Francisco. Janko, 74, died Tuesday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was born in New York City and had been a California resident 10 years. He had owned the upholstery firm four years.

Janko, who lived with his wife, Rose, at 175 Upper Via Casitas, Greenbrae, was a director of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Kiwanis Club in Bell Gardens, Los Angeles County, where he also served as a business commissioner.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Ted, of Mill Valley, and Mort, of San Francisco.

The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

LEE THORNTON

Private funeral for Lee Lorraine Thornton, 47, of 401 First Street, San Rafael, will be held in Chicago.

She collapsed at her home Wednesday and was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital. Death apparently was due to natural causes, according to deputy coroner Bill J. Thomas.

Mrs. Thornton was born in Chicago and had lived in Marin four years. She was a registered nurse with the Air Force.

She is survived by a son, Thaddius, and a brother, James Fanlon of Chicagol.

Burial will be in Chicago.

Jail Time In Pot Case

James Edward Bartee, 24, a former Rancho Olompali resident, was sentenced to 30 days in Marin County Jail yesterday for possession of marijuana.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court gave Bartee credit for 11 days already spent in jail.

Bartee was found guilty by a jury in January of having pot when he was arrested Jan. 14, 1969, at the former hippie colony.

Ross Follows Hub's Police Service Plan

Ross became the second Marin community last night to halt at least partial police service to the unincorporated area of the county.

The town council, in a unanimous vote, said its policemen would no longer respond to nonemergency calls for assistance from the sheriff's office.

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones, who sparked the action, noted the town's small force assisted the sheriff's office in areas as far away as Santa Venetia 24 times last year, each time leaving the town unprotected because only one officer is on patrol each shift.

He insisted town residents should get the service they pay for and that officers should not be loaned "on a gratis basis to other jurisdictions."

The action followed by two nights a decision by the San Anselmo City Council to halt "first call" service to Sleepy Hollow, its adjoining unincorporated neighbor. Under that system, San Anselmo officers responded to Sleepy Hollow calls as a matter of courtesy if a sheriff's unit wasn't available.

The Fairfax City Council also weighed similar action, but reneged on the advice of public safety officials.

The Ross and San Anselmo moves come in the wake of rejection by the Marin County Board of Supervisors of a proposed police services district for the unincorporated area that would enable areas to obtain beefed-up protection at an added levy.

Cities have complained they pay twice for police protection — once to maintain their own forces and again to the county for sheriff's patrol service. However, they object, the sheriff's office provides them with meager or no service.

When a sheriff's unit passes through Ross, Jones complained last night, the officer "doesn't even wave."

"The only time they stop," he said, "is when they need directions so they can serve a warrant on a parking ticket or if there's a deadbeat who hasn't paid his bill."

The council emphasized its action, endorsed by Police Chief John Harris, does not rule out responding to emergency calls nor does it eliminate police service to San Anselmo, if called for.

The Ross Town Council Also:

GARBAGE — Ratified an increase in garbage pickup rates asked by Marin Sanitary Service. Basic per-can charges for a level lot each month will go from $2 to $2.25 on May 1, to $2.35 in February 1972 and to $2.45 in February 1973. For hilly lots, the rate will go to $2.95, then to $3.05 and $3.15. In return, the town won free pickup four times a month from town debris boxes. The company said the increases, first in three years, were needed to meet newly won employee wage boosts.

HITCHHIKING — Endorsed AB 203, by Assemblyman W. Don MacGillivray, R-Santa Barbara, that would reinforce town-imposed controls on hitchhiking.

DISASTER — Introduced an ordinance updating the town's disaster control measures to encompass earthquakes.

POLICE — Adopted an ordinance substituting the position of police sergeant for assistant chief of police.

EXPLOSIVES — Introduced an ordinance requiring the police and fire chiefs to give permission for the use of explosives in town.

Missing GI's Wives, Children To Get Benefits

Education and home loan benefits are now available to wives and children of servicemen missing in action, held prisoner of war or interned by a foreign government.

James V. Burdick, director of Marin County Veterans Services, urged that dependents who fall in these categories telephone his office in Room 424 of the Civic Center Administration Building in San Rafael.

Under a new federal law, the Veterans Administration will extend the education and home loan benefits to POWs, internees and those missing in action who previously were not eligible.

Marin's Chess Club Changes Location

The new meeting time and place of the Marin Chess Club is 8 p.m. each Tuesday at the Tamalpais Valley Methodist Church at Ash Street and Marin Avenue, said secretary L. A. Post.

The club has been meeting at 8 p.m. Thursdays at the London Arms at 85 Red Hill Road, San Anselmo.

Citizens' Patrol Urged For Beach

Muir Beach residents may organize a small group of volunteer fire wardens to control open fires at private Bello Beach, just north of Muir Beach State Park.

Ernest E. Emig, a resident of Bello Beach, complained to the county fire chief last week about illegal fires built on the beach.

Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom recommended yesterday that Muir Beach residents form a volunteer organization, whose main job would be to caution people about the danger of fires and advising them of the county ban against open fires. Chief Bloom said he would issue identification cards to the volunteer fire wardens.

If the volunteers' warnings are not heeded, regular firemen or sheriff's deputies could be called in to arrest the violators, said Chief Bloom.

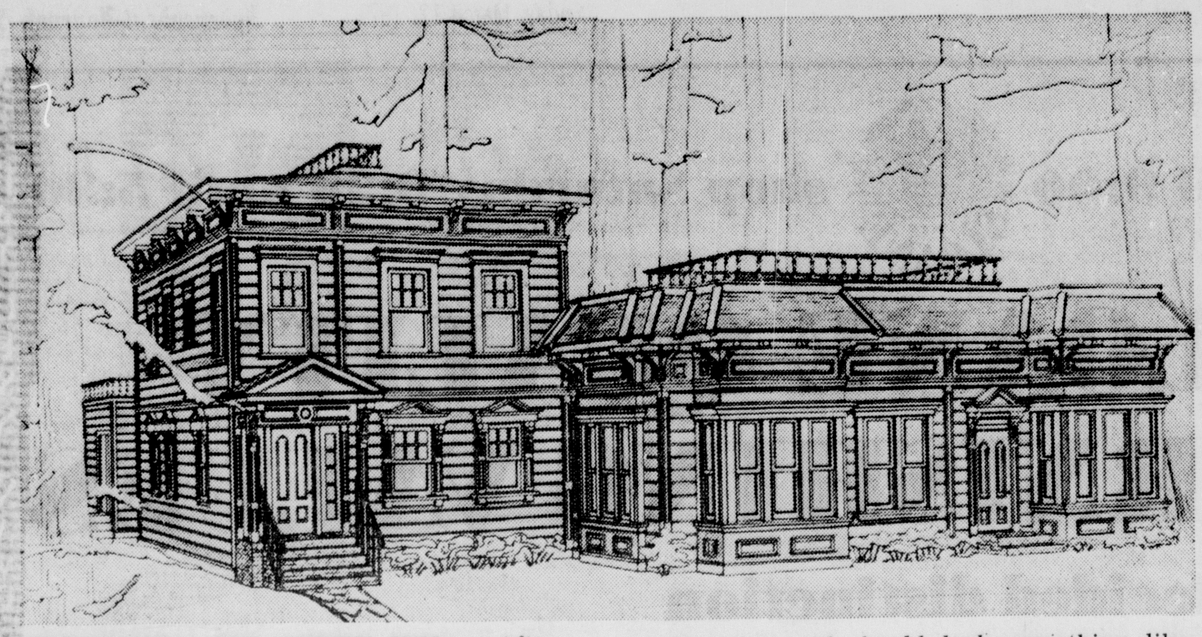
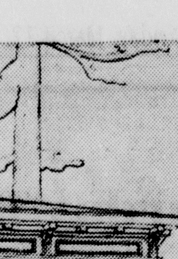
Marin Dining And Wining



PROPOSED LARK CREEK INN — After remodeling, the historic Hil Probert home in Larkspur, acquired last November by Sommer-Ryan Enterprises, will be turned into a restaurant and should look something like this. Situated in a grove of Redwoods, it is planned to retain its Victorian architecture.

DINING OUT AND INNS



By HARRY CRAFT

Austrian Couple Scoring A Hit At The Old Vienna Restaurant

Generally the Viennese seem to have a lighter touch to their cooking than the Germans, even though the same dishes may be involved.

A splendid example of this can be found at the Old Vienna Restaurant which was opened last December at 508 Third Street, San Rafael by Karl and Edith Klauda.

Because of its comparative newness, this little restaurant is still in the "sleeper" stage. And while it is picking up customers rapidly (particularly at lunchtime) dinner customers are not yet standing in line waiting for a table.

To my mind it is only a question of time before this happens, because the food is definitely of superior quality and preparation. In fact, it's genuinely mouth-watering. I have talked to others who have eaten here and they, too, have been impressed.

Karl and Edith, both from Vienna, work together — he in the kitchen and she at the tables. He was well trained in his profession as a chef in Austria, and before opening in San Rafael he was at the Coq d'Or in San Francisco. Looking at him you're inclined mentally to remove his chef's hat and white apron and substitute the cap and uniform of a dashing young officer in a Viennese light opera.

Complete dinners are $3.50 and there are a number of a la carte selections. There is a wine and beer license and Karl appears to be as proficient in selecting wines as he is in preparing food. If you feel festive, try his premium bottle — a dry Austrian muscat wine.

SINGER-GUITARIST Lynne Askdown is the new featured Friday and Saturday night entertainer at the Dock in Tiburon. She plays from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Al Tognoli is the new manager here. He was formerly assistant manager in the Windjammer.

NOW THAT the former Hil Probert property on Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur has been rezoned, Sommer-Ryan Enterprises should be expected to start work soon on remodeling the historic Probert home into the Lark Creek Inn and the former Toyota buildings into a shopping complex.

According to Ralph (Skip) Sommer, the old home will be enlarged but its Victorian character will be retained. It will be turned into a 140-seat luncheon and dinner house with decor of turn-of-the-century Marin. Among the memorabilia Sommer has been collecting are a carved mahogany back bar that came around Cape Horn in a Clipper ship and many old pictures of the county.

Cuisine, he says, will feature a limited menu of prime rib, steaks and specialty casseroles with prices in the moderate range — and the inn will be "a blend of Sacramento's Nut Tree Inn and Occidental's Union Hotel, all within a setting of magnificent redwoods."

Other plans include leasing the remodeled showrooms to boutique and antique shops similar in style to Los Gatos' Old Town Center. Offstreet parking for the inn and shops will be hidden from the street.

Not for a while will all this happen, but perhaps later this year.

WORD FROM THE ATTERBURYS in Tiburon is that for the first time in 14 years the Caprice will open regularly in the daytime.

Lunches will now be served Tuesdays through Fridays from noon to 3 p.m. and the downstairs cocktail lounge will be open from noon until closing at night. Hors d'oeuvres will be served between 4 and 6:30 p.m. and cocktails and highballs will go at 90 cents until 6:30 p.m.

Luncheon menu will be changed weekly and run to salads and louies, some seafood dishes, omelets, steak and possible open faced sandwiches and daily "dividend choices." Reservations for lunch are not necessary but will be accepted if a particular table is at stake or a special dish not on the menu that day is wanted.

HOUNDSTOOTH INN at 10 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael was scheduled to reopen today, according to Don Banks, who closed it a few months ago when he took over the operation of the Gold Street in San Francisco.

Hours are from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week, serving lunches and dinners and a Sunday brunch.

A la carte lunch menu will feature such dishes as a hamburger combination with French fries and salad at $1.75, Reuben sandwich at $1.75, New York steak at $2.50 and deep fried prawns at $2.95. Also at least three salads. At this writing the dinner menu had not been completely worked out by chef Carl Lindstrom, but he is what is known as a saute chef (formerly with the San Francisco Hilton) so you can expect him to promote a few dishes in that category.

There will be wine and beer served until 10 p.m. and piano entertainment will be offered Friday and Saturday nights and on Sunday afternoons.

A NEW RESTAURANT opening about the middle of April will be Der Hauf Brau Haus at 276 Northgate Shopping Center (Unit One).

The location has been leased by Bruce and Jo Ann Rosen of San Anselmo, who previously had a place in San Francisco. Bruce has been in the restaurant business about 18 years.

This will be a self-service restaurant, take out and delicatessen operation. It will be large enough to seat about 48 people. Food will be Germanic style cooking. Present schedule calls for it to open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., which should cover the lunch and early dinner periods.

Application has been made for an on sale wine and beer license.

A GOOD SPECIAL these days at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael (not on the menu — you'll have to ask for it) is the crepe Bombay, filled with curried shrimp and lobster. It takes 15 or 20 minutes to prepare.

Popular on the regular menu is the lobster thermidor, $4.95 a la carte.

These dishes and anything else on the menu can be prepared to take out, though the biggest selling take-home items are the cannelloni and lasagne. Two cannelloni orders make a nice appetizer for four persons.

IN CHANGING THE HOLIDAYS, someone forgot to arrange to have St. Patrick's Day fall on the second or third Thursday of the month in order to coincide with the traditional Thursday dish of corned beef and cabbage.

So as usual it will be on the 17th, which is next Wednesday and restaurateurs will have to change their menus or double up on their servings. One of these is McKee's in San Rafael which is having its annual St. Patrick's Day party Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Corned beef — all you can eat — is $1.75.

And there'll be music on the Baldwin organ by Gary Schneider, who may not have an Irish name, but his repertoire is as happy as the green shamrocks o' Erin and so is his repertoire for this occasion.

Art Exposition, Auction Slated

An art exposition and auction will be held March 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Cotati Veterans Memorial Building, sponsored by Congregation B'Nai Israel of Petaluma.

The auction will begin at 8:45 p.m. Artists whose works either will be on display or for sale will include Albert, Irving Amen, Artur Bar-On, Braque, Buffet, Chagall, Salvador Dali, Dufy, Fabri, Lebadang, Le Grand, Sandu Liberman, Mach, Picasso, Reuven Rubin, Raphael Soyer, Vas, Irving Weinstein and Yang.

Marvin Dolowitz is chairman and Mrs. Eli Nisenfeld is co-chairman of the event.

Illiterates Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau says 1.4 million Americans —about one out of every 100 —over the age of 14 is illiterate, compared with 2.6 million 10 years ago.

Reagan Calls For Quake Fund Hike

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has urged immediate consideration of a bill to pump $1 million into the Cal-Vet disaster fund depleted because of the Southern California earthquake.

Reagan said Thursday that the Feb. 9 temblor damaged 517 Cal-Vet properties and nearly $1 million has been taken from the fund to cover uninsured damages.

Only $247,000, he said in a statement, was left in the fund. The replenishment bill was authored by Assemblyman Robert C. Cline, R-Canoga Park.

Surprised Banks Study Chase's Cut

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Some California bankers were still undecided this morning on whether to follow Chase Manhattan National Bank of New York in dropping their prime lending rate from 5.75 per cent to 5.25 per cent.

Chase Manhattan took other banks across the country by surprise yesterday by announcing a drop of one-half of 1per cent. Recent drops have been one-quarter of 1 per cent, and following this pattern a few eastern banks have come down to 5.5 per cent since the Chase Manhattan announcement.

Bank of California was the first western bank to make any change, but the drop here was also to 5.5 per cent.

This was followed by a Wells Fargo Bank announcement this morning that its prime rate would be reduced to 5.5 per cent on Monday Ward C. Krebs, chairman of the bank's credit policy committee, said other loan rates are also being reviewed to keep them in line with this decrease

Krebs also announced a reduction in the savings passbook rate to 4 per cent effective April 1 to "bring the savings rate more in line with other interest rates'

Bank of America senior vice president E.E. Iversen said the matter was under study this morning but that the bank was not likely to be hasty in reducing its present rate of 5.75 per cent

Carl K. Schieck, executive vice president and administrator of Security Pacific National Bank's Northern California headquarters, reported still holding to the 5.75 per cent rate, but said discussions have been going on and if the pressure becomes too great security Pacific would be obliged to make a reduction.

Earl E. Boutelier, vice president and manager of the San Rafael office of United California Bank, said no instructions had been received from Los Angeles headquarters and the bank's prime rate still stood at 5.75 per cent.

Locally owned banks are not expected to make any immediate changes, as their rates are not as closely scheduled as those of the large banks.

Opposition Voiced To Apartments

The Rohnert Park Homeowners Association last night voted to join residents on Adrian Drive in opposing a requested setback variance for apartments on Bridgit Drive.

Adrian Drive residents told association members that developers of an apartment complex at the rear of their homes would be seeking a variance to reduce rearyard setbacks at the city council meeting Monday at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Norval Latrielle, publicity chairman, said the residents feared the multistory apartments would invade backyard privacy at their homes and present a safety hazard because fire trucks could not get to the rear of the buildings.

Mrs. Latrielle said a letter stating objections would be sent to the council.

The association also agreed to financially sponsor a bowling program for a student in the mentally retarded class at Waldo Rohnert School.

Plea Set On Drug Charges

Hart Keith Bell, 26, of 1214 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, and Charles Virgil Leffingwell, 25, of San Francisco, have been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana.

They are to plead to the charges Tuesday.

The two were arrested Monday when narcotics agents raided a residence at 195 Buchanan Drive, Sausalito. Bell was there when agents arrived and found suspected marijuana and hashish.

Leffingwell arrived at the residence while the agents were still there. In his possession, agents said they found suspected hashish and a marijuana cigarette.

$1.8 Million Draft Budget For Schools

A preliminary 1971-72 budget of $1,812,521 was presented the Larkspur School District board last night, according to Business Mgr. Gilbert L. Slusher.

The budget represents a $56,000 increase over this fiscal year's budget and does not include cost-of-living pay raises for teachers, he said.

The working document, rather, represents this year's program with projected cost increases for next year.

Slusher said that if the preliminary budget figure of $1.8 million — about half of which represents salaries — were to be accepted by the board, this year's district tax rate of $3.62 per $100 assessed valuation would drop a few cents. The drop would result from a state mandated increase in assessed valuation from 23 to 25 per cent of market value.

The Larkspur School District board also:

SUMMER SCHOOL Set the 1971 summer school program for June 16 to July 16 with a budget of $14,262. About 15 teachers will be hired for about 20 classes in both special and basic courses.

APPOINTMENT Appointed Trustee Curtis P. Kamai to represent the board on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

CLOSED SESSION Entered closed session and emerged with the announcement that one teacher will not be rehired next year. The teacher's name and reason for dismissal were not given pending notification.

LETTER Received a letter from the Congress of the United States informing the district that federal funds for special programs will be cut 20 to 30 per cent next fiscal year. Cohen said the cutback will mean a loss of about $3,000 to the district for special reading and math programs and other special projects.

SECURITY SYSTEMS Delayed until its next meeting, April 8, consideration of security systems for district schools.

APPRECIATION — Was feted at a cake and coffee hour by the Neil Cummins School Parent-Teacher Association for "appreciation for a tremendous job" as district trustees.

Drive Cuts Head In 101 Accident

Larry Calvert, 23, of San Francisco, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head cuts suffered in an accident at 11:20 p.m. yesterday on Highway 101, south of Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said his car skidded on wet pavement and struck an abutment of the bridge over San Antonio Creek at the Marin County Line.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Pacific Lighting's Promising Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I was advised to buy Pacific Lighting for income and gradual appreciation. Because of the Los Angeles earthquake and its effect on the company's property I did not. Can you clarify this for me? J. S.

A. According to corporate president Paul A. Miller, the earthquake had "remarkably little effect" on Pacific's property. Customer service suspended because of the disaster will cost the company less than $1.5 million to repair. He estimated that 1971 earnings will increase about 25 per cent over 1970's $2.03 a share.

The gain would reflect normal weather conditions for its utility operations and an expected doubling of net for its real estate divisions. Requests for rate increases will be filed in the second quarter, which if granted would also benefit earnings.

The dividend, which returns a generous 5.7 per cent has been liberalized regularly, a policy that should continue. Trading at 14x, the estimate of 1971 earnings shares are reasonably priced relative to growth prospects.

Q. What is your opinion on Kroehler Corp. for growth? No dividend has been paid for a year. Should I continue holding? D. U.

A. Earnings could stage a strong comeback this year, based on the rate of orders received to date. Year-to-year, orders are running 17 per cent ahead and backlog is up 20 per cent. Consumer reluctance to purchase large ticket items in the face of a recessive economy was reflected in the 4.2 per cent drop in 1970 sales.

Earnings were 78 cents a share before charges for discontinued operations, which were equal to 74 cents a share. On the plus side, new family formations in the next decade should show a sharp spurt, thereby aiding furniture sales.

The recent rise in housing starts coupled with the high level of savings deposits could benefit Kroehler on a nearer-term basis. According to company officials, the dividend will be reinstated "as soon as possible." Retain Kroehler for long-term appreciation prospects.

Sao Paulo's Share

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)— In 1968, the latest figures compiled, Sao Paulo State had 42,893 manufacturing industries employing 1,129,200 workers. This comprised slightly more than 50 per cent of the total manufacturing employment in Brazil. They earned 59.1 per cent of the country's wages.

Slight Drop, Moderate Turnover

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was slightly lower on moderate turnover late Friday.

With about an hour of trading to go, steels, motors and chemicals generally showed narrow price changes. So did rails, airlines and aircrafts.

Oils traded narrowly in both directions, while point-sized swingers in the electronics lacked a definite pattern.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was about unchanged. Declines topped advances 726 to 591.

Among the day's most heavily traded issues were Sony Corp., Occidental Petroleum, University Computing, Flying Tiger, International Telephone, and Federal National Mortgage.

Prices were weak in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

IT&T Has Record $6.4 Billion Year

Sales and earnings in 1970 for International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. are reported to have surpassed all previous records.

Worldwide sales and revenues totaled $6.4 billion — an increase of 12 per cent over 1969 sales and revenues of $5.7 billion. Consolidated net income amounted to $353 million, 21 per cent more than the $293 million reported in 1969.

Per share earnings were equal to $3.17, up 20 per cent from the $2.65 per share earned in 1969.

PACIFIC COAST HOLDINGS, INC. has reported net earnings of $202,945 for 1970 or 20 per cents per share, compared with $448,919 or 45 cents per share for 1969. Total revenues increased to $6.6 million from $6.5 million. Total assets at yearend were $97 million, up from $96 million. Decline in earnings is attributed to the consolidation of Bell Savings and Loan Association and effects of the tight money situation.

SECURITY PACIFIC NATIONAL BANK stockholders have voted approval of a 20 per cent stock dividend. Earnings to date in 1971 register slightly ahead of last year's record level. Income for last year before losses on securities hit $57.5 million. The dividend will be paid to stockholders of record April 23.

AMPEX CORP., Redwood City has adopted a change in accounting policy that will result in a charge-off of about $10 million of previously deferred engineering expense. It is expected to reduce earnings for the fiscal year ending May 1 by approximately 50 cents per share. Ampex reported sales of $221.9 million and net earnings of $2.7 million or 25 cents per share for the three quarters ended Jan. 30.

PHILCO-FORD CORP. is recalling about 1,000 workers at its two area plants in Philadelphia and suburban Lansdale, Pa. between now and June. So far this year, Philco-Ford's sales to retailers of color TV receivers have increased 23 per cent, black and white TV sales are up 20 per cent, console phonographs have gone up 52 per cent and component stereos have advanced a full 100 per cent.

KAISER INDUSTRIES CORP., Oakland has reported net earnings of $23.2 million in 1970 or 84 cents per share of common stock. This compares with 1969 net earnings of $16 million or 57 cents per share.

VANGUARD INTERNATIONAL, INC., Oakland directors have voted to discontinue the company's land development operations and dispose of its real estate — primarily 1,500 acres of industrial and residential property in the Bay Area. It intends to utilize the cash in servicing its existing debts and in an acquisition program in the financial services area.

PUREX CORP. has selected Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, Inc. as advertising agency for Brillo, Instant Fels, Gentle Fels and its Sweetheart products. John H. Hoefer and several other agency members are Marin residents.

ALLIS-CHALMERS directors have declared a dividend of five cents per share payable on April 30 to stockholders of record April 1.

FLYING TIGER CORP. directors have declared a stock dividend of 5 per cent payable May 7 to stockholder of record March 26. The company previously paid a 5 per cent stock dividend last August.

Livingstons Open Shop On The Mall

The new Livingston Bros. store has opened on the Northgate Mall in the space vacated by H. Liebes last November.

Occupying 15,000 square feet, Livingston will carry similar inventories of women's wear to those in its other stores, but will go somewhat heavier on stocks of junior sizes and sportswear, according to Carl Livingston Jr., who operates the store chain with his brother Barry.

There will also be a beauty parlor in the store and the Northgate shop of the Yarn Barn will give up its present location to operate a concession in Livingston's.

The store will be managed by Mrs. Inger Rosenthal of San Rafael, who was formerly assistant manager in the Northgate City of Paris.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Business, Charity, Medical Travels Can Earn Deductions

Do your use your car for business purposes or for charitable purposes or for medical purposes?

If you do, you can claim your expenses for the use of your car on a flat mileage basis, rather than having to compute depreciation, gas, oil, tires, etc., and then divide this between business and personal.

This is the way it works: For business use, you are allowed 12 cents per mile for the first 15,000 business miles and 9 cents per mile for every business mile thereafter.

You only keep a record of the business miles traveled for your car but like every other record you keep, you must be able to substantiate the fact that the car was used for business and the number of miles traveled.

You cannot use this system and also claim depreciation on your car.

You cannot use this system if you have previously taken extra first year depreciation allowance on your car or if you have previously depreciated by one of the accelerated methods.

If you are reimbursed for the business use of your car by your employer and this reimbursement is less than 12 cents per mile, you may include the reimbursement in income and deduct the 12 cents per mile up to the first 15,000 miles and 9 cents per mile thereafter.

If your reimbursement is in excess of 12 cents a mile, but not more than 15 cents a mile, you wouldn't want to use this system as you do not have to account for your automobile expense because you are considered to have accounted to your employer for the expenses. If your reimbursement is in excess of 15 cents a mile, you will have to include the reimbursement in income and itemize your automobile expenses.

You can use this system and in addition deduct parking fees and bridge tolls. You may also deduct parking fees and bridge tolls. You may also deduct interest paid on the purchase of the car.

If you use your car for charitable work such as soliciting funds for the United Fund, carrying children back and forth to Sunday School, doing work for the hospital or traveling from home to the place where you render personal services to a charity for which you are not reimbursed, you can deduct 6 cents per mile for the charitable use of your car.

If you use your car for medical transportation, you can increase your medical expense deduction by 6 cents per mile for such use of your car.

In both these cases you can also deduct bridge tolls, parking fees, etc.

LIGHTSHIP'S END NEAR — Now that automated buoys can provide fog horn, radio beacon and light warnings to ships at sea, the Coast Guard has decided to phase-out its San Francisco lightship, a fixture since 1898, and another one off the coast at Eureka, marking the end of the era of "never sails," the ships that never go anywhere, causing massive boredom among sailors assigned to lightship duty. (UPI Telephoto)

SAN FRANCISCO LIGHTSHIP

A Wave Of The Future Marks End Of An Ocean Tradition

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Landlubbers aren't the only people being replaced by machines ... automation even reaches into the sea.

The San Francisco lightship, a fixture 12 miles off the Golden Gate since 1898, is soon to be replaced by an automated buoy, ending one of the most isolated outposts in the Coast Guard.

A lightship off Eureka is due to be replaced in the same fashion about the same time and then the day of such vessels in California will be over. The Coast Guard has set a tentative date of late April for both changes.

It's doubtful CPO O.W. Austin, executive officer of the 133 foot San Francisco lightship, will shed any tears even though some of his men insist life on the vessel is "good duty."

Austin, an 18 year veteran of the Coast Guard from Kitty Hawk, N.C., thinks the buoys are the wave of the future and can do everything the light ships can do without the dull routine of living at sea on a "never sail."

The mission of the present lightship is to maintain a fog horn and radio beacon as well as a light.

"The new large navigational buoys are more economical, can do the job just as well and will allow us to release personnel for other functions," Austin said.

Whatever those "functions" are they're probably better than duty on a lightship, at least from a young sailor's viewpoint.

Fireman Bill Rush, 19, of San Jose, Calif., thinks the magnetism of San Francisco's beauty, which can be seen on most days from the vessel, added to the feeling of isolation.

"At night we can see the lights twinkle and, man, do we want to get ashore," he said.

"Party boats that come out here can really get to you, too. All those guys drinking beer with their girls."

Rush said there's some advantage in lightship duty, however.

The 18 crewmen spend three weeks on the ship and then two on leave ashore.

"It's only about an hour drive to San Jose and I'm home. I really look forward to that."

Fellow Fireman Laine Gager, 17m Danville, Calif., and PO 3.C Bob Essard, 24, Sunnyvalle, Calif., agreed that being close to home was a distinct advantage over service on, say, an icebreaker.

But they also talked a lot about "channel fever," which Rush explained was the growing anxiety that accompanies the coming of the supply ship every two weeks that takes the men ashore for leave.

Boredom, Austin said, was the number one problem.

"We got television, a color set. And the fishing is pretty good," he said. "We had a lot of luck during the last salmon run."

"But swimmings out. The water is much too cold.

Rush and Essard gave the impression that life on a lightship was a constant search for ways to combat boredom.

"Model building is big out here," Essard said. "We even started turning out model cannons in the machine ship for a while."

Some of the men don't mind the isolation and the time on their hands.

Darrell Cox, 20, a PO 3.C from Albuquerque, N.M., said duty on the vessel was "outstanding."

"I used to be on a cutter and we hardly ever saw land," he said. "I get a chance here to watch TV and play a lot of cards and read westerns. "I'm a real Max Brand nut."

There's one drawback with spending weeks with just sailors and then going ashore, Cox said.

"You certainly have to watch your language."

Judge In Surprise Visit To Jail, Finds It 'Cruel'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Conditions are so bad at an Alameda County jail that they make San Quentin or Alcatraz look like "paradise," a federal court judge declared Thursday while ordering improvements.

Judge Alphonso J. Zirpoli, in U.S. District Court, declared confinement in one barracks at Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center constitutes "cruel and unusual punishment for man or beast."

Confinement in the Greystone barracks, he added, "offends elemental concepts of decency" and is of "shocking and debase character."

The judge recommended that Greystone be "razed to the ground" and set April 14 for a hearing on plans for improvements.

If he is not satisfied then, he declared he would order the prison to quit holding pre-trial arrestees.

It is especially shocking, he said, that "those confined in Greystone subject to such cruel and inhuman punishment are persons who are waiting trial, have yet to be found guilty and are presumed under law to be innocent of wrongdoings."

Robert E. Hanna, county board of supervisors chairman, objected to the ruling, holding it was inappropriate for "federal courts to interfere in an issue that is strictly a county responsibility."

The board appropriated $692,000 last year to improve the prison and the county is now issuing contract for the work, he continued.

Judge Zirpoli, who made an unannounced 3 1-2-hour visit to the jail, said he did not hold Sheriff Frank Madigan responsible for the "shameful and deplorable conditions" which must be corrected "by the people of Alameda County."

He reported that Madigan, with "commendable candor, conceded that many of the conditions ... are bad." But, the judge added, the sheriff is unable to change them. Madigan was away at a convention.

Judge Zirpoli acted on a suit filed by the Legal Aid Society on behalf of Greystone prisoners.

The Greystone barracks were constructed as part of a military prison and acquired by the county in 1947.

Weapons Display On Tap In Petaluma

The Petaluma Lions Club will sponsor a weapons show featuring swords, cartridges, Indian artifacts and military items this weekend at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

The show will be open Saturday at 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

European Visitor Tours The Caves

STANTON, Mo. (UPI)—Most people go to Europe to visit famous cities, museums and other widely known points of interest, and to shop.

Not Bob Hudson, who on returning from his first European trip said all he wanted to see was all the caves he could crowd in on his schedule. Hudson is manager of Meramec Caverns on U.S. 66 here.

Two ridiculous gimmicks of the 1940's.

Everyone laughed when they came out with the television.

A box that could show pictures from 3,000 miles away? Absurd.

But everyone really cracked up when we came out with the Volkswagen.

A car with its engine in the back? Its trunk in the front? And its radiator in neither the front nor the back?

It even looked like a joke.

But time marched on.

The television clicked.

The Volkswagen accelerated.

People liked the idea of a car that didn't drink gas like water. Or oil like water.

Or, for that matter, didn't even drink water.

Some strange people even liked the idea that it was strange looking.

In fact, Detroit car makers now like the idea of a VW so much that they decided to make their own.

But even with all those new small cars around, the fate of the bug is still secure.

This is the first year for all of the others.

We've had 23 years of re-runs.

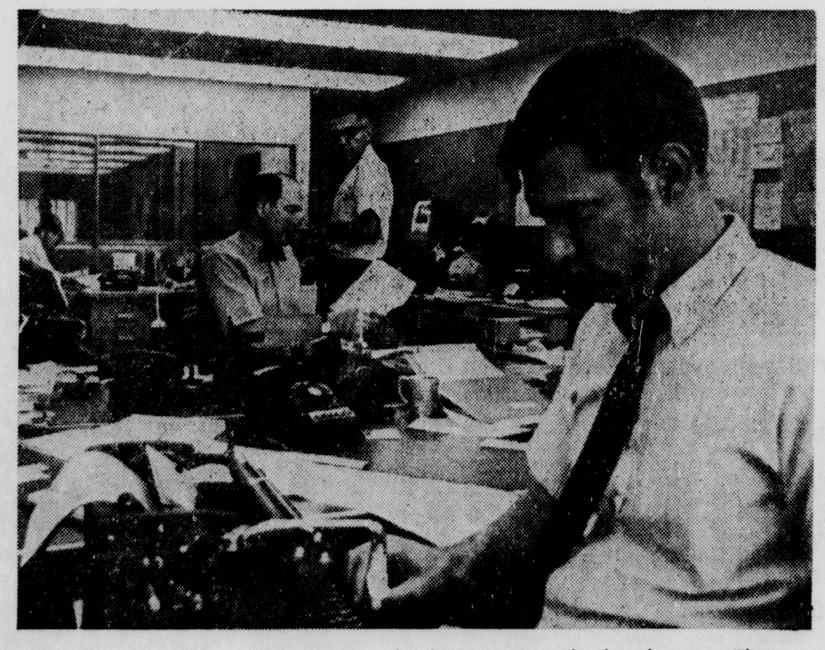
You're on the map in the I-J — all the news of your community.



A staff of 30 I-J reporters and editors covers the local scene. This is why we're able to report it so comprehensively.

You're on the map.

Few newspapers in the U.S. provide such complete coverage of local communities as you will find in the I-J. May we tell you why and also how we do it?

At first glance the I-J appears pretty much like other sizeable suburban daily newspapers. World and national news, wire services, major features — all there.

But as you turn the pages a "different" newspaper takes form. You quickly discover the world of your community and of every area in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties. A hundred stories and more each day on matters of intense local interest. A council decision, an educational problem, a new park, a fund-raising event, a club meeting — the whole spectrum of community living.

Why do we report all this and in detail? Because this news has a direct and often personal bearing upon you as a citizen . . . upon your family, your pocketbook, even your hopes. For this is not news of a vague "somewhere" but news that is close to home and close to your interests. We think it is a newspaper's responsibility to report it thoroughly — as well as the international scene.

How do we do it? First, we have the committment. Second, the largest news staff in Marin and So. Sonoma counties. And third, the facilities — local news bureaus in Mill Valley, Novato, the Civic Center, Petaluma, plus the resources of I-J headquarters in San Rafael. Also, it doesn't hurt that we have one of the most advanced newspaper production facilities in the country.

We may not report everything (no newspaper can). But day after day you will see the complete "news map" of all local communities forming before your eyes. Which means you're on the map . . . because you are kept thoroughly informed.

Repairs At Beach May Be Delayed

Major repairs at McNears Beach near Peacock Gap should be held up until this fall so that construction will not interfere with the use of the county beach this summer, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission has decided.

The commission will ask the county board of supervisors to award a contract for the first segment of the work but postpone the start of work.

The first part of construction includes the repair of utilities, improvement of the parking area, turfing and tree planting. Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, estimated cost of the work at $50,000 to $75,000.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

FAMILY

"Cougar Country" — A true wildlife adventure story of the events in the life of a curious young cougar. The response of the children in the audience to the playful antics of the animals was a delight.

"Cromwell" — Exquisitely photographed historical spectacular about the Puritan reformation and civil war in 17th Century England.

"My Fair Lady" — Based on Shaw's comedy about a witty speech authority who transforms a flower girl with a cockney accent into an aristocratic lady. Extraordinary entertainment for all.

"Tora, Tora, Tora" — Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Burn" — An adventurer helps to set off a revolution of blacks against whites in the West Indies in 1830. Ten years later the takeover backfires and he must again fight but this time against the very men he trained. Beautifully filmed but dubbing is spotty, much violence — some nudity.

"Great White Hope" — Quasi-fictionalized story of first black heavy weight champion, Jack Johnson. It exposes ugliness of racial hate and the blood lust of fight ring. Strong drama will appeal to fight fans.

"Sterile Cuckoo" — A kooky college freshman and her first love sesrience is told with insight that is a tribute to the director.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alex In Wonderland" — A sad comedy about a "hippie" type movie director who fantasized "Fellini" fashion about plot material for his next film. Film excesses offset by brilliant script and acting.

"Investigation of a Citizen Above Suspicion" — The head of intelligence in Rome commits a bloody murder leaving ample clues to his guilt to prove the police will disregard them due to his stature. A fascinating topic but overly long to maintain tension. Some sex and nudity. English subtitles.

"Last Grenade" — A very violent film about revenge sought by an officer against one of his men who sold out to the "Reds" and killed his own men on patrol. Excessive use of blood and gore is repulsive, melodrama seems contrived.

"Zig Zag" — An intriguing mystery about an insurance salesman (doomed to death by a brain tumor) who frames himself of an unsolved murder to get the reward money for his family. After conviction he tries to prove his innocence. Ethics are confused.

ADULTS ONLY

"Midnight Cowboy" — Offbeat story about a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute and his relationship with a crippled bum. Many sordid depressing scenes but thought provoking. Well acted.

"Women in Love" — D. H. Lawrence's novel about total physical and spiritual love between the same and the opposite sex are explored extensively by very explicit, sensual sex scenes. Direction, acting and photography very good.

"Where's Poppa" — A vulgar black comedy presents an outrageous picture of a monstrous mother and her guilt-ridden harassed son. Wild scenes of rape and nudity are unrestrained, brutally frank and may prove offensive to some.

ART REVIEW

Sparkling Essay In Photography

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The three-man show of photographs by Michael Bry, Frank McFarland and Mike Samuels this month at the Unitarian Center, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael, is most simply that of a people watcher, a reporter and a poet.

Such a short summation, however, is in no way meant as an estimate of these artists' talents, for all three reach levels which are deep and complexly interesting.

As a people watcher, Bry is everywhere that there are people in the process of filling their days and staying alive. His subjects can be as unselfconscious as an elderly couple indulging in an ice cream cone. Or they can be as theatrical as ballet dancers posing on the mountain and the beach.

Where there is action, Bry's photographs reflect it. Frisbee players are in blurring motion. A young couple expresses a moment of abandoned joy by leaping high against a background of sky with the city reduced to a far gray ribbon below their feet. And there is a marvelous shot of straining horses and a girl rider, her mouth open and hair flying.

Bry treats death by superimposing dry, brittle grass and branches over grave markers. And then he grasps the humor of a situation in which preschoolers seem to be sternly supervised by a hand-on-hips giant of a sculptured man at the San Francisco Art Institute.

McFarland's photographic essay on the funeral of a member of the Gypsy Joker motorcycle tribe is as fascinating for its reporting as for its art. And McFarland uses the incident to convey an entire lifestyle.

He shows it through individual portraits such as the battered, swollen face that still stares back unbowed and through another where the rider's ripped out jacket elbow seems a badge of his burly nonchalance.

The group image is enormous in the gruff, bearded knot which waits, slouching in a tangle of machinery, in the row of powerful bikes parked outside the funeral home, in the out-of-their-element awkwardness of the hulking figures that darkly ring the grave and in the final litter of beercans, tools, gloves, scarves and mementos piled upon the coffin before it is covered with earth.

Later, McFarland's cocky, "wanted poster" portrait of men in low-slung chain belts and sleeveless jeans jackets and girls in shiny velour, gives way to montages of the hair and flesh and leather hard faces of booted seminudes mixed in with motorcycles.

Samuels' poetic suggestions are about as far removed from such brutal reality as you can get. His is the sort of eye which finds unusual beauty in the most ordinary things — in distorting them beyond recognition or in how they relate to each other.

Bed springs seen at different levels of focus, a knee and fingertips are some of his subjects. He often relates images by superimposition, as in veiling lines of tide swept foam over the flowing mass of a female nude. And he takes other things out of context and enlarges them so that you can never be sure what they are, other than poetic counterpoint to the harder views of life.

Buckley Coming To California

Hear Again
JIMMY BORGES

Our favorite old favorite returns. He "packed the house" when he sang in our Garden Bar last year. His popularity is well earned. With a fine voice, a quick wit, an uncanny ability to compose lyrics as he sings and an utterly disarming personality. Jimmy brings good cheer wherever he goes.

Three shows nightly except Sundays and Mondays at 9:30, 11, and 12:30 — with lots of dancing in between.

There's no cover or minimum; so you can afford a good dinner in the East-West Room and a parking space in the underground garage.

If you're looking for a happy night out where you're treated like you matter, join Jimmy Borges at the Miyako. And hear again.

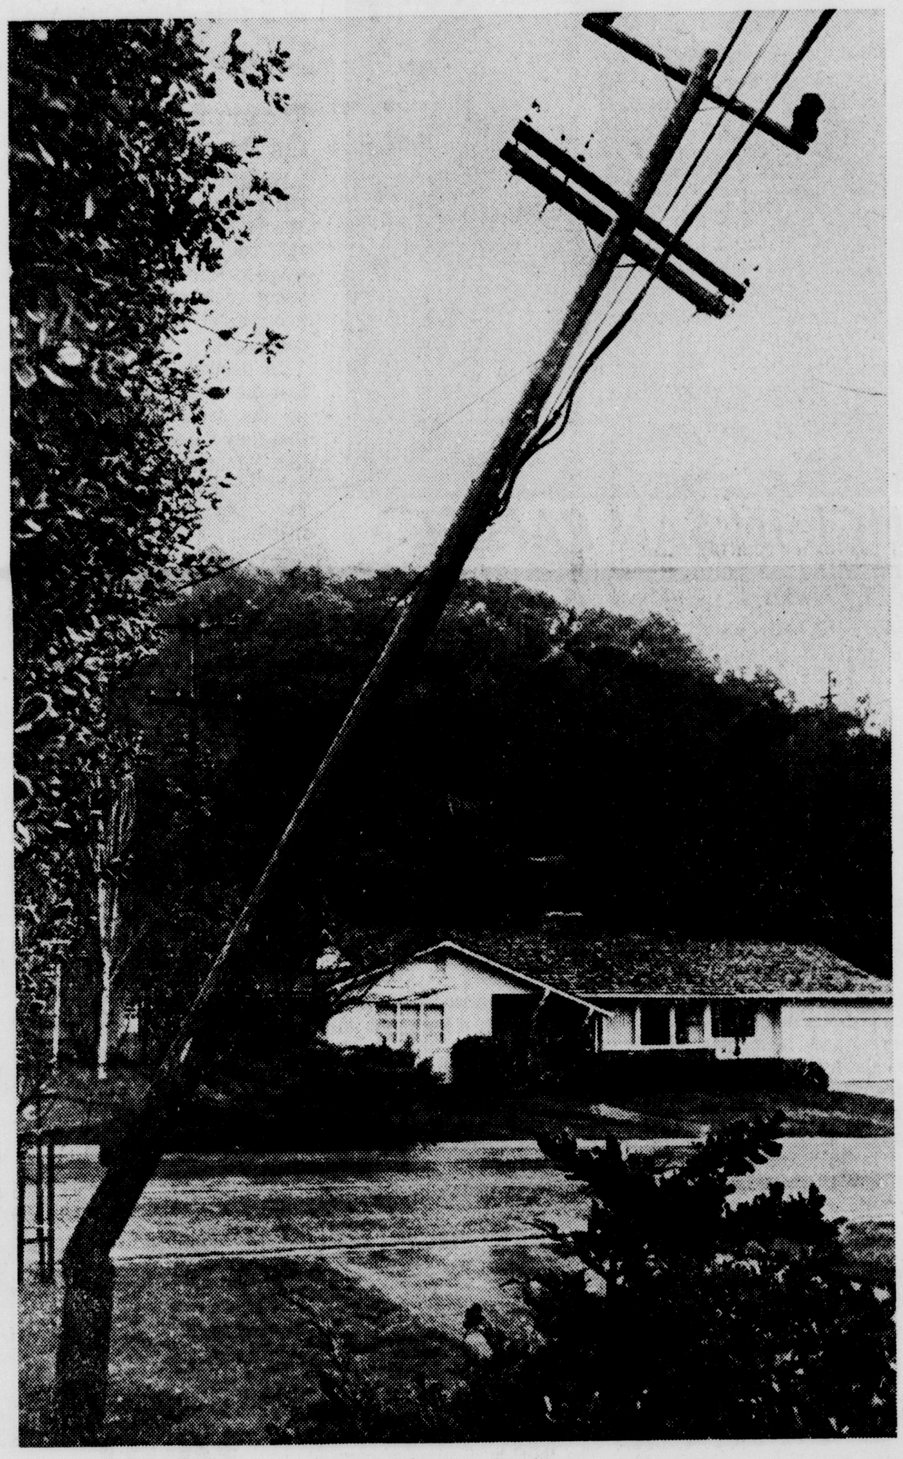
A POWERFUL GUST BREAKS WINDOW

The high winds which accompanied today's storm — first major one of 1971 — smashed this window at Carpet King on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael. Trees also were felled in scattered areas of the county. Another photo, story page 1.

DOWN IN WIND — A potted tree lies toppled on Fourth Street in San Rafael, victim of today's wind-buffeted storm. A total of 1.45 inches of rain had been dumped on San Rafael by 11 a.m. today.

STORM CLEANUP — An employee of Grand Auto, 850 Fourth Street, San Rafael, removes bricks blown from the front of the store in today's storm. Wind gusts reached 70 miles per hour atop Mount Tamalpais.



IN GREENBRAE — This utility pole, which neighbors said was rotted, snapped in the high winds today near 19 LaCuesta Drive, Greenbrae. Residents said Pacific Gas and Electric Co. had failed to replace the pole despite repeated complaints about its condition.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Draw Your Own Conclusions To A Lumberjack's Big Meals

I was intrigued by the title of an article in Nutrition Today — "Paul Bunyan's Cook." It was written by Dr. Alfaretta Clara Johnson Cooley who told about the meals consumed by lumberjacks in northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. As a young girl, she worked in the lumber camp and kept a diary that listed their typical bills of fare. Dr. Cooley, a dietitian, calculated that these men consumed at least 9,000 calories a day. According to her figures, the loggers and drovers used up 12 calories a minute while skinning the bark from a tree and from 10 to 19 calories when chopping one down. By comparison, a nurse standing quietly uses 1.3 calories per minute and 2.1 calories when working in the operating room. Surgeons use up 2.4 calories per minute.

AT ANY RATE the men (seated 12 at a table) started the day with oatmeal and top milk. The next course was cheese (1 pound per man) and molasses cookies, followed by pancakes, maple syrup, and large slabs of cow butter. (Some stuffed a few pancakes in their pockets for snacks.) The men then dug into several helpings of bacon and eggs, plus bread spread with butter and apple butter. The meal was topped off with a soup bowl of baked apples, stewed prunes, and lemons and raisins.

THE NOON meal at the camp consisted of stewed venison, baked beans and pork, boiled potatoes and cream gravy, rutabagas, squash, bread and honey, hickory nuts, molasses cake and coffee with cream and sugar.

SUPPER INCLUDED salmon loaf and creamed peas, fried potatoes, hard boiled eggs, (six for each man) bread with butter and jelly, pickles, cranberry strudle, blueberries and cream, and tea laced with maple sugar.

DESPITE THE amount of food put "down the hatch," the lumberjacks never got fat. Dr. Cooley remarked that if everyone ate as much as her maternal grandfather, the food supply of the world would be reduced by two-thirds. And, if everyone worked this hard — well, draw your own conclusions!

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

LARYNGITIS

Miss G. P. writes: Every time I catch cold I lose my voice. Since I'm a quiet person, too much talking is not to blame. What can be done about this condition?

REPLY

Try to avoid the initial cold. If this is not possible, treat the cold immediately so that the germs will not extend down to the voice box. There is no way, to my knowledge, to make the larynx less susceptible to viral or bacterial invasion once the infection takes hold.

EPILEPSY FROM SCARE

Mrs. G. M. writes: Could a normal 6-year-old child develop epilepsy after a bad fright?

REPLY

The cause of epilepsy is not known but I doubt if fright plays a role. After all, consider the number of children that have been frightened who never developed epilepsy and vice versa.

CONE-SHAPED CORNEA

P. A. writes: Is conical cornea passed on to one's offspring?

REPLY

We do not know, but contact lenses are most effective should the child develop the condition. In this ocular disorder, the cornea is cone shaped and ordinary glasses are of no value.

Today's Health Hint — Select toys for the small child that are durable and will not injure him.

I-J Errs In Citing Regulation

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in citing a prison regulation which Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court ordered clarified.

The judge's action came in a decision on a request by Pacific Sun reporter Alice Yarish to have San Quentin authorities ordered to allow her to interview inmate Ruchell Magee.

Judge Gardiner refused to make that order, but did direct Warden Louis S. Nelson to clarify a regulation which reads:

"Scheduling of interviews will take into account space limitations, availability of escort, crowding of the visiting room and other physical factors that may require advance scheduling for interviews. Interviews will not exceed one hour in length. When conflicts arise as to space available when attorneys, newsmen and family visits are pending, the decision of the warden or his delegated staff will be final. Interviews will take place only during normal visiting hours, Monday through Friday."

The judge termed that paragraph "incomprehensible."

The paragraph ordered clarified was not, as reported in yesterday's I-J, one dealing with interviews in cases where inmates are not represented by counsel or where a judge has restricted publicity.

The headline on the story, "Gardiner Refuses To Allow Reporter's Magee Interview," also may ave been misleading. The judge's decision did not ban such an interview, but merely refused to order that it take place.

Thurber's Son To Face Jury Quizzing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A soldier whose father is serving a life sentence for killing an Independent-Journal employee, today was to appear before a special federal grand jury investigating the 14-months-old strike against the I-J.

The witness was identified as Michael Thurber, 20, stationed at Fort Lee, Va., by Philip Michaels, an attorney in the Justice Department's special "strike force."

The strike force is a separate group of investigators and attorneys working directly under the U.S. Attorney General's office from Washington, D.C., on investigation of possible lawbreakings involving unions, government officials on all levels, organized crime and other problems.

Frank J. Thurber, 45, of San Bruno, was one of three persons convicted of killing Allan W. Daly, a computer specialist for the I-J, last July 4.

Michaels said yesterday was spent in questioning three union men concerning the strike against the I-J by San Francisco International Typographical Union Local 21.

On the stand were John J. DeMartini, 47, of Mill Valley, who is a former I-J employee and Local 21 vice president; Dennis J. Crowley, 41, of San Jose, and Warren Jones, a Mailers' Union member from Seattle.

Michaels said he could not reveal the testimony of the three union men. Cecil Poole, counsel for DeMartini and Crowley, said his clients had been ordered to reappear before the grand jury on March 25.

Crowley, meanwhile, was to appear today in Solano County Superior Court in Fairfield, for sentencing on another matter involving the strike against the Independent-Journal. Crowley James R. Brocato, 31, of Santa Rosa and Grant W. Anders, 30, of Oakland, pleaded guilty Jan. 25, to conspiring to break windows in stores of I-J advertisers.

The three, all Local 21 members, were arrested near the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center on June 3, 1970, while cruising in a car containing slingshots, chunks of printers' metal and a list of I-J advertisers.

The case had been transferred to Solano County after attorneys for the three men argued their clients could not receive a fair trial in Marin County. Judge Ellis R. Randall was to pronounce sentence on the felony charge today.

DeMartini was placed on a year's probation and fined $125 on Feb. 12, for failing to disperse from the scene of the Feb. 14, 1970 riot against the Independent-Journal.

Wine Boom

ROME (UPI) — Italy's wine and vermouth exports in the first nine months of 1970 jumped 72.8 per cent to 100,412,954 gallons, netting nearly 60 billion lire ($96 million), reports the Central Institute of Statistics.

22 Staffers Face Ax In Sausalito

Twenty-two certificated employees of the Sausalito School District, including 10 black employees and district special assistant James T. Toliver Jr., have been notified they may not be rehired next year.

The announcement, from Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg, came yesterday at a staff meeting of all credentialed employees. Although the superintendent said his recommended staff reductions were not final since the district board has not acted on them, the budget he is proposing for 1971-72 calls for a 32 per cent cut in the district's instructional program.

Lindberg has suggested a total instructional budget of $518,317 and an expenditure of $366,000 for teachers' salaries. This year the district spent $764,211 on instruction and $502,192 for teachers' salaries.

If the district board lets Lindberg's proposal stand, the cuts will eliminate approximately 40 per cent of the district's certificated staff, leaving Sausalito with 28 credentialed employees. Fifteen teachers are included in the reductions, which would put the district's student teacher ratio at 25 to 1.

Others who may not be rehired include: two counselors, the district psychologist, speech therapist, one librarian and the school nurse.

All teachers hired after October, 1965, and most of the district's younger teachers have received notice. Ten employees who have tenure or would have it by July 1 were among those informed they could lose their jobs.

Staff members notifed their services may not be needed next year are: Alice C. Goss, Harvey S. Pearlman, Jane C. Pokorny, Toliver, Julianna B. Whitten, Gene Willis, Helena Richardson, Cynthia E. Butler, Virginia Edwards, Judith E. Feinglass, Emmy G. Miller, Susan Besserman, Juanita W. Gaskins, Barbara J. Hendrickson, Marguerita C. Johnson, Nora J. LaCorte, Mary Lynn Levinson, Sandra M. Locasto, Robin G. Tyler, Miriam Kelly, Earline Murray and David W. Olson.

James Pockrus, president of the Sausalito District Teachers Association, which represents most of the district's certificated personnel, said he was "dazed, but not surprised" by the superintendent's announcement.

"I have seen this coming for quite a while and I am afraid it will seriously hurt our educational program," Pockrus said. "True we have a declining school population, but the youngsters remaining in our schools are the very ones who need the special services and extra help which may be eliminated."

"This is no whittling away at the educational program. The administration has used a broad axe," Pockrus added.

The teachers' association has called a special meeting Monday at 3:15 p.m. at Martin Luther King School to discuss the situation.

Lindberg admitted the district's education program will reflect "a loss of ancillary services," but he said at the present time he could "see no other way for the district to reduce its expenditures in keeping with its reduction in enrollment."

The administration is predicting a total enrollment of 518 students for 1971-72. The superintendent has proposed the district spend $101,231 for administration for the coming year including the salaries of two principals recently offered contracts by the district board.

Toliver said he felt the district "will exhaust all possible means to provide the children and parents of our community with the best staff and services possible."

"I believe the board and administration are well aware of the uniqueness of our district in school populaion and realize that an extremely sensitive, aware and highly-qualified staff is essential for our district," the black educator added.

Teachers receiving the notices have seven days in which to ask for a hearing to fight the dismissal notices.

Assembly Balks On Brown Act For Legislature

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Rules Committee balked yesterday at bringing the legislature under the same act which requires local governmental agencies to meet in public.

The committee said it wanted to study further a bill by Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, to extend the Brown Act to the legislature.

The legislature and its committees now can meet in public or private at their own discretion. Local bodies such as boards of supervisors and city councils—under the Brown Act passed several years ago by the legislature—must meet in public except when discussing personnel, litigation or security matters.

Ketchum argued legislators have an obligation to operate in the open.

Security Increase Is Voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted unanimously Friday to increase social security benefits for 26 million Americans by 10 per cent retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Carrying out a pre-arranged scenario worked out with House leaders, the Senate voted to tack the $5 billion increase in benefits to a House-passed bill raising by $35 billion the ceiling on the national debt.

The entire bill goes back to the House, where a conference committee will shape a compromise version carrying both the increase in the debt limit and the social security provision.

In addition to the across-the-board increase in benefits, the Senate voted to boost the minimum benefits, now $64 for an individual and $96 for a couple, to $100 and $150 respectively.

But the increase in the minimum benefit is not expected to survive the House. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is dead set against it.

Auction Set On Paintings

The Terra Linda Art Association will stage its annual Irish Coffee auction of paintings March 20 at 1 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

Beginning tomorrow, the paintings to be auctioned will be exhibited at the association's gallery at 4175 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

The auction will begin at 8 p.m. Written offers will be accepted for an hour. After 9 p.m., the remaining paintings will be auctioned verbally.

Proceeds from the auction will support the association's nonprofit gallery-workshop.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, March 12, the 71st day of 1971.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.

On this day in history:

In 1912 Mrs. Juliette Gordon Law organized the first girls Scouts of America troop in Savannah, Ga.

In 1933 President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in office eight days, made the first of many radio "fireside chats."

In 1938 Germany invaded Austria.

In 1963 the house voted to grant Sir Winston Churchill honorary citizenship in the United States.

A thought for today: American writer John Marquand said, "His father watched him across the gulf of years and p a t h o s which always must divide a father from his son."

Food Warehouse Is Padlocked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The city's health director padlocked a warehouse containing surplus federal foods Wednesday until an audit can be made and records checked.

Dr. Francis J. Curry, the director, told the Board of Supervisors' finance committee that a "Mendocino County welfare fraud inspector reported ... that he had spotted two truckloads of surplus food from our warehouse in Ukiah last Friday."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

In Tournament Play, The Star Knows When To Pull In Horns

Several thousand players will descend on Atlanta today to begin play in the national bridge tournament, and you will be able to tell the optimists from the pessimists by the way they play certain hands. In general, the tournament star is an overbidder and an optimist, but he pulls his horns in when it is obvious that one opponent is much more dangerous than the other.

MISSES BOAT

The optimist looks at the dummy and remarks: "We may have missed the boat!" If West has the king of diamonds and East has the ace of clubs, declarer can take two diamond finesses to get rid of a club and will then lose only one club trick.

If declarer plays the hand in that optimistic fashion, he will go down at game. East will get in with the king of diamonds and will shift to the queen of clubs. The defenders promptly take three club tricks.

The pessimist sees that he can make his contract even if both the king of diamonds and the ace of clubs are in unfavorable position. He puts up the ace of diamonds, cashes the top spades, leads a trump to the nine, and returns the jack of spades, discarding a diamond asWest wins with the queen.

ONE GOOD BREAK

South gets one good break since West doesn't have four spades and therefore cannot lead a spade to allow his partner to kill d u m m y ' s ten of spades by ruffing. West actually leads a trump, and dummy wins with the ten.

Now declarer tries a ruffing finesse in diamonds. He leads the queen of diamonds from dummy and discards a club when East p l a y s a low diamond. (If East puts up the king of diamonds, South ruffs and gets to d u m m y with a trump to discard on the jack of diamonds.)

CONTRACT ASSURED

South can draw the last trump with dummy's queen and can discard another club on the ten of spades. South cheerfully gives up his last club. The contract is assured even though all finesses lose.

Burton Hit On 'Holiday'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Chairman John L. Burton of the Assembly Rules Committee has been criticized for going "beyond his authority" for allowing Assembly employes two hours off to o b s e r v e Black American Day.

Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, issued the attack Wednesday and said that the San Francisco Democrat did not submit the action to the committee for a vote.

RESEARCH — Dr. Gordon L. Chan, marine biologist at the College of Marin, inspects a large, oil-covered clam, dead as a result of the San Francisco Bay oil spill in January. Chan, with funds supplied by Standard Oil Co. and the college, will head a research team of students and instructors to determine the extent of damage the spill caused to marine life. OIL SPILL STUDY

Perspicacious Biologist Saw Disaster Coming

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Six years ago, long before thick, heavy oil darkened the beaches of Santa Barbara and San Francisco Bay, Dr. Gordon L. Chan foresaw such a disaster in Marin.

What first alerted the College of Marin biology instructor to the danger was oil exploration by Standard Oil on the continental shelf six miles from the Point Reyes lighthouse.

Chan braced for the worst and began saving what he could — statistics on the variety, number and habitat of Marin marine life in an unspoiled environment.

Today, "the worst" is almost two months old, and Chan's statistics — most collected since 1965 but some dating back to 1957 — will serve as a basis to determine the extent of damage.

However, possible havoc caused by the Jan. 18 oil spill — triggered by two Standard Oil tankers which collided near the Golden Gate Bridge — will not be known for another 18 months. That's when a $33,800 research project conducted by Chan and another biology instructor, Alfonzo Molina, will be complete.

Preliminary studies show "there are dead organisms out there," Chan said the other day.

Chan's statistics on such marine life as mussels, crabs and plant species represent possibly the most complete pre-spill data on organisms found in oil-affected areas.

The research project is being financed with $25,000 from Standard Oil and the remainder from college coffers, but Chan was quick to point out the research team will act on its own.

"Unlike some studies under way," he continued, "our findings will be made public."

The study will concentrate primarily on Duxbury Reef and Bolinas Lagoon, Chan said, but other areas will be looked at, including Sausalito, Seal Rock intertidal area, Stinson Beach, Bolinas Point, Double Point and the Bolinas sand flats.

Chan said the main thrust of the research project will be a comparison of plant and animal life densities and species before and after the spill.

A second more time-consuming study will be an analysis of the effect of oil pollution on the organisms. This analysis will include observations of organisms affected by oil compared to those not affected, and a comparison of the effects in the Bolinas area with those from oil spills in other locations, such as Santa Barbara.

The investigation, Chan said, will enable him and Molina to study two generations of marine life, with regenerations occurring this spring and next, Chan said. It's the spring recycling period when the greatest changes in the marine world are most noticeable, he explained.

Of special concern to Chan are the large mussel beds off Marin's shoreline which may have been hard hit by the oil.

"Previous studies of mine on mussel beds hard hit have shown it takes about 10 years for the area to repopulate," he said.

Chan also said he has made casual inspections which indicate a decrease in the crab populations. But he was uncertain whether the decrease was a seasonal one.

The research project will be closely coordinated with another study headed by Dr. Cadet Hand, head of the University of California Marine Laboratory at Bodega.

That study, Chan said, will concentrate on the biochemical effects of oil in organisms.

Chan, who has been prowling the beaches for years and feels for them the same as a farmer for his land, now foresees another danger — the sewage outfall line proposed by the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, under order from regional water quality officials to stop dumping raw sewage into Bolinas Lagoon.

Chan warned that if only primary treatment of sewage is provided then marine life would be doomed. He said he has recommended more thorough treatment of wastes.

Plot Prosecutors Are 3 Catholics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three more Roman Catholic trial lawyers have been named to complete the government team that will prosecute the Rev. Philip Berrigan and five others on charges they conspired to bomb government facilities and kidnap a presidential aide.

Named to the prosecuting team Thursday were Kevin T. Maroney, 47, deputy assistant attorney general in the Justice Department's Internal Security Division; William M. Connelly, 31, an assistant U.S. attorney at Toledo, Ohio; and Daniel J. McAuliffe, 25, a special assistant in the Internal Security Division.

They joined William S. Lynch, an assistant attorney general, who was appointed chief prosecutor Wednesday.

$10,500 In Park, Bike Trail Work Approved

The Larkspur Parks and Recreation Commission has recommended that $10,500 in capital outlay projects be included in the city's fiscal 1971-72 budget.

The projects, all slated for city parks and bicycle trails, will be forwarded to the city council for consideration during budget hearings.

Projects approved Wednesday include $3,000 for a sketch master plan of Piper Park, $1,500 for equipment at Dolliver Park, $3,000 for completion of Hillview Park and $3,000 for construction of a bike trail along Magnolia Avenue from Bon Air Road to Doherty Drive.

According to Harlan Barry, recreation director, other budget items such as salaries, recreation funds, utilities and maintenance will be forwarded to the council at a later date.

Larkspur Park and Rec Commission Also:

SUMMER PROGRAM — Directed city staff to investigate feasibility of a preschool program at Dolliver Park and the setting of a $2 registration fee for children.

ORDINANCE — Approved and forwarded to the planning commission an ordinance requiring land developers to donate a portion of land at new developments for park and recreation use.

BUNDY FIELD — Approved a use schedule for Bundy Field, authorizing Baby Ruth League use March 20 to July 17 except Thursdays and Sundays and use by volunteer firemen on Thursday evenings.

SURVEY — Heard a report from Barry that 150 questionnaires on development of Piper Park have been turned in, with the remaining 850 expected by April 1.

TENNIS COURTS — Established rules for use of the tennis courts at Larkspur-Corte Madera School. The two courts, to be resurfaced in April, will be open to the public after school, on weekends and during vacation periods. When tennis players are waiting to use the courts, those playing are restricted to one set if playing singles and two sets if playing doubles.

Possible Leak Halts Explorer

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The launch of an $8-million Explorer satellite called IMP was postponed today because of a possible leak in a crucial control jet system in the second stage of a new model Delta rocket.

A spokesman at the launch control center said a new launch attempt will be made at 11:15 a.m. EST Saturday if the problem can be resolved in time.

The trouble was detected in the final minutes of the countdown.

Opening Of Student Art Show Set

An exhibit of work by students at the Terra Linda Art Association Gallery, 4172 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, will be held March 22 through 29.

Gallery hours are noon to 3 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Theft of Car Reported To Police

A 1969 white Ford Fairlane, license 375 BDI, belonging to Paul R. Clark of 338 Bayview Street, Apt. 2, was reported stolen today, according to San Rafael police.

Clark told police his car was taken from in front of his apartment between 10 p.m. yesterday and 8:45 a.m. today.

A Judicial Clearing House Is Suggested

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) —Chief Justice Warren E. Burger today suggested creation of a central agency to undertake a "comprehensive examination" of ways to overhaul state courts.

Burger said such a "desperately needed" central agency could help state courts dispense justice more fairly and quickly through recommendations on such matters as methods of selecting judges, removal of minor cases from courts, equialization of judicial salaries and preventing parties from using the court as a pressure tactic in cases they intend to settle out of court.

He said more than 500 specific problems were outlined by a recent conference.

Burger spoke to a National conference of the Judiciary one day after President Nixon called for a major streamlining of the nation's court system before the same meeting.

Nixon told the some 600 judges, lawyers and law enforcement officials from around the country that he knew of Burger's plan for a national center for state courts, and endorsed it.

Burger urged the conference to get started on such a project before they conclude their four days of meetings in Colonial Williamsburg.

He said a facility is needed "that will accumulate and make available all information necessary for comprehensive examination of the problems of the judiciary in the 50 states."

He suggested that "five or 10 representative leaders" be chosen to convene a larger group which would "perfect an organization." He said they should lean on the American Bar Association (ABA) and its 50 state associations.

"It (the ABA) is a force that cannot be directed or controlled by any particular group or any selfish interest," he said, because of its large membership—150,000—and 1,700 state, local and affiliated groups.

The federal court system already has a judicial center, created by Congress in 1968.

Burger suggested several "problem areas" in the law, including the need to reexamine "the whole method of the selection of judges." Statistics given to the conference showed that in 25 states judges are elected for limited terms and run for office like any other office holders, 15 on partisan ballots.

"It may be that the fine quality of judicial work of state judges is in spite of, not because of, the method of selection," he said.

Burger noted that in states like New York, California and Illinois judges are paid three times as much as in some other states.

He did not mention figures, but the statistics showed that New York pays a justice on its Court of Appeals (the highest court) $47,838, while a justice in Maine, Utah or the Dakotas gets $20,000.

Specialized Posts May Be Sliced

Four of five teaching positions in special fields may be cut next year because of lack of funds, Supt. Joseph Amato told the Lagunitas School District board last night.

To cut the four positions it was necessary to give notice to seven teachers, Amato said. Three of the auxiliary teachers whose jobs are threatened have seniority over three regular classroom teachers and can replace them if the special teaching posts are eliminated.

Therefore, three of the 20 regular teachers were given notice that they may be replaced, Amato said.

Unless the board decides otherwise before May 15, his recommendations will stand, Amato said.

In closed session, the board discussed hiring and firing of personnel on the basis of competence, but took no action, Amato said.

Lindsay Poll: Most For Switch

NEW YORK (UPI)—If it was up to the 24,000 persons responding to a Daily News poll regarding Mayor John V. Lindsay's political future, the mayor should become a Democrat but not try to seek the presidency.

Today's edition of the newspaper gave the final results of its "Should Lindsay Switch" survey in which readers were polled about the Republican mayor's political affiliations and aspirations.

Of those who filled out the printed ballots about 54 per cent were all for Lindsay becoming a Democrat. Only 32 per cent believed the mayor should run for president.

45-Day Sentence In Burglary Case

James Kenneth, 52, of New Mexico, has been sentenced to 45 days in Marin County Jail for the Feb. 14 burglary of the Sausalito Salvage Shop.

Kenneth had pleaded guilty to the crime, which Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court declared a misdemeanor.

Rights Panel Wants To Inspect Quentin

Marin County human rights commissioners declared last night they want to visit San Quentin prison to get a firsthand view of inmate conditions.

Chairman James Quiett asked Secretary Anne Smith and Grievance Counselor Ursula Gealey to see if a prison tour can be arranged.

San Rafael attorney Salle Soladay told commissioners that conditions inside the prison are deplorable and asked them not to ignore any letters of grievance that might come from the prison inmates.

Human rights commissioners also approved a suggestion by Frederick S. Mayer that the commission have at least one youth member. The 11-man commission now has two vacancies because of the resignations of Bella H. Aaron and H. D. (Tim) Williams.

The commissioners decided they will meet with County Administrator Alan Bruce next Wednesday to fight for the commission's proposed budget of $86,974 for the coming fiscal year. Normally, a department head meets with the administrator on the budget, but the human rights department has been operating without a department head since Director Donald Curt Moody resigned on Jan. 31.

Horse Care Class Slated

Horse experts will teach a free course in horse care beginning at 10 a.m. April 17 in the Marin Humane Education Center, 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Novato.

The series of five Saturday lectures and demonstrations will last two hours each. They will cover anatomy; horse feeding, grooming and maintenance; selection of a horse; riding safety and other fields.

Registrations for the center's eighth annual horse care class may be made at 9:30 a.m. April 17 at the center.

Woman Hurt In Pile-Up On Rain-Slick 101

A Santa Rosa woman was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion and bruises suffered in an automobile accident on Highway 101 near Terra Linda Wednesday night.

The California Highway Patrol blamed rain slick pavements for the chain of accidents in which Annece Hassen, 42, was injured as well as Robert P. Wager, 28, of 439 Donner Avenue, Petaluma, who was treated for a cut forehead.

Officers said Wager's car skidded into the freeway's center divider about 9:05 p.m. after a station wagon passed him and cut in front of him, forcing him to brake on the wet roadway.

Minutes later, two autos, driven by Rodney J. Dodd, 23, of Santa Rosa and Joseph T. Kelleher, 75, of Napa, struck the Wager vehicle.

When Mrs. Hassen attempted to avoid the pile-up, her car overturned, the highway patrol reported.

DENIM IS a big fabric for men's spring wear according to the Men's Fashion Association of America. This short leg style swim suit has detailing copied after ever-popular jeans.

Velvet, Canvas And Knits In Patterns Make It Big

Fabric is the big news in men's fashions. According to the Men's Fashion Association of America, knits are being used for "unstructured suits" which eliminate much of the jacket's inner construction and gain supple stretchability and a permanent press.

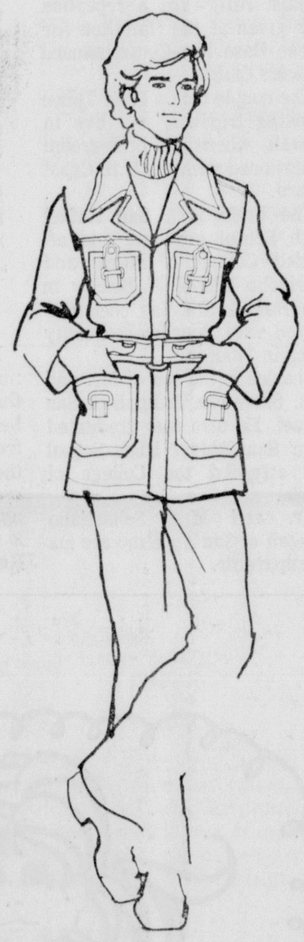
Knits in stripes, herringbones, plaids and checks will be used as well as free-form patterns and tapestry effects.

Velvets, corduroys and canvas make news as pants fabrics. The high waist band is about the newest pants detail to make the scene and some pants feature a return of the pleat. Low slung hip huggers are still popular according to the association. Flared pants bottoms continue as favorites although straight legged and "stove pipe" pants are on the rise.

White pants and white suits may make a comeback in canvas and dressy fabrics of the easy care variety.

Patterned slacks, which used to draw stares, are now common. Knickers and short shorts make it in the spring with young men.

Denim has made it big all the way to suit status as well as being used for swim wear and more casual bush jackets, golf-type jackets and car coats.



CANVAS HITS the beach this summer in the form of a man's jacket with oversized pockets, above, and rope closures at the waist. Canvas has made it all the way up to suit status in men's spring fashions. Other fabrics used in men's wear Manufactures are making men's wear in velvet, tapestry, patterned and checked knits for spring.

STRAIGHT LEGGED pants are on the rise, and body shirts are still popular in men's fashions. This crisp, white, ribbed shirt contrasts with a tapestry print jacket and corduroy pants. The jacket, of course, has wide lapels.

STARRING IN some scene at the beach, this model wears a navy nylon one-piece tank suit with low cut sides and back. The Men's Fashion Association says "this is sure to attract attention at any beach or pool."

A KNIT suit, below, with the look of denim is hot news in men's wear this spring according to the Men's Fashion Association. The suit in faded blue is detailed with Western stitching and worn with an open collar for a casual look. Flared pants continue to be popular in wide and moderate widths but straight and "stove pipe" versions are catching up.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Is Ecology-Pollution Kick Like The Backyard Bomb Shelter Fad?

DEAR HELEN:

Is this ecology-pollution kick we're on just a fad like bomb shelters and air raid watches — and probably population control too? I wonder if we'll still be scurrying around to "ecology centers" and madly collecting bottles, etc. five years from now — or will something else have taken front-center in our reform drive? — DOUBTFUL

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

Five years from now — I hope — pollution-ecology education will be so widespread that we will no longer need to scurry around campaigning. Presently, waking people up to the dangers is everybody's job. And my correspondents do their share. Read on:

DEAR HELEN:

I have never before been motivated to write to a columnist, but one of your letters really hit home.

To "Mrs. H.S. from Texas" (who says manufacturers should take some of the pollution-burden) I say, "Hurrah." She put down on paper what I've been thinking for months. All those wonderfully packaged, brightly colored, conveniently designed, easy-use goodies are there for the buying — and then we're asked to turn our backs on them, choosing instead the items that cause us more work and less beauty, like returnable bottles, and white shelf paper.

Now here's another point to add to her list: In buying a certain, naturally low phosphate, washing soap for the past six months, I discovered the price had suddenly jumped in one week from $1.12 to $1.52 for five pounds (with a big advertising splash about its great low-phosphate virtue). How despicable that manufacturers are cashing in on housewives' cooperation in the battle against pollution. I no longer feel the guilt I once did for, as Mrs. H.S. said, "Changes must be made at the source." — MRS. A.D.

DEAR HELEN:

"Mrs. H.S., Texas," said, "Let the government do it." the reason we find our government in such a bureaucratic mess is we've said this too often and too long. The individual citizen doesn't want to take responsibility. Why should we expect the government to tell industry it can or can't make a product when a buyers' boycott of a harmful item is far more effective? The company will soon change. The best way to enforce a "No no" is not to remove it from reach but to offer a better replacement — after teaching the danger of the first.

Taken away freedom of choice and responsibility from the individual and he becomes an automaton. Is this what Mrs. H.S. would like to see? — MRS. B. G.

DEAR HELEN:

Salvage centers are multiplying. The health of the Earth is in our hands. Maybe it's a "nuisance" having three garbage cans (for aluminum, bottles and "garbage") and carting recyclables to centers, but this little start may grow into great awareness. Manufacturers constantly feel the public pulse and when they know we won't stand for pollution (and that means the bigger dirts in our air and waterways) they'll come around. Our job is to educate. And that includes flooding our Congressmen and lawmakers with millions of letters. Have at it, people. — CINDY: MRS. V. C.

DEAR HELEN:

The industries are already spending billions to find solutions for pollution. Is it too much to ask that we expend a little effort, instead of expecting Big Brother (the government) to do it all? We the people are the cause of pollution, not the factory, not the automobile, not the government. When enough of us admit this and stop buying pollutants and using them carelessly we will begin to see results. — JOHN T.

DEAR MRS. BOTTEL:

A while back one of your pollution-conscious readers complained bitterly about the packaging of a box of crackers: About the "heavy plastic bag and then the four individually wrapped packages."

While she mentioned no brand name, we believe she referred to our product.

We would like to point out that the plastic bag and inner separate air tight packages do keep the product fresher for considerably longer periods. The new packaging was developed to meet the desires and needs of our customers, many of whom live in damp areas where crispness disappears overnight. Sales have zoomed, providing the need.

We've had letters from pleased customers who report that a flooded kitchen left almost all packaged food a soggy mess except our thoughtfully wrapped crackers. We even received a report on the cargo of a sunken boat — we'll let you guess what came up "krispy."

Also, the polyethylene bag does not need to be burned. It has a long life and many uses in the kitchen. — SUNSHININGLY YOURS, H.S., PUBLIC RELATIONS DIRECTOR, SUNSHINE BISCUITS, INC.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES TRINGALI

Charles Tringali And Karen Ziemer Are Wed

Saturday nuptials at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael united in marriage Karen Ziemer and Charles Tringali.

Karen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ziemer of San Quentin, was attended by her sister, Donna Ziemer, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Linda Loux of Ross and Jane Leal of Fairfax.

Robert Raabe of San Rafael served as best man, and the ushers were Mark Dlugokenski and Don Trigali, both of San Rafael. Afterward a reception was given at the Hamilton Air Force Base Non-Commissioned Officers Club.

The couple took a Lake Tahoe wedding trip and will live in Hawaii, where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Cgast Guard.

The bride is a San Rafael High School graduate and attended College of Marin and Marinello School of Beauty in San Rafael. She has been employed with Boardwalk Beauty Salon in Tiburon.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Tringali of San Rafael. He also was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended the College of Marin.

Mr. and Mrs. Sebastiano Tringali of San Anselmo are his grandparents.

Night Safety

NEW YORK (UPI)—Safety authorities suggest putting sewon reflective tape on clothing children wear outdoors after dark. Create decorative designs or racing stripes on jackets, sweaters, sweatshirts and caps so that car headlights pick up the reflection. More than half of all fatal car-pedestrian accidents since 1961 have occurred after dark.

POSH HEALTH SPA

First Day At The Golden Door Is A Survival Contest

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A White House appointee, who runs a posh California health spa, is trying to get the whole nation "hooked" on physical fitness.

And if anyone can help sell the program it is Deborah Szekely (pronounced Zay-kay) who runs the "Golden Door" at Escondido and the Rancho La Puerto at Tecate, Mexico. Both get heavy play from Hollywood stars and Washington celebrities.

Mrs. Szekely is the only non-sports member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

President Nixon recently summoned the council and 100-member commission on physical fitness to give them a big pep talk on promoting good health and exercise habits among school children and adults.

"THE GOALS are simple," says Mrs. Szekely, "to find ways of making physical fitness an integral part of our lives."

"We want people digging physical fitness," she added, "because it truly changes one's whole outlook. . . and makes you feel enormously well."

Personal attention is the key to the Golden Door. There are only 18 guests at a time with a staff of 40 on hand to take care of their needs. The price is $700 a week.

The first day is a survival contest. The guest starts out on a two mile walk at 7 a.m.

Most of the women who enroll want to shape up and slim down. "The main thing is to burn up energy and to have good nutrition," she says.

STARS LIKE Kim Novak and Eva Gabor are among her regular clientele. Most of the Hollywood actresses come for two or three weeks. "They're not 18 but they want to look it," she says. "When they finish the course, they look marvelous."

Mrs. Szekely says First Lady Pat Nixon has a regular exercise routine, slim as she is.

Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, wife of the Vice President, who has trimmed down from a size 14 to a 12, fights weight by cutting down on the portions she eats, Mrs. Szekely says.

At her California health resort, Mrs. Szekely has concocted some delicacies—at least the starving guests think so—such as baked potato shells.

THERE'S ALWAYS a "happy hour" at the end of the day, but no liquor is served. "We always nag the cigarette smokers like crazy" she says.

Her Mexican spa is vegetarian, with the accent on raw grains and the like.

She has written the "Golden Door Book of Beauty and Health" which is always being updated. It includes numerous diet recipes.

Mrs. Szekely was born in New York. During the depression her parents decided the big city was no place to rear children. They moved to Tahiti where she lived for many years.

An attractive brunette, Mrs. Szekely drinks grapefruit juice with honey to give herself energy.

"I'd like to weigh five pounds less," she confesses.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Special Facial

NEW YORK (UPI)—You can make your own facial mask that's safe in babying your skin but refreshingly tingly. Crush fresh mint leaves and blend them into a jar of pure baby cream. Beat until fluffy and apply to face and throat, letting it set for at least five minutes. Rinse thoroughly.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

Coming this Saturday in Marin Magazine

Special features you'll enjoy:

Dominican College, Marin's only four-year college and graduate school, has roots that go all the way back to 1850. But in recent decades it has taken some of its most impressive strides, always a step or two, it seems, ahead of current educational and sociological trends. Dorothy Gardiner has written a history of Dominican College, with special emphasis upon relatively recent advancements, for tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

Figure skating is one of the world's fastest growing sports in popularity. And Marin has not been immune to that enthusiasm. Promoting and encouraging the recreation in the county is the Marin Figure Skating Club. And its junior program encompasses some of the county's most dedicated and hardest-working youngsters. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown writes about the club and its programs in tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement.

Lenses First

NEW YORK (UPI)—Contact lenses have saved many a girl from glasses and the fear of lack of passes. But lenses should be applied before makeup, warns a company that makes lens cleaner. This insures against contaminating the lenses with cosmetics. It has the added advantage of helping you see what you are doing in the way of beautification.

Poor Paint Job

NEW YORK (UPI)—Poor results on a paint job are not always the fault of the paint. Inadequate preparation of the surface to be painted, moisture, or the wrong paint for the job can all give equally disappointing results.

AMBER ARBO

Amber Arbo Is Engaged To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Arbo of Kentfield have announced the betrothal of their daughter Amber to Steven Conkling of San Rafael.

Amber is the sister of Pandora and Autumn Arbo of Kentfield. She was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended Marinello Beauty College. She is employed with Jay's of Marin in San Rafael.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Conkling of San Rafael and the brother of Mrs. John Darby and Brian Conkling, both of San Rafael.

He was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is attending John O'Connell Trade School in San Francisco, where he is also employed with Rodoni-Becker Co.

Food Up; Income Up More

Last year consumers spent $511 per person for all food, a 34 per cent increase over the 1957-59 average. Personal income, however, for the same period rose 68 per cent, from $1,846 to $3,098. Thus, people who spent 20.6 per cent of disposable income on foods during '57-'59 period spent only 16.5 per cent in 1969, a decrease of over 4% for food.

ON BEING BLACK

'Service With A Smile Bit'

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Now, all you girls have to do," Miss Ginger said with her tight-lipped, rubber band smile, "is keep the trays filled with hors d'oeuvres and mingle among the guests. And, yes, be sure to smile.

"You boys," she addressed herself to the young black males dressed in shiny black trousers and ill-fitting waiters' jackets, "will work the bar. Simply see that everyone's glass is filled. Smile, and if you have any questions, ask Remus, he's worked for me before.

"Trudy, put on another apron; that one looks a little soiled. Remember now, smile. But not too much conversation. You simply can't do your job and talk at the same time."

OUR EMPLOYER left the kitchen and our group of black college students in white uniforms, each out to make $5 for 8 hours work, surveyed one another. Remus clicked his heels, threw a towel over his extended arm and bowed low from the waist and said, "Yes-um, Miss Ginger.!"

"Aw, man, knock it off . . ." began another student.

Remus shrugged his shoulders.

"That's what she's paying us for, isn't it? To play the role of the servant," he said clicking his heels again, showing a toothy smile and heading for the bar.

WIELDING MY hors d'oeuvre tray through the crowd of guests, I came upon a white classmate. He appeared to be relieved to see someone he knew and said, "Hey, how'd you make out on that physiology exam on Friday? I think I blew that one on pain threshold . . ."

We stood talking about the exam. Presently, Remus came and graciously indicated that Miss Ginger wished to see me momentarily.

Returning to the kitchen, I found Miss Ginger smiling sweetly.

"You mustn't forget, my dear. Keep your conversation at a minimum. You simply can't do your job and talk at the same time. Mingle, my dear," she said making a circular motion with her hand.

For the duration of the evening, each time she caught my eye, Miss Ginger gracefully twirled her hand.

"Mingle, my dear . . ."

MY CONTEMPORARIES in the kitchen whooped and I knew things would not end there. The next day on campus, every black student I saw gave me the "mingle, my dear" business.

That was my first serve-a-party experience but not my last. I soon learned the psychology coupled with the job. Remus was right. The important thing to many of our employers — those "haves" who could afford domestic help or servants — was that we "play the role." Many of these people needed the overt show having servants that they controlled, more than they actually needed the help. So it was not so much a matter of what one did, but how one did it.

I came to admire Remus. Initially, I had felt as most of the other black students, that he was just a shuffling Uncle Tom. But upon inspection, I saw that Remus had perfected his bar-boy role to such a degree that he was like a mime artist on stage.

It turned out that he was a very astute businessman too. He recognized what people were willing to pay for. Consequently, he made good money. Not because he was well paid, but because he was always in demand as a bar-boy. And he compensated himself in other ways. If he served a party on Friday night, on Saturday night at his apartment he hosted his very classy party. The booze own very classy party. The booze and hors d'oeuvres were every bit as good as Miss Ginger's.

Like most of my classmates, I did not like serving parties, I felt it was an ethnic occupation — a job reserved for blacks, but I needed the money, and it was a job.

IT'S INTERESTING to note though, how, over the years, things have changed. For obvious psychological and economical reasons, many blacks have moved away from service occupations. And while we have been busily making our exodus, whites have been moving into these occupations.

The reason for this are fairly simple.

1 — Our country has experienced high unemployment for some time and the competition for jobs — any job — is great.

2 — Our society, at this point, is saturated with material goods, so the super-saturation level of marketing has turned to the commodity of service.

Hence, those services that were formerly earmarked for blacks (on a little-or-no pay basis) — domestic work, barbering and hair styling, cooking, waiting tables, bartending and the like — have been repackaged in bright colors, given catchy names, performed with pomp, flair and a smile and sold for a pretty penny to whites.

Blacks have moved into many new professions, but service-with-a-smile still sells. Today, Remus owns a chain of catering services.

Engineered Foods

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The U.S. Department of Agriculture is interested in "engineered foods" for school lunches. These were described as foods that improve nutritional value, reduce cost, are convenient and improve acceptability or stability. "Fortifying or enriching widely used foods would be considered the preferable type of engineering," said Food and Nutrition Service Administrator Edward J. Hekman. In addition, any engineering which improves acceptability of a nutritious food and makes it more convenient to use, is a step toward better nutrition."

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Democrats Charge Gamesmanship

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrats accused Gov. Ronald Reagan of political gamesmanship today for postponing until summer a special election to fill a state Senate seat.

Faced with a court order, Reagan Thursday called a special primary election for June 22 in the East Los Angeles District previously represented by Democrat George E. Danielson, who last November was elected to Congress.

If no candidate receives a majority vote on June 22, a runoff election will be held July 20 between the top vote-getters of each party.

"Obviously, the governor plans to disenfranchise the citizens of that part of East Los Angeles for the rest of the 1971 legislative year," declared Senate Democratic caucus chairman Mervyn M. Dymally.

The Legislature already has set a tentative adjournment date of July 30, although most lawmakers expect the session to last longer.

The Senate seat has been vacant since Jan. 12 when Danielson officially resigned. Reagan has known since Nov. 3 he would have to call a special election and was under constant pressure to do so from Democrats who predominate in the district.

On Feb. 24, Los Angeles Superior Judge Parks Stilwell ordered Reagan either to call the special election or appear in court March 15 and explain why he hadn't.

Reagan's official reason for waiting so long—and the one given Thursday by his press office—was that he was continuing to "talk to people in the district who are vitally concerned" about the election.

Which people?

"Just people in the district," said Press Secretary Paul Beck.

Democrats charged, for one thing, that Reagan wanted to delay filling the seat to postpone the day when Democrats gained their 21st senate vote.

Democrats now hold a thin 20-19 majority, one vote short of the number required to pass legislation. The 27th Senate district is heavily Democratic, 61.1 to 33.1 per cent.

HORSE DRUGS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill outlawing use of drugs on horses in a sale, show or performance competition has been proposed in the Legislature.

Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, said Thursday that his measure would keep buyers from being bilked by paying a higher price based on the performance of a horse under the influence of narcotics. Violation, he added, would be a misdemeanor.

The bill would not affect the horse-racing industry already covered by drug laws.

AID PITCH

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Board of Education has urged the Legislature to adopt a statewide property tax and raise state aid to schools by $397 million.

The board Thursday voted 9-1 to adopt a school finance "reform" program drawn up by a finance planning council set up by the board last July.

The dissenting vote was cast by Clay N. Mitchell, South Laguna, who said the proposal could result in a loss of local control.

The property tax rate would be $3.75 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board tentatively approved the plan last month and it was drawn up into proposed bills soon to be presented to the legislature, an aide to Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson C. Riles said.

JUVENILE PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A six-bill package has been introduced in the Legislature "to improve procedures in administering justice for juveniles."

Brown Jr., author of the measures, said Thursday that California's juvenile court laws "effectively make young people second-class citizens."

The San Francisco Democrat said there has been much improvement in juvenile proceedings in the past years but "much remains to be done to bring procedures up to the standard we demand for adults" in granting constitutional protections."

Brown's bills would:

—Require that a misdemeanor be committed in the presence of a policeman if he wishes to arrest without a warrant.

—Require arresting officers to warn the suspect he might be temporarily or permanently removed from his home when advising a child on what he might say to policemen.

—Provide for release on bail or own recognizance when a hearing before a judge or referee is continued.

—Require the court to have special probation officers to handle presentation of the case against the suspect. This would free regular probation officers from being both prosecutor and defender.

—Allow the juvenile to start proceedings to have his records sealed immediately after he has completed serving his sentence.

—Require county boards of supervisors to appoint members of the juvenile justice commissions instead of the judge.

TENURE PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Legislature has been urged by the state Board of Education to overhaul California's tenure laws to make it easier to fire incompetent teachers.

Board members voted Thursday to approve recommendations of a 15-member committee set up last December to study ways in which teacher tenure laws might need change.

Endorsed in spite of protests from teachers and school boards, the report said the laws should be amended to:

—Evaluate the performance of teachers every year according to state guidelines.

—Grant new teachers tenure after one year on the job, rather than the present three, but make it possible to fire a new teacher without a hearing.

—Remove dismissal fights from "time consuming" court hearings and turn them over to a hearing officer from the state Office of Administrative Procedure.

—Call teachers with tenure "regular" rather than "permanent" as under current law. This is an attempt to "change an erroneous impression that the work 'permanent' has created" that teachers have a "'job guarantee.'"

School Burglary

Office equipment and business machines valued at a total of $2,000 were taken in a burglary at Sleepy Hollow School on Terry Road sometime last weekend, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Sentences Are Suspended For War Protesters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A U.S. magistrate has handed down five-day suspended sentences to 12 Stanford University students who blocked the entrance to a draft board office in San Francisco.

Magistrate Richard Goldsmith Thursday also put the anti-war demonstrators on probation until June 1 and said the convictions could be expunged if probations were not violated.

All charges against a 13th demonstrator were dismissed since she is undergoing medical treatment.

The 12 pleaded no contest to charges of failing to disburse and the federal government dropped felony charges of interfering with the Selective Service Act.

Drug Charges Are Dropped

Charges of possessing marijuana and attempting to bring hashish into Marin County Jail against Stephen Darryl Coleman, 20, of Corte Madera, have been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Coleman was originally accused of the charges last July, but the case was dismissed in November when the district attorney's office said the alleged drugs had not been analyzed.

It was dismissed again Tuesday by Judge David Menary Jr. when the district attorney's office said it was still not prepared to proceed with prosecution.

OPERATION AMIGOS

15 Marin Teens Involved

By MARY LEYDECKER

Last summer blonde, blue-eyed Anne Kimball of Kentfield, who is "almost 18," was the only Marin teen-ager to travel to Central America with the Amigos, a group of young volunteer paramedics.

Her enthusiasm, however, has led to the enlistment this year of 15 Marin teen-agers who will go to Central or South America this summer to conduct Amigos innoculation clinics.

"At first I didn't think I could do it, but after we practiced on oranges and then on each other, it was easy," Anne said in referring to the giving of shots for tetanus, and typhoid and small pox vaccinations.

Before her three-week stint in the tiny town of La Venta in Honduras, Anne participated in extensive training not only in innoculations, first aid, nutrition and public health but also Latin American culture and the Spanish language.

She traveled to San Mateo County last year for the training but this year a Marin committee of Amigos de Las Americas has been formed and training is now under way at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Volunteers will attend weekly sessions for four months on Wednesday nights in addition to Saturday innoculation clinics in April and May. Latin American geography, politics and community development as well as the medical aspects of the program are being taught by a staff including Richard S. Hahn, medical director, and George B. Duncan, director of Spanish and Latin American culture training.

Anne's adventure last summer, which she terms "the most worthwhile thing I ever did," began with a plane trip from Houston to Guatemala. From there, she went by bus and truck to La Venta, where she and a partner, a Santa Barbara girl, were assigned for three weeks.

"The whole village was waiting for us — there were even candles in our room," Anne said. Not only did the Hondurans not resent the young Americans who have been visiting their town for several years, but they await their arrival eagerly, Anne said.

She and her partner lived next door to the little clinic in the town — in a tiny one-room building where they were visited continuously by the village's youngsters.

They ate three meals a day with a local family — where the diet was plentiful with mangoes, pineapples, bananas, tortillas and rice — but not much meat, Anne said.

"I told them that Americans had delicate stomachs and they gave us 'cokes' instead of water," Anne explained, although she said that she and the other girl both got the usual tropical complaint despite eating precautions.

"Because we were the third team to visit La Venta last summer, many of the innoculations had already been given," Anne said. In between giving shots, she and her partner found time to give talks on nutrition, plant a garden along with the villagers, build tire swings for the children and even make a gravel walk to the local church.

Constantly surrounded by children, Anne said they played "Frisbee" and other games with them.

Anne's fluent Spanish was instrumental in helping her make many good friends during the short three weeks, she said. "The other girl spoke no Spanish so she couldn't talk to any one," Anne explained.

Although Anne like other Amigos had received training in Latin American customs, she credited "just common sense" with her lack of problems.

Realizing that Latin Americans, especially those in villages, are a conservative people, particularly as to their views on women's behavior, Anne took her longer dresses on the trip and refrained from wearing pants.

"I was safer there than here," she said; "The older people in the village looked after me all the time."

When she left La Venta last August, Anne brought with her pictures she had taken as well as little presents given her by the villagers. "I wanted to bring at least 20 kids back with me, too," she said.

Although she would "love to visit La Venta again," she hopes to be assigned to Colombia this year.

Her interest lies "more with people than medicine," Anne said, and she hopes to learn "about six languages" and study Latin American culture in college.

She called herself the "seed," who planted the Amigos program in Marin, and through her efforts which have been backed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Kimball Jr., the local Amigos group was formed.

Parents of Amigos volunteers must pay the $225 air fare but other costs of the program (about $400 for each volunteer) are raised by group activities as well as the families.

Both boys and girls may volunteer as Amigos — the nonprofit foundation only requires a "balanced" number of each. Volunteers must be at least 16 years old but there is no upper age limit, Anne said.

Among the group going from Marin this year will be four of Anne's fellow students from Katharine Branson School as well as students from Marin Catholic and Redwood high schools and the University of San Francisco.

They will be among more than 500 from all over the country who will participate in a program designed to get "youth involved" as well as help improve health standards in Latin America's neediest areas.

Those students volunteering this year from Marin are Wendy Boyd, Krisa Van Meurs and Mary Hendrickson of Ross; Chris Buchen of Belvedere; Jodie Cala, Diana Dakin, Rick Bennett, Louise Dwyer, Scott Neely, John Vidano and Anne Kimball, all of Kentfield; Valerie Kehrlein, and Jim and Steve Nelson of San Rafael; Vicki Piatti of Greenbrae, and Hope Kingsley of San Francisco, who attends Katharine Branson School.

FBI Arrest In Alleged Art Fraud

Roger Anthony Gheno, 33, of 35 Thomas Drive, Alto, was arrested yesterday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and charged with attempting to defraud a New York art gallery.

Gheno, owner of International Art Associates in San Francisco, is charged in a federal complaint with attempting to sell forged lithographs through the Parke-Bernet Galleries in New York City.

Robert E. Gebhardt, special agent in charge of the FBI's San Francisco office, said the federal complaint arises from a telephone call Gheno made to the gallery on Feb. 25, asking whether the lithographs had been sold. Use of interstate telephone lines to defraud is a federal crime.

Gheno was released on $5,000 bail and ordered to appear March 31 before U.S. Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith in San Francisco.

If convicted, Gheno could receive a $1,000 fine and five years in federal prison, the agent said.

Pair In Court On High Speed Chase Charges

Albert William Ferguson, 24, and Phillip McFarren, 20, both of Novato, have been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges stemming from a high speed chase on Lucas Valley Road last Friday.

Ferguson is charged with drunken driving, reckless driving and resisting arrest. McFarren is accused of being drunk in public and resisting arrest.

No charge was filed against Michael Robert Rundle, 20, of Novato, who was arrested along with Ferguson and McFarren after Ferguson attempted to elude California Highway Patrol officers who attempted to stop him for erratic driving.

Ferguson and McFarren are to plead to the charges Monday.

Majority Endorses Modular Scheduling

Despite complaints of absenteeism and littering, San Rafael High School's modular scheduling program won endorsement from a mjority of parents last night in a mass meeting summoned by the school's parent-teacher association.

The vote, in the form of a show of hands, came at the conclusion of a two-hour "town hall" meeting held at the high school. About 135 persons — parents, teachers, administrators and students — attended.

The modular program, featuring an open campus and more free time for students, was begun last fall, but parents have complained about cutting of classes and neighboring property owners have protested student trespassing and littering.

The objections were raised again last night, with administrators and students defending the program. Proponents said they felt the impression was given that because students had free time under the system, classes were being cut. This is not the case, they said.

And, backers of the program said, the problems of class-cutting and littering would exist even if there were no modular program. They also asserted that students responsible for the shortcomings were in the minority.

One father, however, was not satisfied. Although saying he favored the new system, the man explained that his son had cut class 18 times in four weeks before he was notified by the school.

Principal Alan W. Ellsberg said students with a record of cutting are "red-flagged," and parents normally are notified if a student is absent for a period. iod.

Jack Hadley, moderator of the discussion, said however, that at one time, P-TA volunteers had taken on the task of notifying parents when students cut.

When parents wondered about overall attendance under the new system, Vice Principal Florence Abraham said there wasn't enough clerical help available to make a period-by-period comparison with last year's attendance.

Ellsberg said attendance at each class next year will be shown on a student's report card.

One mother said "grades have dropped at my house" since the new system started and she asked if the school had comparisons of grades between the last school year and this year.

Ellsberg said no figures were available now but that an analysis was planned.

Another parent asked if the staff were "totally committed" to the program, and Margaret Tierney, chairman of the faculty steering committee, said it wasn't "total," but felt the majority of teachers wanted the program to continue.

A woman urged, in view of the litter problem, that students be made aware of their responsibilities and the rights of the residents of the community.

David Plotkin, student representative on the San Rafael Board of Education, said students felt that the modular schedule system was an improvement.

One man commented that part of the problem was that more parents weren't concerned, and that many of those attending last night were the "same group that always attends such meetings.

Another man replied that perhaps some parents have attended "and get tired of listening to a mutual admiration society all night."

One father said his son liked the new system, but he didn't think that should be the criterion for retaining it. He said he didn't think "a good many students have the experience or education to make good choices yet."

In other business, Roumiguiere was re-elected president of the association, Dr. Robert Oslar was re-elected first vice president, John Donovan was elected second vice president; Virginia Taylor was re-elected secretary, and Jack Hadley was elected treasurer.

Victims Of Freak Crash 'Miserable'

Three women employees of the Bank of Marin's Novato branch injured yesterday when a car roared through a plate glass window into the bank were reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital.

Seven other employees hurt when the car smashed into a bank conference room were treated and sent home from the hospital yesterday.

Hospital officials said the three women were "miserable" but in satisfactory condition today. Betty McAskill, a teller, was still kept in the intensive care unit for observation because of chest pain, a spokesman said.

(Mrs. McAskill was incorrectly identified as Ione Lee in a front page photograph in yesterday's paper. Mrs. McAskill was the woman on the right in the picture with a compress over her eye.)

She suffered bruises and abrasions as did Shirley Swihart.

Another employee, Deanna Vela, was also reported in satisfactory condition with a broken and cut arm.

Novato police said today that the accident apparently occurred when the driver of a late model station wagon, Lucille McAlister, 46, swerved to avoid another car as she came out of a parking lot. She then accidentally hit the accelerator instead of the brake and her car went out of control. Police said the accelerator may have stuck.

Her car crashed through the window of a small room where employees were being shown a training film.

Marijuana, LSD Case Dismissed

Charges of possessing marijuana and LSD against Paul Christopher MacGowan, 21, of Tiburon, have been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith dismissed the case after the district attorney's office reported there was some doubt about the legality of a search at a Sausalito home Dec. 14 at which MacGowan was arrested.

New Group Takes Close Look At Tam Reorganization Plan

Implications of the controversial reorganization plan for the Tamalpais High School District will come under the scrutiny of a newly formed group during three meetings in the next 10 days.

The group, calling itself the Ad Hoc Congress on Tamalpais High School District Reorganization, was formed earlier this week at the urging of student leaders.

Besides students, it is made up of district and school administrators, two district trustees and three members of the community appointed by high school parent-teacher associations. Elementary districts also have been asked to send representatives.

The reorganization plan drafted by Supt Wilber D. Hawkins has drawn criticism from teachers who claimed they were not given a role in preparing the plan.

Dr. Surjit Singh of San Anselmo, a professor of Christian philosophy at the San Francisco Theological Seminary and chairman of the new group, said the group will study the many implications of the plan during meetings set for Tuesday, Thursday and March 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Redwood High School library.

The Ad Hoc congress includes Dr. Hawkins, district trustee David D. Ring and Bette Wallace, three high school adminsitrators, four student representatives and three community members.

Ad Hoc congress officers reported that Teachers' organizations were asked to participate but declined fearing "participation would damage their position on the negotiating council and that there would be charges of the faculty 'influencing' students." The teachers, however, agreed to send "silent observers."

Check Case To Superior Court

Bruce Alan Tucker, 22, of Novato, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of burglary, forgery, passing forged checks and receiving stolen property.

He is to be arrainged in superior court March 22.

Tucker was arrested Feb. 4 after nine bad checks totaling $315 were passed in Novato and Petaluma, Novato police said.

Cause Of Girl's Death Is Reported

The death of a 14-year-old Novato girl last January was due to an accidental overdose of Darvon, a pain-killing drug, the Marin County Coroner's Office reported today.

The determination was made following an investigation of the death of Denise Henderson of 1941 Marion Avenue, who collapsed Jan. 19 while walking near 11 Grande Vista, Novato.

DRUGS IN THE CLASSROOM: The Memory Pills

By ARNOLD ARNOLD
(Fifth of six articles)

Scientists have established that several kinds of memory exist: short-term, long-term and intermediate. The first is the kind you use when you look up an infrequently called number in the phone book. You'll remember it from the time you put the phone book down until you have dialed the number. Then you can forget it. The second involves the memory required to recall essential bits of information — like your own phone number — that you need to remember for a long time. And the third consists of memories you may need only for a short period — like the names of historic figures required for a school exam — but that are not essential to survival.

Memory plays an important role in learning. Without it, information would go in one ear and out the other. Some people posess innate strengths in only one kind of memory. Those with poor short-term memory find it difficult to follow verbal directions or instructions, while others who lack long-term memory can't recall their own birth dates.

As the location, physiology and biochemical constitution of the memory and learning centers in the human brain become known and are identified, different chemical agents are likely to be found that aid one or another of these faculties. But the human brain's functions do not exist in a vacuum. The brain's components react to, influence and are influenced by each other in ways that are not yet clear. It is not known how boosting the performance of one part affects all others. This will take a long time to unravel. Until then, chemical interference with more or less normally functioning portions of the brain is likely to produce unpredictable and sometimes unfortunate long-range effects.

DR. DAVID KRECH, at the University of California, has conducted experiments with rats that demonstrate an increase in activity and even weight in some portions of the brain, as a result of environmental stimulation in infancy. This would seem to show that chemical and physiological changes are responsible for and take place as a result of learning. But Dr. Krech warns against jumping to the unwarranted conclusion that what works for rats is good for people, or, for that matter, for any other species. He suggests that his findings indicate that the main requirement for the education of children of any species is that what is learned be "species specific." In other words, what is learned and remembered msut be related to what is useful for growth and survival in adulthood of members of that particular species. The ethologist Konrad Lorenz has reached similar conclusions. Until we have discovered what human, species-specific learning aids survival, there's not much point in boosting the learning abilities of children chemically and at random.

The questions to which answers must be found before chemically assisted teaching and learning are attempted, include the following: Which skills do children need at different ages and stages of development? What human learning is species specific and which is a waste of time? What is the ideal learning environment for children? How do emotions, inherited traits, social conditions and skills interact to produce a "state of mind" most conducive to learning? Such judgments are delicate at the best of times. Considering the present environmental pollution and social disorganization, who is to say which kind of learning supports the survival of the species and what is self-destructive?

Giving children drugs merely because research suggests that they might then develop more efficient short-intermediary or long-term memories, without consideration of the effect on the system as a whole could harm many children.

THE FACT THAT rats learn to run mazes faster as a result of injections of low doses of strychnine sulphate has been known since 1917. But the National Institute of Mental Health did not fund research into the relationship between brain functions, behavior and learning until 1947. One of the reservations of responsible physicians, largely ignored by contemporary researchers, is that when drugs — any drugs — are given to human or animal patients, their behavior tends to change after the end of treatment. This, especially when drugs are given for any except critical reasons, can be more destructive to the individual than what the chemicals were supposed to cure or correct.

The NIMH presently supports 26 major research programs to study the effect of chemical and drug intervention to enhance learning and memory. Unless the findings are related to social, environmental and species specific learning, they may lead to the same kind of irresponsible application as some of the present-day Ritalin and amphetamine programs that supposedly modify the behavior of difficult children.

Your concern as a parent or teacher should be how the results of the research will be applied. Will the individual needs of your child be swamped by massive drug use to make him identical to the next and to ease the job of education? Or will this new knowledge be used discreetly to enhance individual talents of particular children?

These are less scientific and more social and administrative questions, about which parents have the right and a duty to make themselves heard. To this extent it is in your hands to shape the world into which your baby will grow and in which he will get his education.

If We Are Threatened, We're Entitled To Know

Somehow or other, the threat of attack from abroad and the danger of the United States being unprepared to meet it always increase when the time rolls around for considering the Defense Department's budget.

We would not suggest that Defense Secy. Melvin R. Laird was just making things up when he told Congress this week that Red China may have fired its first intercontinental ballistic missile, and that Soviet Russia's pause in missile development last year really was only a pause to convert to a newer, more terrible system. But we don't think it is mere coincidence that he coupled these with announcement that he wants money for more missile sites of our own.

This is to be expected. Just as J. Edgar Hoover trots out statistics showing an increase in crime to bolster his request for a bigger FBI appropriation, so Secretary Laird must draw ominous pictures of threats from abroad so the Pentagon will get the money to continue in the style to which it is accustomed.

MORE TROUBLING, however, is that the defense secretary held back some of his ominous information from the public and gave it to certain congressmen only in "the secret classified version" of his report (to quote United Press International).

Who, other than the secretary himself, arrogated to this cabinet member the right to withhold from the people of the United States genuine information about any threat to their security?

If we are threatened by Russia, or Red China, or any other country, we — all of us — are entitled to know the exact extent of that threat, as far as it can be determined.

If there is such a threat, it is a threat to all of us — not just to Congress, not just to Mr. Laird, not just to the Pentagon.

Obviously, the public is not being told the whole truth. And if it is not being told the whole truth, suspicion must arise as to whether it is being told the truth at all.

YOU DON'T GET a householder to spend his money for a burglar alarm by withholding from him the knowledge that there have been a dozen recent burglaries in his neighborhood. Quite the opposite.

What the Defense Department seems to be doing, however, is trying to get the U.S. public, through Congress, to spend its money for a new burglar alarm system by merely hinting that there might be a burglary.

Secretary Laird, and the man in the White House who is his boss, owe the public the whole truth — not just what suits the secretary or his boss.

Whites, Blacks Play Together At Last in Mississippi Delta

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

JACKSON, Miss. — By now it is no surprise any longer to see a schoolyard full of black and white children playing basketball together beside a highway in the South. That has been a familiar sight in the upper South and the borderland of Florida and Texas for nearly a decade.

Still, there is something impressive about it all over again when you see it now at school after school down the length of the Mississippi Delta, so long the geographical symbol of southern resistance to desegregation.

Now, at long last, things have changed. Not willingly, on the part of most of the white majority. But whatever the reason, there the children are playing.

The explanations for the relative quiet about desegretation are less obvious than the clear reasons for court-ordered, administration-enforced desegregation itself.

ALTHOUGH THERE is concern among those of good will that the present respite from outright antagonism will be temporary, there is a new openness about their hope that it is real and permanent.

There is some irony in the fact that the private white "academies" founded in many localities to avoid what is regionally called race-mixing have acted as safety valves for ill-feeling about desegregation.

Usually the children of well-to-do white parents are able to attend these academies, along with less wealthy children who are in them for this first year or two, but unlikely to be able to finance their way through graduation. But during this emotional time of transition, the academies are making the change more gradual and thus tolerable.

There are frequent fights between white and black students in the public schools, as there are in the long-desegregated schools in the North.

BUT THE ONLY politician who could be heard this week trying to make capital of those fistfights was an obscure arch-conservative named Elmore Greaves, who is the only announced candidate for lieutenant governor in this fall's election.

Even Gov. John Bell Williams, who in two decades in Congress made racial extremism his specialty, has realized the futility of further rear guard action against desegregation. He still goes through the motions of opposition to "federal interference," but these days the racial connotations are merely implied.

Memorial Preserve Story Well Told

I would like to make this an open letter to your paper and to everyone who had to do with the publicity on the Hope Wheelwright Memorial Preserve.

Your sensitive and appreciative writing, and the lovely pictures of the Feb. 26 issue, were remarked on by all my friends, and touched me very deeply. I guess one cannot spend 25 years with someone building a love for the land, without wanting it to remain essentially the same. It was always our intent to see that it was kept open and used, when the one of us who was left could no longer run cattle on it. Unfortunately for me this has occurred, with the encroachment of city, and more particularly taxes, but this final solution seems to me an excellent one, and you have certainly covered it from all angles.

Selective Service And Korean Way

I beg your pardon but — your statement following Mr. James K. Hennington's letter published March 4 is incorrect. The draft, stopped at the end of World War II, was reinstituted several years prior to the beginning of the Korean War in early 1950. No relationship existed.

(Reader Kaufman is in part correct. The draft was allowed to expire March 31, 1947, but the following year was reinstituted for a three-year period, to expire June 30, 1950. Then came the Korean War, and the draft was extended, first to 1955, later indefinitely. — Editor.)

Thank you for printing my letter on the abortion symposium. So not to be always complaining. I wish to compliment you on the wonderful story you printed last week on the home for the young mentally retarded girls. 'On Being Black' Draws Accolade

Perhaps because I have not had time recently to read every word in every issue of our local paper, I have missed any comment on Sandra Haggerty's column, "On Being Black". But if it has not already been the subject of numerous accolades - it should.

Black, white, polka dot, or in between - Mrs. Haggerty's column has never failed to cast the light of a warm, sensible, human being. Many thanks for running it - it serves as a welcome antidote to the too-often hackle-raising news stories.

Some Quotations Regarding Health

In my letter of justification of the health department's proposed budget for 1970-71 submitted to the county administrator's office almost exactly a year ago, I included a number of quotations under the heading, "Worth Considering." These did not come to public attention, and because I believe they are extremely relevant at this time, I would like to publicize them now, in slightly abbreviated form. . .

". . . Nowhere is it possible, practicable, or financially feasible to do everything in public health simultaneously. Choice of action, hence, is related to evaluation of probable health returns."—Abel Wolman.

"Paradoxically, the readily recognized advantages of primary prevention (the avoidance of disease itself) over arrest or cure of disease have not been fully exploited. Generations have passed since mankind's observations and experiences led to the aphorism that 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure' . . . It is deplorable that so much human waste has been tolerated when alternatives have been available. We cannot countenance the continuance of such dereliction in the face of evolving knowledge in primary prevention . . .

"What, then, are the approaches to primary prevention? . . . (a) personal health services, (b) environmental control, and (c) health education of the population."—Leonard M. Schuman, M.D.

"There is this difference between . . . health and money; money is the most envied, but the least enjoyed; health is the most enjoyed, but the least envied; . . . the poorest man would not part with health for money, but . . . the richest would gladly part with all his money for health."—Colton.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Nixon Likely To Initiate Summit Meetings With Russia

WASHINGTON — It would not be surprising to see President Nixon initiating a summit conference with Soviet Premier Kosygin in the not too distant future.

It is in the logic of events and it is clearly within the pattern of what Nixon has already foreseen as something he would need to do — and want to do.

A move toward a Nixon-Kosygin summit is expectable:

Because it is becoming evident that the United States-Soviet Union nuclear arms talks are not going well.

Because the President believes a big-power agreement to halt the arms race is so crucial for everybody that he would want to go the extra mile to bring it about.

Because the point may soon be reached when the SALT talks can be rescued only at the highest diplomatic level.

Because Nixon has long felt that the summit is the only effective form in which super powers can reach super agreements.

THERE ARE TWO persuasive reasons why it looks as though the SALT talks have reached an impasse, or at least a point where there are major areas of disagreement, difficult if not impossible to resolve at the ambassadorial level.

One reason is that while both sides agreed in advance that the negotiations would be absolutely secret, so that shifts of position would be easier to make, now each side is permitting leaks to the press. This reveals a grave deterioration of the negotiating climate.

Second, each is beginning to charge the other with trying to get unilateral advantage in offensive weapons. While there can be honest differences of opinion on these matters, bringing such disputes to public controversy instead of negotiating them at the conference table is an ill omen.

IT IS NOTEWORTHY that President Nixon takes a quite different attitude toward summit diplomacy than Sec. of State John Foster Dulles did.

Dulles believed that summit conferences, especially with the Russians, were largely window dressing. He believed that they tended to cover up rather than solve problems and that when they failed they left everything worse than before. His idea was that summitry was desirable only after agreement had been reached at a lower level and was at best only a form for formal ratification.

Dulles never wanted the Big Four Geneva summit meeting in 1955 when the Russian delegation was led by Bulganin and Khrushchev, and his forecast was accurate: the summit accomplished nothing. it was not until after Dulles' passing in 1958 that Eisenhower invited Premier Khrushchev to visit the United States and himself planned to go to Moscow.

Very possibly Nixon shared these views at the time but later he reached a quite opposite conclusion. He now believes that in the end it is almost certainly necessary to negotiate directly with the collective leadership of the Soviet Union on major matters.

This is true in part because in the United States the Constitution vests treaty-making powers in the hands of one person, the President. With the death of Stalin and the overthrow of Khrushchev, the decision-making authority in the Soviet Union is no longer centered in one man but is collective.

THESE ARE REASONS why the President is disposed to favor a meeting with Kosygin at the right moment.

There's another. He has stated several times since the nuclear arms talks began that he is confident "an agreement will be reached and it will be an important one."

If a meaningful agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to bring the ever-mounting, riskful, costly nuclear arms race to a halt is to be reached, the SALT talks will have to be rescued from their present climate of bickering and stalemate.

The President would not hesitate to initiate a summit conference to do so.

Who Pays When Profit System Becomes Loss?

(John S. Knight in Detroit Free Press)

Do you remember when free enterprise or, as I call it, "the profit and loss" system, was widely and deservedly hailed as the working process through which the United States was able to attain the world's highest living standards?

Do you recall when a successful business enterprise was also thought to be socially acceptable, in that it provided the jobs and earnings and taxes to support government and its many services to the people?

Can you recollect when employes took pride in the growth of the company for which they worked, even as they sought a larger share of the earnings pie?

YES, YOU probably do. But today, business has become the whipping boy for all of our ills. Some college students find something immoral in capitalism — American style. Professional reformers attack business in organized campaigns of harassment.

Labor unions make unreasonable demands which are way out of balance with the lack of increased productivity. Workers who once thought the boss was "a pretty good guy" have now worked themselves up into a hate campaign against his company.

ONCE THE HATERS and the reformers have brought down the "profit and loss system," one thought occurs. Where, other than from the taxes paid by corporations and their employes, will the money be available for Social Security, health insurance, education and hundreds of other services, considered indispensable to the people?

The only alternative appears to be socialism, a thoroughly discredited system where egalitarianism brings everyone down to the lowest common standard.

So who pays then, or does the government start printing money of no real value?

Fewer Pupils, Fewer Teachers But Plenty Of Administration

For years a major complaint with children in the Sausalito school district has been the quality of the district's educational program, particularly the school's inability to teach youngsters to read.

This year a new administration and a new board promised these chronic academic problems would begin to be solved. They agreed the district should make every effort to provide an effective educational program.

An intensive reading program was introduced — with fanfare and flourishes — as a bright hope for the district's problem readers, many of which are reading at four or five levels below their grade.

But a look at the budget the administration is proposing for 1971-72 raises doubts about the sincerity of the adminstration's promises.

IF A SCHOOL district genuinely wants a better educational program, would it not concentrate its resources on teachers and instructional materials and try to make budget cuts somewhere else?

This year's budget proposal by Supt. Lawrence Lindberg includes $66,909 for administration. This includes Lindberg's $23,000 salary, the salaries for district office employees, and the costs for office materials.

Recently the district board, which is considering locating all the 518 students it is expecting in September in one school, offered contracts to two principals. To date, the reason for this action has not been explained, although some parents asked why at school board meetings.

If we count each principal's $17,166 annual salary in the cost of administration (and what does a principal do but administer, whatever that means?). The total figure for administration for next year rises to $101,-241.

Central office administrative costs have decreased by only $339 since 1968-69, when the district has 820 pupils. That year Sausalito spent $67,248 to administer a school district with 58 per cent more pupils than it will have next year.

WHILE MOST of the district's other expenditures have been reduced slightly in the proposed budget, the only really significant reduction proposed by Lindberg is in instruction.

Cost for instruction for 1971-72 will be $518,317 if the board goes along with the superintendent's recommendation. This is a 32 per cent decrease from the $764,211 for instruction this year.

Teacher salaries total $366,-000, down 27 per cent from this year's $502,192. The board and administration has not yet made clear how many teachers will get the ax.

Another large chop has been made in other certificated personnel who deal directly with the children. The administration is asking the board to eliminate the following positions: district psychologist, two counselors, one librarian, the school nurse and the special assistant (who handles discipline problems).

LINDBERG'S PROPOSED budget seems to subscribe to a rather strange philosophy: to make real strides in the quality of education, keep the administrators and fire the teachers.

One of the board members' favorite phrases is "fiscal responsibility." One hears it bandied about freely at every board meeting. Is the superintendent's proposed budget what the trustees mean by this phrase?

Widening Begun To Cut Marion Hazard

Work started yesterday on widening Marion Avenue between Eighth Street and Benton Lane to provide a larger pedestrian area for pupils walking to Marion School, City Mgr. Charles A. Brown reported.

The work is an alternative to a request by 235 residents that a barrier be placed across Marion Avenue, which would eliminate through traffic.

Tuesday night the Novato City Council called for a study on the cost of providing a pathway. Instead, Brown said, he and Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps agreed that work should start immediately.

The narrow street is heavily traveled, presenting a traffic hazard for the 150 pupils who walk along it.

The Novato Fire District board voted Wednesday night against any move to close the street. Commissioners felt it should be left open for fire safety and the passage of fire vehicles, reported Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

Reception Slated For New President

Petaluman To Fill Fair Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan Thursday named Stanley W. McDonald, a Petaluma banker and rancher, to the Sonoma-Marin District Fair Board.

McDonald was appointed to fill the unexpired term of William F. Nave Sr., San Rafael, who resigned. The term ends Jan. 15, 1972.

Reagan also reappointed to the board Henry E. Tomasini, Nicasio, and Robert W. Mackey, also of Petaluma. All three are Republicans.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Inviting In The Animals While Cutting VD Fight Funds

Fusselman

"Marin's Invitation To The Animals." So went the heading of the front page story in the I-J. Does this wonder you?

Did they walk with the animals? Did they talk with the animals? Did they ask of the animals, "Do you really want to come?" Did they explain to the animals that some folks are very much against having new humans move into the county and that quite likely considerable of that attitude has rubbed off on the local animal population?

Did they tell the animals that we have rabies clinics and that they would have to come clean or else?

"ARRIGONI AND MICHAEL Wornum declared that whether there is one unwanted raccoon or a thousand in San Francisco, they are still welcome in Marin."

Of course this was a copout, as most every one likes to watch raccoons during a pleasant evening. Or maybe it was a skunkout, as the final motion by Arrigoni was to ". . . authorize a letter to San Francisco offering a haven for raccoons or other wild animals, but not for gophers or rats." The cute little fellow with the pretty stripes was not mentioned.

Yea, Gods of Brasilia, sitting high under the dome way atop the hills, thou art expansive; yes one might even say expensive, for this and the other front-page story about the spread of venereal disease were the only two which seemed newsworthy either Tuesday or Wednesday.

I IMAGINE that everyone taking the paper has read that article. I wish to comment on it. This and what will follow are excerpts: "Venereal disease has risen so sharply in Marin that the county is 'totally understaffed, underspaced, and turning people away,' the county health officer announced today." The statement was made before the Marin County Board of Supervisors in support of Fredrick S.Mayer, who made an impassioned plea for more funds and more space to treat the diseases. Mayer asked for direct action immediately. He said volunteer union carpenters are ready to offer free service to remodel the county health department clinic space in the Civic Center for treating patients.

"County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended against immediate remodeling. He said space problems need careful study before the clinic space is expanded," (His office dragged its feet the same way on beefing up security last summer.)

Now here's a pip: The board asked him (of all people) to bring in statistics on the venereal disase epidemic and recommend on how the treatment can be expanded. Doctor Bruce? What next?

I DIDN'T FOLLOW the budget preparation this year, but I can tell you this: The letters of justification prepared by the department heads during the past five years have rarely if ever been seen by the board. Mr. You-Know-Who kept them in his tight little fist.

It would be well if either the board or the grand jury got to the bottom of this high-handed procedure. This is well known by practically everyone out there. If the supervisors know about it, they certainly are due a censure.

This all started in 1965 when the then board gave Bruce a $5,000 raise and turned him loose to impose his will on everyone concerned.

This business of letting him be a barrier between the departments and the board of supervisors is nothing less than a scandal in toto. The board members are paid $12,000 a year each to know what is going on in the departments and not just what he tells them. It's odds-on that the health department's budget was slashed this year in this area as well as others.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by, and in the performance of the covenants contained in, that certain Deed of Trust dated March 7, 1968 made, executed and delivered by LESTER R. JOHNSON and SHIRLEY G. JOHNSON, his wife and BERTHA S. GOLDBERG, a married woman, as her separate property as Trustor to CONTINENTAL AUXILIARY COMPANY, a California corporation, as Trustee for BANK OF AMERICA NATIONAL TRUST AND SAVINGS ASSOCIATION, a national banking association, Beneficiary, which Deed of Trust was recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Marin County, State of California, on May 17, 1968 in Volume 2212 of Official Records at Page 177 et seq., Marin County Records; and

WHEREAS, the lawful owner and holder of said Deed of Trust and the debt thereby secured has applied to and directed the Trustee under said Deed of Trust in writing to execute the trust by said Deed of Trust created, and to make sale pursuant thereto; and

WHEREAS, Notice of Default in the performance of the obligations of the Trustor has been recorded as is provided for by law and said Trustee deems it best to sell said premises and estate as a whole now remaining subject to said Deed of Trust in order to fulfill the purposes thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT ON Thursday, the 8th day of April, 1971, at the hour of 9:30 o'clock A.M. thereof, at the Civic Center Main entrance, Lobby #1, Hall of Justice, situated in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, the CONTINENTAL AUXILIARY COMPANY, a California corporation, as Trustee, will, under and pursuant to the aforesaid Deed of Trust, sell at public auction without warranty express or implied to the highest bidder for cash in lawful money of the United States, the following described real property, mentioned in said Deed of Trust, situated in the City of Sausalito, County of Marin, State of California, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

PARCEL ONE: BEGINNING at the most Northerly corner of Parcel Two as contained in the Deed from Paul J. 'Contraceptive Use May Rise'

DAVIS (UPI) —Increased efforts to make runaway fathers support their welfare children could increase the use of contraceptives, a state Public Health Department statistician said Thursday.

Mrs. Beth Berkov was commenting on a recommendation by a state Welfare Board panel for increased pressure on errant fathers to support their children.

"It seems likely that the proposal for a more stringent attempt to enforce support of the child by the father may not only reduce welfare costs but may serve to encourage a greater use of contraception by males," she told a University of California symposium on population problems and state policy. The two-day conference ended Thursday.

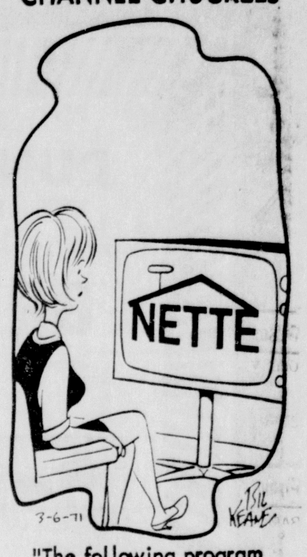
CHANNEL CHUCKLES



"The following program is for the ladies..."

Two Entry Race For Dairy Princess Crown

Two entries have been accepted in the District 3 dairy princess contest to be held May 8 at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

The two girls are Terri Brazil, 19, a sophomore at Chico State College, who was voted Miss Vitality in last year's contest, and Sharon Vondrak, 17, a senior at St. Vincent's High School, Petaluma.

Miss Brazil is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Brazil of Petaluma and a 1969 graduate of Petaluma Senior High School. She is majoring in home economics at Chico State.

Miss Vondrak is a senior at St. Vincent's High and plans to attend Santa Rosa Junior College, majoring in agriculture.

Miss Vondrak has been a 4-H Club member for eight years and at school belongs to the Spanish, Library and Glee clubs. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vondrak of Cotati.

The contest is open to girls between 17 and 25 who live in Marin, Sonoma, Lake, Mendocino, Napa or Solano counties. Contestants must at least be high school seniors and have a dairy-related background. The current princess is Beverly Smith of Tomales.

Applications may be obtained from the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce or from the Milk Advisory Board, 1700 McHenry Avenue, Modesto 95350. A total of 12 girls will compete for the title.

Peirano Paintings Displayed By Bank

Paintings by Barbara Peirano of Corte Madera are on display through the month of March in Crocker-Citizens National Bank in Corte Madera.

April's featured artist will be Jack Feldman, also of Corte Madera.

Reagan Aide To Appeals Bench

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Judge William P. Clark Jr., former chief of Gov. Ronald Reagan's "palace guard," has been elevated by the governor to a $40,000-a-year post on the appellate court bench.

The nomination of Clark, 39, as an associate justice of the 2nd District Court of Appeal at Los Angeles is subject to expected routine confirmation by the state Judicial Qualifications Commission.

Clark currently is a Superior Court judge in San Luis Obispo County. He was appointed to the post by Reagan in November 1968. He will replace retired Justice Roy Gustafson of Oxnard.

Clark was one of the charter members of Reagan's personal staff, serving first as his cabinet secretary and later for 15 months as his executive secretary.

Reagan Fills Spot On Appeal Beach

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has nominated San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Robert F. Kane to the First District Court of Appeal bench at San Francisco.

The 44-year-old Kane, a Republican, was named Thursday to succeed retired Justice James R. Agee of Berkeley. Kane's nomination was submitted to the Commission on Judicial Appointments for confirmation.

Another BART Station Backed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A Bay Area Rapid Transit District committee agreed Tuesday to building another downtown station in San Francisco rather than spend the money on a Municipal Railway subway in the city.

The recommendation from the engineering committee is to the district's full board and has the approval of the city's Board of Supervisors.

A total of $22.5 million earmarked for construction of a Muni subway in the West Portal District would be spent instead on an Embarcadero station which would serve the Golden Gate Redevelopment Project near the waterfront.

Accident Victim

Paul Fry, 20, of 711 Keokuk Street, Petaluma, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for face cuts suffered in an accident at 7:40 a.m. today in front of 28 West Street. Police lacked details of the accident.

Chief Defends Protection Job

Corte Madera Police Chief David L. McIntosh has told worried Mariner Cove residents his department is doing all it can to provide adequate protection to the eastern section of town.

Herber C. Leney, president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Association, said McIntosh told the group Wednesday there are usually two roving patrols working town streets and a walking patrol each night to check doors at the Paradise Shopping Center.

According to Leney, the police chief said, however, the department is short patrolmen, causing others to work overtime.

The department has been criticized because of East Corte Madera business burglaries and traffic violators.

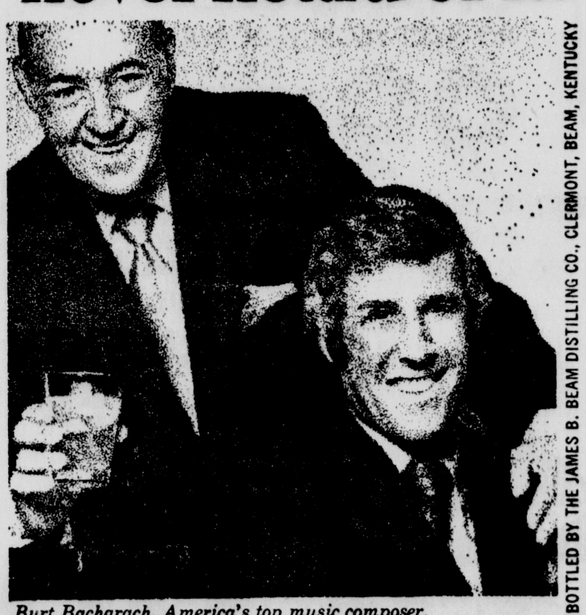
WATCH THE BURT BACHARACH TV SPECIAL
Sunday Evening, March 14th

Generation gap? Jim Beam never heard of it.



Burt Bacharach, America's top music composer. And his father, Bert, famed newspaper columnist.

The Bacharachs. Famous son, famous father. They're of different generations. But in one way they're alike, exactly alike—each is a craftsman. With a respect for his craft. And a desire to excel at it.

The Beams, too, are craftsmen. Their craft is distilling Bourbon. And for 176 (176!) years now, son has followed father at that craft.

Each with a respect for it. Each with a desire to excel at it.

It's a proud record.

It's a proud Bourbon—smooth and light and mellow. With a rich aroma full of promise.

Jim Beam. For six generations; one family, one formula, one purpose. The world's finest Bourbon.

Castlemont Edges Redwood In Rough-Tough Contest

JIM GILMARTIN

Terra Linda Prep Swim Surprises

I was fairly well shocked out of my sneakers and hotpants (alias Sizzling Skivvies) the other day to read that Terra Linda High School had defeated Redwood High in a swimming meet.

Football, yes, but SWIMMING?? Egads!

It's not that Terra Linda shouldn't have fine mermen, but that school draws its enrollment from an upper middle class community that simply doesn't have as many swimming tanks as the district from which Redwood gets its students. I refer to such elegant ghettos as Kent Woodlands, Ross, Kentfield, Del Mesa, Belvedere etc.

That ain't exactly a poverty pocket, Bunkie. In fact, that sector is a major reason why Marvelous Marin is called the Bounty County. It's the caviar, Chivas Regal, Mums belt.

Thus, the Redwood swimmers have had a head start on most of their rivals. They not only were born with silver spoons in their mouths, but with their own personal swimming pools. And personal tutors.

"Oh, Godfrey, fetch me my monogrammed trunks and summon my tutor."

That's why Redwood usually excels in such sports as swimming, tennis, golf and basketball. Why, those kids have had their very own pools, golf courses, tennis courts and gymnasiums since infancy.

Maybe the Redwood swimmers have been spending too much time tooling around the Bounty County in their Rolls-Royces while the Terra Linda mermen have been waiting in ambush for them.

AS I SIT here in my third floor suite at the I-J, looking out at the heavy rains driven horizontally by fierce winds, I am reminded of a telephone conversation I had the other day with Allan B. Murray, the Marin man-about-town, who is in Phoenix directing operations for the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club over which he presides.

"The weather is gorgeous, beautiful," enthused the young business executive. Thanks a lot, Allan.

Anyway, Murray currently has 43 Boosters under tow for the early phases of training, but that number will swell to more than 140 next Monday when the second tour of the Boosters is taken to Arizona by Paul Hartman, boss of GTS Travel, San Rafael.

Among Marinites who accompanied Murray to the Giants' spring training camp for the early phases were Maio and Bob Lashly of Greenbrae, Peggy and Noble Hamilton of Ross and Margi and John Taddeucci of San Rafael. Taddeucci is an executive with the Giants. And, the Marin fans had their pictures taken with S.F. pitcher Frank Reberger of Novato, the only Marin resident of the Giant squad.

Murray said the highlight of the early training was a hairy experience by Giant third baseman Allan Gallagher. When he checked into camp a little shaggy around the ears, Gallagher was politely asked by Manager Charlie Fox to "get a little trim." Gallagher obliged the night before the Giants were to meet the Chicago Cubs by shaving his head completely bald, looking more like Yul Brynner than a major league hot corner guardian.

Well, the next day, after drawing a walk, Gallagher trotted to first base where the Cubs' ultra-mod and long-haired Joe Pepitone stood guard. With a sweeping bow, Gallagher doffed his batting helmet, exposing his shiny skull to the hep Pepitone, and in stentorian tone, bellowed: "How do you do, Mr. Pepitone, I am Allan Gallagher of the San Francisco Giants."

Liked to have cracked up the whole stadium, especially Mr. Pepitone.

DOWN AND OUT — This was the sad scene on Redwood High School's bench as the Giants of the Marin County Athletic League watched Castlemont's Clarence Lewis sink two free throws with one second remaining to win a 60-59 thriller in high school basketball tournament of Champions last night in Oakland. Steve McGee (35) had just fouled out of the game and Lewis came through for the come-from-behind victory that relegated Redwood to the consolation bracket in the three-day classic. Last Second Free Throws Beat Marin Team, 60-59

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Justice is not a word one normally associates with basketball, but last night, in the third of four opening round games at the 25th annual Tournament of Champions, justice, or more precisely, lack of it, rang down on the Redwood High School Giants.

Turning in perhaps the greatest performance ever in the T of C by a Marin County Athletic League entry, the Larkspur team lifted majestically the emtoions of 7,500 fans at the Oakland Coliseum Arena, and appeared until the end destined to win a first round contest for the first time in three years.

But justice abandoned Steve McGee, Scott Trobbe, Mike Connor, Sam Farb, Dave Tikker, Rich Hagler, Tim Hennessey and John Hunter — the players who brought the MCAL champions to the brink of victory — when Clarence Lewis sank two free throws with one second left to make the final score Castlemont 60, Redwood 59.

The Giants blew a nine-point lead in the final quarter, but they deserved to win anyway. They outshot, outhustled and outslugged the Knights of the Oakland Athletic League in a game that at the same time was fiercely brutal and awesomely beautiful.

Trobbe, the only senior in the starting lineup, pumped in 22 points, and junior center Steve McGee added 14, including nine in the first quarter when Redwood zoomed to a 20-11 lead. But figures themselves are irrelevant; the poise and confidence which the Giants kept, even in defeat, the intense desire the players took into battle, were far more important than anything that would show up in a box score.

The game was more physical than any Redwood has played this year. Time and again McGee, Connor and Farb were caught by flying blocks and fouls that sent them sprawling to the court. In the final minutes the contract became incredible; Farb was run over on an offensive foul by the Knights' Elihu Williams, and McGee was flattened as he drove for a layup by Castlemont center Tyree Foster.

The Knights erased all but one point of Redwood's early lead by halftime, as Foster got hot with eight in the second quarter, most of them on layups made possible by offensive rebounds. But the Giants started the second half with the same fast breaking eagerness that marked their first quarter effort, and ran off 12 unanswered points to lead, 48-35. The surge was led by Trobbe, who popped in five points, and McGee, the fast break leader whose love of competition seems almost unnatural.

Castlemont began to catch up midway through the third period, and at 3:17 of the final quarter, Foster, the game's high scorer with 24 points, hit a pair of free throws to close the score to 56-54. Hagler, filling in Who's An Idiot? Ball Four!

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—There's a difference between calling a man an idiot and telling him to quit acting like an idiot, according to Oakland A's owner Charles Finley.

At least that's what Finley said Thursday after a heated telephone discussion with California Angels general manager Dick Walsh over the question of whether the A's-cherubs baseball game would be played under Finley's experimental rule of three balls instead of four to a walk.

Walsh and Angels manager Lefty Phillips threatened not to take the field and said they had understood that the experiment would only go on if both sides agreed.

The Angels officials said they didn't agree and that's when Walsh called Finley and was called an idiot or told not to act like one or something, depending on whose version of the call was reported later.

The umpires told both sides to play ball and the game went on.

In any case, the Angels must have known something for they dropped a 6-1 verdict as Rollie Fingers, Bob Locker and Jim Roland combined on a 3-hitter and Reggie Jackson and Dave Duncan banged two-run A's homers. The A's pitchers gave up only five 3-ball walks and the Angels allowed 11.

The A's call on the Giants at Phoenix today and it will take four balls to get first base. The three-ball rule is only against American League foes.

Russ-U.S. Track In Berkeley

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The Amateur Athletic Union announced Wednesday the 1971 United States-Russia World All-Star track and field meet will be staged July 2-3 at the University of California at Berkeley.

"In awarding this spectacular meet to the University of California, we do so on the basis of the tremendous interest in the sport ... in the greater Bay Area ... " said John B. Kelly Jr., president of the AAU.

This will be the 10th meeting between U.S. and Soviet track and field stars. The United States men carry a 7-2 edge over the Russian men. The American women have won only once, in 1969.

The Soviets base their scoring on the combined total of mens' and womens' scoring, and on this basis have won eight of nine previous contests. This year's affair will be scored both as a triangular meet and as a double-dual meet.

4-Ball Rule In Giants, A's Games

PHOENIX (UPI)—San Francisco goes into today's Cactus tussle with cross-bay rival Oakland with a healthy 5-3 record despite its latest loss.

Milwaukee took a 7-5 verdict from the Giants at Phoenix Thursday when Danny Walton came off the bench and slammed a three-run pinch homer in the ninth.

It was not too disastrous a loss for the Giants, who saw some of their youngsters deliver in the clutch in their drive to stick with the varsity.

For instance, George Foster slammed a two-run homer off veteran Larry Bernearth and the feeling around camp is that the Giants have got a solid reserve outfielder in the 22-year-old native of Hawthorne, Calif.

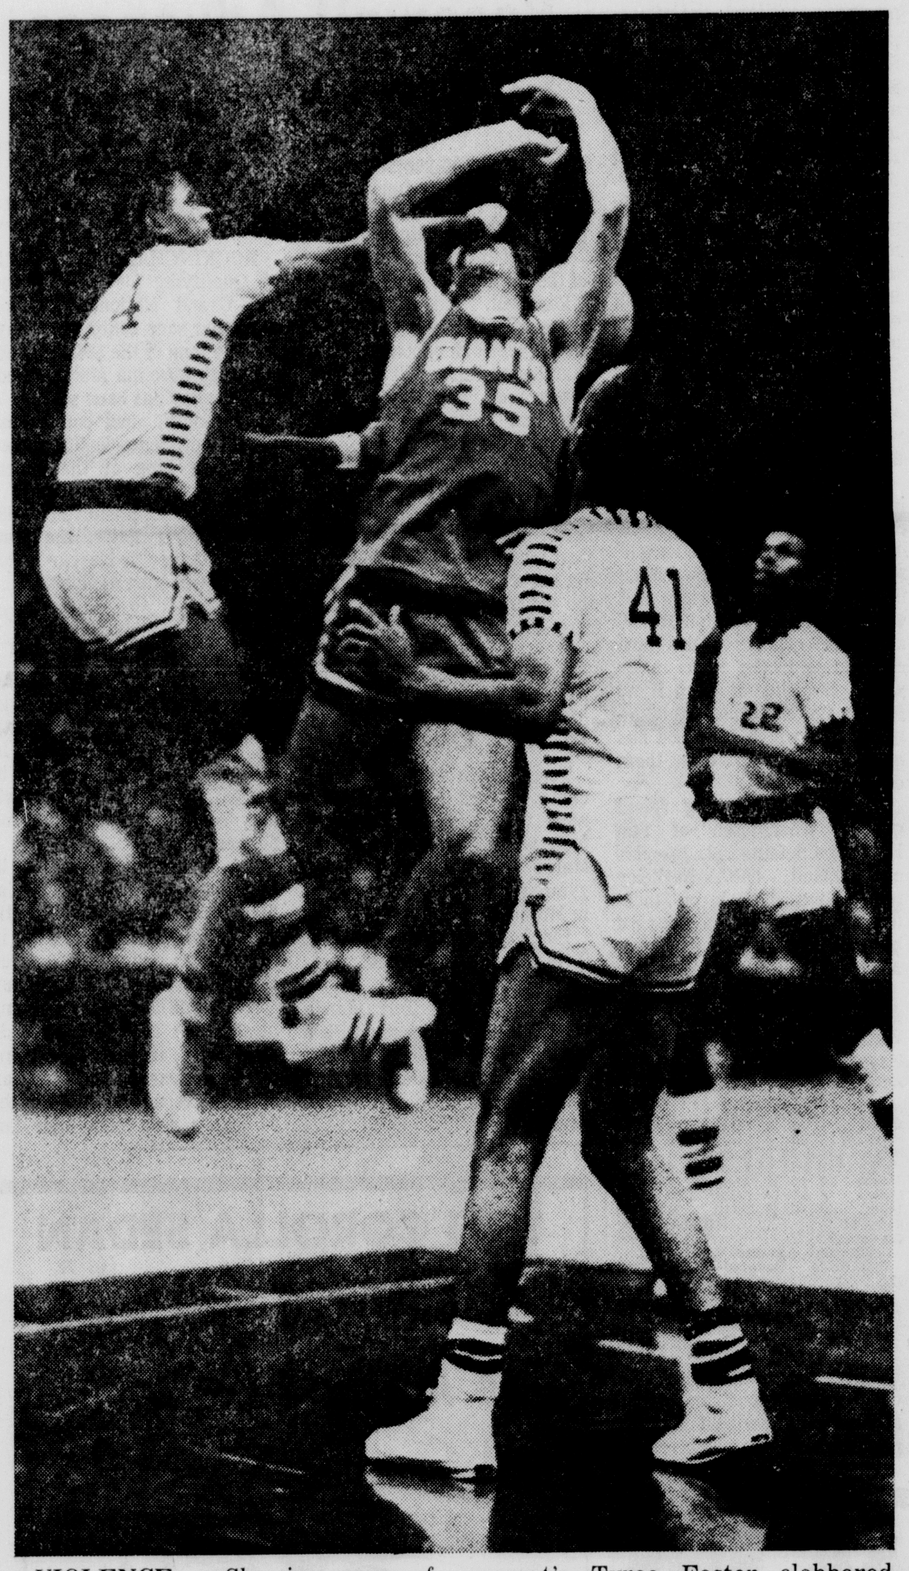
Starter Ron Bryant never "got loose," according to Larry Jansen but still impressed Jansen by hanging tough for four innings in which he gave up two runs.

He tossed 72 pitches during the four innings he worked.

Jerry Johnson and Jim Willoughby relieved in pretty good shape, but Mike Davison got shelled and absorbed the loss.

Golfing Victory

Terra Linda defeated Drake 210-235 yesterday in a non-league high school golf match on the Marin Country Club course in Novato. Medalists, all with 41s, were Terra Davis, Gary LaRocca and Kevin Harrington of Terra Linda and Drake's Paul Arms.



VIOLENCE — Showing some of the rugged play that marked last night's Redwood-Castlemont game in the high school basketball Tournament of Champions in Oakland Coliseum Arena, Castlemont's Tyree Foster clobbered Redwood's Steve McGee (35) with a right hook to the nose. Looking on are Elihu Williams (41) and Vernon May (22) of the Oakland school.

Bruin Star Esposito Sets Scoring Mark

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Boston center Phil Esposito knew that barring a complete collapse he would shatter the national hockey league record for goals scored but his only regret was that his 59th goal came in Los Angeles instead of before the hometown fans in Boston.

"I'm glad it's all over," Esposito said following Thursday's game with the Los Angeles Kings which the Bruins won 7-2. "I've been fortunate against Los Angeles and I like to play in their arena.

"The reason I've done so well against the Kings is that their goalie, Denis Dejordy, and I both played for Chicago and I know his moves."

Esposito recorded two goals in the match to raise his total to 60. The first goal, however, broke Bobby Hill's single season record of 58 set two years ago. Esposito also picked up an assist in the match.

"Two years ago when I was the first to score more than 100 points, I felt the pressure more then because no one else had ever done it and I wanted to be the first. How many more goals can I score? I'll be happy with 65, maybe 70."

Esposito scored the record-breaking goal at 7:03 of the first period when he tipped in a shot from the point by teammate Ted Green.

"I knew Green shoots low and I mapped my strategy accordingly, got my stick out and deflected it in."

Esposito said he wanted to get the 59th goal in the first 70 games and it came in the 67th, so there would be no asterisk after the mark."

The three points Esposito scored gave him 128 for the season, breaking his own milestone of 126 set in 76 games two years ago.

Esposito's records were not the only ones set in the game. Bobby Orr assisted three times to give him 88 assists, one more than his record of 87 set last year. Orr now has 123 points, three more than the record he established last year for a defenseman. And he contributed a second period goal to increase his total to 35.

Boston in recording its 50th win increased its point total to 107, 12 more than the New York Rangers who are second in the East.

CITRUS GOLF

Banging On Irons Helps

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Banging on one's golf clubs with a hammer is not prescribed therapy for the super cool pros, but you can't tell Bert Greene that.

He got mad after missing the cut at last week's Doral and decided something needed to be done about his golfing tools.

"I put them in a vise and started hammering on them—very scientific," said the six-foot Georgia native.

That may not have helped his irons, but today Greene finds himself just one stroke behind the leaders in the $150,000 Florida Citrus Invitational.

That lead is shared by Jerry Heard, a cocky young Californian who doesn't mind gambling, and Arnold Palmer, the venerable veteran who says he's "striking the ball better than ever."

Heard, a 23-year-old college dropout who has never before held the lead in a PGA tournament, dropped a 35-foot birdie putt on the final hole in Thursday's opening round to match Palmer's 66, posted earlier in the day. Palmer had birdied five consecutive holes in a spectacular charge.

"I was just lagging it and it went into the hole," said Heard.

Earlier he had told his caddy he wanted to catch Palmer.

"I was lucky to do it," he said.

Turning in 67s, along with Greene were Dick Lotz, Dan Sikes, John Lister, Julius Boros and Jerry McGee.

A crowded field just two strokes off the pace included Kermit Zarley, Hugh Royer, Dale Douglass, Vic Loustalot, Bob Murphy, Orville Moody, Gary Groh, Bobby Nichols, Lee Trevino, Bobby Mitchell, Jerry Abbott, Charles Sifford and Dick Crawford.

All Eyes On Marichal Versus A's Tomorrow

Phoenix Juan Marichal will make his second appearance of the spring tomorrow when he pitches against the Oakland A's at Mesa. Every time Marichal goes to the mound this spring everyone in the camp of the Giants will be watching closely.

THERE WAS a time when everyone merely watched Marichal momentarily in his initial spring tuneups. Only momentary glimpses were needed a few years ago to satisfy everyone that Marichal was on his way to another 20-victory year.

Perhaps Chris Pelekoudas, veteran National League umpire, summed it up best the year Marichal stayed in the Dominican Republic, refusing to sign his contract until Easter. That was the spring Marichal reached the $100,000 bracket for the first time. He had missed virtually all of spring training Pelekoudas said.

"WHAT'S THE difference when he reports? Just give him the ball and he'll start throwing strikes."

Pelekoudas was behind the plate last Monday when Marichal made his 1971 spring debut against the Lotte Orions from Japan. But Marichal didn't start throwing strikes against the Japanese batters. In fact, his first three pitches to the leadoff Japanese hitter were extremely high.

DURING HIS warmup all of Marichal's pitches were low knee-high strikes. Maybe it was the mound in Phoenix Municipal Stadium that caused the sudden switch from low strikes in the bullpen to high balls in the exhibition game. Or maybe it was, as Marichal put it. "I don't pitch my best against Japanese teams they go with the pitch real well and it's hard to fool them"

Marichal did have trouble with the Orions in Japan last spring before he picked up a mysterious virus that led to a lingering illness because of a complicating penicillin reac tion.

AND NOW, once again, he was having trouble with them in a new spring. After the opening three high pitches to the Orions' leadoff man, Marichal finally walked him on a 3-1 pitch. Then, with two away Marichal was tagged for a solid single and 400-foot triple Another Orion run in the second inning was the faul of a rook ie shortstop, Chris Speier

During his initial three-inning tuneup Marichal threw 51 pitches Only 15 of them were strikes.

SO EVERYONE will be watching Marichal closely tomorrow when he goes against the A's.

Marichal looks in superb condition once again following the prolonged illness that caused his 1970 record to dip to 3-9 with a 5.30 ERA before the All-Star break.

DURING THE second half of the 1970 season he recaptured his pitching magic, winning nine of his last 10 decisions to windup 12-10 with a 4.11 ERA, almost double his earned run average of 2.10, lowest in the National League the previous season.

Terra Linda Prep Baseballers Win

Marin County Athletic League baseball teams 'batted" 500 per cent in preseason games yesterday as Terra Linda High School eked out a 3-2 decision over Sacred Heart of San Francisco in eight innings and Sir Francis Drake High lost a 6-0 decision to Riordan also of San Francisco

Terra Linda, scoring its first victory of the season after three setbacks, broke up its extra inning battle at Funston Field in San Francisco with a run in the top of the eighth inning. After the first two batters struck out, Larry Kerr opened the winning rally with a sharp single to right field and was driven around to score on consecutive singles by Tom Hughes and Brian Wall.

The victorious Trojans' first two tallies came in the second inning when Bill Sherbert singled, Kerr walked, Hughes was hit by a pitch to load the bases and a double error on a grounder by Mike Allen forced home Sherbert and Kerr.

Mike Sabel, who pitched the first seven innings, was the winner. He was relieved in the eighth by Sherbert

In San Anselmo, meanwhile, host Drake had several scoring opportunities but was unable to come through in the clutch. The Pirates left nine runners stranded on base and had runners on first and second with no outs on three occasions.

It was Drake's second loss against one victory

Hubbard's 2nd Arrest

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (UPI)— Oakland Raiders running back Marv Hubbard was arrested Thursday night on a charge of harrassment by police in this western New York community. It was his second brush with the law in two weeks.

Hubbard, 24, who lives nearby, was arrested on a warrant issued on the complaint of Donald W Draine, a counselor at a youth opportunity camp near here, for allegedly harrassing Draine verbally at a restaurant Wednesday.

He was free on his own recognisance after he was arrested about two weeks ago for disorderly conduct in a bowling alley in the Cattaraugus County village of Randolph.

The former Colgate University football player was released Thursday night after posting $50 bond. He will appear March 30.

Warriors Host Sonics In 'Biggie'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Now the Seattle Sonics and San Diego Rockets have climbed within two games of the San Francisco Warriors, who have six games left in NBA play.

The Warriors host Seattle tonight in a game which could decide who gets a $40,500 chunk of loot.

Of that, $12,500 comes for the second place finish and $28,000 comes for losing the first-round playoff to Milwaukee.

Should the Warriors, Sonics or Rockets somehow pull off the miracle and beat the Bucks in the playoff, the remuneration zooms up accordingly.

The Sonics and Warriors are 2-2 this season but Seattle won by 45 points in their last clash, perhaps the Warriors most inept show of the season.

Controversial Spencer Haywood, who has replaced Rick Barry as sports litigant of the year, is back with the Sonics and he and the team have been adjusting to each other of late.

The Warriors will give shoes to the first 3,500 youngsters who show up at the Cow Palace tonight. They host Detroit in the Palace Sunday in their last home appearance and will hold a fan appreciation night, with many gifts for those who attend.

The Warriors have their last four games on the road. Should they lose tonight's crucial, Seattle, at least, will have a real shot at usurping the playoff spot from the Warriors.

for Connor after the latter picked up his fourth foul, provided a brief reprieve with a 15-foot jumper, but Foster claimed a tip in and then with a minute left, Vernon May found the range on a 10-foot bank shot that closed the margin to one.

The Giants scored only six points in the last quarter, and missed six free throws. Yet they didn't seem to be "choking" as much as just running out of steam. The end came in a life or death fight under the Castlemont basket, when McGee committed his fifth foul and sent Lewis to the line for what would be the winning free throws.

So the Giants lost, and tonight, drained emotionally and physically, they must meet Amador at 6 p.m. in the second round. One could not blame them if they fail to rally and win both tonight and tomorrow, and thus capture their third consolation trophy in as many years. But even if there is no justice, there is pride and dignity, both of which Redwood has in abundance. Don't count them out.

In other opening round games, Washington of San Francisco defeated St. Joseph's of Oakland, 49-40, Berkeley romped past Lincoln of Stockton, 87-66, and Hayward breezed to a 73-63 win over Amador.

St. Joseph's meets Lincoln today at 4:30, Berkeley and Washington clash at 7:30, and Hayward faces Castlemont at 9.

Rosewall Advances In Australia Tennis

SYDNEY (UPI) — Ken Rosewall, the 36-year-old Veteran, swept into the finals of the Australian Open Tennis Championships Friday night on a 6-2, 7-6, 6-4 victory over Tom Okker of the Netherlands.

Rosewall, the U.S. Open champion last year, whipped his 27-year-old opponent in 85 minutes and now will meet the winner of Saturday's other semifinal between Americans Arthur Ashe and Bob Lutz.

In women's play, grand slam champion Margaret Court thrashed another Australian, Leslie Hunt, 6-0, 6-3 to gain the final where she will be defending her 1970 title. She will meet the winner of Saturday's other semi between Scotland's Winnie Shaw and the part aborigine Evonne Goolgong.

Gymnasts Defeated In Their Opener

Terra Linda High School came out last in a triangular meet with Mills and Berkeley high schools yesterday in the Marin school's first varisty gymnastics meet ever, at Mills in Millbrae.

Final scores were: Mills 87.10, Berkeley 86.55 and Terra Linda 72.40.

Outstanding for Terra Linda were Kris Van Oeveren with a second place in floor exercise and third in the side horse and Carl Clement third in the long horse vault.

FISH AND GAME

No Stripers? Turn To Salmon Fishing

By AL GIDDINGS

In the last three weeks I've tried for those striped bass and sturgeon at the Shellbank, at Corrigador, out by the Pumphouse, in the deep channel near the S. P. Buoy, below the Richmond Bridge and off Paradise Cay using 4/0 hooks, the best of baits (fresh ghost shrimp) and fishing the best tides. I can't really connect! Oh, an occasional fish but never have I had such tough going in March.

I'd advise you to try for flounders over the weekend or perch, or just take your wife to a movie! Or maybe go salmon fishing if you're really desperate! In my desperation, I called Big Red DiVito of Fairfax and suggested we give it a go for salmon. I needed to get a fish on the hook; I was getting jumpy! Fred, being a big jovial fellow, naturally said okay, and we set the thing up a few days ago.

I MET FRED at 6 a.m. at Loch Lomond and away we went in a 28-footer, fast as the dickens; but the seas were fairly calm, so it wasn't too bad. Fred ran the boat, probably hitting 30 m.p.h. all the way out to the fishing grounds. He told me to go below to set up the rods, and to bait up a number of "easy baiters", either with herring or anchovies. He ran the boat from the flying bridge topside. But when we hit the gate, I ended up just hanging on! Bait the hooks? The net hit me in the head, rods flew in all directions; it was impossible.

Upon our arrival, I said, "Thank God," and Fred asked "Are things ready?" I said, "I'll take the wheel, I need some fresh air; you bait the hooks!" This Fred proceeded to do, finally ending up with four rods in the rod holders all baited, clicks on, and the drags properly set. I wanted to bet so Fred said the two port rods were mine, and he would handle the starboard rods. Would you believe it, all the strikes were on those port rods.

I EVEN LET Fred play the fish for awhile; it was a kick to just watch the action. The bets? He wouldn't pay off; he said he put the rods out, baited them, and even played the fish — just how could I win all the bets? Oh, he finally got a couple of fish, but he ended up using all the rods before the day was over.

Every once in awhile another boat would come by and give us the "how many?" signal. I'd yell, "I'm limited, but this Fred DiVito can't catch a cold!" Fred would just fume! Most of the fish were about 23 inches long. I filleted two of them, and five of us nearly ate every morsel at one sitting. They are good! One of the fish we caught must have missed the bait and was snagged through the head. The hook must have hit the fish's brain, because though we immediately brought the fish in after the strike, that fish at no time ever gave a wiggle. I've never seen this happen before!

THINKING about last Sunday, it was estimated that there were 200 boats out fishing near the lightship. With an average of eight people to the boat, there may have been 1600 anglers out there. Most anglers took from two to three fish or probably close to 4,000 salmon total! The Fish and Game department is proposing a license increase this year; I hope you all see fit to write your legislators that you are in favor of this dollar raise. It takes money to keep up a fishery such as this salmon fishery, but what would we do without it.

WALDO GIACOMINI of Pt. Reyes station called to say that most of the mud hens on his ranch have left, so no further shoots will be held this year.

Oakland To Host Recreational Vehicle Exhibit

Northern California's only major all-exclusive show of recreational vehicles has been set for the Oakland Coliseum-Arena April 21-25, it was announced yesterday by show producer H. Werner Buck.

The event is the second annual Northern California Recreational Vehicle Show, and the show will include virtually every form of recreational vehicles including van conversions, motor homes, travel trailers, campers, off-track vehicles, houseboats, and others.

"Last year's inaugural show in the Oakland Coliseum-Arena was excellently received by both the visitor to the show and by the manufacturers," said Buck. "We expect this year's show to surpass last year's effort. It is being sponsored by an outstanding organization, the Recreational Vehicle Association, formerly the Recreational Coach and Equipment Association."

S.F. State, Cal Poly Defeated

By United Press International

Two Pacific Northwest schools will tangle Saturday afternoon for the NCAA College Western Division basketball crown after turning back a pair of California challengers.

Seattle Pacific took San Francisco State 75-68 and Puget Sound took Cal Poly San Luis Obispo 81-69 Thursday night to qualify for the finals. No one is betting against the tough Puget Sound quintet.

Jim Ballard hit 24 to lead Seattle Pacific with Ron Beall scoring 17 and Gary Bradford 16 for the losers.

Mike Jordan and brilliant backcourter Charles Lowery led Puget Sound with 28 and 23 points respectively. Lew Jackson had 25 for Cal Poly.

The winner of Saturday's game heads for Evansville, Ind., and a berth in the nationals which open March 17.

Meanwhile, the NCAA university division gets going in the West Saturday at Logan, Utah, when Weber State (21-5) and Long Beach State (22-4) tangle and Utah State (20-6) meets Brigham Young (18-9).

The winners will move on to challenge University of Pacific (21-5) and the Pacific Eight champion.

Both USC and UCLA have 24-1 records going into Saturday afternoon's test between the two cage powers. If the Trojans win that one, they'll play off again Monday.

Meanwhile, final West Coast Athletic Conference records showed Bob Thomason of UOP setting a league free throw mark with 63 of 69 free throw attempts for 90.3 per cent.

Romie Thomas of Nevada Reno (26.0) beat Booker Washington of Nevada Las Vegas (24.4) and Jim Haderlein of Loyola (20.6), John Gianelli of UOP (20.6) and Sam Hill of St. Mary's (20.3) in the scoring race.

Gianelli edged Haderlein for rebound honors while Santa Clara's Mike Stewart was the most accurate shooter at 52.8 per cent.

In team figures champion Pacific topped offense (87.1 points per game), free throw shooting (71 per cent) and rebounding while Loyola nipped the Tigers by a point in defense (69.8) and UN Las Vegas was the most accurate from the floor at about 48 per cent.

Sailing Classes For Marin Gals Start March 18

Registration in a series of sailboat lectures for women will take place on Thursday, March 18 at 10 a.m. in the parking lot adjacent to the Sausalito Yacht Sales and Ship Candlery on the boardwalk in Sausalito.

These talks are one hour long and are presented one morning a week for six weeks on the waterfront in Sausalito. They are especially designed to acquaint the beginning sailor with all the factors that must be taken into consideration for sailing on the Bay.

Fee is $15.

NCAA Cage Regionals To Start

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Weber State will attempt to scuttle Long Beach State's 15-game winning streak and Brigham Young battles Utah State for a rare third time in a season Saturday night in the opening round of the NCAA's Western Regionals.

Weber, Big Sky Conference champions four years running, will be shooting for revenge against Long Beach State, winner of the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference, in the opening game of the doubleheader in the new 10,000-seat capacity Spectrum.

The 49ers, an experienced club boastful of its physical prowess, walloped Weber, 92-73, last year in first round action in the NCAA tournament at Provo, Utah.

Brigham Young, whose strong road finish clinched the Western Athletic Conference championship for the Cougars, is matched in the nightcap against independent Utah State, which has made a near habit of eliminating the WAC champions from NCAA tournament play. In the past nine years, the USU Aggies have met the WAC king five times in the NCAA meet and won four of them.

Three of the teams in this tournament, led by BYU in 13th, are nationally ranked in the top 20 poll of United Press International. USU and Weber are lodged in a five-way tie for 18th.

The winners advance to the second round of the regionals next week in Salt Lake City with the Long Beach-Weber winner taking on Univeristy of Pacific and the BYU-USU winner meeting the eventual champion of the Pacific Eight, either UCLA or USC.

Sadecki Flunks His Interview

By United Press International

The Los Angeles Dodgers are reportedly interested in obtaining Ray Sadecki from the New York Mets, but the veteran southpaw may have flunked his job interview.

The Dodgers, who are supposedly ready to deal either catcher Jeff Torborg or catcher Tom Haller to the Mets for Sadecki, got a look at the 30-year-old lefty in an exhibition game Thursday and tagged him with a 5-4 loss.

Sadecki, who worked three innings in relief, was tagged for four hits, walked two and struck out two but failed to retire a batter in the ninth inning when the Dodgers rallied for two runs to win.

Bobby Darwin started the rally with a double and Maury Wills singled. After Manny Mota walked, Jim Lefebvre was sent up to bat for Von Joshua and delivered a double to left-center to chase home the winning run.

Jerry Grote of the Mets had the game's only home run.

In other camps: Lou Brock's three-run homer in the eighth inning carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. It was the Cardinals' fifth straight victory...The Kansas City Royals held the New York Yankees hitless for 6 2-3 innings but had to rally for four runs in the 10th inning to score their first spring victory, 7-3. Joe Keough's run-scoring triple was the big hit for Kansas City in the 10th. Amos Otis had a 450-foot homer for the Royals early in the game.

Johnny Bench had two hits and drove in three runs and Bill Plummer had a two-run homer and a run-scoring single as the Cincinnati Reds edged the Minnesota Twins, 9-8, for their first victory this spring. The Reds had lost five in a row. Cesar Tovar finally agreed to terms with the Twins for $50,000...Carlos May paced a 16-hit attack with four hits as the Chicago White Sox bombed the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-2.

Rafael Robles collected three singles, scored four runs and drove home a pair to lead the San Diego Padres to an 11-7 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Jerry Davanon's two-run single in the eighth inning carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-4 victory over the Tokyo Giants ... Ken Harrelson collected two doubles and rookie Mark Ballinger worked five scoreless innings as the Cleveland Indians blanked the Lotte Orions of Japan, 2-0.
